Tour To Israel Planned From South Shore

Local residents are invited to join a two week Israel tour which will depart Boston in early December.

The tour group will be escorted by Hazan Robert Shapiro, cantor of Temple Beth Am in Randolph. This will mark his 10th leadership of a tour to Israel. Flights are non stop.

The group will tour the entire country including the resort of Eilat on the Red Sea, Tel Aviv, a Galilee kibbutz experience on Lake Kinneret, and the city of Jerusalem.

The deluxe tour package can be modified by date alterations and offers a flexible program.

Registration is now open. For further information and itinerary call 963-0440 or 966-4339.

Steve Puleo Edits Award Winning Honeywell Newspaper

A business newspaper, under the editorship of a Quincy man, has been named the number one employee newspaper in New England.

The Boston-area chapter of the International Association of Business Communicators has named Honeywell's Patriot the number one employee newspaper.

Steve Puleo, editor of the paper for the firm's small computer and office systems group, was presented with a plaque commemorating the award in a recent ceremony held in Waltham.

Puleo has edited the Patriot for two years, coming to Honeywell from the Medford Daily Mercury, where his reporting won him awards from United Press International and the Massachusetts Press Association.

Honeywell is a Minneapolis-based international corporation that works together with customers to help them achieve their goals through the application of computers, communications and controls.

QUESTION: I would like to install another bathroom upstairs, but the area is too far away from the original bathroom to hook into the existing drain. What do you suggest?

ANSWER: Installing an additional bathroom or even a sink can be an expensive proposition if there are not existing pipes, drains and vents in the location you have selected. Putting in long new runs of pipe, knocking out and later patching holes in walls and ceilings, involves considerable work.

The ideal way to do this is to place a new bathroom or sink back-to-back with an existing bathroom. This way, both sets of fixtures can be connected to the same pipes by short spurs.

THE RIGHT location for the placement of an additional bathroom can save you a lot of money.

Mark Bilton Named Dream Guy Semi-Finalist

Mark Bilton, 17, of North Quincy, has been named a semifinalist in Teen Magazine's Dream Guy Contest, the magazine's first annual hunt for young America's number one dream guy.

His photo will appear in the August issue as one of 10 semifinalists in his region. He is now eligible for selection later this year as a super dream guy, the next step in winning the competition.

Teen developed the contest to allow readers the opportunity to practice a favorite hobby, boy watching. Readers are asked to send in photos of their favorite great guy along with an explanation of why he's special. Entrants will be judged on everything from academics to athletics.

The winner of the Dream Guy Contest and Girl who entered him will win an all-expense paid trip to Los Angeles or New York, matching Honda scooters, appearances in Teen for him, a $1,000 Santa Cruz fashion wardrobe for her, Polaroid Camera gift sets, Pentel Pen desk sets and Santa Cruz watches.

DOUGLAS VINITSKY of East Weymouth competes in the long jump at the South Shore YMCA Superkids Field Day.

'Y' Superkids Raise Over $2500 For Lung Association

Thomas Purdy of Quincy was top pledge-getter and the Norfolk County-New Lung Association over $2500 richer thanks to YMCA day campers participation in a recent Superkids Field Day.

Campers collected pledges over a two week period prior to the event which was held Aug. 7, in an effort to help the lung association's children's asthma program and win prizes for themselves.

Purdy was first and received a $100 U.S. Savings Bond donated by Quincy Savings and a 10-speed bike.

Other top pledge-getters were Bunky Bickford of Quincy, second place; Steven Leonard of Hingham, third; Brandon Moore of Milton, fourth; and Chris Savage of Quincy, fifth.

MORE THAN 50 members of the South Shore YMCA Day Camp in Quincy, recently enjoyed a 90-minute morning cruise around Boston Harbor and the islands aboard a Massachusetts Bay Lines excursion vessel. The tour was hosted by Boston Gas Company, which sponsors annual trips for elderly and youth organizations. Among those who enjoyed the waterfront sights (front) Scott Humphreys and Kelly Flanagan, (rear) Christopher Kinneavy, Rachael Powers and Meaghan Cox.

Cablesystems Launches Fall Literacy Campaign

American Cablesystems will preview a new cable TV series featuring prominent New England authors as part of its fall "Reading is All American" literacy campaign at a reception at 8 p.m. Sept. 3 at the Quincy Neighborhood Club.

The event is timed to coincide with national Literacy Week, and invited guests at the reception will be encouraged to stay on and watch the ABC News Closeup documentary, "At A Loss For Words: Illiterate in America," on WCVB-TV (Channel 5) at 10 p.m. The documentary is part of the joint ABC Public Broadcasting System campaign Project Literacy U.S. (PLUS).

American Cablesystems executives will outline the firm's fall plans for "Reading is All American," including a new cable TV series, "Authors," which features prominent novelists, children's and nonfiction writers. Included are Pulitzer-Prize winning J. Anthony Lukas (Common Ground), James Carroll (Mortal Friends) and many others. The first segment, with reviews of The Witches of Eastwick and Hearburn and footage of Witches movie filming on the South Shore, will be shown on videotape.

American Cablesystems has urged its viewers nationwide to turn off their TV sets for an hour each day and read, has aired documentaries on the literacy crisis; has worked with schools, libraries and literacy groups to promote reading and buy books.

During the same week, American Cablesystems will kick off its "Reading is All American" campaign in Chicago; will sponsor a raft race fundraiser in Florida with participants dressed as characters from literature; and will sponsor a "Run for Reading" inside the walls of Sing Sing Prison in New York, with formerly illiterate inmates running for donation pledges.

American Cablesystems, a publicly traded $100 million-a-year corporation, has 100,000 subscribers in Massachusetts. It holds the cable TV franchises in 31 communities, including Quincy, Cambridge, Marlboro, towns west, south and north of Boston, and on Cape Cod.

Also during the reception at the Neighborhood Club, Patriot Ledger editor Bill Ketter will outline his newspaper's plans to highlight the nation's illiteracy problem and work with community volunteers and school children to promote reading.

Robert Downey Named Community Services Dean at QJC

The School Committee has appointed Dr. Robert H. Downey of Braintree as the Dean of Community Services at Quincy Junior College.

He will begin working at the college this week.

Dr. Downey recently achieved his Doctoral Degree in Continuing Education at Boston University. Prior to that he was an administrator at Emerson College for a number of years. His work at Emerson included being the Director of Continuing Education, Associate Dean, and Special Assistant to the Vice President in Business and Finance. Dr. Downey also has a successful military background having achieved the title of Lieutenant Colonel in the United States Army. He retired from the Army in 1975.

Dean Edward Hannon, Chairman of the Search Committee for the Dean of Community Services reports that Dr. Downey was chosen from a field of 54 candidates, after a nationwide search. According to Hannon, Dr. Downey was the unanimous choice of the interviewing team. He also met and spoke with a number of segments of the college community, including school committee member Francis F. Anselmo.

Active in the community, Dr. Downey has worked extensively with the Boy Scouts of America. He also serves as the President of the Braintree Historical Society, and as a Council Commissioner of the Old Colony Council, Boy Scouts of America, which makes him the top uniformed volunteer Scouter.

He is a member of the First Congregational Church of Braintree, and acts as a youth advisor there.

He and his wife, Marjorie reside in Braintree. They have three children; Karen, who is married and resides in Vancouver; Michael, who serves as a petty officer and first class diver in the U.S. Coast Guard, and Patrick, who lives and works in Braintree.

"I am looking forward to being a part of the team effort at Quincy Junior College," Downey said. "Working with people of the community, the staff and faculty in an era of educational transition will be exciting."

James Maver Promoted At CPA Firm

James C. Maver of Quincy has been promoted to an accounting and audit supervisor at the South Shore accounting firm of Needel, Welch & Stone, P.C. of Hingham.

Maver, a Bentley College graduate, is currently enrolled in the Masters in Taxation program at Bentley and plans to receive his degree this year.

He has been with the Hingham accounting firm since 1982.

Gift Certificates Good For Two Years

Businesses that sell gift certificates must allow at least two years for the certificate to be redeemed, State Senator Paul D. Harold notes.

Under new legislation now in effect, any business which imposes a time limit of less than two years, or sets a limit of more than two years but fails to state the expiration date clearly on the face of the certificate, is subject to a fine of $300.

Harold said a business that refuses to honor a gift certificate after selling is also subject to a $300 fine.

The new law does not apply when the purchaser of the certificate is not required to pay for it until it is used.

Marcelo Giarelli In Global Shield Exercise

Airman First Class Marcelo Giarelli, son of Rosa Giarelli of 110 Liberty St., Quincy, has participated in Global Shield 86, an exercise involving U.S. Air Force, Navy and Marine Corps

William Frye At Fort Bragg

Cadet William D. Frye, son of David D. Frye of 21 Blake St., Hyde Park, and Kathryn P. Frye of 62 Royal St., Quincy, received practical work in military leadership at the U.S. Army ROTC advanced camp, Fort Bragg, N.C.

The six-week camp, attended by cadets normally between their third and fourth year of college, includes instruction in communications, management and survival training.

Successful completion of the advanced camp and graduation from college results in a commission as a second lieutenant in either the U.S. Army, Army Reserve or National Guard for the cadet.

City Eligible For $43,345 To Assist Non-English

Quincy is eligible to receive up to $43,345 to provide services to non-English speaking newcomers to the U.S. under a new state program entitled Gateway Cities.

Sen. Paul Harold said the funds will become available upon the approval of the secretary of the Executive Office of Communities and Development (EOCD) when a spending plan is submitted by Quincy. EOCD is in the process of drawing up program guidelines.

A council on Gateway Cities is scheduled to be appointed by the governor and will consist of newcomers, people providing services to newcomers, mayors, members of city councils or selectmen of the communities which meet the criteria established by the legislature for designation as a gateway city.

This council will advise EOCD in approving and monitoring spending plans of the gateway cities, coordinating state services and authorizing emergency grants to communities because of the rapid increase in the number of newcomers.

The program was created by the legislature in the budget for fiscal 1987 to aid communities in meeting the needs of newcomers to the U.S., said Harold.

PEOPLE ARE

If Basic is the heart of cable, Senior Service is the soul. Our people go out of their way to provide thoughtful, courteous and prompt service to everyone. But especially to senior citizens. Just listen to what some of our senior subscribers have to say about us:

"Senior Smarts has done a great deal to add to the enjoyment of senior citizens and helps to keep them young, active, and important."

Steve Marx

"Let me thank you for your good service and especially for providing such good TV as Mother Angelica."

Mary A. Maloney

"I'm pleased beyond words...I find your working crew polite, efficient and you keep your word!"

Phyllis Acebo

"It is really a pleasure to deal with honorable people. Thank you very much."

Joe and Esther Ross

SEE FOR YOURSELF, FREE.

We could tell you about cable for hours, but there's no substitute for first hand experience. That's why we're making this special offer to senior citizens only. We'll install cable and give you a month's Basic Cable service, all for free. You can sit back and see what Basic Cable's got for you, without spending a cent.

A GUARANTEE, NOT A GIMMICK.

We don't want you to rush into anything. We're giving you a month's free service to help you make up your mind. If, at the end of it, you're not completely satisfied, we guarantee we'll remove your cable and that will be that. So, what have you got to lose?

If you'd like to give cable a try, please give us a call at 479-2936 or 471-9611 today. One month after installation, you'll see why some of our happiest subscribers are seniors. Because you'll be happy too.

HEALTH ENHANCEMENT — CARDIOVASCULAR FITNESS PROGRAMS

Nautilus

NAUTILUS FITNESS PROGRAM

A properly designed Nautilus training program is the most effective and efficient means to look better, feel better and function better.

EQUIPMENT: 23 Nautilus Machines
8 Computerized Biocycles
1 Computerized Stairmaster

STAFF: Dr. Wayne L. Westcott is the National YMCA Fitness Adviser, and has published many books and articles on sensible strength training. His carefully trained staff includes 16 instructors with professional degrees in physical education, exercise science, physical therapy and related fields.

HOURS: Monday - Friday 6:00 AM - 10:00 PM
Saturday 8:00 AM - 8:30 PM
Sunday 1:00 PM - 5:00 PM

Our Nautilus Fitness Center is continually staffed by trained Nautilus instructors.

COMPUTERIZED PERSONAL FITNESS EVALUATION

This is an ongoing program offered Monday through Friday at the John Day Memorial Exercise Testing and Prescription Laboratory located next to the Nautilus office. Your comprehensive evaluation will take 60 minutes with a 30-minute follow-up results consultation session to discuss your performance on these fitness parameters:

- Coronary Risk Assessments
- Joint Flexibility
- Blood Cholesterol Screening
- Percent Bodyfat
- Muscular Strength
- Cardiovascular Function

TWO HOURS CAN HELP REDUCE YOUR RISK OF HEART DISEASE

The heart has many enemies: high blood pressure, stress, smoking, cholesterol, too little exercise, too much weight. The list goes on . . . ranking heart disease as America's number 1 killer.

But heart disease does not have to be the killer it has become. You can lower your risk of heart disease. Please contact John Benkis for a Fitness Evaluation appointment at 479-8500.

TESTING FEES
$50.00 MEMBERS
$75.00 NON-MEMBERS

BLOOD CHOLESTEROL SCREENING

DO YOU KNOW WHAT YOUR CHOLESTEROL LEVEL IS?

The Framingham, Massachusetts Heart Study has made recent recommendations for every American to be under 200 mg/dl for serum blood cholesterol. The study showed that a 1% drop in cholesterol results in a 2% drop in your risk of developing heart disease. We can now measure your cholesterol level within 3 minutes by a finger stick with our new Reflotron Blood Analyzer. Do you need to change your diet to lower your cholesterol level? Please contact Tom Dorsey for an appointment to find out what your cholesterol level is.

TESTING FEES
$15.00 FOR YMCA MEMBER
$20.00 FOR NON-MEMBER

WEIGHT TRAINING PROGRAM

Newly renovated facility includes Olympic Weights, Barbells, Dumbbells and Stone's Bodybuilding Equipment. Open during all YMCA hours. Individualized instruction available.

WEIGHT LOSS PROGRAM

An innovative weight loss program which incorporates a low-fat diet plus exercise to facilitate fat loss and decrease the risk of coronary artery disease.

Cindy Wentworth-Murphy, Master's Degree in Exercise Science, as well as National Trainer for the "Y's Way to Weight Management." All other staff have degrees in physical education, exercise science or other health-related fields.

8-Week Program LECTURE PROGRAM - 6:30 pm -
Wednesday evenings, plus 3 workout days as our schedule permits.

CLASS PROGRAM - Tues, Thurs, Sat -
3 separate classes at 10 am, 3 pm and 7 pm.

Inquire as to starting dates at the Main Desk.

CARDIOVASCULAR FITNESS CLASSES

This is an ongoing program to improve joint flexibility and cardiovascular performance. Participants must have a comprehensive Fitness Evaluation before entrance into these classes. The class schedule is as follows:

Winter Program begins January 5, 1987

MONDAY-WEDNESDAY-FRIDAY 7:00 - 7:45 AM
MONDAY-FRIDAY 6:45 - 7:45 PM

Track is closed during these hours except for fitness class participants.

FEES FOR 1-YEAR PROGRAM

$55.00 for beginners to classes

Participants must be a YMCA member to join the fitness classes. Please contact John Benkis for a Fitness Evaluation appointment at 479-8500.

NOON-TIME CIRCUIT FITNESS

This program is designed to improve cardiovascular fitness and muscular strength during a 30-minute workout. Blood pressure and heart rate will be monitored during the eight stations of exercise. It is an excellent opportunity to exercise during your lunch hour.

Contact John Benkis for more information at 479-8500.

Y'S WAY TO A HEALTHY BACK

The Health Back program is specifically designed for those who suffer discomfort and pain in the lower back and need to increase muscular flexibility and strength.

This 6-wk. co-ed program meets on Mondays and Thursdays 6:00 - 7:00 P.M. Classes begin: October 6, January 12, March 23 and July 6.

Class Fee: $30.00 Y members, $45.00 non-members.
Contact Bill Johnson for more information at 479-8500.

SENIOR'S EXERCISE & SWIM PROGRAM (Age 60 or Older)

This program includes a general exercise class to help maintain flexibility and muscle tone. Also includes an aquacize and recreational swim program. Classes meet twice weekly for 6 weeks. Classes begin Tuesday, September 16th.

Tuesday 10:15 to 10:45 Exercise Class 10:45 to 11:15 Exercise Class

and
Thursday 11:00 to 11:30 Aquacize and rec. swim
11:30 to 12:00 Aquacize and rec. swim

Exercise classes are held in auditorium and participants must be able to climb in and out of the pool on their own.

Class Fee: Free to members
$20 for non-members (6 weeks)
$80 for non-members (Sept. to May, 1987)

Contact Manny Barbasa for more information at 479-8500.

AEROBICS IN MOTION PROGRAM

A.I.M. is a unique exercise class which combines stretching and flexibility, choreographed dance steps, floor exercises and a cool down phase all set to music. Target heart rates are monitored in every class and all of the instructors are certified through the Y.M.C.A.'s "Aerobics In Motion" program.

Fee: $60.00 for non-members for 12 weeks, starting the week of Sept. 15th.
$40.00 for members for 12 weeks, starting the week of Sept. 15th.

No one comes out the same.

The YMCA has a way of changing people's lives. And it doesn't seem to matter if you're young, old, or somewhere in between.

For example, with our fitness programs you might have a change in your body. Or because of our youth, family and volunteer programs, you might feel a change inside, about yourself and your relationship with others.

In any case, the Y affects different people in many ways. With all kinds of different programs and activities. Yet one thing doesn't seem to change. And that is, when you go into the YMCA, you don't come out the same. You come out a little better.

The YMCA. It's for all of you.

No Local Contests

Less Than 20% Voter Turnout Seen

Less than a 20 percent voter turnout is expected in the Sept. 16 state primary election because of lack of local races, says City Clerk John Gillis.

And those who do go out to vote will find that 20 of the city's 39 polling places have been changed so that there will be access for the handicapped as mandated by federal law.

As an example, Gillis, also election commissioner, said that three precincts will vote in the lower hall of St. John's Church, Quincy Center.

Access to the lower hall is available by an elevator, he said.

Gillis noted that each Quincy voter whose polling place has been changed has been notified by mail.

Ballots Page 3

"We never could have done it without Bob Brennan (head of Data Processing) who made the labels," said Gillis.

Providing access for the handicapped will cost the city $30,000 in addition to the normal $40,000 cost for an election, according to Gillis.

"There will be two booths for the handicapped - one for Democrats and one for Republicans - according to federal law.

"There have also been 20 ward changes so that the handicapped will have no problem voting," he said.

Polling places will open at 7 a.m. and close at 8 p.m., according to Gillis who estimated that the results will be in by 9:30 p.m.

The ballots will be tallied at City Hall with the help of the city's computer, he explained.

Gillis acknowledged that there has been less local interest in this election than in any during the 27 years he has been City Clerk.

A number of candidates have no opposition.

On the Democratic ballot, Gov. Michael Dukakis, Secretary of State Michael J.

Developer Says

$40 Million Payroll At President's Place

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

A $40 million annual payroll would be generated by employees and condominium owners at the President's Place project proposed for downtown Quincy, a developer told Quincy Center Business and Professional Association members Tuesday.

A $40 million annual payroll would be generated by employees and condominium owners at the President's Place project proposed for downtown Quincy, a developer told Quincy Center Business and Professional Association members Tuesday.

In addition, the retail portion of the multi-use project would produce $8 to $10 million in sales, Robert DeMarco of Campanelli Industries of Braintree said.

An update on the $54 million project was given to the group by DeMarco, fellow developer Stephen Ricciardi of Ricciardi Co. of Quincy, (both members of the QCBPA), and Kevin Shea of the city's Planning Department. The 40-minute presentation was well-received by the group.

"I can't envision anyone against a $50 million-plus building project which will bring people down here," said QCBPA president Robert Quinn after the meeting.

"It was an excellent presentation and an excellent meeting," agreed Kenneth Fallon, executive director of the QCBPA.

The developers and Shea gave some new information, fine-tuned some details and answered questions about such things as parking and condominium prices.

Ricciardi, who called the project "a milestone for downtown Quincy and us," said that demolition of the Bargain Center will take place in five to six weeks as part of the 5.6 acre project.

Completion of the entire project is expected by the spring or summer of 1988, he said.

The three elements of the project are an office building (with a four-story section and 10-story section), condominium with 209 one and two bedroom units, and a 750-800-space, five-level parking garage, according to Ricciardi.

Prices for the condo units will average $135,000 to $140,000, Ricciardi said, and parking spaces will be included.

He said he thought a

Tax Bills In Mail Oct. 1

The city hopes to have estimated tax bills in the mail no later than Oct. 1, according to Mayor Francis McCauley. The bills, based on half the fiscal 1986 tax bills, will be due Nov. 1.

Because the city is still undergoing a mandatory revaluation, the state allowed estimated bills to be sent

The revaluation is scheduled to be completed by Feb. 1, 1987, according to McCauley, and the second half bills will be mailed after that.

They will be due May 1, 1987, according to McCauley.

The mayor would not estimate what effect the revaluation would have on tax bills.

"It's way too early to talk about tax rates," he said.

The revaluation, which has been underway for several months, will include inspection to commercial and industrial property, but not to residential property, McCauley said.

10-Story Building Planned At Kincaide Site

Owners of the former Kincaide Building in Quincy Square hope to start construction in the late winter or early spring on a 10-story building, according to Mayor Francis McCauley.

Barry Goldman, an owner of the property, had announced in June plans for an eight-story building with two levels of underground parking, one floor of retail space and 90 to 100 retail units.

But the plans were revised to include 10 stories and 72 rental units, according to McCauley, who said that he discussed the situation with architect Joseph Donahue.

"They're investigating avenues for financing the project," said McCauley, "and are serious about developing the property."

The Hancock St. property has been vacant since a five-alarm blaze of suspicious origin last May.

WRA Meeting On Scum

The Massachusetts Water Resources Authority will hold a public meeting on the scum disposal feasibility study tonight (Thursday) at 7:30 p.m. at the Houghs Neck Community Center, Sea St. The MWRA will solicit public comments on the proposed alternative of the scum disposal feasibility study prior to consideration of alternatives by the MWRA board of directors.

The meeting is a follow-up to the one held Feb. 10.

Any questions or concerns may be addressed prior to the public meeting by contacting Melanie Thomas at the MWRA, 242-0230, ext. 2529, or Richard Trubiano, 242-0230, ext. 2507; or the public affairs department at the MWRA, 242-6000, ext. 1134.

Power Tools Stolen

David Casey reported to police that $250 worth of power tools was stolen from his truck which was parked at O'Lindy's, Quincy Ave. Sunday.

Hotel Still Sought At Crown Colony Place

Developers of Crown Colony Place, West Quincy, are still hoping to attract a 300-350 room hotel to the site, according to Mayor Francis McCauley.

McCauley said he spoke with Don Moulton of Meredith and Grew, the real estate broker for the property, and was told developers are also talking with several other firms.

Moulton said that road and drainage work is expected to be completed by the end of the year, according to McCauley. At some two million square feet, the project is the largest in the city, according to Planning Director James Lydon, who liked it to the State St. complex.

He noted that the value is estimated at several hundred million dollars.

The project is being planned by the Musaad Al-Saleh family of Kuwait on the site of the Old Colony Crushed Stone land off Centre St.

Mobile Canteen License Rejected

By DAN CONNELLY

A city ordinance was the immovable object that stopped a Quincy housewife from securing from the Licensing Board Tuesday a common victualer permit—for various locations—for her husband's mobile canteen truck.

Mrs. Raymond Lynch of 16 Franklin St., South Quincy said her husband has permission to park the canteen truck on private grounds behind the former Bargain Center, from 7:30 to 7:55. His customers during that period are students from nearby Quincy Junior College and the high school.

The board responded that the vehicle is illegally parked because it is too close to the college. The city ordinance was then read to her:

"No hawk or peddler shall sell or barter or carry for sale or barter or expose therefor any goods, foodstuffs, wares or merchandise within three hundred (300) yards of a school or licensed food service establishment in the City of Quincy at any time."

Chairman John Gillis then told Mrs. Lynch that her husband only has a hawkers permit and his only taxation in his business is to the vehicle. But, he added, a nearby food shop pays a greater city tax and is partially dependent on customers from the area.

The board also assured Mrs. Lynch that there is no way they would ever circumvent any city laws to comfort anyone, especially in this request for a common victualer license for various locations.

The hearing closed when Gillis said they were sympathetic and "she fought a good fight," but her direction to change the law, should she wish, is with her ward councillor.

License Board Briefs

The City License Board took the following action at Tuesday's meeting at City Hall:

- Granted a request from the Quincy Football League for a license to conduct tag days Sept. 19 and 20. Rain dates Sept. 26 and 27. Fund raising program is an annual event by the league.

- Granted a request from Mrs. Deborah Eaton, 27 Summer St., for a one day alcohol license for Sept. 14 for the purpose of a wedding reception at the Fore River Clubhouse.

- Granted a request from Kim Market, 163 Newbury Ave., North Quincy, for a common victualer take out only license. Petitioner was Truong Son Hong, 33 Lithgow St., Dorchester.

- Granted a request from Joseph I. Mantion, doing business at The Hofbrau, 400 Sea St., for a noon opening on Sundays.

- Positoned to Sept. 23 a request from Glasgow Pub, Inc., doing business at Callahan's Pub, 296 Copeland St., for a noon opening on Sundays.

- Granted a request from Nicholas Trifone for additional hours at Lite & Wedge, Wine and Cheese Shoppe, Inc., 230 Washington St., Quincy Point.

- Placed on file complaints by abutters relative to conditions and activities at the A.S. Peterson Co., 25 Sampo Pl., South Quincy. The board was assured that litter about the property is being cleaned up and no vehicles parked there would be turned on at 5 a.m. Abutters objected to the early hour excessive noise of the trucks and their exhaust diesel fumes which they contended caused obnoxious problems into nearby dwellings.

- Granted a one day alcohol license for Sept. 27 at the K. of C. Hall, North Quincy, for a private function.

Applications Available For Real Estate Tax Exemptions

Quincy taxpayers who may be eligible for exemption on their real estate taxes as disabled veterans, elderly, widows, blind persons and others, are reminded that applications must be filed every year.

Applications for fiscal year 1987 are now available and may be filed at the Assessors Office, City Hall, Quincy during business hours, 8:30 to 4:30, Monday through Friday.

Alzheimer Group Meeting

A meeting of the Quincy Alzheimer's Disease Support Group will be held today (Thursday) at 7:30 p.m. at the Beechwood Community Life Center, 225 Fenno St. This will be a peer group support session.

New families are welcomed. For information call 471-5712.

McGrath, Toland Want To See Project Design Changes

By DAN CONNELLY

Two city councillors are requesting that the developers of the proposed $54 million President's Place project present any architectural and design changes to the Council as soon as possible.

But Mayor Francis McCauley said he thinks the request "really isn't in good form."

"They'll have plenty of time to deal with the issue," he said.

Council President Stephen McGrath and Ward Councillor-At-Large Patricia Toland, chairperson for the Downtown and Economic Development Committee, differ with the mayor and sent the letter to developer Stephen C. Ricciardi so that the project may not reach a stage of finality that any concerns the council and community may wish to see addressed may be difficult to include.

The letter stated: As the public officials who must finally pass upon this urban development project, we are concerned that the design and architectural changes that are contemplated as the project is examined by the mayor's review committee may reach such a stage of finality that any concerns that the City Council and community may wish to see addressed may be difficult to include.

This project is obviously one of great significance to the downtown and to the City of Quincy as a whole.

Recently, citizens groups have expressed concern relative to the height and size of buildings. Accordingly, the City Council—as their elected representatives, and as the city's urban renewal authority—should become involved at the earliest possible opportunity before any design and architectural plans are "cast in stone."

We, therefore, request that you present to the Downtown and Economic Development Committee an update on this project along with any proposed changes in the design of the project for our review and to facilitate public comment.

We look forward to working with you and the Mayor's office on this project which is so important to the future of our City.

McCauley said that the two councillors discussed the matter with Planning Director James Lydon.

"His feeling was that this is premature," said McCauley. "I agree with Mr. Lydon."

McCauley said that city councillors had the opportunity to attend a presentation by the developers to the Citizens Advisory Committee.

He also said that the plans are still in the early stages, and must also be presented at a Planning Board hearing.

An urban renewal plan in connection with the project is scheduled to be presented to the council at the Oct. 20,

Sun Pledge Center Over $1 Million Goal

It's official!

The Quincy Sun-Jerry Lewis pledge center and telephone committee has officially reached and passed its 10-year $1 million goal.

The total figure so far—with more expected to come in—is $1,000,586. That's $586 over the top.

The figure for this year so far is $111,272. Exactly $110,686 was needed to hit the $1 million mark.

The annual softball doubleheader between the Quincy Police and Quincy Firefighters and the City Officials and News Media officially put the 10-year $1 million goal over the top.

The game, which had been rained out before the Labor Day weekend, was played last Thursday night at Adams Field and netted $1232—with possibly more coming in from late ticket returns.

Of the $111,272 raised this year, $37,747 was in pledges and $15,510 in fish bowl receipts over the Labor Day weekend and $58,015 in special events.

Overall, this year's figure was $14,637 more than last year's. Pledges were down by $2,460 but special events were up $8,803 and fish bowl receipts were up $8,304.

A last minute $5,000 pledge from Peter O'Connell of O'Connell Management Co. was pivotal and made it possible to reach the 10-year $1 million goal.

The Quincy Sun pledge center, held nine years at The Sun office in downtown Quincy, was moved to the top deck of the Edmund Fitzgerald at Marina Bay, Squantum for this year.

The Quincy-South Shore Telephone Committee is headed by Sun publisher Henry Bosworth and Richard Koch, Sr., executive secretary of the Quincy Park-Recreation Board.

Readers Forum Urges Council To Support Chapter 73

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

Since the implementation of 100 per cent valuation of real property in the City of Quincy, many individuals who previously qualified for a property tax exemption no longer qualify, or qualify less.

In most instances the value of the domicile disqualifies the individual from the eligible list, or when the individual still qualifies only a minimum abatement is awarded.

The elderly, as a group, are hardest hit. Some have had their abatements reduced to $500, others have been bumped to another category and only receive a $175 abatement. Skyrocketing property values in Quincy provide little comfort to the elderly homeowner who lives on a fixed income and has no interest in selling their homes. Clearly, a remedy was needed so that qualifying individuals could continue to receive their exemptions.

In an attempt to soften the blow of 100 per cent valuation on our elderly, blind and disabled Veteran taxpayers the Legislature this past June enacted Chapter 73 of the Acts of 1986 entitled "An Act Providing Relief From The Impact Of Revaluation".

Chapter 73 authorizes cities and towns, as a local option, to increase the dollar value of the exemptions for the elderly, widows, the blind and disabled Veterans along with the exemption for surviving spouses and minor children of Police and Fire Fighters killed in the line of duty by as much as 100 per cent. It also allows communities to broaden exemption qualifications for taxpayers over 70 years of age by increasing the asset, estate and income limits currently in place to account for inflation.

I call upon the Quincy City Council to adopt the provisions of Chapter 73 of the Acts of 1986. Let it not be said that we in Quincy are willing to turn a deaf ear to those who have worked their hearts out over a long lifetime, those who are seriously disabled, or the widows of those killed while in our service - all that they seek is economic justice.

HOME SELLING QUIZ

QUESTION: Can you convince me that it makes more sense to sell my home through a Realtor than on my own?

ANSWER: Do you have sufficient data to price your property realistically? Can you draw proper contracts, recognize insincere offers, inadequate deposits, unreasonable contingencies? Do you have expert knowledge of the current mortgage situation... FHA/VA... assumptions... second mortgages? Are you willing to have your family exposed to any stranger who knocks? If your answer to any ONE of these questions is NO, then I suggest you drop into my office. You'll end up with the best possible price plus peace of mind.

IF YOU FLUNK this quiz, you'd better see a Realtor before you sell your home.

The Million Dollar Game

The City officials and News Media softball players may never make it to the big time, but they can always say they were in the Million Dollar game.

So, too, can the Quincy Police and Quincy Firefighters who look more like ball players.

The City Officials, after losing to the media the last two years, found the law of averages on their side to squeak out an 11-8 win.

Police defeated the Firefighters 21-11.

But the real winners were Jerry's Kids.

Proceeds from this year's doubleheader—over $1,200 was enough to officially put the Quincy-South Shore Telethon Committee based at The Quincy Sun over its 10-year $1 million goal.

We're grateful to all who played a part in reaching this milestone in the local fight against muscular dystrophy.

On the lighter side, the City Officials-News Media game had its humorous moments spiced with good natured ribbing. Samples:

When the Patriot Ledger's Phil Dine showed up with his glove at 8 o'clock Thursday night, he was told the game was being shifted to Tuesday at 2 p.m.

And, when Sun Ch. 8's Bob Gohl made his appearance, he was informed he was badly needed at home plate. "You mean to catch?" he asked. "No," he was told. "To BE home plate!"

Arthur Foley, the mayor's administrative assistant, was voted the best foul ball hitter in the game. But although he didn't do much at bat he really helped the cause.

He handed over a $20 bill for a $1 ticket and didn't take his change.

LARAIA

Councillor Joe LaRaia looked like Ron Gledman behind the plate and ran the bases like he was off and running for mayor.

Councillor Ted DeCristofaro really tried to help his team but would have done better if he had let his wife, Betty, pinch hit for him.

Bill Ketter, editor of the Patriot Ledger, rushed back from a New York trip to make the game. And he brought along a nice check for MDA. So we let him pitch.

CATTANEO

He wasn't bad either. He and the Park Department's Ray Cattaneo hooked up in a "brilliant" pitcher's duel until the media's defense came unglued. But Ketter still went the distance.

Speaking of Cattaneo, you could call him a sneaky right hander. He slipped a strike by The Sun's Linda Santoro while she was taking a practice swing.

Linda is the wife of School Committee member Frank Santoro who played on the other side. Linda used a little psychology before the game: she warned him if he went out of his way to help the City Officials win, she wasn't cooking for a week. Well, he didn't listen. And he isn't eating very well.

DURKIN

School Committee Vice Chairman Steve Durkin won the best dressed player honors with the nattiest uniform on the field.

But it didn't do anything for his hitting.

Tom Koch, umpiring behind the plate, called two close ones against the News Media which ended what looked like a big inning and may have cost them the game. The Media players, however, were quite the gentlemen about it, they didn't make a big dirt kicking scene of it. They just politely informed Koch that the next time he runs for city councillor he'll need magnifying glasses to find his name in The Ledger or The Sun and a boom box hearing aid to hear his name on WJDA.

Oh, there were some pretty good ball players out there on the field. The Ledger's Earl LaChance looked like Carl Yazsremski in 1967 in left field. The Ledger's Seth Livingstone at third and The Sun's Fred Happel in center field turned in some sparkling defensive gems to help keep Ketter from going to an early shower.

Youth Commissioner Brian Buckley looked pretty good as did Building Inspector Ken Johnson, and the Health Department's Mike Shaheen.

WJDA's Herb Fontaine and John Nicolson, The Sun's Brian O'Neill and City Auditor Bob Foy gave it the old college try.

Councillor Jim Sheets who can hit 'em a mile fortunately for Ketter and the News Media didn't. Got a single though.

The News Media had the shortest short fielder in the history of the annual doubleheader: Mike Santoro, age 9, and all of four foot, eight inches.

No sour grapes, but didn't the City Officials team look a little male chauvinistic? No women on the team. The News Media had four: WJDA's Nancy Sheehan and Kathy O'Sullivan and The Sun's Linda Santoro and Debbie McCarthy.

Just kidding, men.

The game had an unusual wrap-up. Mike Baldino, New England regional director of MDA, Karen Canfield, program coordinator and volunteer Kathy Flynn, turned up with champagne (purchased personally by Baldino) to toast The Quincy Sun pledge center and its Quincy-South Shore Telethon Committee for hitting their 10-year $1 million revenue goal.

Just before the champagne was carried out, the City Officials team had broken out their cold beer.

Peter Kenney, the mayor's executive secretary, who coached the City Officials team cracked: "That's the first time I ever saw the winning team with beer and the losing team with champagne."

The City Officials were invited over to partake in the bubbly.

The party broke up a short while later when a skunk wandered across the outfield and kept looking in as though he was saying: "Why don't you people be nice and turn off the lights and go home?"

So, we did.

Sweeney, Randall Appointed To Registrar's Board

Two Quincy residents, Charles T. Sweeney and Mrs. Louise Randall, have been appointed to the unpaid Board of Registrars of Voters.

Sweeney, of 49 Ames St. West Quincy, will complete the unexpired term of Arnold Levine who resigned recently. A graduate of Dartmouth College, Sweeney is an Army Veteran of World War II and was associated with the Veteran's Administration in Boston until his retirement.

He served for 20 years on the School Committee, as its Vice Chairman in 1962-1963 and again in 1974-1975. Sweeney is co-founder of Quincy Junior College and a former member and Chairman of the Park and Recreation Board.

Mrs. Randall, of 155 Crabtree Road, Squantum, has been appointed to fill the unexpired term of Howard Willard who has also tendered his resignation.

Mrs. Randall, the wife of Atty. Douglas Randall, a former Quincy City Solicitor, is the mother of six children. She is a graduate of Woodward School for Girls, where she is active in the Alumnae Association and Boston University.

Both appointments are effective immediately. Sweeney's appointment will expire on the first Monday of February, 1988.

$36.40 Tax Rate Set In 1921

Mayor William A. Bradford announced a $36.40 tax rate for 1921, an increase of $4.20 over that of 1920 and more than double the rate set five years before in 1916.

Bradford, serving his first term as Mayor of Quincy, said the tax boost was due to conditions beyond the control of his administration.

Razing of the Housing Corporation's dormitories on Chubbuck St. and the sale of the Quincy Mansion School to Eastern Nazarene College helped to reduce the tax base, he explained.

SIX VETS REPORT

Only six veterans were among the candidates for the Quincy High School football team reporting to Coach Frank Mitchell at Pfaffman's Oval.

They were Capt. Guild, Listman, Woodworth, Bassett, Neal and Guman.

Games were scheduled with Marblehead, Newton, Rockland, Waltham, Milton, Plymouth, Natick, Weymouth, Boston Latin, Thayer Academy, Brockton and the Alumni.

ARBuckle PICTURES BANNED

Mayor Bradford issued an order banning the showing in any Quincy Theatre of motion pictures starring the comedian Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle.

Arbuckle was under indictment in California for manslaughter in the party death of movie starlet Virginia Rappe.

WICKENS AND TROUPE FUNERAL HOME

 Telephone (617) 472-5888

A loss in a family often creates problems for survivors which can sometimes be alleviated by discussion and pre-planning. Funeral and burial arrangements are an important consideration and should be discussed openly and frankly. Pre-arranging and pre-financing a funeral is a method some people choose to assist their survivors. The entire subject of pre-arranging and pre-financing funerals may be discussed in confidence with the assurance of strict compliance with your wishes, with Wickens and Troupe Funeral Home, 26 Adams St., Quincy, Ma. adjacent to the Quincy Historical Society Home, in Quincy. Funeral Directors Roger Hamel, Donald McCarthy and Joseph Thompson are thoroughly trained professionals, who have experience to pre-arrange and/or pre-financing a funeral. Call the pre-need specialist of Quincy and the South Shore, Wickens and Troupe Funeral Home at 472-5888. That's 472-5888.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

For centuries, letters were principal means of communication between people. The written word joined people who otherwise were apart. Many letters of the past have found their way into literature, and the early forms of the modern novel were written in the form of letters to and from the principals in the story.

Sadly, today letter writing may not be quite as popular as it once was. Where once one might have written a letter, one now only has to dial the telephone to be in contact with virtually every corner of the earth. We do not deny the importance of the telephone... While the telephone might supplant letter writing, it will never replace it. A telephone conversation is as transient as a gust of air; no sooner does it exist than it is gone, never to be felt or heard again. A letter, on the other hand, remains... and can be read over and over again; a person can pause and reread a meaningful phrase. And doesn't a letter show that the writer took enough of an interest in the recipient to sit down and take the time to write a letter, rather than simply dialing the telephone?

Wouldn't today be a good time to sit down and send a few thoughts to a friend or a relative? Incidentally, it is always a pleasure to hear from you on these thoughts that we bring to you each week...

Obituaries

Joseph L. McClory, Quincy Police Officer

A funeral Mass for Joseph L. McClory of Quincy was celebrated Sept. 8 in St. Mary's Church, West Quincy. He died Sept. 4 in an automobile accident on Route 3 in Duxbury. Born in Dorchester, Mr. McClory moved to Quincy 18 years ago. He joined the Quincy Police Department in January 1975 after working on the Boston City Hospital security patrol. He had worked the night shift as a patrolman and had covered the Houghs Neck and Quincy Center beats. He had received an associate's degree from Northeastern University. Mr. McClory was a member of the Quincy Youth Hockey Association, the Quincy Elks and the North Quincy Knights of Columbus. He is survived by his wife, Patricia (Fetherston) McClory; a daughter, Michelle "Mimi" McClory of Quincy, three sons, Michael T. McClory, J. Jeffrey McClory, and Scott D. McClory, all of Quincy; his mother, Marjorie (Bowen) McClory of Quincy; a brother, John J. McClory of Palm Bay, Fla.; a sister, Jane Walker of Plymouth. He was also the son of the late John J. McClory, a Boston policeman, and the brother of the late Mary Campbell. Burial was in Pine Hill Cemetery, West Quincy. Funeral arrangements were by the Keohane Funeral Home, 785 Hancock St., Wollaston.

Esther Weeden, 84, From Injuries In Auto Accident

A funeral service for Esther P. (Pearce) Weeden, 84, of Quincy, an officer of the Quincy City Hospital Auxiliary for more than 30 years, was held Saturday at Faith Lutheran Church, Quincy.

Mrs. Weeden died Sept. 4, at Cape Cod Hospital, Hyannis, from injuries sustained in a car accident Aug. 26 in Bourne.

That accident also claimed the life of her sister-in-law, Lois M. (Woods) Weeden, 69.

The two women were on their way to lunch in Sandwich to celebrate Esther Weeden's birthday when their car was in a head-on collision with a delivery truck.

Esther Weeden's late husband, Chester J. Weeden, was president of the Quincy Trust Co., forerunner of the Bank of New England-Hancock, for many years.

A Boston native, Mrs. Weeden was a member of the Quincy Women's Club, the Neighborhood Club of Quincy, the William B. Rice Eventide Home Auxiliary and Faith Lutheran Church.

She is survived by a brother, R.F. Pearce of Braintree; a sister, Frieda Bencks of Quincy; and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral arrangements were by Wickens and Troupe Funeral Home, Quincy. Burial was in Mt. Wollaston Cemetery.

Memorial donations may be made to Faith Lutheran Church Memorial Fund, 201 Granite St., Quincy, Ma., 02169.

Edward Pettinelli, 66, Retired Quincy Firefighter

A funeral Mass for Edward A. "Jackie" Pettinelli, 66, of Quincy, a retired 32-year veteran of the Quincy Fire Department, was held Monday at St. John's Church, Quincy Center.

Mr. Pettinelli died Sept. 2, while vacationing in Hawaii.

A lifelong Quincy resident, he was one of four brothers serving in the Quincy fire and police departments. He retired in 1981.

Mr. Pettinelli was an outstanding varsity basketball, baseball and football player at Quincy High School, and played semi-professional sports.

He served with the Army in Europe during World War II, and won many medals including the Purple Heart.

Mr. Pettinelli was commended in March 1974 for assisting in the apprehension of two Hough's Neck youths who were responsible for hurling a rock through the window of Engine Company 4 and setting fires in the marsh. The responsible youths were brought to court and prosecuted.

In another department citation, Mr. Pettinelli was commended for his heroic action in braving heavy smoke and heat when he climbed through a second floor bedroom window to rescue an unconscious woman during a house fire at 38 Bell St.

Mr. Pettinelli was a member of the Torre Dei Passeri Social Club, the Holy Name Society of St. John's Church, the Quincy Fire Fighters' Relief Association and the Quincy High School Basketball Alumni Club.

He is survived by his wife, Marjorie (Hawco) Pettinelli, a son, Timothy Pettinelli of Pembroke; five daughters,

EDWARD A. PETTINELLI

Marjorie Kay of Plymouth, Frances Picard and Jacqueline Pettinelli, both of Quincy, and Gisela Poirier and Anna Marie Lapsley, both of Plymouth; four brothers, Louis Pettinelli, retired detective; Dante Pettinelli, Robert Pettinelli of the Quincy Fire Department, and retired policeman Guido Pettinelli, all of Quincy; two sisters, Inez Mancini of Quincy and Eva Del Prete of Rockland; and 12 grandchildren.

Those honored to serve as pallbearers during the services were: firefighters Harold R. Carroll, William Arienti, Ernest M. Arienti, Noel J. Balducci, Deputy Chief Theodore F. Kressler, and Deputy Chief Joseph C. Jackson.

Funeral arrangements were by Bolea-Buonfiglio Funeral Home, 116 Franklin St. Burial was in Mt. Wollaston Cemetery.

Memorial donations may be made to the American Heart Association, 1105 W. Chestnut St., Brockton, Ma., 02401.

Evelyn E. Findlay, 93

A funeral service for Evelyn E. (Towne) Findlay, 93, of Quincy, was conducted Wednesday at the Keohane Funeral Home, 785 Hancock St., Wollaston, by the Rev. Arthur Curtis of the Atlantic Memorial Congregational Church.

Mrs. Findlay died Sept. 7 at Quincy City Hospital after a brief illness.

She was born and lived in the Readville section of Boston moving to Quincy 83 years ago.

Wife of the late Richard R. Findlay, she is survived by a son, Richard R. Findlay Jr. of Rockland; four daughters, Mildred Bostwick of Squantum, Bernice McCarron of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Elizabeth Bartels of Peoria, Ariz., and Suzanne Riley of Boynton Beach, Fla.; two sisters, Lillian Peters of Boston and Florence Bernier of Lexington, 17 grandchildren, 42 great-grandchildren and 12 great-great-grandchildren. She was mother of the late Evelyn Billings and Althea Pompeo.

Burial was in Mount Wollaston Cemetery.

Crime Watch

By ROBERT HANNA
Crime Prevention Officer
Quincy Police Department

What Is Suspicious?

No police department can function effectively without the concerned assistance of reasonable citizens.

The police are depending on you to call and tell us whenever you observe suspicious persons or actions.

Anything that seems even slightly "out of place" for the area or during the time of day which it occurs should be deemed suspicious.

The most obvious things to watch for and report include:

- The stranger entering your neighbors home when it is unoccupied may be a burglar.
- The scream heard anywhere may mean robbery or rape.
- Offers of merchandise at ridiculously low prices can mean stolen property.
- Anyone removing accessories, license plates or gasoline from a car should be reported.
- The sound of breaking glass could be an accident, housebreak or vandalism.
- Persons loitering around schools, parks, secluded areas or in the neighborhood could be sex offenders.
- Persons around a neighborhood who do not live there could be burglars.

Remember: YOUR CALL MAY SAVE A LIFE. PREVENT AN INJURY OR STOP A CRIMINAL ACT!!

The information contained in this condensed version of the Quincy Police journal is intended to make citizens aware of crimes that may be happening in their neighborhoods.

Pollard Playground To Be Dedicated Sept. 13

Ward 2 Councilor Theodore DeCristofaro announces that the dedication of the former Pollard School Playground will take place at ceremonies Saturday, Sept. 13, at 10 a.m.

The playground is to be named the Francis Keegan Recreational Area in memory of Francis Keegan who was principal of the Pollard School for 13 years.

Keegan was loved and respected by students, teachers, and parents DeCristofaro noted.

During the time he served as principal, he influenced every child, staff member and family at the Pollard School. "His dedication and commitment to the community was felt by all who knew him and worked with him," he said.

Chairman of the dedication ceremonies is Laura DiTullio. The public is invited to attend.

QCH Board Meets Sept. 16

Fall Home Improvement

THIS ATTIC ROOM takes advantage of the light control, privacy and quiet beauty offered by three different Hunter Douglas window fashions to become a handsome, welcoming extra bedroom.

A remodeled attic uses eaves for a "de-lightful" environment

Attics are natural places to look when remodeling, but unfortunately adding natural light is often problematic. Not so in this bedroom where the natural eaves of the attic space were used to de-lightful advantage.

A welcoming atmosphere

Skylights and window were carved from the space to eliminate any resemblance to a dusty, dark cavern. Light control, privacy and design interest are inherent in the three distinctively sculpted light spaces, and these are enhanced by the use of three distinct window fashions by Hunter Douglas.

while the interesting angled window has soft translucent fabric vertical blinds. The skylight blind is "Duette," the unique dual-pleat soft fabric shade available in a wide variety of decorator colors.

Duette can be ordered in custom sizes in widths up to 174" and lengths of up to 192" with no seams, tapes, visible pull cords or holes to mar its clean, uncluttered styling.

A treatment for every window

Each window treatment answers the special need of the window in which it is installed, and, combined, they create a sleek, coordinated, visually appealing, thoroughly functional and welcoming extra bedroom.

Cleanup's a breeze with high gloss acrylic latex paint

Picture yourself admiring that just-completed home painting project. It's a thrill to see it finished but, if you used an oil-based paint, the thrill can be short-lived — for the arduous task of cleanup still lies ahead.

Today, high gloss acrylic latex paint can add to your enjoyment of home painting projects by simplifying the cleanup process.

Whereas oil-based paint cleanup is difficult, time-consuming and often requires the use of costly solvents, high gloss acrylic latex washes off your hands, brushes and rollers effortlessly with soap and warm water.

Best of all, high gloss acrylic latex paint combines the ease of cleanup long associated with latex-based paints, with the lustrous, glossy appearance that was formerly available only with oil-based paint.

Tests show the new high gloss paint to be longer lasting than any oil-based product. Unlike oil-based paints, high gloss acrylic latex will not peel, chip, crack or fade. The paint looks fresh for years.

The true beauty of high gloss acrylic latex paint shines through on both interior and exterior surfaces. Because it holds up well under repeated scrubbing, it is an excellent choice for high-traffic areas: playrooms, bathrooms and corridors.

Outside, the new high gloss paint maintains its brilliance in spite of exposure to the sun and harsh weather. It will not blister, discolor or lose its sheen when applied to doors, shutters, soffits, windows and trim.

Why should your decorating or refurbishing job be marred by a long and difficult cleanup? This unpleasant chore becomes a forgotten memory with high gloss acrylic latex paint.

QUICK AND EASY — Soap and water is all it takes to clean your hands and brushes after applying high gloss acrylic latex paint.

Effective use of space can enhance pleasures of living

Creative use of existing space becomes critical in homes and apartments where every square inch counts.

If handled effectively, not only floor dimensions, but the wall area can add to the amenities that make life pleasanter. And a big price tag is often not necessary.

For example, the corner of a small bedroom can become an intimate hide-away for watching TV, listening to favorite music, reading and doing needlework simply by adding wall units "engineered" to fulfill multi-functions.

In the suburban bedroom shown here, the corner was created easily and at very moderate cost with assemble-yourself coordinated pieces from Van Pelt Lifestyle Furniture. Set up to go around the corner, they fit neatly under the eave and unify two disparate size walls, adding valuable storage capacity.

A cabinet with closed doors stores cassette, drop lid opening holds the TV and the equipment is housed in the ample shelf-space. Magazines which always seem to accumulate faster than they get read are stashed neatly on the lower shelves.

A closed wardrobe unit from the same "Tivoli" collection supplements limited closet space and provides room for hanging clothes as well as precious additional shelf space for flat-folded items.

Surfaced in easy-care white laminate, the pieces, easily assembled with a dowel, screw and molly connector system, take advantage of a corner that might otherwise be wasted and add a cheery, light, bright character to the room.

Wondering how the rich get richer?

Just when everyone thought that the days when homes would continue to soar in value are over, comes a contradiction.

What is thought to be a record-high price for a single-family residence — a 25,000 square-foot home in Beverly Hills, complete with guest houses and garage space for 14 cars — has been sold for more than $20 million. Its former owner is said to have paid a mere $14.5 million for the 10-acre property just four years ago.

Glad Tidings To Celebrate 60th Anniversary

The Glad Tidings Church, 158 Washington St., Quincy, will celebrate its 60th anniversary Sunday with eight of the former pastors returning to participate in the festivities.

Rev. Hugh Corey, a previous pastor and currently the district superintendent of the Southern New England district of the Assemblies of God, will be the featured speaker at the 10 a.m. service. The evening service will be shared by Rev. Eldon Vincent, now a missionary in the islands of the Pacific, and Rev. William Snow, who pastored in Quincy for 17 years. This service begins at 6:30 p.m.

Glad Tidings Church originated in 1926 with weekly home meetings. Mrs. Ragnhild Souther, a charter member of the church, recalls how people gathered in the home of her parents located on what is now the Southern Artery. In 1942 the present building on Washington St., was purchased from the Universalist Church.

Throughout the years Glad Tidings Church has maintained a missionary emphasis, and has been instrumental in helping establish Glad Tidings Assembly of God in Abington, Lighthouse Assembly of God in Hull, South Shore Assembly of God in Rockland, Plymouth Bay Church in Pembroke and Christian Life Center in Walpole.

'Bible Speaks To Worry' Covenant Congregational Topic

The morning worship service last Sunday began at 10 a.m. for the last time this year at Covenant Congregational Church, Whitwell and Granite Sts.

Starting Sunday, Sept. 14, the service will begin at 10:45 so that Sunday School classes can be held from 9:30 to 10:30. To open the service, an acolyte, Sarah Nelson, lit the candles on the altar. Rev. Fred Lawson's message was based on Matthew 6:24-34, which tells us we have no reason to worry about the past or future. For the present, we have God's daily grace to see us through.

the organ prelude, then accompanied and directed the choir in the introit, "Cast Your Burden Upon the Lord" by Mendelssohn. The choir also sang "He Watching Over Israel" from Mendelssohn's "Elijah." The organ offertory was "The Rejoicing" by Handel. "O Rest in the Lord" by Mendelssohn was sung by Luisa Dano, soprano soloist. Smith closed the service by playing Mendelssohn's "Postlude in C."

The greeters were Virginia and Richard Carlisle, and David Day and Don Johnson ushered. Communion was served by Virginia Anderson, David Day and Karen and Nelson. The last of the summer coffee hours was held following the service in the fellowship hall and hosted by the Dano family.

Fall Schedule Begins At Good Shepherd

'Can A Person Really Know God?' Sermon At Bethany Church

There will be one worship service Sunday, Sept. 14, at 10 a.m. in the sanctuary of Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Center.

The Rev. J. William Arnold, senior minister, will preach the sermon "Can a Person Really Know God?" based on the text from the Bible in Philippians 3:1-14. The lay scripture reader will be Robert W. McLain. Conducting the liturgy will be the Rev. Joel F. Huntington, associate minister.

The chancel choir, under the direction of Peter E. Krasinski, organist, will sing as the anthem, "Lord, For Thy Tender Mercies' Sake" by Richard Farrant, and as the offertory Harry Harter's arrangement of the African spiritual, "Kum Ba Yah."

The sacrament of Christian Baptism will be given during the service to Jennifer Lynn Gordon, daughter of Robert Douglas Gordon and Robin Anne (Giorichs) Gordon. Godparents will be James and Judy Murray.

Nursery care will be provided for babies and toddlers.

The worship service is broadcast live over South Shore radio WJDA, 1300 kc at 10 a.m. Sunday.

There will be a fellowship hour in the Allen Parlor at 11 a.m. following the service.

Persons and families from the community and visitors to the area are welcome to come and share in the worship and fellowship.

For additional information about Bethany's programs and ministries, contact the church office at 479-7300.

'Consider Your Call' Squantum Church Topic

"Consider Your Call" was the title of the sermon preached by Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, pastor. Sunday morning during the second service at the First Church, Squantum.

The pastor's text was taken from the first chapter of I Corinthians.

Luther and Ruth Swenson were the greeters, Tore Wallin and Stewart Scott were the ushers, and Ellen Ogilvie and Sandra Stohberg hosted the Fellowship Hour. This was the first Sunday on which the second service began at 10:30 a.m. instead of the earlier time that it had been starting during the summer.

At the earlier service, Dr. Langevin spoke on the subject, "Steadfast Faith," taking his text from the first chapter of James. Deborah Stohberg and Kristen Reister were the ushers. Krista Olson gave the opening prayer, Mindi Hurd and Karen Reister offered the prayers for joys and concerns, and Lori Ogilvie led the prayer of dedication. Guitarists Mary Ruth Scott, Robert Dixey and Steve Williams accompanied the congregation in singing.

Orange Crush, the junior high fellowship, began Sunday at 5:45 p.m. Seven-up, the senior high fellowship, began at 7 p.m. The Ladies' Aid began its fall schedule last week with a luncheon, Women's Evening Friendship met for a supper and a meeting on Tuesday night.

A new Bible Study Group for the church met for the first time Wednesday night at 7:30 p.m. The first meeting of the Junior Choir, Crusader Choir and Chancel Choir were scheduled for Thursday at the regular times. The Youth Choir will meet on Sunday morning at 11:40 a.m. The Cherub Choir will meet during Sunday School which now meets during the second Sunday service at 10:30 a.m.

There will be two services this Sunday: the guitar service at 8:30 a.m. and the traditional service at 10:30 a.m. Visitors are welcome.

Covenant Congregational Sunday School Starts Sept. 14

games, a video, and refreshments.

Classes for all ages, including adult will be available and there will be several new teachers. Supt.

Robert Dano will lead the activities.

Teachers for the upcoming year will be Luisa Dano, Linda Day, Lori Ann Facella, and Lynn White.

Coalition For Elderly To Meet Sept. 17

South Shore Coalition of Workers with the Elderly will hold a meeting Wednesday, Sept. 17, 12 noon to 1:30 p.m. at 1001 Southern Artery in Quincy.

Addressing the meeting will be Diane Paulson of the Greater Boston Legal Services.

The coalition meets on the third Wednesday of each month for information and referral exchange, training, and education about issues, and services affecting the elderly.

The public is welcome to attend the meetings which are free.

Scout Troop 32 Registration Sept. 17

Scout Troop 32 of St. Mary's of West Quincy will hold registration for the new scouting season Wednesday Sept. 17 at 7 p.m. at St. Mary's Hall.

Boys between the ages of 11-17 are eligible. The registration fee of $15 includes a subscription to Boys' Life Magazine. The fee for a second boy from the family is $10.

A parent should accompany the boy.

Returning scouts are encouraged to recruit a friend and earn the roundup patch.

Hospital Parking Fees

For the first time in its history, Quincy City Hospital has begun charging fees to those who use the visitors parking area for an extended period.

The fee system, implemented Monday, is an effort by the hospital to relieve overcrowding during its $57 million expansion project.

According to hospital spokesman William Henderson, the parking fee is expected to be discontinued in about three years when the renovation is hoped to be completed.

During the building program, the hospital will lose half of its 500 parking spaces, he said.

Effective this week and next, visitors will be allowed to park free for the first four hours on weekdays. After that, they will be charged $1.50 per hour until 6 p.m.

After 6 p.m., and on weekends and holidays, parking is free. Beginning Sept. 19, visitors can park two hours for free on weekdays and then must pay $1.50 per hour until 6 p.m. Parking after 6 p.m. and on weekends and holidays will be free.

The hospital has asked its non-nursing personnel to make other arrangements for parking.

Mayor Francis McCauley said that he has not received any comment on the institution of parking fees as the hospital.

The hospital is the property of the city. It is managed by Hospital Corporation of America.

"They're trying to minimize the impact while construction is ongoing," said McCauley. "I assume they're trying to make the best of things."

"It was a management decision," noted McCauley, who said he was not involved in the decision-making process.

City Solicitor Joseph "Jay" MacRitchie said he thought hospital management had the right to begin charging parking fees.

"It falls under the general authority of the board of managers to run the hospital," MacRitchie said.

"I haven't been asked to look into it, but I assume this would fall under the day to day management of the hospital."

$40 Million Payroll At Project

consensus could be reached between the developers and a Citizen's Advisory Committee which has criticized the design of the project which it says does not fit in with the historic district.

Mayor Francis McCauley was required by law to establish the committee because of plans for land taking by urban renewal.

Among the property scheduled to be included in the project is the home of Mrs. Nell Slawson on the end of Saville Ave. She is fighting any move to acquire her property.

Ricciardi said the developers would be willing to give her a condominium and cash, just cash, or to move her house in exchange for her property.

If she does not sell her property, the project will still go forward, Ricciardi said, but the consequences will be expensive.

The garage will have to be reshaped around her property, and 125 parking spaces will be lost, he said.

Ricciardi emphasized that parking is an important marketing tool for the project.

One QCBPA member questioned the adequacy of 750 to 800 parking spaces with 1500 employees and condo owners as well as condominium residents.

DeMarco said that a 550-space garage for 1,000 people is adequate for Campanelli's Quincy Center Plaza.

Another piece of property scheduled to be included in the project is the old County Courthouse where Quincy Junior College holds some of its classes.

"The County Commissioners have expressed an interest in selling the courthouse," said Ricciardi, who mentioned a $1.6 million price.

Ricciardi said at the end of the meeting, "We're very sensitive to how the downtown will look in the next 100 years or so."

"A lot of thought has gone into the project, and we are very concerned about design and the impact it will have on Quincy in the next century."

Want Council To See Design Change

meeting, according to the mayor.

"Eventually, the council will have the opportunity to review the plans."

"In good stead, everyone will have a chance," McCauley said.

McGrath said there could be problems with density and height relative to the project. But he added that when it is completed it will have a tremendous impact, a boon to the city.

Toland agrees with McGrath that the development of the former Bargain Center and surrounding area will benefit Quincy, "but we all want the project to be first class."

Fashion Quality Cleaners A Dream Come True

By DAN CONNELLY
"Only in America could this happen," remarked Nella Lio, who with her husband Peter, left Italy nearly 30 years ago to fulfill a dream to operate their own business.

The dream came true when they took over Fashion Quality Cleaners in North Quincy.

This dream for a better and richer future began in 1975 when Gino Marini of Montclair retired and offered his presser, Peter, the opportunity to buy the business.

"It wasn't easy," said Nella, recalling the early years. "We put our heart and soul into the business while raising two children."

But like Marini, they worked hard and stressed personalized cleaning service with all work done on the premise.

"But a determination for a richer future for our family in this great free country kept us going," said Nella.

When Nella and Peter left their birthplaces in tiny villages outside Rome for a new beginning in America, both had one dream: success. Eventually their paths crossed and obviously they succeeded. In 1980, they opened a second cleaning business in North Weymouth.

In a business "we love," Nella and Peter readily accept their six day work week. Peter is up by the crack of dawn and leaves his Harriet Ave., house for the five minute walk to the business at 67 Billings Rd. He opens at 6 a.m. and proceeds to tackle a workload that sometimes never seems to end. Nella clocks in at 7:30 a.m. and in between waiting on customers sandwiches time in at the sewing machine handling alterations.

Marini is a good friend to the Lios. He had a pretty good hunch that when he sold out to Nella and Peter 11 years ago, they'd make it. He often drops by to offer sound advice which is welcomed with open arms by this couple who accepted a long time ago that their road to success is paved with hard work.

Nella agrees with Marini that having your clothes cleaned is probably one of the least talked about topics in the American home today. And both agree if you stop and think about it you'll realize that if it is done with professional care the process not only protects the quality of the cloth but keeps it as good as new for years and is dollars saved for consumers.

Highly visible too at the business are children, Anthony, 19 and Annamaria, 20, who help out despite their educational years.

Fashion Quality Cleaners also offers tailoring and alterations, one day service, services for draperies and garment storage.

Kid's Corner Specializes In Children's Clothing

Dotti Doyle literally has the corner on children's clothing in North Quincy.

Her Kid's Corner at 60 Billings Rd., is meeting the needs in children's and parochial school student's wear which continue to satisfy her customers.

Dotti, who speaks proudly of her waitressing years at the Irish Pub in North Quincy, wanted to start an enterprise with which she would feel comfortable.

"So what better enterprise than a children's clothing store," said this mother who raised six children.

Carrying a pack of ambition, and supported by husband Jim (he worked 26 years for a clothing manufacturer) and their sons and daughters, she took that giant step into the world of entrepreneurs and opened her store in 1981.

"The key to Kid's Corner is its inventory of quality clothing, a selection of parochial school style apparel, not easily attainable in the region, specialty items and christening gowns," said Dotti.

During her five years in business, her children, Dorothy, Louise, Richard, Joseph, Joanne and Lyn have never been too busy to give their mother a hand.

Dotti's experience catering to the needs of the public while she waitressed gave her an edge necessary in any retail venture: customer relations.

With each passing year, the store has progressed. But this progression has only come about through dedication in something she believes in, providing quality merchandise at affordable prices.

A frantic call to the store from a mother who needed a dozen sets in several sizes of pajamas, all fitted with cushioned feet, and in colors to match the tones of the young wearers' heads of hair (so important to the wearer) didn't faze her one bit. She assured the customer not to worry and the order was filled. "That's what I mean by service," said Dotti.

Dotti has worked overtime to achieve whatever she has gotten out of life and, it's a sure bet that this North Quincy resident and businesswoman will continue to advance in her goals because as she puts it: "give the customer individual attention, they deserve it!"

Over 100 In City Tennis Tourney

The 16th annual Quincy Tennis Tournament, co-sponsored by Granite Co-operative Park and Quincy Recreation Dept., is underway at the Quincy Vo-Tech Tennis Facility.

Over 100 players began play last Wednesday in 10 events and already some of the early favorites have fallen. With the coming of each year, bright young stars always seem to appear, and this year is no different.

On the men's side, Quincy High School players Oscar Jara and Tom Savoie are playing solid tennis. Both players are moving right along in the tourney, highlighted by Jara's victory over highly-seeded Lenny Ciavarrro.

On the women's side, new faces such as Carol Jackmauh and Julie Reynolds are displaying great tennis skills in singles and doubles. Age does not seem to matter either at Quincy. Henry "The Master" McAuliffe is again in a final at 74 years of age, while 10-year-old Manuel Celi captivated the hearts of the fine crowds attending the tourney by displaying a wide variation of dazzling shots in the mixed doubles with his mom Ingrid.

The regulars remain atop the draw boards with household names such as Louise Durante, Wayne Chatterton, Joe Ryan, Hildy Gills, Bill and Camille Courtney, Dick Hatton and Nancy Flukes showing spectators why Quincy tennis is known as some of the best played in Massachusetts. Play continues through this week with the finals on Saturday and Sunday at the Vo-Tech tennis courts, and as always spectators are welcome.

Men's Singles First Round: Barry Gilleather def. Mike Conley 6-1, 6-1; Oscar Jara def. Leonard Ciavarrro 5-4, 6-4; Burt Lewis def. Ron Stanton, Manuel Celi def. Michael Watt 6-0, 6-1; Tom

Panthers, Apaches Win Openers

The Quincy Point Panthers opened their 36th Quincy Youth Football League season Sunday with a 14-6 victory over the Squantum Sailors at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

The North Quincy Apaches opened with a 6-0 win over the Houghs Neck Manets, scoring the only touchdown late in the game.

Next Sunday, the West Quincy Elks open against the Manets at 1 p.m. and the Panthers will clash with the Apaches at 2:30 at the stadium.

The Panthers received the opening kickoff and drove downhill, led by the running of Steve Feeley and Bobby Crespi. They moved inside the five and Crespi took the handoff from his younger brother, quarterback Joe, and scored the opening touchdown.

The Sailors took the ball and marched to midfield but the fine defensive work of Rich Burns, Mike Tempesta, Steve Feeley (interception) and Bobby Crespi (two sacks) halted the drive. The Sailors were led by Mike Gates, Mike Lally and Mike Piccorillo.

In the final period Gates scored on a 12-yard run to put the Sailors on the board. The conversion failed.

A few plays later Feeley led the Panthers downhill and John Barkus raced 40 yards for the winning touchdown. Joe Crespi passed to Ken Staskiewicz for the two-point conversion.

Dudek Honored As 'Athlete Of Year'

North Quincy's Joe Dudek, who set 23 NCAA records at Plymouth State College and is the all-time collegiate scoring leader, was one of seven athletes honored Monday by the N.E. Collegiate Athletic Conference as N.E. Athletes of the Year.

The awards were made at the annual reception and luncheon at the Marriott Hotel in Newton.

Dudek, who signed with the Denver Broncos as a free agent and is currently on injured reserve, was the only football player honored. He was named the Div. 3 male athlete of the year.

The others honored were Scott Fusco of Harvard, hockey, Div. 1 male; Sandy Vander-Heyden, New Hampshire, field hockey and lacrosse, and Hanne Krogstad, Vermont, skiing.

Div. 1 female: Ivan Olivares, Springfield, basketball, Div. 2 male: Janet Williams, Springfield, track, Div. 2 female, and Jill Bermingham, Bowdoin, soccer, field hockey and lacrosse, Div. 3 female.

9 Quincy Women In Tufts Race

Paula Szocik, Patricia Lovell, Kathy Knight, Nanette Olsch, Ann Butts, Lee-Ann Jacobs, Kathleen Lefevere, Kyna Tragellis and Esther Molloy, all of Quincy, will be among the more than 8000 women from all over the country expected to run in the Tufts 10-kilometer road race for women through the Back Bay Oct. 11.

The Tufts Associated Health Plan, sponsor of the tenth annual race, announces a unique addition to the $15,000 prize money structure. Mercury-Merkur, a division of Lincoln-Mercury, will award the use of a Mercury-Merkur XR4Ti for one year to both the first place finisher and the 3000th place finisher.

Rizza Ties For Top At Ponkapoag

An 'all irons' tournament was recently held at the Ponkapoag Golf Course by the Ladies' Inner Club with Laura Lynch of Quincy and Stephanie Rizza tied for first place with a net 38.

40 and Sis Jenkins a net 41.

The club also held a 'three clubs and a putter' tournament with Charlotte Dickie first with a net 37, Lynch a net 38 and Stella Carvelli, Grace Cohen and Ethel Cook tied with a net 42.

Mary Michaels was the winner of the annual tournament in memory of Capt. Johnson, a former MDC commissioner, with a net 72 for 18 holes. This is her second tournament win this PAUL RICCIARDI, left, who contributed 100 yards of concrete for the light poles at Veterans Memorial Stadium and also gave a check for $1000, is thanked by committee member Jack Raymer. The permanent lights for schoolboy football and other school and youth sports are expected to be ready for the first two night games Sept. 19 and 20.

Lighting Poles Going Up At Stadium

Work is progressing on the installation of permanent lights at Veterans Memorial Stadium for schoolboy football games and other school and youth sports.

Paul Ricciardi, who donated 100 yards of concrete for the light poles and also contributed a check for $1000, completed the pouring of the concrete last week and the poles were installed this week.

Members of Electricians Union Local 103 are working this week on the electrical work and everything should be ready for the opening games Friday and Saturday nights, Sept. 19 and 20.

The jamboree scheduled for Friday night had to be cancelled and, as a result, the lighting committee is about $8000 short of its final goal.

Sen. Paul Harold gave a check for $100 and other contributions were received from Charles Costello, a Quincy 'high alumnus, from Mission Vieze, Calif., and from Howard E. Kavanagh.

The lighting fund stands at $44,505 and, with the work donated by various businesses and unions, the committee's goal is in sight.

The lights will be officially turned on Sept. 19 for the North Quincy-Milton football game. Quincy will play Cambridge Rindge and Latin Sept. 20 at the stadium. Both games are scheduled for 7 p.m.

Police, City Officials Win MDA Doubleheader

The real winner was Muscular Dystrophy and the people it serves as the tenth annual softball doubleheader at Adams Field, Merry Mount Park realized over $1200.

It brings to over $7500 the amount raised by this single event during the past decade.

This year's proceeds aided the Quincy-South Shore Telethon Committee to pass the $1 million dollar mark in its 10 year history.

The Quincy Police outslugged their public safety counterparts, the Quincy Firefighters, 21-11, for their second straight win, while the City Officials topped the News Media, 11-8, in a reverse of last year's action.

Bill Kring and Jim Buell guided the Police nine while Chuck Walters again led the Firefighters.

The Police and Firefighters teams have personally donated $100 each year or $1,000 toward the total.

Peter Kenney engineered the win for the city officials with Ray Cattaneo on the mound while Henry Bosworth coached the losing News Media as Bill Ketter suffered the loss.

Despite the loss, Earl LaChance of the News Media was the winner of a new softball glove compliments of Colman's Sporting Goods.

Volunteers behind the plate for both contests was Tom Koch with Tom Molloy on the bases in the first game and Bryant Carter policing the sacks in the nightcap.

Serving on the committee for the softball doubleheader to guarantee its financial success was Tom Bowes, Jr., David and Harry Donaghue, Peter Kenney, Mary Dowling, Gemma Fertile, Janet Crowley, Paul Zambruno, Chuck Walters, Bill Kring, and Henry Bosworth and Dick Koch, telethon co-chairmen.

Playing for the City Officials were Kevin Shea,

North's Defense Has Size And Speed

By TOM SULLIVAN
Although North Quincy football coach Ken McPhee feels his offensive line is his strong point and the Raiders will be able to run behind it, he thinks his defense, with good size and speed, will do its part as North tries to improve upon last year's 3-7 record.

"We have some big boys who hit hard," McPhee said. "They also have good speed and I think we should be all right on defense."

Anchoring the defense will be 250-pound Matt (Tank) McNamara, who is a standout both ways at tackle.

For defense ends McPhee has twins Kevin (Co-Capt.) and Keith Segalla. By Tom Sullivan

Joining McNamara at tackle are Dan Smith (230), Tom McDonald (200), Mike Curtin and Sean Dacey.

Paul Hogan (210), Sean Clancy, Scott Sacchetti and Paul Jeffers are the nose guards and Co-Capt. Tom Dolan (205), sophomore Ryan Craig, Tim Kelly, Dave Levine and Steve Brooks are the linebackers.

Dave Lawless (210) heads a promising group of defensive backs and safeties. He is

"We are making good progress and we are improving every day," McPhee said. "The defense has been doing a good job and everyone is hustling."

North will open its season Friday night, Sept. 19, at 7 p.m. at the stadium against oldtime rival Milton, a member of the Bay State League.

The Raiders will play at Greater Boston League member Arlington Sept. 27 and will play their first Suburban League game Friday, Oct. 3, at 2:30 at the stadium.

Raymer Sees Quincy Defense Holding Own

Quincy football coach Jack Raymer sees his offensive and defensive lines as big factors this fall and, despite a young and inexperienced secondary, he believes the Presidents' defense will hold its own this fall.

"We have pretty good size on defense and the boys have good speed," Raymer said. "They have been looking good and improving all the time in practice."

Defensive ends are Steve Gardner (195), Frank Calabro (200), Rick Smith (185), Mark Farrand and Wes Crowley.

The defensive tackles are Mike Eastwick (215), Dave Savage (220), Joe Cardarelli (205) who is playing his first year of football and looking good, and Jim Feeley.

Norm Hassan and Kerry Byrne are the noseguards and Steve Picarski (200), Dennis DeCoste, John Bogan, Matt Healy and Tom Bjork are the line backers.

Corner backs are Joe Innello, Rob Cabezas, Greg Doten, Paul Gustin and Leo Plant.

Raymer has some fine looking defensive backs in Ernie Light, Jay Dennett, Todd and Jim Kimmell, Bill Ryan, Steve Austin and Mike Miele.

"All of the players reported in excellent condition following a great off-season conditioning program and they are hitting hard."

Raymer said.

The Presidents, coming off an 8-10 season, hope to keep away from the rash of injuries which hit the team the past two years.

Quincy held its annual blue-white intra-squad scrimmage and have scrimmaged Walpole and Milton.

when the new lights will be officially turned on.

The opening game will be Saturday night, Sept. 20, at 7 p.m. at the stadium against Suburban League rival Cambridge Rindge and Latin. Quincy will host Brookline in a league game Saturday, Sept. 26, also at 7.

Hurley's Hat Trick, 4 Goals Sparks Adams

Paul Hurley had a hat trick and assisted on four other goals as Adams Sports defeated Grogan's Business Machines, 7-5, Monday night as the Executive Hockey League opened its season at the Youth Arena.

Dennis O'Connell and Fred Ahearn scored two goals each for Adams and O'Connell and Fred Cobban had two assists each and Ahearn and Billy Hanson one apiece. For Grogan's Bob Fowkes scored twice and Rich Gibbs, Marty Tolson and Bausemere once each. Gibbs, Dick McCabe, Kevin Grogan, Rock Coleman and Tolson had assists.

South Shore Bearing defeated DiMattia's Sailmakers, 5-1, with Frankie Guest scoring two goals and Bob Carroll, Charlie Chambers and Steve Dymant one each. Chip Linscott and Lee Staskiewicz had two assists each and Fred Fawcett, Jack Hurley and Jack Aldred one each. Ed Linehan scored the DiMattia goal unassisted.

Kevin Jago had a hat trick to lead Beacon Sports over Bob White's, 4-3. Art Boyle had the other goal and Jamie Pantremoli had two assists and Joe Verlicco and Peter DiBona one each. Jim Cooney, Ted Viles and Gary Dymant scored for White's and Dymant and Viles had assists.

Concert To Aid St. Boniface Haitian Children's Immunization Program

A concert to benefit St. Boniface Haitian children's immunization program will be held Sunday, Sept. 21, at 3 p.m. at Fonthonne Academy, Milton.

A group of people have been working to improve the conditions of the poor in Haiti since 1982 and have been using that Quincy parish as their base of operation.

To raise the funds needed to purchase the medical supplies the group has engaged the Singing Priests of the Archdiocese of Boston to do the concert solely for this purpose.

According to Trudy Medicke the group is undertaking a project to immunize Haitian children to protect them against the childhood diseases Americans consider routine. These routine diseases take the lives of approximately 50 percent of Haitian children before the age of five years, she added.

Medicke said the cost of medical supplies is the major cost associated with this project. The medical team that administers this care pays its own air fare and living expenses for this project. All members of the medical teams volunteer their work time in Haiti.

Concert tickets are $10 each and are available at the church or from Medicke at 479-7190.

TRY A TASTE OF GOURMET VIEWING. IT'S TV WITHOUT THE FAT.

Imagine this, you turn on your TV and whatever you're in the mood for, it's there. Well, it doesn't take imagination, all it takes is cable TV.

Cable is gourmet viewing. Not more TV, but better TV. You get the viewing you're hungry for. Hot blockbuster movies, just when you feel like one. When you want sports, cable gives you sports, not some soap opera.

Cable doesn't just give you crystal clear reception, it gives you channels you can't get on ordinary TV and fascinating viewing you can't find at any video store. Whole channels for news, weather, music, entertainment and much, much more. You can indulge your tastes exactly, no compromises here.

If you're interested in a TV diet that's rich but not filling, now's the time to try it. By calling 1-800-MY-CABLE now, you can get 50% off installation. So, enjoy a taste of gourmet viewing. We think you'll be completely satisfied.

Conway Seminar Set For Sept. 18

Summer's over but the homebuying and selling market is "boiling over" says Dick Cahill of Quincy, president of the 35-office Jack Conway, Realtor Company.

The market "is so strong that Conway officials are planning an open house weekend--featuring more than 300 houses on the weekend of September 20-21st," Cahill noted.

Buyers and sellers will be able to get a preview of what the company is offering at a special seminar set for 7 to 9 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 18 at the Knights of Columbus Hall, 875 Washington St., Braintree.

Admission to the seminar is free but Cahill advises people to come early as seating is limited to a little over 100.

He noted that a seminar last month in Quincy brought in about 30 percent more people than expected making the event standing-room-only.

Further information on the seminar is available by calling either 843-6300 in Braintree or 479-1500 in Quincy.

The Conway Company is the largest privately-owned residential real estate firm in New England serving over 80 communities through its some 600 sales associates.

PREPAYING A FUNERAL PRESERVES YOUR ASSETS

The law permits a certain amount of money from your estate to be set aside for funeral expense should illness deplete your assets. We can help you place such funds in an irrevocable trust that will guard against inflation. Participation in THE NEW ENGLAND FUNERAL TRUST assures that your wishes will be known.

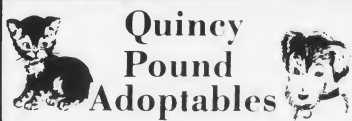

Please write or call for a free brochure No Greater Kindness For Those You Love that explains the details of funeral preplanning.

These are compulsory meetings for all fall athletes, who should be accompanied by one or both parents.

Athletic Coordinator Marty Finnegan is in charge of the programs and principals Lloyd Hill of Quincy High and Peter Chisom of North Quincy High will participate.

Consulting Firm Completes Revaluation Field Work

The Quincy Board of Assessors announces that the consulting firm of Real Estate Research Consultants, Inc., of Topsfield, engaged to conduct a revaluation program for the city has completed all necessary field work.

This part of the program includes the measurement and listing of all 1985 building permits calling for new construction, additions and alterations to existing buildings, new garages, sheds, swimming pools, and the measurement and listing of all commercial, industrial, and multi-family property.

The consultants will now be able to begin quality analysis and verifications of the city's property inventory data collected during this first phase of the project.

In light of this new data the consultants will consider and verify about 2000 arms-length sales of residential property during the years 1984 and 1985 and all sales of commercial and industrial property. They will document prevailing local building material and labor costs and will adjust land values after considering all physical, economic and governmental factors as they affect a delineation of neighborhood boundaries and their effect on full and fair assessments based on fair market value.

Income and expense statements from owners of commercial, industrial and multi-family property will be carefully analyzed with a view toward establishing fair and equitable rental values for those classes of property on which to base their fair market value.

An update review of all tangible personal property data has been completed reflecting additions, deletions, changes and new valuation as of Jan. 1, 1986 in that category.

When this phase of the project is completed the consultants will begin final review of each property and will submit all valuation data, methodology and documentation to the State Department of Revenue for certification early in 1987.

The Board of Assessors holds complete and final responsibility for all valuations arrived at and used in the calculation of tax rates for Fiscal Year 1987.

Former Shipyard Employee Granted Taxi License

By DAN CONNELLY

A South Quincy man, laid off from employment at General Dynamics Shipyard when that plant shut down last June, was given a green light to operate a taxi cab in Quincy.

The License Board granted Edward C. Tonello of 60 Plymouth St., one of three available hackney permits to drive a taxi in Quincy.

In awarding Tonello the permit, Chairman John Gillis noted that the Board uses a guideline of issuing one hackney permit per 1000 residents. A 1980 federal census established there are 84,000 residents in Quincy.

According to Gillis those currently holding hackney permits are: Yellow Cab with 63; Shore Cab who holds 14; and Michael T. Condon who just last week was granted four permits for his new Marina Bay Taxi Service in Squantum, and Tonello with one. This brings to a total of 82 permits now issued.

After Tonello's request was granted, Edward Russell requested the board to award the two remaining permits to Shore Cab. But his request had to be tabled until the board heard again from John R. Lipfin of 115 East Squantum St., who last week petitioned for 12 hackney permits for his new cab company.

That request was rejected when Lipfin failed to satisfy the board that he has acquired sufficient space to off street park the cabs when they are not in operation. He was given two weeks to resubmit his bid which, if any action is taken, will be on the two remaining permits.

Council Acts In City Pay Upgrading

City employees who feel they did not have an equal opportunity to apply for an upgrading will be able to appear before the City Council's Ordinance Committee Monday night to discuss their situation.

This is the first time that the City Council has become involved in employee raises in such a way, according to council president Stephen McGrath.

"We will deal only with the process," said James Sheets, chairman of the Ordinance Committee which will meet at 7:30 p.m. in City Hall.

"It is not the chair's intention to get into why some were upgraded and some were not," explained Sheets.

"Those before us will be those who believe they were not properly notified and missed an opportunity to file on time."

Accounts in writing may also be submitted to the council.

The matter of the upgradings for hospital, library and public employees was brought before the council for funding at its last meeting.

Councillor John Lydon said that he had about a dozen meetings, telephone calls and letters from city employees who had "absolutely no knowledge of the upgrading process."

Lydon requested that the mayor open up the process.

"That would have ended the majority of controversy going on," said Lydon, "but he refused that.

"I'd like to see those people come forward at the meeting. Then we'll see what the full council will do as far as a recommendation to the mayor."

Lydon noted that this is the first time that an upgrading committee has been used.

"We've found fault with the committee process and steps should be taken next time so that it won't happen again," said Lydon.

Mayor Francis McCauley defended the city's role in the process.

"We did it right," said McCauley.

"It was agreed that it was the responsibility of the union to notify the people to apply for upgrading."

Raises Approved For 6 Department Heads

The City Council approved salary increases for six city department heads at its meeting Monday night.

The first part of the increases will be effective in October.

Arthur Foley, the mayor's administrative assistant, told the council, which met first as the finance committee, that a survey was conducted of the salaries of comparable department heads in 21 other communities.

The increases were suggested as a result of the survey, said Foley who noted that the city needs to offer competitive salaries to attract qualified personnel.

The positions and salary increases are:

Treasurer-Collector, $32,826, to $40,000 as of Oct. 6, 1986, and to $40,800 Jan. 1, 1987.

Director of Libraries, $33,115, to $38,000 and to $38,760.

Assistant Library Director, $29,164, to $33,500 and to $34,170.

Planning Director, $38,726 to $42,000 and to $42,840.

City Clerk, $33,472, to $37,000 and to $37,740.

Equal Opportunity Administrator, $19,814, to $23,500 and to $23,970.

The council also approved a decrease in the salary of public health commissioner since that position does not now require an MD degree.

The salary, of $46,093, which was to have increased to $47,015 in January, will decrease to $37,500.

It will be increased to $38,350 Jan. 1, 1987.

Buyout Group To Make Firm Shipyard Bid

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

Massachusetts Shipbuilding, Inc., a company formed by the Quincy Shipyard Employee Buyout Committee, intends to make a bid for the full General Dynamics shipyard property at the deadline for proposals, Sept. 30.

"The final reports of the feasibility study show that we are able to bid on the shipyard," said George O'Kane, president of Shipbuilding Workers Union Local 5.

"We feel we have a very good bid. Then it's up to the company (General Dynamics)," said O'Kane.

Peter Gwynn, of Mass Shipbuilding, said that the study was a joint effort of the Massachusetts Shipbuilders and the Industrial Cooperative Association, who are working in association with the Industrial Services Agency, an agency of the commonwealth.

"The report is confidential," said Gwynn.

"In due course, we'll make a proposal. Sometime after that, we hope to get the shipyard."

A preliminary report last month on the feasibility study stated that by such things as reducing the size of the yard, obtaining wage concessions and selling one third of the property, the shipyard could be competitive.

"It was anticipated from the beginning that the employee committee could make a bid," said Sen. Paul Harold.

"The final determination was to be based on projections of profitability of an employee buyout."

"Details of the final analysis haven't been made public," said Harold, "but the fact that they are making a bid makes it obvious that it is a solid proposal."

"One of the difficulties that they have is that some of the information which goes into reaching a decision has to

Pub Told 'Quiet Down'

By DAN CONNELLY

The owner of Delaney's Pub was told to dim the noise before and after closing, and shape up his Franklin St., Quincy nightspot.

The warning to Maurice J. Foley came from the License Board Tuesday, who called the hearing because of excessive noise, and general nuisance complaints from abutters.

John Schmuck submitted to the board a letter in which he stated:

"Patrons leaving this establishment during the early morning hours are extremely noisy, blow horns, yell, shout obscenities, drink on the street, drink in their vehicles, and in general, create a considerable nuisance. This is a nightly occurrence. However it is most prevalent on Friday and Saturday evenings when a band is present for entertainment."

Schmuck told the Board of unnecessary horn blowing by taxi cabs going to the bar to pick up customers. When he complained to the various cab company dispatchers at the time of the incident, they offered the following suggestions:

"Close your window; move; take a sleeping pill; they can't leave the cab, someone will steal it; the drivers are tired; they can't be running around; we have the right to sound our horns as we please; we have it posted that they are not to use their horns, but they forget."

Schmuck told Foley at the hearing he holds no animosity to the pub owner.

"He has a business and has the right to operate it," but urged him "to dull the noise, pull a curtain, the whole neighborhood is vibrating. I'll settle for a low roar."

Foley told the Board he is shifting the location of the band and will make every effort toward improvements, to the satisfaction of his abutters.

Board Chairman John Gillis told Foley that if he didn't obtain a reasonable condition of peace and quiet at the nightspot, the Board will, and continued the hearing for 90 days.

Planning Board Hearings Sept. 24

The Quincy Planning Board will hold a public hearing Wednesday evening, Sept. 24, in the second floor conference room at City Hall Annex.

Rezoning from Residence B to Residence of land on the northerly and southwesterly sides of Grotton St. will be discussed at 7 p.m.

A proposed subdivision of land on Unity St., West Quincy, will be discussed at 7:15 p.m.

Affordable Housing Series To Continue Sept. 24

The City of Quincy and the Fair Housing Committee's Coffee Hour Seminar Series on Growth, Management and Affordable Housing will continue Wednesday, Sept. 24, with a program on Inclusionary Zoning.

John Quatrala, from the City of Newton, and Carol Baldassari, Metro Area

Planning Council, will be speakers at the program to be held 5 to 7 p.m. at the City Hall Conference Room.

The series is a follow-up to the "Linking Growth Management and Affordable Housing Seminar" which over 70 developers, city officials and neighborhood associations attended last June.

Objective of the seminar series is to continue to gain knowledge on issues of affordable housing in an informal setting which will encourage questions and discussion.

Other programs and speakers planned are:

"Affordable Housing Strategies: Boston," with Peter Drier, Boston Redevelopment Authority, Janice Fine, Director, Massachusetts Fair Share, Boston Linkage Action Coalition, Oct. 8, 5 to 7 p.m.

"Elderly Housing Alternatives," with Barbara Ryther, Massachusetts Housing Finance Agency, Oct. 22, 5 to 7 p.m.

"Non-Profits in Housing Development," with Jim Paley, New Haven NHS, Val Dionne-Lanier, Sullivan Housing Trust, Nov. 19, 5 to 7 p.m.

All programs will be held at the City Hall Conference Room.

House Break

A total of $885 worth of property was reported stolen Sept. 13, in a break at the home of John Furlong of Granite St., Quincy Center.

The property included two men's gold chains, a man's gold onyx ring with diamond, man's gold Claddagh ring, crystal figurines, gym bag, Walkman radio and $75 cash, according to police.

LaRaia Proposes Taking Chestnut St. Land For Garage

Councillor Joseph LaRaia proposed at Monday night's City Council meeting that the mayor consider taking by eminent domain privately owned land on Chestnut St. and turning it into a municipal parking facility.

The land is owned by South Shore Bank which is using it for its own parking needs, according to Councillor John Lydon.

The proposal was in the form of a resolve which was approved by the council.

"The increase in development and proposed development has created a crisis due to the limited parking availability in downtown Quincy," said LaRaia in the resolve.

"The implementation of any traffic surveys for alleviation of traffic problems requires relief in the form of additional parking facilities," he stated.

The land is bordered by Washington St., Foster St., Chestnut St. and Maple St., according to LaRaia.

During the meeting, LaRaia referred to the proposed $54 million President's Place project at the site of the closed Bargain Center in Quincy Square. It will include retail, office, residential condominium space and 750-800 space parking garage.

LaRaia said the developers could provide parking for those who live and work in the buildings, but not for those who use the services provided there.

"An advantage is that there is nothing there now at the Chestnut St. site," he said.

"I think one way to solve the parking shortage is to put a garage there," who said to support the resolve, noted that South Shore Bank plans to develop the property.

Councillor John Lydon,

Mayor Francis McCauley said that he would review the situation, but that the city has no plans to take that property.

It is, however, developing an urban renewal plan for land surrounding the Bargain Center. The plan is to be submitted to the council Oct. 20, he said.

McCauley noted that some 110 new parking spaces will be available in Quincy Sq. when a deck is added to the Ross Parking garage in the Parkingway with a grant from the state.

He also noted that land takings took place in the 1940s to make way for the Ross and Hancock parking areas, on the Parkingway and Chestnut St., respectively.

Funding Obtained For Elderly Housing Security

City Council President Stephen J. McGrath and Councillor Ted DeCristofaro announce that funding for security service for elderly housing at Tobin Towers and Martensen St. has been obtained.

Upon investigation, we have been assured by HUD that this use of the funds is appropriate.

"We feel that our seniors in these buildings deserve this security service to combat vandalism in and around these buildings," said McGrath and DeCristofaro.

Houghs Neck Parade Climaxes 350th Birthday Celebration Sunday

A giant parade Sept. 21, with five bands, 800 marchers, and costumed characters, will climax Houghs Neck summer celebration of its 350th birthday.

Parade Chairman William Morrill said the parade will step off at 1 p.m. at the intersection of Sea St. and Manet Ave. in the Willows, and proceed about a mile down Sea St. to the Quincy Yacht Club on Fensmore Ave.

Among the high school bands participating are those from Quincy, Sturbridge, Marshfield and New Bedford.

There will be fire apparatus from Quincy, Milton, Braintree, Hingham, and Boston, Engine 8, civil defense equipment and a truck carrying a float from the Quincy Yacht Club.

A contingent from the Hot Rod Club will be sprinkled in the parade as well as Mickey and Minnie Mouse, McDonald's Land Train and characters, clowns, and McGruff, the crime prevention dog. Free balloons and candy will be distributed to children along the route.

The MDC will be represented with mounted police and motorcycle units.

The Quincy Police Department color guard will lead the parade with the members of the auxiliary police color guard in the line of march.

Also scattered among the 800 marchers will be an array of colorful floats, scouts, drill teams, bookmobile a Moss Car, the Blue Knights motorcycle club, the Jack Nigro balloon truck.

Ward One Councillor Michael Cheney will accompany a float that will carry a huge 350th birthday cake.

Other marchers will include Houghs Neck resident Mayor Francis X. McCauley who will lead municipal officials, district businesses and organizations, the Houghs Neck Community Council Executive Committee and the 350th birthday committee.

The birthday celebration began last spring with an awards day at the Atherton Hough School, which is named after the founder of Houghs Neck. Houghs was a former mayor of Boston, England who fled to this country to gain religious freedom.

Council Approves 1987 Toxic Waste Collection

The City Council approved a resolve Monday night, introduced by Councillor Michael Cheney, that the city hold a Household Toxic Waste Collection Day in 1987, as it did earlier this year. But while Mayor Francis McCauley said he would consider the request, he said he is not sure that such a collection day is necessary every year.

In the resolve, Cheney stated that "a number of residents in the city of Quincy participated (in the Household Toxic Waste Collection Day) and have expressed continued interest in having an ongoing Toxic Waste Collection program."

Cheney noted that "there are currently no available sites within the City of Quincy for people to properly dispose of the household toxic wastes."

He suggested that the mayor consider funding the Toxic Household Waste program from the receipts of the solid landfill operation.

The collection day cost the city $100,000 to $110,000, according to McCauley.

Head Start Program Taking Applications

First Chance Head Start is now taking applications for next year's program for children who live in Quincy.

Children who enter the program must be four years old by this Dec. 31, and meet federal guidelines. Those with special needs can enter the program at age three.

A spokesperson for the Quincy Community Action Organization, said the program is for the total family as well as the child. Parents may volunteer in the classroom and have input in all major decisions. In addition, assistance in the areas of education, nutrition, health, mental health, and social services are provided to families of children in the program.

Transportation, snacks, and hot lunches to children who are enrolled is also provided at no cost to the family as it is a federally funded program.

For more information call the Head Start office at 479-8181.

Mayor Francis X. McCauley has proclaimed Sept. 21-27 Emergency Medical Services Week in Quincy.

This 10th annual observance will coincide with the Massachusetts Office of Emergency Medical Services, Public Health, and the American College of Emergency Physicians sponsorship of the proclamation as a time to recognize the importance of this service.

McCauley urged all citizens to give fitting recognition.

DO YOU REALLY OWN LAND?

QUESTION: I own my property fee simple and have a fully paid up loan. Could others have certain rights to it?

ANSWER: You own the land you live on, but not unconditionally. Your rights do not override certain public rights. A utility company may have rights-of-way for power lines. The telephone company may have the right to a five-foot easement for poles along your backlot line. Similar easements are purchased or granted for local electric power lines, underground sewer piping, natural gas lines, and water supply piping.

You should know about all easements made on your land. This is the reason for a title search prior to purchase.

EVEN THOUGH you own your land, there may be others who have rights to it.

McIntyre Clout Still There

There were so many familiar faces -- some of them from the old days -- that it looked like a Jim McIntyre election campaign kickoff.

"You know," someone observed, "there's enough political and financial clout here to elect the next mayor of Quincy."

And, ironically, at that point, Joseph LaRaia city councillor and former mayor who plans to run next year came into view.

"Boy," noted a long-time McIntyre friend, "wouldn't he like to have the McIntyre camp endorsement?"

LaRaia, a one-time friend (1950's) who was later crushed by McIntyre (1965) to succeed Amelio Della Chiesa as mayor and became a long-time political foe, would have stuck out like a sore thumb on the Jolly Green Giant at a McIntyre function as recent as a year and a half ago. But time, they say, heals even deep wounds. LaRaia really didn't seem to be too much out of place.

He had extended the olive branch a year ago when he supported having old City Hall renamed the James R. McIntyre Government Center.

Some of the McIntyre people have accepted the peace offer, shrugging "let bygones be bygones." Some diehards, however, say "Never!"

But it wasn't a day for political wounds.

It was a day to remember the good happenings of the past as more than 400 friends and followers of the late mayor and state senator gathered at Marina Bay for the first annual James R. McIntyre Memorial Scholarship Fund clambake.

Over $10,000 was raised, according to Peter O'Connell, fund-raising chairman.

Money from this event and from other activities planned will establish a scholarship fund to provide selected Quincy residents going to graduate school with financial aid.

It would be appropriate if the graduate student was majoring in government, history or political science, where McIntyre's interests were. Or, communications, in which young Bill McIntyre who was killed in an elevator accident shortly before his father's death, had planned to make his mark.

But the field really doesn't matter as long as the recipients are Quincy residents.

One future event in the preliminary planning stage is a "Night At The Boston Pops" next May, around McIntyre's birthday. McIntyre was a Boston Pops orchestra fan.

"It was a wonderful turnout and a wonderful day," said Mrs. Sheila McIntyre, wife of the late Mayor-Senator. "It was very heartening."

Among those familiar faces, in addition to the McIntyre family, enjoying themselves as though it was a class reunion were:

Former Mayors Walter Hannon and Arthur Tobin,

James (Pete) Ricciuti, McIntyre's former executive secretary and confidant; former Councillor - Dist. Atty. City Clerk Tom Burke, City Councillor Ted DeCristofaro, former Councillor Leo Kelly, Police Chief Francis Finn, former Fire Chief Edward Barry, former Braintree Selectman Carl Johnson, Norfolk County Commissioner George McDonald, Louise Brabazon, McIntyre's "Girl Friday;" Jerry Coletta, Quincy Park-Recreation Board chairman; Jack Schmoek, Fire Alarm superintendent; Developer Richard Buecheri, Fr. Clayton Johnson, president of Quincy Junior College, School Committeewoman Mary Collins, Police Lt. Frank Mullen, Louis Caruso and many others.

"It was," said an observer, "one heck of a tribute to a man who has been gone two years."

STATE SENATOR Paul Harold was a member of the welcoming delegation for Prince Charles when he arrived at Logan Airport to speak at Harvard's 350th anniversary celebration.

Later at a reception at the Copley Plaza Charles -- get this -- asked state Labor Secretary Paul Eustace about the Quincy Shipyard possible buyout by former employees.

He apparently is interested in how reemployment works here to get an idea how it would fare in England.

Later, chatting with Harold, Charles lamented that as a member of the Royal Family he cannot vote. He noted he was in the same no-vote category as "Peers, paupers and convicts."

Guardsmen Mark 350th Sept. 22

Quincy guardsmen of the 126th Signal Battalion, headquartered at the Armory, 1000 Hancock St., will join with other citizen soldiers as they celebrate the guards' 350th birthday, beginning Sept. 22 through Dec. 15.

According to Lt. Col. Donald Consolmagno, the Massachusetts National Guard has a history that started in 1639, when the General Court at Boston organized the men of colonial Massachusetts into a militia unit of three regiments.

"The equipment today is different and the membership has grown, but the mission remains the same: to protect the citizens of the Commonwealth and the nation, whether that protection is against armed attack or as a result of natural disaster."

"Actually, the Commonwealth's Guard was created a century and more before the establishment of the United States as an independent nation. It is the oldest military organization in the Western Hemisphere," Consolmagno said.

'Personal Touch' Makes Big Difference In Her Life

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN
Ceramics is the art of making objects of clay or similar materials treated by firing.

But for Jeanne Thompson of Quincy, it was also a way of regaining a feeling of dignity and pride.

A certified dental assistant who was graduated from Northeastern Tufts University in 1978, she had difficulty finding a job because she had epilepsy with the accompanying risk of seizure.

In 1981, she was laid off after working in a dental office for two months.

"At the time, I interviewed for many dental assisting jobs, all with doctors ready and willing to hire me - until I told them I had epilepsy," said Jeanne.

"Since my seizure activity was growing worse (three to five seizures a week without warning) I was forced to stop even looking for work and collect disability."

Jeanne moved to Quincy and married Dwan Thompson, a man "who cares about, and understands my handicap."

"He is very proud of me, and my achievements and stands behind me every step of the way," she said.

In May, 1985, she joined Personal Touch Ceramic and Plastercraft Studio, at Copeland St., West Quincy and began to pursue an activity she had always been interested in learning.

"My instructor, Nancy Consoli, tutored me about ceramics on my first day in class. Later, she saw how quick I was to learn and noticed I was always ready for a new technique.

"Some I took to easier than others, but with coaching and as much personal attention as I needed from Nancy Consoli, C.D.I., I could and would perfect any piece I started.

"At this time I was told 'shoot for the stars - go for the best.' And that is what I did," said Jeanne who, after much effort, and four Duncan seminars, became a Certified Duncan Teacher.

"I commend Nancy for the work that she has done, not only with myself but also with children and the elderly.

Takes Issue On Probation Service Article

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

My credentials for submitting the letter that follows are: Author and lecturer on the Criminal Justice system; over two decades of experience in the Criminal Justice system, both as a Boston Police officer on the streets and a Probation officer in the courts.

I am a guest speaker on radio shows, at colleges, etc. I hold a Degree in Journalism from Suffolk University and an M.Ed. degree from Boston College. A recently published book, "The Dissenters" by John Gwaltney, and published by Random House, has more to say about my interests in the Criminal Justice system. I am presently President of "People for Justice." I'm a frequent guest of Roy Lind on WJDA, Quincy.

Regarding the Probation Service, in my opinion, an article written by Andrew R. Klein (Patriot Ledger, Sat., Aug. 16, 1986), Chief Probation officer in the Quincy court, is not only self-serving but unequivocally superficial in its statements, interpretation of statistics, and simplistic solution. I am directing this letter to The Sun rather than to the Ledger because of the Ledger's sensational manner of presenting information to the public.

To get back to the article, for example, Mr. Klein's concluding paragraph states that "Probation is doomed to continue to fail..." is obviously not true. Common sense dictates that to categorically state that Probation is failing is an alarmist's point of view, sidetracking the public from the salient problem that must be addressed, namely, the Judiciary. Sure, nothing is perfect let alone Probation, but let's not throw out the baby with the bath water, just yet.

From what I can salvage from the negative presentation of data within the article is that one-third of probationers commit new crimes; conversely, that leaves two-thirds doing ok in my book. He doesn't mention the large sums of money taken in by the Probation department in restitution and non-support and URESA!!

Rather than try to understand the sensationalism of his facts, I would like to inquire as to who appointed him and his judge? Is he looking for a promotion to Deputy Commissioner by giving more authority to the Governor? I seriously question the substance of the article and the altruism of the writer.

Probation is not without its faults, but its faults may be easily remedied. The most important problem we, the people, have is to be found in the Judiciary. I have advocated for the past decade, recently on WJDA in Quincy, about separating Probation from the power of judges. The only power a probation officer has before the court is his Recommendation for Probation; yet, this power is usurped by most judges consistently if not constantly. Perhaps that is what the problem is in the Quincy court because of the inordinate amount of capias issued for the surrender of probationers. Who knows?

I have written about the many ways in which inexpensive and constructive procedures may be incorporated into the Probation system. But who cares? Several years ago a comprehensive study was made regarding the state's judicial system. What it did was make more secret the actions of judges! When boards of investigation are made up of politicians and their cohorts, what are we to expect? We don't have to look too far for a current example, a retired judge's finding of nothing off base in a ridiculously obvious court scandal...shame, shame, shame.

The fact that the Quincy court has to - by Klein's own word - surrender 75 per cent of its probationers proves to me that either the judge is a tyrant or the probation officer is incompetent. Felons are not supposed to be placed on probation; recidivists are not to be placed on probation, also, and so on.

If a deal is made between the attorney and the judge, without consulting with the probation department, then underserving persons will get probation, obviously; however, many times a Chief Probation officer will agree with the judge in order to keep his position. After all, it's tough to lose your job. Not too many of us are different drummers!

It's unfortunate that when committees are selected and reforms recommended, competent men with no axes to grind are NEVER included in the scheme of things, never selected to contribute their expertise to the cause of good government.

No one dares knock on my door, for I stand for truth, fairness, and a future for young Americans. I know not only what has to be done but also have viable solutions.

Quincy's Yesterdays

Joseph Kennedy Meets With Area Business Leaders

Joseph Kennedy, former executive at Fore River shipyard and former ambassador to Great Britain was in Quincy this week to discuss the future of Massachusetts with business and labor leaders.

The luncheon meeting at the Cliveden Building attracted 150 people.

Kennedy, chairman of the state's commerce commission, was travelling through the state for the purpose of awakening the citizens of Massachusetts as to the necessity of preserving the state as a major business and industrial center.

C.I.O. ELECTIONS AT FORE RIVER

13,000 workers at the Fore River shipyard were qualified to vote for 102 candidates for 19 positions in the first election held at the yard by the industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers of America. C.I.O.

Eight automatic voting machines were located at Winter St., at the corner of South and East Howard Streets.

BURGLARS STEAL MARKET'S RED COUPONS

Burglars broke into the Stop and Shop market, Southern Artery and Canal St., and rifled the safe containing the store's food coupons.

The only cash they found was a $1 bill. Framed and hanging on the wall, the dollar was the first received when the market opened for business.

FOUR BUILDING PROJECTS URGED

Mayor Charles Ross advocated four building projects for the city in 1946. These included a new fire station in Houghs Neck, new operating room and new service building at the city hospital and a new garage at the police station. The new fire station was number one on the mayor's post-war planning board.

Mayor Ross pointed out that it was advantageous for the city to have plans drawn up for these in anticipation of Washington granting federal monies.

WASHINGTON STREET WINDOWS BROKEN

Police searched for two sailors who went on a window breaking spree on Washington St. By noon Thursday, 14 broken windows were reported. Windows were smashed at Firestone's, Bethlehem Steel's warehouse, Settle's Glass, Quincy Sheet Metal, Washington St. Cleaners, Cooper's Garage, Nemrow's and Granite Chevrolet.

QUINCY-ISMIS

The Independent Dairy Salesmen's Union of White Brothers Milk Company, met at the K of Chunglaw to choose a nominating committee. Named were: Thomas White, Homer Parent, Alfred Cobb, Leo Volk, Harold Harvey, Norman Reilly, Thomas Artesian, Robert Cole, Wendell Clark and John Kerr. Mayor Ross announced that Major Everett Pope and Sgt. Charles MacGilvray, Quincy's two recipients of the Congressional Medal of Honor, would be honored with an official city reception. Leo Lappin, D.D.S. former lieutenant in the U.S. Army Dental Corps, announced the opening of his practice at 27 Temple St. (former office of Dr. John Lydon). Barbara Pickles of Wollaston Rainbow Assembly was a member of the ticket committee for the semi-formal dance "Sea-shell Serenade". Joseph Sullivan was named chairman of the labor division for the Quincy Community-War fund. Gilbert Brett, former Quincy resident and newspaper reporter was named chairman of draft board number 39 in Cook County, Ill. Fox and Hounds featured Ray Jones every evening in the cocktail room. MDC Commissioner William Morrissey notified the city that granolithic sidewalks would be built on Quincy Shore Drive from Black's Creek to Sea St. The War Housing Center at the Quincy Chamber of Commerce had received 2,615 applications. Three cases of polio were reported in the last two days, bringing the city's total number of cases to six. Herman Smith and Daniel Cohen were chairman of the B'nai B'rith's Thanksgiving dinner. Ralph Papile became the sixth son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Papile of Quincy Point to enlist in the armed forces. The new wing of Munro Hall at Eastern Nazarene College was nearing completion. Regent Theatre in Norfolk Downs featured Fred MacMurray in "Standing Room Only". Wednesday night was Scandinavian Night at J and J's (formerly Lucien's) at 80 Copeland St. Dave Burke, N.Q.H.S.'s triple-threat hallback would not play against Brockton because of a pulled leg muscle. He was replaced by Bruce Lindborn.

Crime Watch

By ROBERT HANNA
Crime Prevention Officer
Quincy Police Department

Join Watch Program

The Neighborhood Watch Program is an effective means for citizens to take positive steps to protect themselves and their neighbors against crime.

Your neighbors are often your single best security device. In a few neighborhoods it is virtually impossible for a burglar to enter the area on foot or in a car without being detected. But, unfortunately, many people simply do not get to know their neighbors. They are hesitant to report suspicious persons or vehicles, fearing that they may be regarded as "snoops" or "busy-bodies". Neighborhoods in which people are truly concerned with each other and their mutual safety have extremely low crime rates.

Neighborhood Watch does not require frequent meetings or ask that anyone take personal risks to prevent crime. What it requires is residents working side-by-side to make their neighborhood a safer place in which to live.

There are two phases to the program:

To make you aware of the many ways a home and property can be made safer. With the guidance of your Crime Prevention Officer, Neighborhood Watch members are provided with the information they need to improve the security of their property.

To make you "alert" to suspicious activity in your neighborhood. Too many times people are burglarized in broad daylight while their neighbors look on without doing anything. Through Neighborhood Watch we want to instill the importance of watching out for your neighbors and calling the police whenever you see something suspicious.

If you would like to start a Neighborhood Watch program in your neighborhood contact me at 479-1212 ext. 368.

Did you notice that the number of house breaks in our journal has dropped since school has opened? According to the F.B.I., nationally the average age of a house-breaker is 15 years old.

The information contained in this condensed version of the Quincy Police journal is intended to make citizens aware of crimes that may be happening in their neighborhoods.

Church News

First Parish Church To Vote On Pulpit Candidate

Dr. Sheldon W. Bennett, as pulpit candidate, will preach again at worship Sunday, Sept. 21 at United First Parish Church (Unitarian), Quincy Sq.

He will also give a special message for the children at the beginning of the service.

As pulpit candidate, he concludes a week of visiting with members and committees of the church.

Following the service, the congregation will vote at noon on whether to call him to be the next minister of United First Parish Church.

Dr. Bennett is a graduate of Harvard Divinity School and comes to ministry with a professional background in science and business management.

He has been a long-term member of First and Second Church in Boston, where he has served as chairman of the governing board. Dr. Bennett is married and with his wife, Molly, has two daughters.

The Rev. Dr. Cynthia Edson has been interim minister.

Rally Day At Faith Lutheran Sept. 21

Fall schedule will begin Sunday, Sept. 21, at Faith Lutheran Church.

Sunday School and Adult Education classes will start at 9 a.m. and morning worship service at 10 a.m. Registration for Sunday School will take place in each classroom at 9 a.m. that day and Adult Education classes will also begin with Pastor James Kimmell being the first teacher. Coffee and donuts will be provided for the class.

During the morning worship service all officers of the church including Sunday School staff, L.Y.F.E. officers, and Church Council members will be installed.

Everyone is welcome to attend. For more information call the church office at 472-1247.

St. Chrysoston's Healing Ministry To Begin Season

The Healing Ministry of St. Chrysoston's will begin its fall season with a regular service Thursday, Sept. 18 at 7:30 p.m.

Fr. Bill Underhill will conduct the service.

The second annual Service of Prayer and Thanksgiving for Health Care Professionals will take place Oct. 16.

Guest speaker will be Sister Elizabeth I. Jackson, OP, MD of the House of Alliance in Hopdale.

A SPECIAL MASS and reception were held at St. John's Church, Quincy Center, in recognition of Mary Linnane's 25 years as receptionist and housekeeper. Current and former priests at St. John's were among those who celebrated the Mass.

From left, are Fr. John Mulloy, Diocesan office; Fr. Anthony Mulvey, visiting St. John's from Ireland; Fr. Joseph O'Brien, former St. John's parishioner; Fr. Joseph Byrne, former associate pastor, St. John's; Fr. Dennis Delaney, former Quincy City Hospital chaplain who was in residence at St. John's; Fr. Joseph Connolly, former associate pastor, St. John's; Fr. Cornelius Heery, pastor of Sacred Heart Church, North Quincy, who is vicar for the Quincy Vicariate; Rev. Mr. Charles Sullivan, deacon, St. John's; Bishop Joseph Maguire, former pastor, St. John's; Miss Linnane; Fr. William McCarthy, pastor, St. John's; Fr. Daniel Graham, associate pastor, St. John's; Fr. Ned Carroll, associate pastor, St. John's; Fr. Lawrence Pratt, former associate pastor, St. John's; Fr. Robert Deehan, former St. John's parishioner; Fr. Ted Fortier, Quincy City Hospital chaplain in residence at St. John's; Dr. David D'Olimpio, former St. John's parishioner; and Fr. William Walsh, former Quincy City Hospital chaplain who was in residence at St. John's.

'Butterfly Service' At Bethany To Celebrate The Children

Rev. J. William Arnold, will share in comments on the Biblical theme of "New Life."

Pastor Arnold will also have a story for the children entitled, "Catherine Caterpillar," and balloons will be distributed to all those in attendance near the close of the celebration.

Registration for the Sunday Church School will take place in the classrooms at 9 a.m. for returning and new students. Parents are invited to meet with the Church School Superintendent Jerry Capobianchi, at 9:15 in the chapel for an informal discussion of the 1986-1987 school year and the curriculum. Regular classes will begin the following Sunday, Sept. 28, at 10 a.m.

A fellowship hour with light refreshments will be held in Allen Parlor at 11 a.m. immediately following the worship service. Persons are welcome to attend the "Butterfly Service," enroll their children in the Sunday School, and come to the fellowship hour.

For additional information concerning the programs and ministries of Bethany Church, call the church office, 479-7300.

'Sons Of Faith' Sermon At Squantum First Church

"Songs of Faith" were the musical sermon Sunday during the early morning worship service at the First Church of Squantum.

Guitarists Robert Dixey, Steve Williams, Andy Ogilvie and Mary Ruth Scott accompanied the singing. Amanda Young and Kristen Reister were the ushers. Barbara Edgar was in charge of the refreshments.

During the traditional service later in the morning, church pastor Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin preached on the topic, "Telling What the Lord Has Done." His text was taken from a Bible story in which Jesus said to a man that he had healed, "Go home to your friends, and tell them how much the Lord has done for you, and how he has had mercy on you." (Mark 5:19b)

The Chancel Choir, under the direction of Mary Ruth Scott, sang Hal H. Hopson's arrangement of "Come, Thou Fount of Every Blessing" as the offertory anthem. Hymns sung during the second service included "Crown Him with Many Crowns," "I Love to Tell the Story," "Go, Tell It on the Mountain," and "Lord, Dismiss Us with Thy Blessing."

Cliff and Shirley Mason were the greeters at that service. Gail Thornton gave the call to worship, Steve Williams led the opening prayer, and Robert Gorill read the scripture. Tore Wallin and Stewart Scott were the ushers. The fellowship hour after the service was hosted by Helen Miller and Drucilla Barnes.

Nursery and Sunday School for children through the 4th grade is held during the second service. Classes for older children and teen-agers are held later on Sunday and during the week. Their groups include Seven-Up, Orange Crush, Pepsi Challenge and Mello Yello.

A new Bible study group for adults meets on Wednesdays at 7:30 p.m. There was no meeting on September 17 because the Board of Deacons met that night. The group is studying the Gospel of Mark.

The choir rehearsals are: Chancel Choir, Thursdays at 7:15 p.m.; and Sundays at 9:30 a.m.; Crusader Choir, Thursdays at 3 p.m.; Youth Choir, Sundays at 11:45 p.m.; and Cherub Choir, during Sunday School. A Junior Choir will be scheduled later in the fall.

The newly elected Nominating Committee will meet at 7:30 p.m. on Sunday, Sept. 21.

There will be a Pre-Fair Breakfast on Tuesday, Sept. 23, at 9:30 a.m. at the home of Hazel Mayne. The menu will include juice, tea, coffee, muffins and coffee cake.

Covenant Sunday will be held on October 5. This is a semi-annual opportunity for every active member of the church to renew his or her covenant with God and the other members of the church. Per capita dues are also due that day. Pledges for financial support for next year will not be collected until Nov. 2.

On Oct. 5, the young people of the church will sponsor an all-church breakfast at 9:15 a.m. (Choir members can begin eating at 9 a.m.) There will be only one service for everyone that morning at 10:30 a.m.

This Sunday there will be two services: the guitar service at 8:30 a.m. and the traditional service at 10:30 a.m.

'The Recital Of Redemption' At Covenant Congregational

Returning to its regular schedule, the morning worship service at Covenant Congregational Church, Whitwell and Granite Sts., began at 10:45 a.m. Sunday with the acolyte Sarah Nelson lighting the altar candles.

Sunday School was held from 9:30 to 10:30.

Rev. Fred Lawson preached on Psalm 40:1-12, with special emphasis on verse 4. He pointed out the three themes of the Psalm: the feeling of helplessness without God, the help that comes from God, and the happiness of God.

The organ prelude, played by Richard Smith, minister of music, was "Allegro" by Stanley, followed by a choral introit, "Cast Your Burden Upon the Lord" by Mendelssohn. The choir, directed and accompanied by Smith, sang "I Waited for the Lord" by Mendelssohn. A men's quartet, comprised of Robert Dano, Rev. Lawson, Ken Nelson and Stanley Nelson, sang "Be Still my Soul" by Sibelius.

Trudy Acker and Peg Bennett were the greeters.

Truth Will Set You Free Mass At St. John's

Rev. Ray Bourque, O.M.I., will officiate at a Mass and conference Sept. 27, 9 a.m. to 12 noon in St. John's Church, lower level, School St., Quincy Center.

The ceremony is sponsored by the Truth Will Set You Free Ministry.

Coffee and donuts will be served.

Protestant Bureau Opens Thrift Shop

The Protestant Social Service Bureau opened a thrift shop at 776 Hancock St., Wollaston.

Hours are Wednesday through Friday, 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.; Saturday, 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Proceeds to benefit that social service bureau.

Others were Steven Copp, David Day, Don Johnson and Anders With.

Immediately following the service, a special congregational meeting was held and after discussion with the Sanger, the majority of members voted to allow the large Quincy Civic Center to be parked in the church lot for a period of at least a year.

For the coming week, activities are:

Tuesday, a trip for Covenant Seniors to Cromwell, Ct. conference headquarters.

Wednesday, at 1:30 p.m., a Ladies Aid meeting, then at 7:30 p.m., choir rehearsal; and Friday, at 7:30 p.m., a meeting of the Diaconate at the church.

Next Sunday, the Sunday School meets at 9:30 with classes for all ages, and the worship service begins at 10:45. Rev. Lawson's sermon topic will be "The Spirit of Repentance."

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

Are you a generous person? Are you generous of your time and efforts because you truly want to help others? A generous person has learned that it is more blessed to give than to receive, and knows that making contributions has its own rewards. A generous person is motivated to earn the gratitude of his fellow human beings, while the ungenerous man is motivated to gain revenge from past affronts and hurts . . . Being generous in the sense of giving is mature behavior; being selfish and grasping is immature behavior.

Do you believe that giving your time and substance has its own rewards? Do you feel inclined to help others - not hurt or hinder them? Are you willing to share your triumphs and victories with others? Do you give freely of your love, affection, enthusiasm and trust, or do you hold these qualities tightly within you until they wither? Isn't it true that all of us can afford to be more generous with our enthusiasms for that which is worthwhile in people and in institutions?

All thoughts of all readers are always welcome. It gives encouragement for other thoughts you read here

Obituaries

Kathryn E. Gunning, 73 Houghs Neck Civic Leader

A funeral Mass for Kathryn E. (Cronin) Gunning, 73, of Houghs Neck, will be celebrated at 10 a.m. today (Thursday) in Most Blessed Sacrament Church, Quincy.

Mrs. Gunning, the first elected senator from Quincy to the state Silver Haired Legislature and active in several Houghs Neck organizations, died Sept. 14 at home after a long illness.

In June 1958, she received the Houghs Neck Good Neighbor Award from the Houghs Neck Community Council for acts of friendliness and kindness, working in behalf of children, and rendering a service over and above the call to duty.

A former leader of Cub Scout Pack 36, she was the first woman in New England to receive the Scouters' Award from the Boy Scouts.

Mrs. Gunning was a member of the Houghs Neck Community Council and the Houghs Neck Manomet Over Sixty Services, and was a volunteer for Houghs Neck Senior Citizens, Houghs Neck Elder Services Meal Site, and the Salvation Army Day Care Center.

She was a member of the Ladies Sodality of Most Blessed Sacrament Church, the Court of Corpus Christi Catholic Daughters, and the Prayer Group of St. Joseph's Church. She was also a former Sunday School teacher at Most Blessed Sacrament Church.

Wife of the late John F. Gunning, she is survived by six sons, Paul C. Gunning of Rockland, Bart J. Gunning of Quincy, John F. Gunning Jr. of Arizona, Thomas A. Gunning of Dorchester, Michael A. Gunning of Chelsea and Timothy J. Gunning of Texas; two daughters, Joan F. Huriburt of Hanover and Rita W. Real of Randolph; a sister, Helen Benoit of Quincy. 15 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. She was the mother of the late Stephen Gunning and sister of the late Thomas H. Cronin, John A. Cronin and Alice Fergus.

Burial will be at Mount Wollaston Cemetery.

Funeral arrangements are by the Joseph Sweeney Funeral Home, 74 Elm St., Quincy.

Memorial donations can be made to the Houghs Neck Community Council Scholarship Fund or to a favorite charity.

City Council Takes Action In Employees Pay Upgrading

McCauley added that even though the city wasn't required to notify employees, it did send notices to department heads with HLPE union members to be posted.

"We went further than we had to," said McCauley, "our side of the coin did it properly."

Once the applications were filed, a four-member committee of two city and two union representatives made recommendations to the mayor.

McCauley said that he approved 39 upgrades, all but three of the recommendations.

He also said that he did not have a problem with the council hearing from those who did not receive notification, but that it would not be proper for that body to deal with determinations for upgrade.

"I feel the process is proper, and that it is not necessary to open it up again. If some didn't get proper notification, then they can apply the next time a contract includes upgrading."

"Our basic rule is not to discuss negotiations in the newspapers," said John Keefe, head of the 425-member HLPE union which includes mostly clerical workers, the majority at City

QJC To Offer Part Time Scholarship Program

A new scholarship program for part time students at Quincy Junior College is now available.

The school's financial aid director Elizabeth Goreham said "with these additional scholarships we could easily have 80 percent of the student body receiving some type of financial assistance this year."

Funds to support the program come from the Massachusetts Part Time Student Grant program and other sources.

To qualify, students must be legal residents of the state, provide evidence of financial need, and be enrolled for at least three credit hours.

More information on this and other financial aid programs can be obtained by calling the college's financial aid office at 786-8775.

Car Vandalized

A car owned by Michael Rodger of Westwood was reported vandalized Sept. 13, while parked at 1055 Southern Artery.

The passenger side window was reported smashed with a large rock, the T-roof stolen and interior roof ripped out, according to police.

Bike Stolen

A silver, 10-speed Marukis 28-inch bike owned by Mike Curran of Kemper St., Wollaston, was reported stolen from the rear of O'Brien's Bakery.

Nancy Reagan, Bellotti To Be Honored By Mental Health Center

Mrs. Nancy Reagan will be honored for her efforts to create a drug-free environment among the nation's youth at the annual awards ceremony sponsored by the South Shore Mental Health Center, 6 Fort St. Quincy.

The event, which is open to the public, will take place Wednesday, Sept. 24, from 6 to 8 p.m. at the Neighborhood Club of Quincy.

According to Quincy attorney Peter L. Eleey, president of the South Shore Mental Health Center, special assistant to the President, Andrew Card, will receive the award for Mrs. Reagan.

Speaker at the ceremony will be Atty. Gen. Francis X. Bellotti of Quincy, who will also be presented with a distinguished service award in recognition of his service to the Commonwealth.

Other award recipients include Ronald E. Zooleck, executive vice president and CEO of the South Shore Chamber of Commerce for the past eight years.

State Democratic Committeewoman Ruth Walsh of Randolph, will be presented a distinguished service award in honor of her years of community service.

"We are also pleased to honor Quincy Mayor Francis X. McCauley," said Eleey.

"Mayor McCauley has brought to the city a unique ability to both stabilize and strengthen the city. He has maintained a concern for the quality of life in his community, while making certain there is economic prosperity and jobs."

Along with the annual distinguished service awards, the center will present special awards to 10 residents of Quincy who are volunteers at the agency's Second-Time Around" thrift shop on Cottage Ave.

Receiving recognition will be Mary Crouch, Irene Cavanaugh, Verne Eicker, Eugenia Copeland, Norma Roberto, Helen Hemingway, Louise Healy, Evelyn Neuman, Mae Purpura, and Emma Martell. The awards will be given by Harry Shulman, executive director of South Shore Mental Health Center.

Award recipients will be honored at a champagne reception from 5 to 6 p.m. at the Neighborhood Club of Quincy. Tickets for this event are $15 each and are available by calling Pat Donovan at 847-1950.

Judge Kramer To Address Human Services Group

Committee To Make Firm Buyout Bid

remain confidential so as not to jeopardize the employees' bid which is in competition with a number of other private purchasers."

Harold reiterated the position of state government which has been that "if the study showed it to be a profitable venture, the state would do everything in its power to help secure a buyout by the group."

"It had to show that it would be profitable, and not drain on taxpayers."

"We've been optimistic from the beginning, and now we have a solid analysis on which to base our optimism," Harold said.

Mayor Francis McCauley commented, "I've always felt that the employee buyout group should have every chance to do this."

"It's good news that a local group is going to be able to make a bid."

"Of course, they'll be in competition with other prospective purchasers."

"I'm pleased to hear that the feasibility study evidently came out to the point where they feel comfortable making a bid."

"They are local workers at the shipyard, their jobs are on the line, and I hope they'll be successful in the bid process."

The 102-year-old shipyard closed last spring due to lack of naval contracts. Meredith & Grew, a Boston-based estate firm, has been hired to help General Dynamics sell the yard.

In July, General Dynamics spokeswoman Evelyn Murphy said that 130 different groups responded to Requests for Proposals (RFPs) which ask what they would do with the shipyard were they to purchase it.

Among those were 20 industrial users, 62 brokers, 33 developers and seven consulting firms with interested parties, she said.

License Board Briefs

The City License Board took the following action at Tuesday's meeting at City Hall:

- Granted a request from First-Carr, Inc., doing business at Pilgrim Restaurant, 1472 Hancock St., for a permit of expansion of the premises. Richard J. Carrigan said the renovation will enable the restaurant to seat 98 patrons.

- Withdrew without prejudice a request from John R. Lipfin, 115 East Squantum St., for 12 hackney licenses.

- Granted a request from Paul Gallagher, 61 Nevins Rd.,

Weymouth, a permit to store 325 gallons of gasoline in tanks of cars in an open-sided basement garage in a new three-story (plus penthouse) residential apartment complex at 963 Hancock St. Abutter Jean Ann McLean of 12 Caruth St., was assured there would be no build-up of vehicle exhaust fumes due to the design of the garage. Atty. Gerard Mackin, Jr., who represented Gallagher at the hearing, said construction on the new complex is expected to begin within two months.

- Placed on file complaints alleging work being done at 90-94 Franklin St. Nicholas DiGiusto, who purchased that property at an auction, assured the Board only activity being done there is an extensive cleanup of the former automotive garage.

- Granted Edward Russell, owner of Shore Taxi on Sea St., the remaining two city hackney carriage licenses. Board Chairman John Gillis pointed out there are now no more taxi licenses available in Quincy.

Money Still Needed Stadium Lights Ready For Friday Night

The permanent lights have been installed at Quincy Veterans Memorial Stadium and all is in readiness for the first game under the lights Friday night when North Quincy's football team hosts Milton at 7 p.m.

Saturday night Quincy will meet Cambridge Rindge and Latin, also at the stadium.

Despite the fact the lights are in place, Bob Meenan, president of the lighting committee, stresses that contributions are still needed.

"We are not over the top and we still need money," he said. "We will not know until we test the lights this week whether or not we will need additional lights and I still can't estimate just how much more we need. After all the lighting expenses are met, we want to do considerable renovation work at the stadium, fixing up the locker rooms among other things."

Monday night a check for $10,000 was received from the City of Quincy, the money being transferred from the Sale of School Account. This contribution plus $200 from City Councilor Joe LaRia, $500 from Frank and Carol Calabro-D'Olympio and $100 from James and Susan Duggan, raised the total contributions to $55,305.

This amount, together with the labor donated by various businesses and unions, makes the total realized at over $80,000. The committee's goal was $100,000.

ONE OF THE poles for the permanent lighting at Veterans Memorial Stadium is readied to go. The crane was donated by Antonelli Iron Works.

The lights will be officially turned on at 6:45 Friday night prior to the North Quincy-Milton game.

Committee members, major contributors, the North Quincy and Quincy High captains and Quincy Youth Football League players and cheerleaders will take part in the lighting ceremonies.

Contributions to the lighting fund can be made by sending checks to Youth of Quincy, P.O. Box 7288, Quincy 02269-7228.

Apaches Halt Panthers Manets Roll By Elks

In a strong second half defensive battle, the North Quincy Apaches stopped the Quincy Point Panthers' attempt to tie as the North Quincy entry won, 12-6, in a Quincy Youth Football League game Sunday at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

The Houghs Neck Manets defeated the West Quincy Elks, 18-0, in the other game. Sunday the Sailors and Manets will meet at 1 p.m. and the Apaches will face the Elks at 2:30. The Panthers are idle.

All the Apaches' scoring came in the first quarter on two quick drives and long passes.

The Panthers scored on the first play of the second quarter on a 47-yard run by John Bartkus. The pass for the two extra points was complete but the official ruled the ball was caught out of bounds.

The Apaches received fine games from Kevin McDougall, Mike Doherty and Brian Gilmartin, while the Panthers were led by the fine two-way play of Bobby Crespi. Ken Staskywiez and Richie Burns also played strong defense, each having a solo quarterback sack.

In a controlled scrimmage, the Panthers junior varsity edged the Apaches jayvees, 8-6, at Merrymount Field, with only seconds left on the clock. The game was tied until the Panther defense nailed the Apaches in the end zone for a winning safety.

The public's support is asked for the league's annual tag day can drive as the players and cheerleaders will be in their local neighborhood stores collecting for the annual fundraiser. The public's support has benefited the youth of Quincy for 36 years.

McPhee: 'Well Balanced Team'

Raiders Host Milton Friday Night

By TOM SULLIVAN
When the North Quincy football team opens its season Friday night against oldtime Milton at 7 p.m. in the first game played under the new permanent lights at Veterans Memorial Stadium, it will be with what Coach Ken McPhee feels is one of his best-balanced teams.

"I feel we have excellent balance," the fifth-year coach said. "We knew we could run the ball and now, after several scrimmages, I know we can also throw the long ball. Our two quarterback backs (Joe Mulvey and Bobby Silva) have thrown well in scrimmages and we have some boys who can catch them."

North, hoping to improve on last year's 3-7 record, faces a tough opener in Milton of the Bay State League.

McPhee has never beaten Milton, coached by former North assistant Jack Bowes. Last year Milton topped the Raiders, 28-0, and Bowes has eight returning starters and three other lettermen. The veterans are led by outstanding quarterback Steve Harrington.

"I wish we were playing them later in the season," said McPhee. "Milton has been my nemesis and I hope I can end the jinx this year."

The big question marks for North are at tight end and linebacker. However, things have been progressing smoothly and McPhee feels he will have these questions answered soon.

"I am very pleased with our progress. We were a bit shaky in our first scrimmage with Braintree but looked much better against Scituate, Braintree in our second meeting, and Naverian. We have been moving the ball very well and the defense has been improving all the time."

The starting tight end is undecided and Mike Shields, Tom Casey, Rich Brooks and sophomore Mike Ainsley will see action there.

Matt 'Tank' McNamara (250) and Tom McDonald (200) will be the starting offensive tackles. Tri-Capt. Tom Dolan (205) and Tim Kelly (210) will be the guards and Paul Hogan (210) will open at center.

Sophomore Billy McDougall, who sparked last fall as a freshman, leads the wide receivers and Steve Haggas and Joe Boti will also be in there.

McPhee hasn't decided on his starting quarterback, but both Mulvey and Silva, who are neck and neck, will see a lot of action.

Sophomore Ryan Craig, who has looked exceptionally good in practice, will open at fullback and the halfbacks

will be Paul McCormick or Dave Lawless and Brian Durgin, Lou Sasso or Brian Callow.

"Lawless (6-3 and 210) has been outstanding in scrimmages and looks like one of our best ball carriers," McPhee said. Lawless, following a fine freshman season, did not play a year ago. Among others who will play on offense are Brian Campbell and Dan Smith at tackle, Ted Stevenson at wide receiver, Dave Levine and Jim Liberadis at guard and Eric Giordano at fullback.

At end on defense twins Kevin (tri-Capt.) and Keith Segalla look like the starters backed up by Callow and Phil Tavares.

McNamara, Campbell and Smith will be the defensive tackles.

Hogan, Sean Clancy and

Scott Sacchetti are the noseguards and Craig, Dolan, Kelly, Brooks and Levine all will see action as linebackers.

Seeing action as defensive backs will be Tri-Capt. Scott Chansky, John Pacino, Lawless, McDougall, John Rodephle, Casey, Jim McCluskey and Paul Moody.

Also seeing action defensively will be Paul Jeffers at noseguard.

"Our secondary has improved considerably under assistant coach Jamie Walsh, our freshman coach last year," McPhee said.

Following Friday night's opener North will face Arlington of the Greater Boston League at Arlington Sept. 27 and will open its Suburban League season at home against Newton North Friday, Oct. 3, in a 2:30 game.

Buckley, Osgood Reunited At Curry

When John Osgood steps out on the basketball court at Curry College as the men's assistant coach, it will mark a reunion of sorts for him and head coach Brian Buckley.

Buckley and Osgood played together in the old Quincy YMCA outdoor basketball league 15 years ago and the connection goes even further back.

"John and my older brother

Bruce were lifeguards at Wollaston Beach," said Buckley. "After a hard day on the beach the lifeguards would have pickup basketball games. I was only 12 or 13 years old, but they let me play. And the three guys I really looked up to were my brother, John and his brother Eddie. I still remember those games vividly."

Osgood, who lives in Montclair with his wife

Dawn, his daughters Stephanie and Amy and his son Jay, a 6-6 forward at Maine Central Institute and a fine basketball player himself, coached the varsity and junior varsity teams at Norwell High for the past 15 years. He replaces Gerald Phelan, who has been with Buckley for the past three seasons at Curry.

"Ged and I had a great relationship at Curry," said Buckley. "We were 2-20 our first season and won the league championship last year. We went through a lot of ups and downs. When Ged decided to call it quits, I wasn't sure if I'd be able to find anyone who could fit in right away. John should fit in right away."

Osgood was captain at Boston Tech and all-city and went on to captain Boston University. He is currently second on the all-time rebounding list at BU and he played only three years. Freshmen weren't eligible to play varsity at that time. In addition to coaching and teaching at Norwell High (he also coaches soccer and track), he is the co-director of the Tri Sport Day Camp and the director of the Happy Acres Day Camp.

"John's experience with people and his success at Happy Acres tell you what kind of person he is," said Buckley. "He's a family man, a people person and he will have a definite positive influence on the young men at Curry."

Maver Makes Successful Debut

Bill Maver, former captain and all-scholastic end at Quincy High who coached the Presidents for one season after several seasons as assistant coach, made a successful debut as head football coach at Acton-Boxboro High School last weekend as his team came from behind to upset favored St. John's Prep, 21-20.

Maver left Quincy to become assistant coach at Acton-Boxboro three years ago when he was unable to get his job back in the Quincy school system.

Raymer Hopes Luck Turns

Quincy Takes On Cambridge Saturday Night

When the Quincy Football team opens against Suburban League rival Cambridge Rindge and Latin Saturday night at 7 o'clock under the new permanent lights at Veterans Stadium, third-year coach Jack Raymer hopes for better luck than in the opener a year ago.

The Presidents, hit hard by injuries for the second year in a row, suffered their first winless season and the streak started in the Cambridge opener.

Quincy pushed Cambridge all over the field and had a wide edge in every statistic (including an 18-9 edge in first downs) but three big plays which Raymer attributed to "rookie mistakes," enabled Cambridge, a league doormat until last fall, to take home an 18-14 win. Things went downhill for the Presidents the rest of the way.

"We are facing a really strong Cambridge team," Raymer said. "One coach whose team scrimmaged them, told me they are very strong in every department and this is going to be one tough opener for us."

Cambridge has 14 starters and 14 other returning lettermen and Coach Wadie Geraigery's club looks like a real darkhorse in the league, which is expected to again be dominated by Brockton with Waltham a close second.

And when Cambridge takes to the Veterans Memorial Stadium turf Saturday night it will feature a first in the league—a girl player!

She is Fanshen Cox (5'5" and 130 pounds,) a 16-year-old junior former beauty pageant, offensive and Cambridge cheerleader.

"I'm definitely playing to the end of the season," said Fanshen who grew up getting "roughed up" playing tackle football with her older brother, Winston, and his friends.

Although she may not play against Quincy, Geraigery said she will see a good deal of action as a wide receiver.

Quincy will line up offensively with Steve Gardner (195,) Frank Calabro (200) and Mark Larrard at end.

Dave Savave (220,) Jeff Sprague (205) and Jim Feeley will be at tackle, Steve Picarski (200,) Rick Smith (185) and Tom Bjork will be the guards and Norm Hassan and Kerry Byrne will be the centers.

Steve Austin (6'3" and 205,) is back as the starting quarterback and is expected to have a fine season. He is backed up by sophomore Chris Noble.

Joe Cardarelli (205) will open at fullback backed up by Dennis DeCoste and the halfbacks will be returning starter Joe Innello and John Bogan.

"Austin has looked good in scrimmages and Cardarelli has been outstanding," said Raymer. "Cardarelli is a real bear and should be one of our big offensive weapons."

Sean Munroe, one of the President's top pass receivers, will miss at least three games with a broken foot suffered on the first day of practice. Bill Ryan, another wide receiver, also is on the injured list.

Gardner will be the ends, Cardarelli and Mike Eastwick (215) the tackles, Savave and Hassan the nose guards, Picarski, DeCoste, Feeley and Joel Rogers the linemen, Innello, Bogan, Greg Doten and sophomore Scott O'Brien the corner backs and Austin, Chris Mackey, Ernie Light, Jay Dennett and Mike Miteile the defensive backs.

"We had our annual intrasquad scrimmage and scrimmaged Walpole, Milton and Weymouth South and I was pleased," Raymer said. "This is a hard working group of boys and I have a lot of faith in them."

Following Saturday night's opener Quincy will have two more league night games at the stadium, hosting Brookline Sept. 26 and Waltham Oct. 3. Then will come three straight games on the road.

WJDA Football Broadcast Schedule

Station WJDA, for the 39th straight season, will broadcast South Shore high school football games beginning Saturday with a doubleheader.

North Quincy games will be aired five times and, due to playing five night games, only two Quincy games are on the schedule.

"We'd like to do more Quincy games but we are not on the air at night, so we can do only two," said Charlie Ross, who returns for his 14th season of calling the play-by-play.

Bill Coleman will be Ross' color man this fall and Paul Carroll and John Nicolson will handle the football scoreboard program which follows the Saturday afternoon broadcasts.

North Quincy's games on WJDA will be with Newton North Friday, Oct. 3, at 2:30, at Weymouth South Oct. 11 at 1:30, at Weymouth South Nov. 1 at 2 p.m., Brookline Nov. 15 at 1:30 and the Thanksgiving classic with Quincy.

Quincy's only game on the air besides North Quincy will be at Medford Oct. 25 at 1:30.

This fall 19 games will be broadcast live, while progress reports will be brought in from 18 other games.

WJDA will begin its live coverage Saturday with Weymouth South at Dedham at 10:30 and Braintree at Weymouth North at 1:30. Reports will be brought in from Abp. Williams at Christopher Columbus.

The football warmup begins 20 minutes before the scheduled kickoff on all games broadcast.

Quincy Tennis Tourney Courtneys Win Ryan Cup In Mixed Doubles Finals

The 16th annual Quincy Tennis Tournament sponsored by the Quincy Recreation Department and the Granite Cooperative Bank came to a close this week with some dramatic matches.

Tournament directors John Franceschini and Steve Durante were pleased with the play during the final matches.

The mixed doubles finals saw the steady net play of Bill and Camille Courtney defeat two tough opponents in Louise Durante and Barry Gilfeather to win the William F. Ryan Cup, 6-7, 6-3, 6-3.

Leonard Ciavarrro, one of the finest baseline players in the game, proved too tough for newcomer Scott MacKay and won 6-0, 6-0, in the Men's "B" Singles final.

In one of the best played final matches in years Wayne Chatterton combined a strong serve and powerful ground strokes to defeat Barry Gilfeather and capture the Lionel ("Shine") Buckley Cup, 7-5, 6-3 in the men's singles.

In a rematch of the 1985 final, Joe Ryan proved again to be too consistent in defeating Lenny Ciavarrro, 6-4, 6-4, in a match that was highlighted by spectacular baseline rallies. In the men's doubles, Steve Durante and John Franceschini blasted serve after serve to their opponents Joe Ryan and Barry Gilfeather and proved to be too tough in winning, 7-6, 6-1.

Nancy Flukes again had a great tournament by winning the women's singles, 6-3, 6-2, over Moya Baldwin and then going on to the women's doubles with Sue Pacetti and losing, 6-3, 5-7, 6-3, to champions Louise Durante and Hildy Gills. This match contained some of the finest net play of the tourney. All four finalists served flawless during three action packed sets.

The men's 50 final saw two of the best in Quincy dual it out at center court, in the end Dick Hatten defeated Henry McAuliffe 6-2, 6-2, in a match that was a thrill to watch for the fans at the Vot-Tech courts.

Again a great thank you has to go out to the Granite Cooperative Bank for their support and also to the players and spectators for making the Quincy Tennis Tournament one of the finest in New England.

The results in quarter finals and semi finals of the tournament are as follows:

Men's Singles Quarterfinals: Wayne Chatterton def. Tom Savoie 6-7, 6-1, 7-5; Joe Ryan def. Jack Goddard 6-4, 6-1; Manuel Celi def. Oscar Jara 6-4, 4-6, 6-4; Barry Gilfeather def. Joe Rapalje 7-5, 6-2.

Girls Volleyball

Quincy, North Off To Good Start

The Quincy and North Quincy girls' volleyball teams are off to fast starts with two straight victories.

The Quincy girls, defending Suburban League champions, will play at Newton North Friday and will host Boston Latin next Wednesday.

The North girls will be at Waltham Friday and will be home to Newton South next Wednesday.

The First Ladies swept Newton South 15-10, 15-6 last Friday, winning the first game behind the solid serving of Ginny Duggan. The strong defense of Lauren Standing highlighted the second game win.

Earlier in the week Quincy defeated Waltham in straight games, 15-4 and 15-3.

Duggan, Standing and Amy Guidice were outstanding in the victory.

The North girls topped Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 13-15, 15-11, 15-9, last Friday.

The passing of sophomore Deirdre Murphy and the defense of junior Eileen Campbell keyed the comeback behind win.

Earlier in the week the Raiderettes defeated Brookline, 15-9, 13-15, 15-3, with the outstanding serving and defense of Holly Rendle leading the way.

The passing of Jill Caldwell and Murphy were also instrumental in the opening day victory.

Hospital Employees Softball Marathon To Benefit Youngster

Concerned Quincy City Hospital employees are sponsoring a 30-hour benefit softball marathon for Ryan Clifford of Braintree from Friday at 6 p.m. to Saturday at midnight at Rotary Field.

This is the fourth benefit softball marathon sponsored by QCH employees.

Ryan Clifford is a two-year-old from Braintree who suffers from renal insufficiency. He was born with a left polycystic non-functional kidney and his right kidney is only one-fourth the size of a normal one. During his short years he has come a long way.

When he was seven days old a team of physicians at Children's Hospital told his parents he would not live longer than two weeks. He has continued to fight for survival.

RYAN CLIFFORD

He is very susceptible to illness and needs frequent visits to doctors. His medical care has been only partially covered by medical insurance and costs of medical equipment, formula, tests and doctor visits have become quite an expense to his family (he is the youngest of four children).

The family can use support financially but also they can use emotional support as they do not know what the next few years will bring.

The City Hospital employees hope to help out with the softball marathon.

Donations can be made in Ryan's name to Northeast Savings, Pilgrim Plaza, 1 Scammell St., Quincy 02169.

Information on the softball marathon can be obtained by calling Sherry Robertson at 773-0050 or 770-4832 or William Henderson, public relations, at Quincy City Hospital.

Executive Hockey

Linscott's Hat Trick Sparks Bearing, 4-2

Chip Linscott had a hat trick to lead South Shore Bearing to a 4-2 win over Bob White's in Executive Hockey League action Monday night at the Youth Arena.

Frankie Grest scored the other goal and Guest had three assists, Bob Carroll two and Jack Aldred one. Jerry Ionelli and Ted Viles scored for White's with assists for Steve and Kevin Lewis.

Sports defeated DiMattia's Sailmakers, 5-2, with Paul Hurley scoring two goals and adding two assists. Other goals were scored by Kevin Glynn, Paul O'Brien and Fred Cobban. Bill Hanson had two assists and O'Brien one. Mike Owings and Lenihan scored for DiMattia's with assists for Jim Conso and Al McKoy.

Marty Tolson scored twice to spark Grogan's Business

Quincy Swim-A-Thon Raises $3,588 For MDA

A total of $3,588 was raised by over 85 boys and girls at the ninth Swim-A-Thon for the Muscular Dystrophy Association held at the Lincoln Hancock pool.

Top fundraiser was Kelly Herbert who turned in $350. She will receive a "Boom Box" radio.

Those who raised $75 or more will be awarded a radio with head set, and those who turn in $25 or more will receive a T-shirt.

Participants were boys and girls from the Quincy Recreation Department's Instructional learn-to-swim stations at the beach and Lincoln-Hancock pool.

This is the ninth year that the Lincoln-Hancock Community School Council and swim instructors at the Quincy Recreation Department have teamed up to conduct this event.

Those working on the swim-a-thon this year were Yvonne Boness, Jean Boudreau, Tina Calabro, Mary Coughlin, Michelle Dunn, Kathleen Egan, Ann Marie Flanagan, Laura Grande, Kathryn Gorczyca.

Mary Ann Kelleher, Marie McAdams, Kristin McCready, Douglas Morash, Marjorie Swanton, Susan Swanton and Stacey Welch.

Cable Talk Enters Fifth Season

A Tibetan journalist will be featured in this week's edition of Cable Talk as the Quincy community television show enters its fifth season.

Host John Noonan will interview Tsering Wangyal, editor for the Tibetan Review, published in New Delhi.

The show will air tonight (Thursday) at 8 p.m. on Ch. 3. Wangyal has spent this past summer in the Quincy area under a program to improve understanding between U.S. and third world journalists.

One of the topics explored during the interview will be the many differences in lifestyles and news gathering in India, compared to western world assignments.

TRY A TASTE OF GOURMET VIEWING. IT'S TV WITHOUT THE EAT.

Imagine this, you turn on your TV and whatever you're in the mood for, it's there. Well, it doesn't take imagination, all it takes is cable TV.

Cable is gourmet viewing. Not more TV, but better TV. You get the viewing you're hungry for. Hot blockbuster movies, just when you feel like one. When you want sports, cable gives you sports, not some soap opera.

Cable doesn't just give you crystal clear reception, it gives you channels you can't get on ordinary TV and fascinating viewing you can't find at any video store. Whole channels for news, weather, music, entertainment and much, much more. You can indulge your tastes exactly, no compromises here.

If you're interested in a TV diet that's rich but not filling, now's the time to try it. By calling 1-800-MY-CABLE now, you can get 50% off installation. So, enjoy a taste of gourmet viewing. We think you'll be completely satisfied.

NOTICE
A petition has been presented in the above-captioned matter praying that the last will of said decedent be proved and allowed and that FRANCIS M. MAHONEY of QUINCY in the County of NORFOLK be appointed executor named in the will without surety on the bond.

If you desire to object to the allowance of said petition, you or your attorney should file a written appearance in said Court at Dedham on or before ten o'clock in the forenoon on October 15, 1986.

In addition you should file a written statement of objections to the petition, giving the specific grounds therefor, within thirty (30) days after the return day for such other time as the Court, on motion with notice to the petitioner, may allow in accordance with Probate Rule 2A.

Witness, Robert M. Ford, Esquire, First Justice of said Court at Dedham, the tenth day of September, one thousand nine hundred and eighty six.

PRAYER TO THE HOLY SPIRIT
Oh Holy Spirit who enlightens me who illuminates all things as I am; attain my goal. You who give me the divine gift of forgiving and forgetting the evil done to me and who I ever with me at all moments of my life. I wish during this short dialogue with you to thank you for everything and to confirm once again my wish to never be separated from you, even and in spite of all material distractions I desire to be with you in eternal glory. Thank you for your mercy towards me and all who are dear to me. Must be said three days in succession. After the three days favor or grace will be attained, even if it appears to be of difficult nature. Then it will be published with instructions as soon as possible with your initials.

Plumbing, Gas Inspection Permits

Inspector James A. Erwin, Jr. reports the Department of Plumbing and Gas Inspection issued 166 permits for the month of August.

The department collected $3700 in fees.

Plumbing: permits issued 103; fees $3032; number of inspections 170.

Gas: permits issued 63; fees $668; number of inspections 86.

Developers of the $54 million President's Place project proposed for downtown Quincy has told a Citizen's Advisory Committee it hopes to have some design changes ready in two to three weeks.

The changes are in response to criticism by the committee that the buildings' design does not fit in with the historic area.

Developer Stephen Ricciardi asked committee member Joyce Baker if the preliminary plans could be presented informally at the Sept. 22, meeting of the Historic District Commission of which she is chairman. She agreed.

"We hope to come up with some significant changes," Ricciardi told the committee during its meeting in the Planning Department conference room.

Mayor Francis McCauley commended the committee for its input.

"We want you to have comments. We appreciate your input and efforts," he said.

Forrest Neal of United First Parish Church, Quincy Sq., cautioned the group against putting too many restrictions on the developers.

Neal said that developers of the Executive House, which he called the first high-rise building in the city, pulled out of the project after too many restrictions were put on them.

The situation was eventually worked out, he said.

Committee chairman Leo Kelly said that this was a good time to be concerned with upgrading the whole area in terms of landscaping, street widening and traffic.

Kevin Shea of the Planning Department said he would report back at the next meeting on available state or federal funds.

Rev. J. William Arnold of Bethany Congregational Church suggested that Dr. Clayton Johnson of Quincy Junior College attend the next committee meeting.

The college holds classes in the old Quincy District courthouse which developers hope to include in the project. Ricciardi has said that if the acquisition occurs, the developers will continue to offer space to the college.

The next committee meeting will be held Sept. 25, at 4 p.m.

Commercial Rubbish Banned At Landfill

The city's landfill in West Quincy will no longer accept commercial rubbish disposal as of Oct. 6, in an effort to extend the life of the landfill until spring, 1987.

The action, which may be reversed in April, will ensure that the city has adequate space for its household refuse within the legal limits of the landfill, said Mayor Francis McCauley at a Tuesday press conference.

The city will lose $600,000 to $800,000 in revenues over six months, said Paul Anderson, Department of Public Works Commissioner.

But fines if the city exceeded its limits at the landfill on Ricciuti Drive could be $1,000 to $10,000 a day under DEQE regulations, he said.

The city is requesting permission to pile rubbish higher on the 183-acre landfill site. About 110 acres are being used now.

However, Secretary of Environmental Affairs James Hoyte ruled this month that the city's submitted Draft Environmental Impact Report was inadequate and ordered that a Final Environmental Impact report be prepared.

After reviewing the timetable for submission of the Final Environmental Impact Report, Anderson told the mayor that the earliest the submission could be made is Dec. 1.

The secretary must then render his decision on the final Environmental Impact no later than March 15, 1987.

"Unfortunately, if the city were to continue accepting commercial rubbish, as is the current policy, the landfill would reach its legal limits mid January, of 1987, two months before the secretary's decision on expansion," McCauley said.

"If the city continued to fill beyond its legal limits, Quincy would be subject to major fines under DEQE regulations."

"This is a statewide issue which impacts Quincy," said Anderson, who noted that he asked 24 landfills and transfer stations if they would be willing to take Quincy's household waste.

"They indicated 'no way' - they have a similar problem," Anderson said.

He also said that commercial contractors have known for some time that a problem with disposal could be imminent.

Joseph Boren, vice president of GSX Corporation of New England, one of the larger commercial users of the landfill according to Anderson, called the city's action "unfortunate."

"We'll just take it (the rubbish) and send it somewhere else at a greater price, so commercial customers might get affected," said Boren.

Customers with contracts won't have to worry about discontinuation of service, he said.

While he could not give an estimate of the number of customers his company serves in Quincy, he did say that they range from convenience stores to commercial buildings.

Boren also acknowledged that Quincy is not unique in its problem.

"This is just another symptom of a greater illness," Boren said. "When you're doing business in Eastern Massachusetts, you get used to it."

McCauley noted that the landfill operates on a revolving account and is financially self-sufficient.

However, with the loss of revenue from commercial rubbish disposal, it may be necessary to go to the City Council for an appropriation, he said.

McCauley said he submitted the order after receiving complaints.

Ordinance Committee Chairman James Sheets said the city currently has no ordinances regarding the subject.

City Solicitor Joseph (Jay) MacRitchie said he thought the fine for violating the order, if approved by the council, would be $20 or $50.

Despite Council's Appeal

Mayor Stands Firm: Will Not Reopen Upgrading Process

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

Mayor Francis McCauley said Tuesday that he does not intend to reopen the process of upgrades for city employees in the Hospital, Library and Public Employees union.

The City Council's Ordinance Committee voted 6 to 2 Monday night to request that the mayor take such action because some city employees have said they did not receive adequate notification of the process.

Voting against the motion were Councilors Michael Cheney and Thomas Nutley. Councilor Richard Koch, Jr., had to leave the meeting early.

"The communication from the union says it all," said McCauley, who was referring to a letter in which the union spelled out the upgrading process.

The letter also stated that "a few employees who were not upgraded are now trying to discredit the process."

"The procedure worked well," said McCauley. "Plenty of notice was given by the union and the city.

"I don't feel that it is necessary to reopen the process right now."

The Ordinance Committee's action came after a lengthy hearing held for those employees who felt they did not have an equal opportunity to apply for an upgrading.

The upgrades were included in the city's contract with the 425-member Hospital, Library and Public Employees union comprised of mostly clerical workers.

Three city employees from among about 20 at the hearing complained about the process.

Nancy Griffin, secretary to Chief Francis Finn, said that she filled out four sets of forms for an upgrading and was told that such requests have been set aside temporarily pending the results of a police study.

"I don't think the process was fair to the Police Department," Mrs. Griffin said.

Richard Smart of the Building Department said that he filed an application for upgrading May 28, 1985 and didn't hear that he would have to file a new application until after the deadline passed.

Barbara Mathews of the Police Department said that there was "a great deal of confusion" about resubmitting applications.

"By the time we realized that we did have to resubmit applications, it was too late," she said.

Councilor James Sheets, Ordinance Committee chairman, said that he

McGrath Again Requests Wollaston School Reopening

City Council President Stephen J. McGrath has reiterated his call for the reopening of the Wollaston School.

In a letter to Mayor Francis X. McCauley, McGrath noted his strong support of the parent groups who have favored the reopening of the school.

"At present," noted McGrath, "there is $4 million available in the free cash

"In light of the surplus that the city is currently enjoying, I feel that the $400,000 required to be appropriated for the reopening of the school would be a wise expenditure of this surplus."

McGrath noted that areas of the city school system are experiencing overcrowding, particularly in the Furnace Brook and Parker areas.

"I do not feel that the bussing of children around the city is the proper answer to the problem."

"In addition, as a practical matter, the school should be reopened or sold before further damage and neglect is suffered. Personally, I would not favor a sale of the school in light of the demonstrated need for its use as an educational facility," McGrath said.

New Trash Ordinance Violation Will Bring Fine

No rubbish or other debris should be put out for collection more than one day prior to scheduled pickup, according to an order approved by the City Council's Ordinance Committee Monday night.

The order, introduced by Council President Stephen McGrath, must now be routinely approved by the City Council.

It also specifies that empty containers should be removed within one day of pick-up.

In addition, no one should place rubbish or other debris for collection by the city within 10 feet of any abutters' property or in any way which interferes with abutters' access to his property or with access to a public sidewalk, according to the order.

Quincy Sun 18 Years Old

The Quincy Sun is 18 years old with today's issue.

The Sun was established Sept. 26, 1968 as Quincy's own weekly newspaper and today is Quincy's "All Quincy Newspaper."

As a community oriented newspaper, it concentrates on Quincy news, sports, features, civic and social events.

The Sun also operates Quincy Sun Ch. 8 on Quincy Cablesystems, providing 24-hour news coverage of Quincy, the region, nation and world.

Local news is provided by The Quincy Sun staff and region-national-world news by the Associated Press.

A special Video News Report of Quincy news events covered by Sun television cameras, can be seen nightly at 5:30 and 7:30 p.m. and at 10 a.m.

The Sun's sister publication is The Hingham Journal purchased six years ago. It dates back to 1827 and is one of the oldest newspapers in the country.

Both The Sun and The Journal have won a number of editorial, photo and special articles awards from the New England Press Association and the Massachusetts Press Association.

In addition, The Sun was designated a National Blue Ribbon Newspaper by the National Newspaper Foundation in Washington, D.C.

Thank you all, sincerely.

Cyanide False Alarm At Quincy Drugstore

Three store brand aspirin tablets bought in a Quincy drugstore and thought to be laced with deadly cyanide were instead coated with a common buffer, officials said.

The state Department of Public Health admitted that it was wrong when it said the tablets, purchased at Rite Aid on Hancock St., Quincy Sq., were laced with cyanide.

The tablets were coated with glycine, which is commonly used as a buffer on aspirin, tests by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration showed, said Public Health spokesman Gail Jackson.

"The pills posed no danger to people," she said.

The tablets, which appeared discolored and out of shape, were among those in a bottle of Rite Aid brand aspirin purchased by a South Quincy woman one or two months ago, officials said.

She discovered the suspect tablets after she had already used about six others, said Police Lt. Walter Lynch.

The pills were then given an initial "rapid screening test" by the Department of Public Health's state laboratory which reported that they contained cyanide.

Further testing, however, showed that the pills contained glycine, not cyanide, Jackson said.

Rite Aid had pulled all aspirin with the same lot number from shelves of its 1,428 stores in 20 states.

Oct. 20 Still Target Date For Urban Renewal Plan

Monday, Oct. 20, is still the target date for submission to the City Council of an urban renewal plan in connection with the $54 million President's Place project proposed for Quincy Sq., Mayor Francis McCauley said.

However, the focus right now is on arriving at the appropriate design for the project's buildings which will be in a historic district, he said.

A Citizens Advisory Committee on the project, which will be located in the vicinity of the closed Bargain Center, criticized the designs presented by the developers.

The developers, Ricciardi Co. and Campanelli Industries, have said they will submit new designs.

"We want to be sure we get a good design," said McCauley.

He also said he has contacted City Councilors and told them the developers are available for update meetings on an ongoing basis in the Planning Department.

Taxi Hornblowing Complaints Filed

The Quincy License Board placed on file for two months, complaints against the Yellow Cab Company, 91 McGrath Highway regarding horn blowing for customers at Delaney's Pub on Franklin St.

Yellow Cab owner George Parker said he had already posted a notice in the cab company office directed to the drivers concerning the complaints. Parker was angered by the allegations made by Fire Alarm Superintendent Jack Schmuck who said he had tried to contact Parker several times to no avail.

City Clerk John Gillis reminded Parker that a city ordinance states that between the hours of 11 p.m. to 7 a.m., horn blowing is illegal unless under "extreme emergency."

The board suggested Parker and Schmuck try to work out an amiable agreement before the cab company reports to the license board in two months.

License Board Briefs

The City License Board took the following actions at Tuesday's meeting at City Hall.

- Granted a request from the Caddy Marine Corps League for a one day alcoholic license for a fathers and sons Marciano Film Night Saturday at the Fore River Clubhouse.

- Granted a one day alcoholic license to James Davis for a testimonial to be held Oct. 4 at the Fore River Clubhouse.

- Granted a request for re-change of operator at the Sunoco Station, 59 School St. The board told John Kalpakidis, dealer, they would grant him a license to operate after he met with the building inspector. The license is also subject to removal of all illegal signs in the area.

- Placed on file a request from Kenneth W. Upham for three hackney licenses. Upham failed to attend the hearing.

- Withdrew without prejudice a request from Harold J. Bruce, 258 Willard St. for four hackney licenses. Chairman John Gillis said there would be no licenses issued until the 1987 census shows a population increase.

100 Quincy Names On Unclaimed Money List

Some 100 Quincy residents and a business are among 18,000 from across the street entitled to more than $2 million under the state's Unclaimed Money Law.

State Treasurer Robert Q. Crane said that this office is attempting to return the money which has been reported to the treasury by insurance companies doing business within the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Included in the reports are unpaid benefits on health and liability insurance policies, unpaid life insurance benefits, customer overpayments and pension checks.

Under Massachusetts' Unclaimed Money Law (M.G.L. ch. 200A), accounts which have been dormant for at least five years are deemed to be abandoned and must be reported to the treasury.

The Treasury Department then tries to locate the rightful owner or legal heirs to return the money.

"We are encouraged by the increase in compliance nevertheless, our efforts will continue until every dollar is returned," Crane said.

More than 6,000 accounts range between $100 and $500; 347 accounts between $500 and $1,000; 175 accounts between $1,000 and $5,000; 11 accounts between $5,000 and $10,000 and 10 accounts more than $10,000.

The remaining accounts are less than $100.

Last spring, Treasurer Crane released the names of 26,000 Massachusetts residents who were owed more than $13 million, most of this resulting from unclaimed savings accounts.

Anyone who believes he or she may have a valid claim should call the treasurer's office at 367-7780 or toll free 1-800-632-8027.

Listed on the list as owned unclaimed money are:

Following Complaints

Pub Withdraws Request For Noon Sunday Openings

By MARIE D'OLIMPIO

After hearing complaints from neighbors, clergy and a city councillor, Glasgow Pub Inc., formerly Callahan's Pub, 296 Copeland St., West Quincy, withdrew without prejudice, a request for noon opening on Sundays instead of 1 p.m.

John G. Hendry, the pub's owner, told the Quincy Licensing Board Tuesday, that with the football and hockey season underway, his customers like to come in early and watch pregame programs as well as the games, and that he was "losing business" to other bars in the city that have permission to open at noon.

However, neighbors cited loud noise, sleepless nights, vandalism, and house damage since the Hendry's took over the ownership of the bar two years ago.

Mrs. William Volpe, a resident of Furnace Ave., told the board "things are bad," "we're in siege" and presented a petition signed by abutters. Other neighbors, Mrs. Joseph Clare and Lan Liu told the board of sleepless nights and broken windows and illegally parked cars.

Ward 4 Councillor James Sheets suggested the board deny the request for the Sunday noon opening and said he was looking at "restriction rather than expansion" at the pub. He said he was concerned about the numerous complaints against the new owners.

noting that he never heard complaints when the pub was known as Callahan's Pub.

City Clerk John Gillis said that he received a telephone call from the Rev. John J. McMahon, pastor of St. Mary's Church suggesting the board deny the request for the Sunday noon opening. St. Mary's Church is a couple of streets away from the pub.

Both Hendry and his mother said they have always been "very cooperative" with the neighbors and conducted a "respectable bar" noting that in the two years since taking over the business, they had never had a problem with the police.

Capt. Paul Nestor of the Quincy Police Department told the owners that an investigation will be held concerning the complaints and said he hoped there would be "no repercussions."

Readers Forum Wishes More Attended USS Quincy Museum Dedication

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

On a cold winter day - Dec. 12, 1941 - a large group of men was sworn into the U.S. Navy at the Boston recruiting station. I lived in Providence, R.I., but most of the men came from the Boston area - Malden, Roxbury, Quincy, etc.

We ended up on the USS Quincy CA-39 and our ship was sunk by the Japanese off Savo Island (Aug. 1942), in the Solomon Islands of the Pacific. We had been assigned to the 6th Division on the ship - a newly founded division.

I attended the reunion and the dedication of the Quincy Museum in City Hall at Quincy.

We all - the men of the Quincy CA-39 and the Quincy

CA-71 - are grateful for the participation and welcome of Mayor McCauley and the other dignitaries.

We wish there had been more citizens of Quincy there and I wish I had seen my shipmates from the Boston area who survived the sinking of the CA-39.

Evidently, they knew nothing about the reunion and dedication if they didn't read Veteran's Magazines.

I would appreciate your sending me a copy of your newspaper if you wrote up anything about the dedication of the Quincy Museum last Saturday.

Jackie And The Chips

The death of Edward (Jackie) Pettinelli saddened many old-time basketball fans who still fondly remember him as a member of the famed Granite Chips 1937-38 team at Quincy High School.

Basketball was different back then. Purer, you might say, with the accent on defense, speed and player brainpower.

The courts weren't cluttered with human step-ladders reaching and dunking for high scores.

The five Granite Chips starters were midgets compared to today's players.

The big man on the team was Center John Joyce at 6-2. Forwards Jackie Pettinelli and George Page were only 5-5 and guards Fred DeSantis and Ralph Graham were 5-7 and 5-10 respectively.

Pettinelli, Page and DeSantis, the smallest of the five, were the spirit of the team, according to Dave Lubarsky, Quincy's walking sports encyclopedia.

And, that's how they won the name Granite Chips. They were chips -- not boulders -- from the Granite City.

The Granite Chips probably meant as much to Quincy back then as the Four Horsemen did to Notre Dame.

Lubarsky remembers them well, and with affection.

He also recalls that the Granite Chips made their debut along with Munroe MacLean who was coaching his first basketball team at Quincy High School.

Lubarsky, who had a special fondness for Pettinelli, says in tribute:

"Jackie was a right forward in basketball, a right half back in football and a right human being in life."

Anyone who knew Jackie would agree with that.

Pettinelli, Page, DeSantis and Graham came out of Point Junior and Joyce from South, now Sterling Middle School.

The Chips won 15 out of 17 regular season games that year and went to the Tech Tourney. And, they became the first Quincy team to make it to the tourney finals.

It was the year to be a Granite Chip, says Lubarsky, because 1938 brought a revolutionary change in basketball.

Prior to then, a jump ball at center was called after every basket scored. That was eliminated in 1938 to speed up the game.

"It also," says Lubarsky, "kept the centers who were always taller than the other players from controlling the ball mainly because of their height."

This was right down the Chips' alley.

They had speed, could move and could think and were a match for any player or team regardless of a height disadvantage.

The Chips proved it that year in the Tech Tourney when they upset tourney favorite Lynn English, 14-13 on March 10.

It was like David taking on Goliath. The game is still considered one of the greatest upsets ever in high school basketball.

QCAO To Take Fuel Applications

The Quincy Community Action Organization, Inc. fuel assistance program will begin to take applications Tuesday, Oct. 14.

Residents of Quincy, Braintree, Milton or Weymouth must call 471-4025-4026 or 4027 to schedule an appointment beginning Oct. 6.

These are the only phone numbers that may be called to reach the fuel assistance program.

On that Lynn English team, recalls Lubarsky, was Jim Hegan who later became a standout catcher with the Cleveland Indians, handling such pitcher greats as Bob Feller, Bob Lemon, Early Wynn and Mike Garcia.

Quincy defeated Medford in the semi-finals, 32-30 with Joyce making the difference, sinking two foul shots with eight seconds to go.

But the Chips, a Cinderella team, had time run out on them in the finals, as they were edged by Chelsea, 16-14.

The Chips earlier that season lost to Attleboro and no one expected much of them or their new coach, Munroe MacLean. In fact, MacLean, who went on to become one of Quincy's all-time coaching greats, was often criticized and second guessed by fans and alumni in the early weeks of that season.

But later in the season, the Chips traveled to Attleboro in a near blizzard for the rematch. They started off cold, like the weather, and late in the game trailed 27-11. But they then turned on the heat to win 31-29 to assure them of a Tech Tourney berth and a place forever in the hearts of Quincy fans.

When Lubarsky thinks of Pettinelli he recalls two more memorable dates -- one before and one after -- the Lynn English game:

On March 25, 1937 Point and South Junior squared off in a play-off game for the Junior High School championship after finishing in a tie for first place.

"The Quincy High School gym was selected as a neutral court," remembers Lubarsky. "And it was packed. It was the biggest crowd ever for a junior high school basketball game."

Pettinelli, playing his last basketball game for Point, was captain and right forward.

South got off to a 12-3 lead but the Chips chipped away and in the final minutes were trailing 16-14.

"But Jackie capped a brilliant performance by scoring the last five points in the game to win it for Point, 19-16," recalls Lubarsky.

Lubarsky also remembers Nov. 24, 1938 and the Thanksgiving Day game between Quincy and North Quincy played before a crowd of 12,000.

Pettinelli, at right half back, scored the first Quincy touchdown. It was the spark that sent Quincy on to a 19-0 victory.

It was the first win for Quincy in the series which started in 1933. Quincy had two ties before this big win.

And, it was also, the first Thanksgiving Day win for Munroe MacLean, coaching his first football season at Quincy.

MacLean was often asked down through the years which of his teams was his favorite. He would never say.

But he had to have a special place in his heart for that special team, the Granite Chips.

Jackie Pettinelli went on to become a Quincy firefighter and served with distinction.

He was a good family man -- from a good family. He was quiet, modest and an outstanding athlete, especially in the clutch.

He was small as athletes go.

But he stood tall where it counted most: as a human being.

Only 22.4% Voter Turnout

Gillis Hopes To Lessen Polling Places Confusion

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

City Clerk John Gillis hopes to lessen voter confusion in the Nov. 4 final state election by again advertising the location of changed polling places and placing signs at the old voting sites.

"A card was sent to each Quincy voter whose polling place was changed," said Gillis after last week's state primary in which 22.4 percent of the city's 44,353 registered voters turned out.

"But still, some people were confused. Anytime you change a precinct, you have problems."

"Most people did okay. They may not have liked the changes, but at least all the polling places are now accessible to the handicapped," he said.

Some 20 of the city's 39 polling places were changed to provide access for the handicapped as mandated by federal law.

The changes will be in effect until 1987 or 1988, according to Gillis, when the city's 39 precincts are reduced to 30.

Once the polls closed, results, which largely mirrored statewide trends, were in at 11:30 p.m. using the city's computerized system.

In the Democratic race for lieutenant governor, former state Secretary of Environmental and Economic Affairs Evelyn F. Murphy topped state Sen. Gerard D'Amico by 1,665 votes.

Wayland businessman George Kariotis, with 141 write-in votes, is the Republican candidate for governor.

Gregory S. Hyatt and State Rep. Royall H. Switzer drew more votes than Kariotis but have withdrawn from the race.

Gillis had predicted that results would be in at 9:30 p.m. But problems with stickers on ballots rather than on the envelopes produced the delay, he said.

Gillis predicted a larger turnout in the November election, but declined to give a figure.

"It's too early to say," said Gillis, "I don't know what interest will be generated."

In the Democratic primary, incumbent Michael Dukakis, with no opposition in his party, drew 5,884 votes. There were 2,698 blanks.

Republican voters gave Gregory S. Hyatt 446 votes for the governor's seat, State Rep. Royall H. Switzer, 282 votes, and Wayland businessman George Kariotis, 161 write-in votes.

Both Hyatt and Switzer have withdrawn from the race.

In the lieutenant governor's race, Democrats gave former state Secretary of Environmental and Economic Affairs Evelyn F. Murphy 4,827 votes and state Sen. Gerard D'Amico, 3,162.

Republicans gave Nicholas M. Nikitas 901 votes for that position in which he was unopposed.

In the Democratic attorney general's race, former Congressman James Shannon defeated former assistant attorney general Jo Ann Shotwell by 5,415 to 2,331.

Edward F. Harrington, who was unopposed, drew 990 votes for that position from Republicans.

Also unopposed was Democrat Michael J. Connolly who received 6,371 votes for secretary of state.

Republican Deborah R.

Cochran won 876 votes for that position.

Treasurer Robert Q. Crane drew 5,408 votes from Democrats.

Republicans gave L. Joyce Hampers 927 votes for that position.

In the Democratic auditors race, A. Joseph DeNucci received 4,058 votes, Maura A. Hennigan, 2,925, and Charles C. Yancey, 622.

Republicans voting for auditor gave Andrew S. Natsios 399 votes to William "Bill" Robinson's 643 votes.

Cong. Brian J. Donnelly easily topped opponent David J. Peterson by a vote of 6,552 to 1,382.

The following Democratic candidates, with no opposition, received the specified number of votes: Councillor Peter L. Eeley, 5,883; Sen. Paul D. Harold, 6,786; Rep. Thomas F. Brownell, 2,877; Rep. Robert A. Cerasoli, 1,234; and Rep. Michael Morrissey, 2,627; Dist. Atty. William D. Delahunt, 6,287; Sheriff Clifford H. Marshall, 6,234; County Commissioner David C. Ahearn, 5,535; and Treasurer Daniel G. Raymond, 6,340.

Quincy's Yesterdays

Granite Railroad Closes After 114 Years

Some 114 years of rail service for West Quincy and Montclair residents ended Saturday night when the Granite branch of the Old Colony Railroad was shut down.

New Haven Railroad officials exercised powers given them by the state public utilities commission to abandon all passenger service over the line.

The Granite branch was the oldest railroad in America, organized by Gridley Bryant to transport granite for the Bunker Hill Monument, from the West Quincy quarry to the Neponset River.

LEGIONNAIRES HOST GIANT CLAM BAKE

Quincy's three Legion posts hosted a huge clam bake at Pagant Field for delegates at the American Legion's National Convention in Boston. Arrangements to feed the 700 guests was directed by James Donovan of the Morrisette Post. Thirty Legionnaires and 45 members of the auxiliary served as waiters and waitresses. Over the weekend, more than 50,000 spectators jammed Quincy Square to view the Legion's drum and bugle competition parade.

GARBAGE COLLECTION DELAY EXPLAINED

Mr. Hultin, president of the Quincy Employees Relief Association addressed the City Council to explain that the delay in the collection of the city's garbage was caused by the lack of city equipment. He said that a few years ago there were 14 garbage trucks, and now there were only 11. It was thus impossible to make 2 collections throughout the city. He also noted that collection of ashes suffered because of the truck shortage.

DEMOCRATS PLAN FOR UPCOMING ELECTION

The Democratic City Committee met in the Shaw Building to plan for the upcoming election. Mrs. Mary Shipsey, chairman of the registration committee reported good results in recent efforts to enroll Democratic voters. She said a city-wide canvas of voters would be made in co-operation with the Dever for Governor Committee. Timothy Daly, Robert Veronesse and Elizabeth McConarty were named to the publicity committee.

McGrath Requests Wollaston School Reopening

In response to McGrath's request, Mayor Francis McCauley said "the matter is under continuing review."

McCauley said that he asked School Supt. John Osterman to update the figures for the elementary and middle school populations.

"The superintendent reaffirmed reopening the Wollaston School in September, 1987, and closing the Sterling Middle School," McCauley said.

At McCauley's request, a public hearing concerning funding for the reopening of the Wollaston School will be held Wednesday, Oct. 1, at 7 p.m. at the Quincy High School Method Center, he said.

All concerned citizens are urged to attend.

Crime Watch

By ROBERT HANNA
Crime Prevention Officer
Quincy Police Department

7th, 8th Graders And Drugs

In November of 1984, the Massachusetts Department of Public Health, Division of Alcohol Rehabilitation, published a report on drug and alcohol use among high school students in Massachusetts.

The results in the report were based on a survey conducted among secondary school students across the Commonwealth in September and October of 1984. The following comes directly from that report.

Lifetime, Past Year and Current Prevalence (of drug use among seventh and eighth graders)

- 63% of the respondents have used alcohol in their lifetimes. 49% have used it in the past and 25% are current users.
- 18% have used inhalants in their lifetime. 12% have used them in the past year and 8% are current users.
- 15% have used marijuana in their lifetime. 9% have used it in the past year and 5% are current users.
- 10% have used amphetamines in their lifetime. 7% have used them in the past year and 2% are current users.
- 7% have used tranquilizers in their lifetime. 3% have used them in the past year and 2% are current users.
- 6% have used cocaine in their lifetime. 2% have used it in the past year and 1% are current users.
- 48% have used cigarettes in their lifetime and 21% are current users.

Seventh and eighth graders' use of other drugs for which information was requested (psychedelics, narcotics other than heroin, barbiturates, LSD, quaaludes and heroin) was less than 5%.

As a result of these staggering figures of drug use in secondary schools, the Quincy Police have instituted a DRUG INFORMATION LINE. The purpose of the Drug Information Line is to gather information on drug use and drug trafficking in the City of Quincy.

The Drug Information Line is a 24-hour number. The Drug Information Line will be staffed by professional Quincy Police narcotic officers. If a narcotics officer is not available you may reach a recording that you can leave a message on.

If you have any information about drug use or drug trafficking in Quincy call 328-4527. You will not be required to identify yourself.

*From "Massachusetts Secondary School Students Drug and Alcohol Use" by The Massachusetts Department of Public Health, Feb. 15, 1985.

The information contained in the following condensed version of the Quincy Police journal is intended to make citizens aware of crimes that may be happening in their neighborhoods...

Church News

United First Parish Calls New Minister

The congregation of United First Parish Church (Unitarian), Quincy Sq. has voted to call Dr. Sheldon W. Bennett to serve as its new minister.

Dr. Bennett comes to ministry with a professional background in science and business management. He is a former member of First and Second Church in Boston, Unitarian-Universalist, where he served as chairman of the governing board, and is a graduate of Harvard Divinity School, with a Master of Divinity degree, received in 1986.

Born in 1942 in Seattle, Wash., he graduated from the University of Washington in 1964, earned a Ph.D. in physics from Columbia University in New York in 1970, and served on the faculty of Harvard University from 1968 to 1971, where he was Assistant Professor of Physics. Leaving the academic world, Dr. Bennett then pursued a career in construction project management and then management consulting, and earned a master of business administration, at night, from Boston University in 1981.

Dr. Bennett's comments on his future ministry:

"We live in a terribly exciting, yet very dangerous new age. Our world is now a global city, but of too often warring neighborhoods. We possess wonderful knowledge for the building of a more humane world, but our terrible technical power is too often unmatched by compassion and understanding, either for people or for nature. We are striving to lead our lives and raise our families in an age of rapid change.

"I believe that the principles of our Unitarian-Universalist religious tradition—individual freedom of conscience, the inherent worth and dignity of each person, and the free and responsible search for truth and meaning—offer a vision of hope, promise and peace for our lives, our communities, and the world.

United First Parish Church will continue to serve the city of Quincy as a leader in religious freedom, civic responsibility, and the promotion of spiritual and moral values. We will continue to stand for principles of human dignity, social justice and compassion, and respect for the differences between peoples, differences which can so enrich our lives but which too often lead to misunderstanding, injustice and strife. We will continue in our lives to strive to build better homes, better communities, and a better world."

Dr. Bennett is married to the former Molly Mattfield, a poet and religious educator. They have two daughters, Gabrielle and Elizabeth. He also has two older daughters, Marta and Erin, by a previous marriage.

Dr. Cynthia J. Edson will continue to serve as interim minister until Dr. Bennett assumes his duties later this fall.

Heavenly Airlift

HEAVENLY AIRLIFT—Reverends Carol and Fred Atwood-Lyon of Quincy Point Congregational Church joined parishioners in a missionary outreach program by tagging balloons with invitations for the finder to come to church. Some 150 of them were airlifted during the observance, Sept. 7, of Family Sunday at the Church. Soaring balloons dominate the sky over Southern Artery with their religious messages.

'For The Love Of Money' Bethany Sermon

There will be two worship services Sunday in Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Center, at 9 a.m. in the chapel and 10 a.m. in the sanctuary.

The Rev. Joel F. Huntington, associate minister, will preach the sermon at both services on the subject, "For the Love of Money," based on scriptural texts from Luke 16:19-31 and 1 Timothy 6:6-16. The lay scripture readers will be Robert L. Lockwood for the early service and Jean Ann MacLain for the late service.

During the 10 a.m. service, the sacrament of Christian Baptism will be given to Kayla Jean Fernandez, daughter of Eugene J. Fernandez and Lynne M. (Elias) Fernandez. Godparents are Joseph and Maryann Fernandez.

At the sanctuary service, the Chancel Choir under the direction of Peter E. Krasinski, organist, will sing as the offertory, "O Praise God in His Sanctuary" by Hunnicutt. Paul David Johnson, baritone soloist, will sing Kurt Kaiser's composition, "In His Love and in His Pity."

The worship service will be broadcast live at 10 a.m. over station WJDA, 1300 kc.

Sunday School will be in session from 10 to 11 a.m. with classes for pre-school through eighth grade. Nursery care will be provided for babies and toddlers. New children may be enrolled in their classroom on Sunday.

At 11 a.m. Sunday, following the worship service, there will be a fellowship hour in the Allen Parlor, during which time a reception will be held honoring Thelma R. Bornemann, on her retirement as the Bethany Church secretary for 13 years.

At 7 p.m. Sunday evening, there will be a gathering in the Allen Parlor to discuss "Peace Issues." Rev. Frank Dorman, on the staff of the Harvard Divinity School, will be the discussion leader.

On Wednesday evening, Oct. 1, from 7:30 to 9 p.m. Pastor Arnold will begin a seventh week of Bible study on "The Covenant, Part II," in room 3 of the Parish House. This course is free and open to the public.

For information concerning Bethany's ministries and programs, please contact the church office at 479-7300.

Bible Study Featured At Squantum Church

Bible study in small groups was featured Sunday morning during the early service at the First Church of Squantum.

As part of the sermon, the congregation was sub-divided into small study groups to work on the story of the rich young ruler found in the gospel of Mark.

Lori Ogilvie gave the call to worship. Sarah Mildram and Scott Catton assisted the pastor, the Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, in presenting a play based on the scripture. Karen Reister and Bonnie MacRitchie served as the ushers. The hymns were accompanied by guitarists Andy Ogilvie, Mary Ruth Scott, David Williams and Robert Dixey. Ruth Swenson was in charge of the refreshments.

In the traditional service later in the morning, Dr. Langevin preached on the subject, "Steadfast in the Lord."

Grace Holmes gave the call to worship in that service.

Robert Dixey and Barbara Edgar led the opening prayer. For the offertory anthem, the Chancel Choir under the direction of Mary Ruth Scott sang Franz Schubert's "Sanctus."

Greeters for the morning were May Lewis and Hazel Mayne. The ushers were Tore Wallin and Ralph Dougherty.

Ruth Westerbeke and Barbara Anderson hosted the Fellowship Hour after the service.

This Sunday, there will be two services: the guitar service at 8:30 a.m. and the traditional service at 10:30 a.m. The nominating committee will meet at 7:30 p.m. Sunday night.

Protestant Social Service Bureau Needs Phone-A-Thon Volunteers

Volunteers are needed for Protestant Social Service Bureau's annual Phone-A-thon, Sept. 29 through Oct. 2, from 6:30 to 9 p.m.

Twelve to 15 volunteers per evening are requested for phoning and miscellaneous clerical work at a North Quincy location. Rev. Thomas Martin of Weymouth, this year's Phone-A-thon chairman, will be organizing the event. Interested volunteers and donors can phone him at 335-8504.

Protestant Social Service Bureau (PSSB) is a Quincy-based non-profit child and family service organization serving the South Shore. Among the programs offered are counseling, foster care and adoption. The Bureau, which this year celebrates its 40th year of service, is supported by Protestant churches in ten South Shore communities.

Mary Brelsford S.S. Coalition's 'Citizen Of The Year'

SUMMER INTERN -- Richard Wilson, 184 North Central Ave., Wollaston, recently completed an eight-week summer internship at the State House office of Sen. Paul Harold. Wilson reviews legislation with Harold in the senate chamber at the State House. A graduate of Boston College High School, he will attend Georgetown University in the fall.

Women's Gym And Fitness Classes At Lincoln Hancock

Recreation Director Barry J. Welch announces the Quincy Recreation Department will conduct Women's Gym Swim Exercise Classes Tuesday and Thursday evenings at the Lincoln Hancock Community School. The program, supervised by Sarah Cobban, will begin Tuesday, Sept. 29. The schedule for each evening is: 7 - 8 p.m. Supervised Exercise in the gym; 8 - 9 p.m. Optional Softball pool located in same building or continued use of gym for activities such as volleyball, or jogging.

Cost of the program is $2 per visit or $15 for a three month period. Registration is ongoing on the evening of the programs.

For additional information, contact the Quincy Recreation Department at 773-1380 ext. 204.

The South Shore Coalition for Human Rights will award its seventh annual "Citizen of the Year Award" to Mary I. Brelsford, director of community programs for the Quincy Community Action Organization.

The event will be held Oct. 1 at 8 p.m. at First Parish Church, Unitarian, Universalist, Quincy Sq.

Brelsford has been director of Community Programs for the Quincy Community Action Organization for more than eight years. Among the issues she has worked on are, the starting of the emergency free kitchen which has evolved into the Quincy Free Restaurant; job training for women; assisting people to remain in their homes or the homeless to obtain new housing; affirmative action, including the placement of numerous racial minorities in housing; and a campership program a senior citizens club; and also began a successful effort to provide nutritious hot meals to residents at the Long Island Shelter.

Past recipients of the Coalition's Citizens of the Year Award are Peter O'Connell, president of O'Connell Bros. Construction Co.; Rosemary Wahlberg, executive director of Quincy Community Action Organization; David Harris, president of the Randolph Fair Practices Committee; William Delahunt, Norfolk County District Attorney; Albert Kramer, presiding Justice of the Quincy District Court; and Vincent Hagerly, principal of the Seach School in Weymouth.

Kathy Mainzer, director of the Coalition for the Homeless, and Lew Finer, former co-director of the Massachusetts Tenants Organization will speak.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

"Responsibility" . . . some people think this is a good word to run from. For responsibility demands time, energy, and sometimes a good "set of nerves."

Yet we realize that it is only as man takes a responsible attitude toward God, his home, and his country, that he will be able to live in peace, not only with himself, but with those about him.

Man's first responsibility lies with God for it is God to whom he must give an account for his actions on earth.

The responsibility in the home must be seriously considered. Many times parents are more concerned about what their children have on their backs than what is in their hearts. It is true, parents are responsible for the physical welfare of their children, but they are also responsible to direct and guide their children to greater heights both intellectually and spiritually.

Responsibility toward one's community is important. Many people desire a free-country, a fine and wholesome community, adequate schools and good churches, but when the burden of responsibility is laid in their laps, they quickly stand and run . . .

Are you a responsible person?

Substance Abuse Seminar At NQHS Auditorium

Parents from across the city as well as interested citizens are invited to attend a two-part Substance Abuse Seminar Oct. 1 and 8, 7:30 to 9 p.m. at the North Quincy High School auditorium.

According to John W. Mahoney, Social Health Coordinator for the Quincy Public Schools, the program will cover three areas:

prevention, detection and treatment.

There will be a presentation of primary, secondary and tertiary programs that have proven successful and serve as models in the community, Mahoney said.

The seminar will also cover, "What are the signs of use and abuse?" "What are the responsibilities of each actor—parent, teacher and law enforcement personnel?" "Police School Relations," presentation and discussion of major issues affecting police school relations.

The group will also discuss the alternative treatment programs in the Quincy area, as well as the Department of Social Services, Survival, Inc., South Shore Council on Alcoholism and Spofford Hall.

School Closing Topic For Sterling PTO

The Rev. F. Sterling Middle School P.T.O. will meet Wednesday, Sept. 24, at 7:30 p.m. at the school.

The group will discuss the recommendation to close

Sterling Middle School and to public hearing Oct. 1, to be held by the School Committee.

Mayor Will Not Reopen Upgrading Process

received a letter from an individual whose name was not given, who found the instructions for applying ambiguous. "I think the individual has a legitimate concern, a legitimate problem," Sheets said.

In a written summary of the upgrading process, union officials explained that joint study committees comprised of two union and two city representatives reviewed applications and upon the vote of three members made recommendations to the mayor. Fifty-two upgrades were negotiated, according to the union.

"Unfortunately, a few employees who were not upgraded are now trying to discredit the process.

"Some of them claim lack of notice . . . A total of four notices was sent to all bargaining unit members," stated the union.

Union member Mildred Kusser, who was a member of a joint study committee for upgrades, said vehemently that "everyone, barring none, had ample notification."

Councillor John J. Lydon reiterated his request of last week that the mayor open up the upgrading process.

"I know people were legitimately left out who just didn't know," said Lydon, who explained last week that he had heard from about a dozen people who complained about the process.

"I'm not finding fault with the selection committee, but I'm concerned that some people feel that they were not treated fairly.

"I think the mayor should open up the process and give these people a shot."

Councillor Patricia Ioland, who seconded Lydon's motion, said there was some confusion with the instructions for applying for upgrades.

However, she said she was concerned that those who were already approved for upgrading retain that status.

Lydon noted that those who were already given an upgrade were not in jeopardy.

Upon questioning by councillors, the city's labor negotiator David Grunbaum said that it would present a problem if the mayor reopened the process because it would "violate the duty to bargain in good faith."

Councillor Michael Cheney said that the committee did an "outstanding job" and noted the next round of labor negotiations will begin in February.

Cheney said he didn't vote to reopen the process because those who feel they were not treated properly can go through a grievance procedure.

"To reopen the process would be a reflection on the committee that they did something wrong, and they didn't," Cheney said.

Councillor Thomas Nutley said he didn't vote for the motion because there wasn't a great outcry of complaints from union members.

However, Nutley did say that he was "really concerned" that the police upgrades were being put aside.

The committee also voted unanimously to recommend that the City Council pass an ordinance change for the upgrades.

BURGLAR-PROOF SLIDING DOORS

QUESTION: We have a large sliding glass door to the outside. A weak Chimpanzee could snap the chintzy lock they put on these doors. How can the slider be burglar-proofed?

ANSWER: Cut a length of dowel (or broom handle) the right length and lay it in the track between the door and the opposite jamb. No way that sliding door can be slid without removing this wedge.

The groove at the top is twice as deep as the one on the bottom for easy removal. Foil this by cutting a piece of wood slightly less thick than the depth of the lower groove. Screw it into the upper groove over the door when it's in locked position. Now, the door can't be lifted out unless it is opened all the way.

BURGLAR-PROOFING sliding glass doors is important when leaving a home unoccupied.

In Sun Spotlight Flavin & Flavin Quincy Center Tradition For Over 60 Years

By DAN CONNELLY

Ever since 1925 there has been a Flavin & Flavin Insurance and Real Estate office in Quincy Center, which is why today this firm at 1085 Hancock St. is a big part of that professional business on the South Shore.

The odyssey of this family-owned business was rooted over 62 years ago when Mrs. Hanna Flavin urged her two oldest sons, John and James, to merge their professions.

At that time, John was a realtor for Blinn & Blinn of Wollaston. James sold insurance for Metropolitan Life.

In the spring of 1925 the sign for Flavin & Flavin went up on the Lincoln Building in Quincy Center. A year later, they relocated to the Mutual Building. In 1948, Flavin & Flavin moved to the present address.

During those growth years family members came into the business, each leaving an indelible impression.

But none more than Edward M. Flavin, who in 1925 at age 17 joined the firm. Today he still maintains a desk there, a viable asset to the business at age 78.

As in its past, the firm today is still composed of family members. Brothers Edward and John, and cousin Marguerite Flavin, she joined the firm last July.

Like the rest of the family,

Marguerite grew up in Quincy, attended the city's public school system, and was graduated from Jeanne D'Arc Academy and Regis College. She holds a masters degree from Boston University, and has been a licensed real estate broker since 1970.

Like their dad, Edward P. and John P. can sum up their firm's way of doing business in two words: quality, service.

FLAVIN & FLAVIN has been a Quincy Center tradition for over 60 years and one of the reasons is Edward M. Flavin, shown here, who joined the firm at age 17 in 1925 and has played a key role in the firm's success since.

'These Lights Now Belong To The Youth Of Quincy'

"These lights now belong to the youth of Quincy."

These were the words of Bob Meehan, chairman of the Veterans Memorial Stadium lighting committee, as he handed the keys to the switch box to Supt. of Schools John Osterman before the first game under the permanent lights last Friday night.

"It was a lot of work but, thanks to the dedication and hard work of our committee and the contributions by businesses and unions who donated the labor, we have achieved our goal," said Meenan. "May the lights shine forever in Quincy. The lights are a celebration of Quincy youth and the future."

Bill Barron of the Quincy Firefighters Association presented a check for $500 and other contributors were Mary Sullivan and Patricia Halliday, and Alfred A. Salvoni Jr., $100 each; Francis and Sylvia Sandra, Evelyn McArdle, Marlene and David Sommers, Francis and Marion Minton, and Howard and Joan Kavanaugh.

Prior to the ceremonies, a check for $1000 was presented to Meenan by the George Bryan VFW Post.

To open the pre-game ceremonies, all the players and cheerleaders of the five Youth Football League teams marched on to the field led by the North Quincy cheerleaders. The North Quincy and Milton football squads, who played the first game under the lights, joined the youth league teams as did the Quincy High players.

Meenan introduced members of the lighting committee, major contributors and representatives of businesses and unions who donated the labor. They were driven onto the field in two limousines donated by the Unicorn Limousine Co.

The captains of the North Quincy and Quincy football teams and the youth league teams and cheerleaders all took part in the official lighting of the Veterans Memorial Stadium permanent lights.

Meenan then presented the keys to the switch box to Supt. Osterman and the North Quincy-Milton game went on.

In addition to high school football, the lights will enable schoolboy track, soccer and youth teams to play at night when many more people can watch them than in the afternoon.

Meenan announced that pledges are still being received and stressed that contributions are still needed.

The lighting committee thanked city workers for all their work in preparing the stadium for the opening games, especially Tom Picard, Nick Marsney, Bill LaForest and Dennis Fitzebbin.

Comdr. Richard Guppy of Bryan Post VFW and Henry Bradley, past commander of Morrisette Legion post, raised the flag.

Presidents Seek Second Win Against Brookline Here Saturday Night

By TOM SULLIVAN

With time running out on Quincy's football team last Saturday night at Veterans Memorial Stadium, it appeared the Presidents were about to lose another toughie to Cambridge Rindge and Latin and suffer their 11th loss in a row including 0-10 last fall.

But, with 57 seconds remaining and Cambridge leading 14-8, Quincy, which had failed to capitalize on earlier scoring chances, tied the score on a pass from Steve Austin to Steve Gardner.

And, then an unexpected hero came to the fore when Mark Farrand, who had begun practicing kicking only the day before, booted the winning point as Quincy came out with a dramatic 15-14 Suburban League victory.

The win should be a big morale booster for the Presidents, who host league rival Brookline Saturday at 7 p.m. at the stadium. The game was originally scheduled for Friday night, but Brookline played Sunday and asked Quincy officials for an extra day off before facing Quincy. Brookline opened last Sunday and lost to Wellesley, 15-8.

"This is just a great victory, one of my biggest," said an elated Head Coach Jack Raymer. "This is a real good Cambridge team and was rated a real darkhorse in the league. Cambridge has 14 returning starters and 14 other lettermen. Our kids just wouldn't quit. They could have quit when Cambridge scored after time ran out in the first half to tie us, but they stayed in there and did a great job."

"Joe Cardarelli (114 yards)

did a marvelous job at fullback in his first game ever. Joe Innello (70 yards) also ran well and played strong defense. The entire defense did a fine job and we gave the game ball to defensive coach John Taglieri, who did a wonderful job getting the defense prepared."

"Their fine running back (Lance) Dotten is one of the best I've seen outside of Brockton's Greg McMurtry (now a freshman at Michigan). We didn't really stop him, but we contained him and came up with the big plays when we had to."

Dotten gained 117 yards and had a 68-yard touchdown run nullified by one of Cambridge's many devastating penalties. Another run by Nuno Demello for 75 yards to Quincy's five was also voided by a penalty.

"We really needed this win," said Taglieri. "If we had lost for the 11th time in a row, there is no telling what would have happened the rest of the way. But now the boys are sky high and I think we will do all right."

Raymer had good words for quarterback Austin for the way he ran the club. Although he passed for only 38 yards and had two interceptions, he threw the big touchdown pass to tie the game and also passed for two vital extra points.

The coach also praised Dennis DeCoste, Norm Hassan, Rik Smith, Dave Savage, Frank Calabro, Steve Picarski, Jeff Sprague and Steve Gardner on offense.

Raymer hailed the defensive efforts of Picarski, DeCoste, Calabro, Innello, Cardarelli, Savage, Mike Eastwick, sophomore Todd Kimmell, playing his first game; Jay Dennett, Chris Maskey and Ernie Light.

Quincy received the opening kickoff and started out well but Cambridge intercepted a pass on Quincy's 34. Quincy soon regained possession when it recovered a fumble and a pass from Austin to Cardarelli put the Presidents on Cambridge's 37. Cardarelli ripped off 14 yards and he and Innello went to Cambridge's nine. However, the Warriors pushed the Presidents back and took over on their 20.

On the first play Demello made his 75-yard run to Quincy's five, but the play was called back.

Light recovered a fumble on the Cambridge 48 and the Presidents, led by Cardarelli and Innello, drove to a touchdown. Innello skirted left end for three yards and the score on fourth down and Austin's pass to Gardner put Quincy up, 8-0.

Two plays following the kickoff Dotten galloped 68 yards for an apparent score, but again a penalty nullified the run. Cambridge marched to Quincy's nine with seven seconds left in the half. It appeared Quincy would hold, but a pass interference penalty gave Cambridge the ball on the three. Time had run out but the half cannot end on a defensive penalty and the Warriors got another play. Dotten scored and he caught a pass from Dennis Vigilante for the two tying points.

Late in the third quarter a Cambridge punt pushed Quincy back to its five. Quincy was held and a punt went only to the Presidents'

33. Quincy held and regained possession, but a pass was intercepted on Quincy's 37 and Marino Carreiro raced around left end and went the distance. The try for points failed.

Quincy got another chance midway in the final quarter when it recovered a fumble on Cambridge's 35 with 3:24 left. The Presidents then scored their dramatic tying touchdown and Farrand kicked the winning point to emerge a hero.

It still wasn't over as Cambridge reached its 40 on a 29-yard run by Dotten. Another key penalty foiled the Warriors as Wally Clark raced to the Quincy 35 only to have it voided and Quincy had its cherished win.

Cambridge out-rushed Quincy, 196 net yards to 165. Austin was five for 11 passing for 38 yards and Cambridge threw just two passes, one completed for 27 yards. Quincy had 12 first downs to seven for Cambridge.

English Visitors Root For Quincy

Saturday night's Quincy-Cambridge Rindge and Latin football game at Veterans Memorial Stadium had an international flavor.

Watching the game from the press box were Athletic Coordinator Marty Finnegan's uncle, Tim Mitchell, 74, and his first cousin, Martin Mitchell, from London, England.

"This is their first visit to the United States and it is the first time I had met them," said Finnegan. "They are visiting my uncle John in Portland, Me., and it was the first time they also had seen each other. We are planning a big day Sunday for all of them at our house."

The English visitors enjoyed Quincy's big win and commented on how different American football is from the English version.

"We have seen a little American football on the telly," said Martin Mitchell.

Manets Sink Sailors For Second Shutout

The Houghs Neck Manets blanked the Squantum Sailors, 12-0, Sunday at Veterans Memorial Stadium for their second straight Quincy Youth Football League victory.

Next Sunday the Manets will play the Quincy Point Panthers at 1 p.m. and the West Quincy Elks will face the Sailors at 2:30.

The Manets, in gaining their second shutout win in a row, again displayed a powerful defense led by defensive captain Mark Bogan.

The Manet secondary allowed just one completion in 12 attempts and sacked the Sailor quarterback twice. Against the run the Manets were equally impressive, giving up no yardage.

The Manets' new defensive coordinator Steve Craig credited the success to the strong play of Jeff Currie, Jim Fidler, Allen Spaur and Chris Nichol.

The Manets, led by Rich McDonald, gained 104 yards on the ground, scoring on their first possession on a 17-yard run by Bogan.

In the third quarter McDonald scrambled 20 yards for the second score.

Offensive coordinator was pleased with the performance of Eric Westhaver in short yardage situations.

18-0 win over the Elks, Bogan ran 48 yards for a touchdown, McDonald scored another and threw a 20-yard touchdown pass to tight end Tom Fratolillo.

Currie recovered three fumbles and the defense forced seven Elk turnovers, including fumble recoveries by Spaur and David Chapman and interceptions by Chad McMahon and McDonald. The Manets' jayvees saw action in the second half and were led by quarterback Robbie Kane and Bob Stanton.

At 84, He's Trying To Get Wrestling In Middle Schools

The Quincy School Committee recently approved the return of interscholastic basketball in the middle schools and now Joe Streadwick, 84 years young and a Quincy High assistant coach for 10 years, is trying to bring back wrestling to the middle schools.

Quincy had an excellent junior high sports program until the implementation of Prop 2½ several years ago forced the dropping of all junior high sports.

The ending of the junior high sports programs made it difficult for the high school coaches. Whereas boys and girls entering high school while the junior high programs were operating had the fundamentals and worked easily into the high school programs, they now enter high school without any previous experience and start from scratch since the junior high programs were dropped.

"I think wrestling should be brought back in the middle schools," Streadwick, who has coached for years at Quincy YMCA and is a former standout wrestler himself, said.

"It's a wonderful sport and is the most inexpensive one. The schools already have mats and the only expense would be paying the coaches. Many of Quincy's former wrestlers would love to coach in the middle schools."

At the last School Committee meeting members of the high school wrestling team wearing their "men at work" tags were among 40 who attended to seek the return of middle school wrestling.

"I'm trying to get as many people as possible to attend the next School Committee meeting Oct. 1," said Streadwick. "I invite anyone interested to join us at the meeting."

Also seeking the return of wrestling is former Quincy high wrestler and wrestling coach Tim Cahill.

"It helps build young people into mature citizens," he said. "Quincy's high school teams have gone from the top of the heap in competition to also-rans because wrestling programs in the lower grades have been wiped out."

"Last year we had 20 boys on the Quincy squad who knew nothing about wrestling," said Streadwick. "When we had the excellent junior high program, the boys were experienced when going to high school, a big reason for the tremendous success of the teams.

"Frank Anselmo is backing us 100 per cent. He said the city is in the midst of an economic boom and was sure the mayor could find the money to finance the sport. I can't understand why they are closing and selling so many of our schools. They must know that eventually they are going to have to reopen some. Why not concentrate more on helping youngsters?"

"I'm not seeking the revival of middle school wrestling just for the sport. It builds bodies and is great training for boys 10 and up."

Streadwick pointed out that not many know that for 20 years he paid half the membership fee for any boy wanting to join the YMCA. "If a boy had a sister wanting to join, I also paid half her membership fee," he said.

"My wife and I were not blessed with children and my wife was delighted to see me help boys and girls in that way."

Streadwick is starting a fitness program at Quincy Vo-Tech in a week and invites any boy to come out and work with him.

"I will be in the Vo-Tech wrestling room every day at 3 p.m. and will help anyone interested in a fitness program. Marty Finnegan (athletic coordinator) is all in favor of the program and I am hoping for a good turnout."

It is hoped by most that eventually all sports will be revived in the middle schools. The high school coaches in particular are hoping it will come about. All high school sports have suffered considerably since the dropping of the junior high sports.

Kessinger Wins Home Run Race

Duxbury's John Kessinger won the seventh annual Home Run Road Race at Veterans Memorial Stadium in a time of 30.54.

The race, postponed from an August date due to severe weather, was run under overcast skies with 148 starters, including three wheelchair participants.

The first Quincy finisher was John Hanna in sixth place behind Eamonn Condon of Ireland. The first woman finisher was Trina Kirby of Plympton. The wheelchair winner was Jack Coakley.

The race's major sponsor, the Wollaston Credit Union, will donate all proceeds to the Quincy Youth Commission Group Homes.

Prizes were awarded by youth coordinator Brian Buckley immediately following the race. Members of the committee were Buckley and Tom Stansbury of the youth commission, Sherry Mele, Gene Healy and Marge Brandt of the Wollaston Credit Union.

The winners by divisions: Male 20-39: 1, John Kessinger, Duxbury; 2, Mike Drummy, Dorchester; 3, Harvey Blonder, Canton.

Female 20-39: 1, Trina Kirby, Plympton; 2, Karen Djerf, Quincy; 3, Carolyn Cuniff, Weymouth.

Wheelchair: Jack Coakley, Mattapan.

15 and under: Steve McCall, Weymouth.

Male 16-19: Todd Elwell, Quincy/Female 16-19: Tricia Barrett, Quincy.

Male 40-49: Richard Higgins, Hingham. Female 40-49: Leila Staunton, Hingham.

Raiders Buckle Down For Arlington

There were many happy people at Veterans Memorial Stadium last Friday night when the North Quincy football team hosted Milton in the first game under the new permanent lights.

But North Coach Ken McPhee wasn't among the happy ones as the Raiders, entering the game with high hopes, were handed a 46-13 drubbing by Milton, which won its sixth straight game over North, before 2500 fans. McPhee, yet to defeat the Wildcats, lost to them for the fifth straight time. It was one of his worst defeats.

North will try and regroup and hopes to rebound when it goes to Arlington Saturday for a 1:30 p.m. game against the Greater Boston League entry, Arlington defeated Burlington, 12-0, in its opener.

"I'm very disappointed as we looked good in our scrimmages and I had high hopes of opening with a win and ending the Milton jinx," said McPhee. "We were just awful and did nothing right. We didn't block or tackle, the offensive line was awful and the defense didn't do its job."

"It is going to be hard to come back from this game, but I feel we will rebound and win some games. We'll just buckle down and work very hard for Arlington."

The North coach had praise for quarterbacks Joe Mulvey and Bobby Sylva, both juniors, who showed they can throw the ball. Although they completed only four passes, each threw a spectacular scoring bomb. Several passes just missed connections. Sophomore Billy McDougall again showed he will be a fine pass receiver.

Sophomore Ryan Craig, Dave Lawless and Paul McCormick, although not gaining much yardage, showed promise of becoming good ground gainers as the season progresses.

Milton, coached by former North assistant Jack Bowes, who has former North head coach Dave Burke as an aide, received brilliant performances from quarterback Steve Harrington and Glenn Aylward.

Harrington gained 131 yards on seven carries, scored three touchdowns and threw an 81-yard touchdown bomb as Milton gained 269 yards on the ground and 94 yards passing. Aylward gained 101 yards on 11 carries and scored a touchdown.

North Quincy gained 78 yards on the ground and, thanks to the two long bombs, had 200 yards through the air. Milton had eight first downs and North five.

Milton got its first chance midway in the first quarter when it recovered a North fumble on the Raider 31. Two plays later Harrington went around left end for 26 yards and his first score.

On the last play of the quarter North's Tom Casey punted to the Raider 46 and on the first play of the second quarter Aylward went the distance to make it 12-0.

A few minutes later Milton's Paul O'Donnell blocked a Casey punt, picked it up and scored to put the Wildcats ahead, 18-0.

Harrington broke loose for a 63-yard run all the way to North's four-yard line, but a clipping penalty pushed Milton back and Harrington was credited with a 46-yard run.

North went on the board when Mulvey threw a beautiful pass to McDougall, who raced about 50 yards to complete an 80-yard scoring play. The try for extra point was foiled when the holder fumbled the pass from center.

Milton came back and kicked off four first downs to reach North's two. Harrington scored on a quarterback sneak. He passed to Pat Flaherty for the two-point conversion.

North received a tough break early in the second half. Following a Milton punt, Lawless completed a 27-yard option pass to Casey to Milton's 12. Lawless, carrying half the Milton team on his back, powered his way to the one but fumbled, Milton recovering. McPhee felt he was in the end zone, but the officials ruled otherwise.

A North pass was intercepted by Harrington, but he fumbled and the Raiders got the ball back on Milton's 20. The Wildcats held and took over on their 19.

A few plays later Harrington threw long to Flaherty, who just beat the defender and raced 40 yards to complete an 81-yard scoring play.

Harrington finished off a spectacular night when he raced 52 yards but fell on the North two. He then went over to complete his hat trick. Flaherty kicked the point.

Milton's Jim Keegan fell on a North fumble on the Raider nine and Sean Keohan ended Milton's scoring with a three-yard burst. Flaherty again kicked the point.

Another spectacular bomb, this one from Sylva to McCormick, covering 75 yards, gave North its second touchdown and Steve Patch kicked the extra point.

Curry Bows To Plymouth State

The Curry College football team, after opening with an impressive 38-21 win over Bridgewater State, found that Plymouth State, despite the loss of North Quincy's Joe Dudek, will again be a power in the New England Conference as the Colonels bowed, 25-7, last Saturday.

"This was one of our biggest games of the year," said Curry coach John ("Duffy") Doherty. "This is still a very good Plymouth team, even without Dudek." Curry hasn't beaten Plymouth State since 1977.

Curry is again led by its outstanding quarterback, Bob Barrett of Quincy. Also playing for the Colonels are Jerry Martin, Al DiBella, Kevin Kelly and his brother Steve, all of North Quincy. Steve Kelly started at the University of New Hampshire, but transferred to Curry.

North Dedicates Game To Sarah-Marie Gregory

The North Quincy football team dedicated its opening game last Friday night with Milton to the memory of 17-year-old Sarah-Marie Gregory, a North senior who died last week of cancer.

A moment of silence was observed at Veterans Memorial Stadium prior to the ceremonies preceding the official lighting of the stadium's permanent lights.

Walker Keynote Speaker

Jackets Presented At Morrisette Baseball Dinner

Jimmy Walker, an outstanding southpaw pitcher for the Morrisette Legion baseball teams of 1970, '71 and '72 who pitched for Quincy High and Northeastern University, was the principal speaker at the annual dinner for the 1986 team sponsored by Morrisette Post at the post home.

"Playing for Morrisette did a lot for me and I gained a lot of confidence which has helped me in my profession (he is a sales representative who travels throughout the country for the Johnson and Johnson Co.)," he said. "You have a wonderful tradition here. You boys did an excellent job this past season and, now that I'm back in this area after several years, I hope to help out the Morrisette Program. Morrisette gave me a lot and I hope to give something back."

Coach Ray Cattaneo, who has coached Morrisette for 17 years and said he plans to continue for a few more seasons, was the toastmaster and introduced the head table guests, Comdr. Charles Brooks, athletic officer Frank Osborne, scorer and statistician Richard 'Berger' Ryan, assistant coaches Bill Cochrane, Dave Perdios and Bob Biagini, former state Rep. Joe Brett, the team's number one booster, and Tom Sullivan of The Quincy Sun.

Cattaneo also introduced the other post officers and the many parents and others who have helped the program through the years.

He also introduced Cochrane, who has been Cattaneo's assistant coach throughout the 17 years, who is retiring. Cochrane spoke briefly, thanking the players and coaches who helped him for the past 17 years. Another longtime Cattaneo assistant, Connie Carozzi, retired earlier after coaching Legion ball for more than 30 years at Morrisette, Quincy and Abington posts.

"Dave Perdios and Bob Biagini, who made their debuts as assistants this year, will continue with me and Mike Marshall, who played for me as did Perdios and Biagini, will take over as an assistant next season," Cattaneo said. "I know our winning tradition (Cattaneo has never had a losing season) will continue with these fine young coaches."

Boland gave the invocation. Jackets and team pictures were presented to the players and coaches as well as Brooks, Osborne and Ryan.

Ryan compiled the team statistics for the season in which Morrisette won its last seven games but missed qualifying for the state tournament by one game. Morrisette has won 24 Zone 6 championships. John Cristiani had an outstanding season, pitching 502 1/3 innings, completing six of his eight starts for a 6-1 record and allowing only nine earned runs, giving up 36 hits, walking 26 and striking out 81. At bat he was team co-leader with 17 runs scored, led with 21 hits, four doubles and 17 walks and was second in average at .375. Mike Joyce batted .368 and hit over .500 in the second half of the season. Bob Hunter, although not hitting for average, led the team with 17 runs batted in. Larry Taglieri led the team with a .389 average and Steve Minichiello also scored 17 runs, led the team with four triples and led in stolen bases with seven.

The future looks bright for Morrisette with only Cristiani, Joyce and Hunter leaving.

Returning will be Taglieri, Dan Overby, Rob McDonald, Ron Fletcher, Chris Marshall, Dan Biagini, Minichiello, Chris Ricciuti, Mike Mullaney, Jim Ross, Jay DeBartolo and Ed Flavin.

Powers, Renda NDA X-Country Standouts

Notre Dame Academy of Hingham started an encouraging cross-country season by placing fourth in a meet over the Franklin Park course.

Save Gas and Money

Finishing ahead of Notre Dame were Boston College, Boston University and Northeastern.

Quincy's Mary Beth Powers, a junior, came in 27th out of 55 and freshman Elizabeth Renda of Quincy ran an impressive first race, placing 41st.

The Quincy girls' volleyball team, defending Suburban League champion, swept Newton North in two straight games last Friday to improve its record to 4-0.

Seniors Lauren Standing and Ginny Duggan provided excellent net play and setting in the 16-14, 15-13 wins and freshman Randi Gaura was the top server. It was Newton's first loss in four matches.

Earlier in the week the First Ladies swept Brockton, 15-12, 15-3, as Duggan provided strong service and Amy Guidice did some impressive spiking.

North Quincy improved to 3-0 with a 15-1, 15-4 sweep of Weymouth North.

EXTRA! Quincy Sun Car Care Guide

Pre-Winter Tune-up Should Include Cooling System Inspection

Many motorists wait until the first cold snap to winterize their automobiles.

The result is usually a frantic phone call to their local service station mechanic, who by this time, is already deluged with time-consuming road calls for dead batteries, frozen radiators and various ignition ailments.

To make sure your engine will run properly when it's ten below zero, the Gates Rubber Company has developed an easy-to-perform winterizing tune-up for your car's cooling system, the cause of many cold weather driving problems.

1.) Examine all hoses, especially the radiator and heater hoses, for swelling, soft spots, cracks, a partially collapsed condition, cuts and general deterioration.

2.) Tighten all hose clamps. Replace those which can't be adequately tightened, or that show corrosion.

3.) Check all V-belts for wear on bottom and sides. Pay particular attention to the alternator drive. Replace or retension as necessary. If belts are more than four years old, replace them regardless of visual condition.

4.) Check the coolant for rust and the concentration of antifreeze. Auto parts stores sell inexpensive testers for checking antifreeze protection. Flushing the system (about every two years) and replacing the coolant with a 50-50 mixture of water and antifreeze is a do-it-yourself job.

While the cooling system is drained, this is also a good time to replace the upper and lower radiator hoses.

5.) Inspect the condition of the radiator cap gasket and spring. Check the radiator filler neck for nicks that could lead to a pressure loss.

6.) Clean bugs, leaves, paper and other foreign matter off the front of the radiator. Remove by spraying with water. This helps the flow of air through the radiator.

7.) After the cooling system has been inspected and serviced, remove the radiator cap and start the engine. If the coolant begins to circulate immediately, or if after you have reinstalled the cap, the upper radiator does not feel like it's conveying warm coolant, the thermostat will need replacing.

Protecting Car's Finish

By Winter's end our nation's highways (and its cars) will have been covered with some 10 million tons of salt. While road salt may save countless lives from icy accidents, it does take its toll on automobiles, reminds the Car Care Council.

Without proper maintenance on a car's protective finish, road salt and its southern partner, salty sea air, can rust fenders and corrode body sheet metal in no time.

Since only exposed metal can rust and corrode, trouble begins when a car's nicks and scratches are left untouched. The National Paint and Coating Association recommends a regular maintenance routine to keep a car's finish smooth and its body rust-free.

Start by getting a touch-up paint kit when you get a new car. Repair small nicks and scratches promptly to prevent corrosion. Then follow a regular maintenance routine. Wash your car once a week with warm water, and promptly remove elements such as salt, bird droppings and sap that accelerate corrosion.

Follow with a good coating of wax or other protective finish two or three times a year to provide an additional buffer between the harsh elements and the car body.

Check Wipers Before Winter

Perhaps more than any other automotive component, windshield wipers are taken for granted by motorists until, of course, it rains, or the car is splashed by another vehicle.

Yet, according to a survey of nearly 3,000 car owners by Aneo Windshield Wipers, 38 percent of original owner vehicles have never had a wiper blade replaced.

For safety assurance, a wise time to inspect the condition of wipers is before the challenges of winter driving.

By Clare Annswell

WEEK OF: SEPTEMBER 25

AQUARIUS — January 21-February 19
A blend of instinct and logic can lead to improvements in friendship situation. Rapport with a high-trust improves significantly, the time may be opportune for presenting ideas.

PISCES — February 20-March 20
Artistic abilities are noteworthy, you have a good color sense, and the week is favorable for decorating a room or updating your wardrobe. Some travel is indicated.

ARIES — March 21-April 20
Meetings for us on your role is a community project, you may receive the go-ahead by Tuesday. Good week for making an important addition to a favorite collection.

TAURUS — April 21-May 22
Romantic attempts to delegate work, you're still going it alone. The romantic picture continues to brighten thanks to partner's warm sentiments. Avoid risky financial moves.

GEMINI — May 23-June 21
Absent-minded streak surfaces briefly, be sure to record appointments promptly. Unexpected visitors may arrive by Monday. Weekend is good for catching up on correspondence and related chores.

CANCER — June 22-July 22
Research is highlighted this week, you may be preparing a family tree. Try to fulfill as many obligations as possible, the list is about to grow again.

LEO — July 23-August 22
Self-improvement plans are highlighted. You may be starting a sensible diet or fitness program. News from faraway clears up a mystery. Children help solve a domestic dilemma.

VIRGO — August 23-September 22
Following up leads promptly can lead to advances by the latter part of this period. Friendship circle broadens. Take health concerns seriously. Creative activities are highlighted on weekend.

LIBRA — September 23-October 22
Understanding a friend's point of view helps you deal with your own problem. Shaky relationship is on a steadier course but this isn't the week for coasting.

SCORPIO — October 23-November 21
Good week for planning a commonsense diet or fitness plan. Once you resist the initial temptations, your self-confidence soars. New friendship is in the picture.

SAGITTARIUS — November 22-December 22
Don't compromise your standards for the sake of being cooperative. Articulate opinions clearly, but maintain some degree of diplomacy. In finance, more planning is the key.

CAPRICORN — December 23-January 20
You're in a mood to discard excess baggage - but don't be too eager to dispense with keepsakes. Scholarship is accented; this is a good week for planning studies.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
Yours is the sign of balances; you weigh all sides before making a decision. You love elegant surroundings and life's comforts. The year ahead accents intellectual activity; travel, writing, and self awareness are all spotlighted over the next twelve months.

BORN THIS WEEK
September 25th, artist Henry Victor, 26th, actress Melissa Sue Anderson; 27th, actress Jayne Meadows; 28th, singer Olivia Newton-John; 29th, singer Jerry Lee Lewis; 30th, singer Johnny Mathis; October 1st, actor George Peppard.

Flavin & Flavin Quincy Center Tradition For Over 60 Years

Their customer longevity files proves this statement.

Today, real estate and insurance go together like a pair of gloves. When they fit well with product knowledge, expertise, then you succeed.

Obviously they have. The firm has expanded their office facilities to meet the automotive world. The office decor is new and inviting, just the correct atmosphere for client communication.

According to the younger Edward, "our area of experience is in sales and leasing in residential and commercial, in the areas of Quincy, Dorchester, Milton and other South Shore communities.

"We handle many condominium developments, office leasing, condominium sales, and residential sub-divisions. We also have three certified appraisers who handle assignments from banks, lawyers, and probate courts.

"Our insurance department is serviced by trained customer-service agents and brokers, offering competitive prices in homeowner insurance, small business owner policies, and large multi-peril packages.

"Some of the key companies we represent, and who carry an A-Plus BEST rating are: Pawtucket Mutual Insurance, Abington Mutual Insurance, Commercial Union Insurance and American Policyholder's Insurance.

Staff members at Flavin & Flavin are: George Shaeffer, Gordon Paige, Stephen Fichman and Jean McGinnis, who handle real estate. Insurance is in the capable hands of Phyllis Leroy, Marilyn Mann, Detores Belcastro, and Roma Paige.

LOVE BLOOMED for William Cross, 75, and Marion Carmichael, 80, both of Quincy, who met a year ago at the South Shore Elder Services Meal Site in North Quincy and were married recently at Quincy Community Church. A reception for the couple was later held at the meal site, at the Church of the Good Shepherd, where the two still have lunch several days a week. They also volunteer to help clean up after the lunch.

President's Place House Obstacle May Be Solved

By DAN CONNELLY

What was considered to be a major stumbling block in the urban renewal project for the proposed $54 million President's Place in downtown Quincy may be over soon.

Mrs. Nell Slawson, whose home on the end of Saville Ave. is included in the project, met recently with city officials in what was considered "a very good meeting," according to Mayor Francis McCauley.

Mrs. Slawson held a mini-protest recently in front of City Hall with her 94-year-old mother, Rena Damm, her son, Robert Slawson, 30, and a family friend, Scott Theriault, 21, collecting about 250 signatures on a petition against taking her home.

Target date for presentation of the urban renewal plan to the city council is Oct. 20.

Developers are still working on the design that will compliment and fit into the historic setting of Quincy Center.

Mrs. Slawson has said she doesn't want to move her house, or to have a condo, but she will talk about relocating to another home which is close to the MBTA and shopping as she is new, McCauley said.

"It was a very positive meeting," said McCauley. The developers are looking to find a piece of property which might be suitable, he said.

McCauley said Mrs. Slawson was the only one who has a stake as a homeowner in the urban renewal project.

Following their meeting, McCauley said he passed her request to the city planning department which would meet with the developers, Ricciardi Co. of Quincy and Campanelli Industries of Braintree.

The Bargain Center, which closed recently, and nearby property is to be included in the President's Place project.

Mrs. Slawson had said "I've heard a lot of anger from people about the prospects of condominiums in general."

"A lot of people have stopped me on the street to talk about my house."

"They don't think it's rational to take a person's house for this kind of project. I have lived here for 31 years."

Mrs. Slawson said her colonial house is over 100 years old and is located on 5,000 feet of land.

"I have a great feeling for staying put. It's an enormous venture to contemplate moving."

"The reason for my resistance is that people should have the right to keep and enjoy their homes."

"It's not just a house, it's home, our roots are there."

Multi-Million Dollar Project

Shipyard Joint Bid Includes Power Plant

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

A joint venture bid for the 102-year-old Quincy Shipyard was made Tuesday by the employee buyout committee and a company which would build a $100 million power plant.

Massachusetts Shipbuilders, Inc., a corporation established by former managers and the unions representing the workers of the shipyard, made the bid with Reilly Athy Associates, a private investment group formed for cogeneration energy development to purchase the yard.

The plant would provide power for the city and for private sources.

Under the joint venture arrangements, the shipbuilders would establish an employee owned enterprise that will use 110 acres of the 180 acre shipyard to do ship construction and repair work.

The private energy development group directed by Reilly Athy Associates of 20 Ashburton Place, Boston, intends to establish a cogeneration station powered by enriched coal on 35 acres.

The cogeneration station would provide local utility companies with electrical power, while furnishing steam to the shipyard and other local industries.

Under a letter of intent signed by the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority, the joint venture has agreed to enter negotiations to sell or lease to M.W.R.A. a portion of the shipyard to be used primarily as a staging area for the construction of new wastewater treatment facilities on Deer Island.

The new shipbuilding corporation, Massachusetts Shipbuilders, will initially focus on Naval ship repair work and will create 300 to 450 jobs. Ship construction contracts currently under negotiation will create an additional 1500 new jobs.

The bid by Mass. Shipbuilding was expected, but the participation of the other parties was not.

Tuesday was the deadline for proposals.

General Dynamics spokesperson Evelyn Murphy had said earlier in the day that it would take about 30 days for the company to evaluate the bids and decide on a buyer for the shipyard which closed last spring.

In July, Murphy had said that 130 different groups responded to Requests for Proposals (RFPs) which ask what they would do with the shipyard were they to purchase it.

Reaction among local officials to Mass. Shipbuilder's bid ranged from some reservations to outright opposition.

Sen. Paul Harold questioned what environmental impact the generation plant would have on Quincy Point.

"There isn't sufficient information on the operation (of the plant) for us to make a judgement," said Harold.

"This generation aspect comes as something of a surprise. I have reservations about any type of burning at the site."

"One of the questions is if it's coal in 1986, what will they burn in 1987?"

"We want to be sure that the best interests of the city and the best interests of the workers coincide."

Mayor Francis McCauley said, "We want to keep shipbuilding in Quincy, but I have serious concerns about the type of industry which will come in and burn coal and might have a potential adverse environmental impact."

"We've been working with the employee buyout group for a number of months, trying to assist in any way we could."

"They talked about a

Tax Bills In Mail Friday

More than 22,000 estimated first half tax bills are scheduled to go in the mail Friday to Quincy property owners.

Since the tax rate will not be set until the early part of the winter, the bills, which total $23,398,905, will be for one half of the total bill for fiscal 1986.

The bills will be due Monday, Nov. 3, according to Mayor Francis McCauley.

"We're asking those who can to pay as soon as possible," said McCauley.

"For the first time in many years, we haven't had to borrow in anticipation of the November tax bills.

"We've had sufficient cash flow so that we have not had to borrow," said McCauley.

"It's certainly a feather in the city's cap. The less borrowing, the less interest we have to pay."

McCauley said that as late as 1982, the city borrowed $45 million short term. Last year, it borrowed only $6 million, he said.

The tax rate has not yet been set because the city is still undergoing a mandatory revaluation, according to McCauley.

The revelation is scheduled to be completed by Feb. 1, 1987, the mayor said.

The second half tax bills will go out later in 1987, he said. McCauley would not estimate what effect the revaluation would have on tax bills. "There's no way to tell now if the rates will go up," he said.

"I'm very pleased with the operation," said McCauley, who commended the Board of Assessors, Assessors Department, Treasurer's Office and Data Processing for their work in getting the bills out on time.

'Traffic 2000' Update For Council Committee Oct. 6

An update on "Quincy Traffic 2000" by Vanasse-Hangen will be among the agenda items Monday, Oct. 6, at a meeting of the City Council's Downtown & Economic Development Committee.

The committee, chaired by Councillor Patricia Toland, will meet at 7 p.m. in the Council Chambers at City Hall.

The agenda will also include accepting Chptr. 811 of 1985 authorizing funds under the Public Works Economic Development Program. Kevin Shea will speak.

Developer Stephen Ricciardi and Planning Director James Lydon will answer questions regarding the proposed President's Place project in downtown Quincy.

School Bus Safety Violation Fine Increased

Registrar of Motor Vehicles Alan Mackey reminds motorists that they should focus attention on the safety of the 600,000 school children transported in the Commonwealth each day.

"Massachusetts law requires motorists approaching a school bus to stop if the bus is flashing red lights in the front and rear and has stopped to load or unload children (this applies except when motorists are approaching from the opposite side of a divided highway), said Mackey.

"Failure to do so is punishable by a fine of not more than $100," he said.

However, beginning Oct. 13 the minimum for a first offense will increase to $100 with a maximum of $200. In addition, fines for subsequent offenses will also be increased."

Removal Of Fence, Buffers Triggers Lakin Sq. Complaints

By DAN CONNELLY

A West Quincy convenience store and its neighbor, a fast food restaurant, came under verbal gunfire from Ward 4 Councillor James Sheets during a complaint hearing at the License Board meeting Tuesday.

At issue was the recent removal of a fence on the Robertson St. side of Burger King and concrete buffers which sectioned off the 7-

Eleven food store on Adams St. in Lakin Square.

An angry Sheets told the board "some three years ago the owner of the two properties agreed to close off the ingress and egress to Robertson St. They also agreed to put a gate on the property where the driveway intersects Adams St., and lock that gate when they close Burger King at 11 p.m. This basically secured that area after the restaurant closed."

"Then occurred some type of real estate transaction between Burger King and 7-Eleven and in that process 7-Eleven acquired an easement throughout the back of the property."

"Now, some eight or nine weeks ago the fence that had meant so much to those living on Robertson St., came down. The gates came down. I was not notified."

"Also, when 7-Eleven reconstructed their store they did not allow for any sectioning off of the Burger King property. This action has allowed cars to move freely back and forth between the two businesses."

"My understanding is that one of the reasons for taking the fence down was because early morning business was down and they blamed the Robertson St. fencing as the reason. So the fence was taken down to allow easier entrance."

"We have worked long and hard to secure that area and I feel their action was reprehensible. It was one of the worst actions ever taken by a convenience store since I've been a ward councillor."

"It seems to me that 7-Eleven turned around and said to the people we don't care what you think. Don't care what your needs are. We don't care whether you sleep at night. We don't care about the rubbish which blows down Robertson St. onto your property. We don't care about you. Take the fence down."

"Mr. Ealey (Atty. Peter Ealey of Quincy who was representing 7-Eleven management at the hearing) has indicated the fence is going back up. It's still not up and so too aren't the gates."

"As far as I am concerned it is a reprehensible situation. Southland Corporation (of Dallas, Tex.) has betrayed any confidence I had in them. This situation is deplorable."

"I ask this board to consider closing the 7-Eleven on Adams St., at the same hour they close the Burger King, until such time as those gates are back and the neighborhood can enjoy some peace of mind in their home."

"As far as I am concerned all 7-Elevens in Quincy should close at 11 p.m."

"I'm very tired of dealing with issues of 7-Eleven and Burger King on Adams St. Not because of its disruption to my life. I'm tired of it for the abutters. They've put up with an awful lot for years. Sooner or later these businesses are going to realize that doing business in Quincy is not a right, it's a privilege."

"The concrete buffer zone also must be restored. If not there is no sense of restoring the fence. People are going to come into 7-Eleven at 3 a.m. and then joy ride around in their cars, burning rubber on the Burger King property."

Carlton Callahan, an abutter to Burger King and whose residence is 21 Robertson St., also described conditions there as deplorable.

"Motorists coming from Boston use the back of the stores as urinals."

"All night long beer cans are thrown about, autos racing, foul language, slamming of car doors. These conditions are constant."

"I'm asking the board to consider the tremendous problems we face. Trucks parked at 7-Eleven, their refrigerators running all night. Believe me when I tell you we can't live in peace in our homes."

The board then heard a presentation by 7-Eleven management atty. Peter Ealey who listed a number of problems that were resolved by the Southland Corporation to the satisfaction of abutters.

Chairman John Gillis had to absent himself before the meeting closed. He was replaced by Acting Fire Chief Carl Valenti who told Ealey that if the fence is not restored he too, like Sheets, will recommend an 11 p.m. closing for 7-Eleven to secure the property.

The board continued the hearing until next week.

Vision Foundation Sponsoring Self-Help Group Here

Vision Foundation, Inc., a support organization for people coping with sight loss, is sponsoring a self-help group which meets in Quincy the first Monday of each month at 7 p.m.

Residents of nearby cities or towns are also welcome to attend.

The Quincy group is one of 18 such groups meeting across the state. The groups encourage visually impaired people of all ages and backgrounds to share information, provide emotional support and suggest solutions to common everyday problems.

"The impact of sudden vision loss can be staggering," says Marshall Weimann, manager of Self-Help Groups, who has been blind for nearly eight years. "People ask if anyone can understand how they really feel, whether anyone else has gone through this experience, how do they cope? We try to answer these questions in our group meetings."

Each self-help group is led by a visually impaired group coordinator. Transportation is provided to and from each meeting within the general geographic area. The coordinator also serves as a role model for group members.

"We believe in the value of problem-solving by example and in the strength gained through shared experiences," adds Weimann.

Anyone who would like to attend or be a volunteer driver for a self-help group meeting, call Marshall Weimann at Vision Foundation, (617) 926-4232 or toll free: 1-800-852-3029.

'Tourism On Rise'

President's City Motel Completes Addition

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

Tourists are visiting Quincy at such a steady rate that one of the facilities which caters to them, President's City Motel in Wollaston, has completed a quarter million dollar addition.

Its nearby coffee shop is also undergoing a major renovation.

"Tourism is on the rise," said Loren Strout, motel manager and president of the Quincy Tourism Association. His mother, Lena Strout, is manager of the Winfield House Restaurant.

"As far as the motels are concerned, we have more business than we can handle."

Strout said that the motel addition is a 10-room, two-story building behind the original 26 rooms which are to be renovated.

"We wanted to add 26 rooms, but the bank said to go for 10," said Strout.

"We're turning people away."

A 30 to 40 foot addition to the Egg and I Coffee Shop is also underway. It will add about 40 seats to the original 55, he said.

Strout hopes to have a grand opening for the coffee shop and motel in about a month or so, possibly in conjunction with a nearby car wash and interior decorating store.

"We're getting tourists from all over the world," said Strout.

"We've had more Canadians this year, because it's cheaper here now."

"We also get a lot of flounder fishermen. When the fishermen are here, you can't get a room within 50 miles of Quincy."

Strout said that the motel, which he said was the first in Quincy when it started almost 30 years ago, runs at about a 75 per cent occupancy rate year round, and a 95 per cent rate in the summer.

"October is just about booked solid with reservations," said Strout.

He noted that a number of tourists are staying in Quincy and taking the MBTA to visit Boston.

"The average room in Boston is $150, a night," said Strout. "In Quincy, the average is $40 to $70 a night. "People can save a lot of money if they stay in Quincy," he said.

Visitors are also touring Quincy's historic sites, with help from publications such as The Quincy Sun's Historic Guide, Strout said.

According to Strout, there is really no competition between President's City Motel and the other businesses which he said cater to tourists, the Quincy Bay Inn and Eddie's Motor Inn. "We all work together in Quincy. There's no competition."

"If we're full, we suggest that people try the other motels," said Strout who noted that the three businesses combined have a total of 160 rooms.

The only down side to the business is the lack of available employees, Strout said.

"We need help in the service industry. It's an employee's market."

Quincy Woman Wins Heroism Award

A 25-year-old Quincy woman received a heroism award from the MDC for her bravery in pulling a man from the wreckage of a smoking truck after the vehicle he was driving overturned on Quincy Shore Drive.

Cathleen Leary of 511 Newport Ave., manager of the Edmund Fitzgerald Restaurant in Squantum, was given the award by Metropolitan District Commissioner William J. Geary for "heroism in risking her life to save another."

She was commended at the Wollaston Beach bathhouse Tuesday, not far from where the accident occurred.

"Miss Leary is truly an exceptional person. She displayed a great deal of courage. She saw the accident and sprang into action without regard for her own safety. We applaud her," said Geary.

Recalling the accident, Geary said: "Donald DeCoste of South Boston was driving north on Quincy Shore Drive near Ocean St., on Sept. 3 at about 6:30 p.m., when he lost control of his pickup truck and hit a light post. The truck flipped over and began to smoke and leak liquid."

"Leary saw the accident. Thinking the truck may catch fire, she climbed through the broken window and into the cab of the overturned truck to free DeCoste."

"She pulled him from the wreckage, but a leather key chain that extended from DeCoste's pants pocket still tied him to the cab."

"Leary shut the ignition off and was attempting to free him from the key chain, when off-duty Quincy firefighter Kenneth McLeod, who had heard the crash from his nearby home on Ocean St., came to assist her. McLeod cut the chain. Leary then administered first aid to DeCoste until an ambulance arrived to take him to Quincy City Hospital."

"Cathleen Leary is a genuine heroine. She sets a fine example for everyone to follow. We thank you," said Geary.

Quincy LWV Publishes 'Guide For Residents'

Have you ever wondered how to bring a matter before the City Council? What services are offered by the Health Department? Or where to enroll your children in youth activities?

That information and more is available in "Quincy, A Guide for Residents" prepared by the Quincy League of Women Voters.

The 43-page booklet was prepared by league members as a citizen's guide to Quincy's history, government structure, city services and recreational opportunities.

The league hopes to promote a better understanding of our local government and services and thereby encourages residents to participate in the governing process.

One hundred copies of the booklet have been donated to the City of Quincy for use by schools, libraries, city departments, and special projects such as the official welcoming ceremony that will be given to Quincy's Asian community in October.

The booklet, which costs $3.50 for a single copy, is available by contacting Mary Quinn, 20 Dixwell Ave., Quincy, Ma. 02169 or by calling 471-6974.

The booklet is also available at reduced prices for the purchase of multiple copies.

Proceeds will be used for educational projects sponsored by the league such as voters' guides and candidates forums.

Blood Pressure Screenings

Quincy City Hospital will conduct a free blood pressure screening for the public Tuesday, Oct. 7, in the Ambulatory Care Department from 1:30 to 3 p.m.

The screenings, performed by nursing staff, will enable individuals to keep track of their blood pressure, and be aware of dangerous elevations in the pressure. Persons in need of referral to a physician, will be advised to do so.

The screenings, which will take place on the first and third Tuesday of each month, are free of charge.

No McIntyre-LaRaia Alliance

There's some speculation around town that a McIntyre-LaRaia alliance may be in the works for next year's mayoral race.

"Baloney," says a spokesman in the McIntyre camp.

Such an alliance, he insists, has about as much chance getting off the ground as a balloon tied to a ton of bricks. Make that two tons.

He blames the media for spawning speculation.

Including this writer, whom, he says, made special mention of the fact that Councilor Joseph LaRaia, long-time political enemy, attended the recent Mayor James McIntyre Memorial Scholarship Clambake at Marina Bay.

We noted that LaRaia a year ago would have stuck out like a sore thumb on the Jolly Green Giant at a McIntyre function.

And, we also noted that LaRaia has extended the olive branch to the McIntyre people including supporting the renaming of Old City Hall as the James R. McIntyre Government Center.

The speculation that LaRaia is getting closer to the McIntyre people started with his supporting the renaming of old City Hall and moved into high gear when he attended the McIntyre Memorial Scholarship Clambake at Marina Bay.

There was no open indication that anyone resented him being there. And, in fairness to him, he didn't attempt to make it look like he was being embraced by the McIntyre family, friends or followers.

A later article by another writer has upset some people in the McIntyre camp. That writer wrote that followers of the late Mayor-Senator McIntyre -- including former Mayors Walter Hannon and Arthur Tobin -- may "cast their lot" with LaRaia against incumbent Francis McCauley next year.

He also wrote that LaRaia has made an effort to "atone for past sins."

There are some McIntyre followers who seem to be willing to let by-gones be by-gones and who feel life is too short to carry on a political war or feud to their dying day.

But there are still many diehards in the McIntyre camp who are not ready to forgive and forget past experiences with LaRaia.

As far as they are concerned, that isn't a dove of peace circling LaRaia but a political pigeon.

"Never!" says one of the diehards who was close to McIntyre from the very beginning of his political career.

The recent newspaper articles, he says, give the wrong impression that the McIntyre people and LaRaia are becoming politically buddy-buddy.

"People are reading things into those stories that just aren't there," he says. "And writers are writing things that aren't there."

"We will never embrace LaRaia for mayor. There will be no alliance."

He indicates the McIntyre people would like to back a candidate of their own and hints they may come up with a surprise.

SOMEONE -- not the McIntyre people -- later tried to make a big deal out of the fact that Mayor McCauley did not attend the McIntyre Memorial Scholarship clambake.

No one really expected him to be there.

If you looked around to see who was there, you saw familiar faces from the McIntyre political campaigns -- some going back to the first time he ran for the City Council in 1955. It was like a political reunion.

The fact of the matter is that McIntyre and McCauley were never political allies. They were political adversaries.

McCauley certainly was never as close to McIntyre as say, were former Mayors Hannon and Tobin who did attend the clambake. Now, if neither one of them was there, that might have been a story.

THAT CAR SEEN around Quincy with the "McEachern Governor" bumper sticker on it, belongs to Patriot Ledger staff reporter Ray McEachern.

Paul McEachern, Democratic candidate for governor in New Hampshire, is Ray's brother.

Ray thinks his brother has a good shot at defeating Republican incumbent John Sununu. One big issue: McEachern opposes the Seabrook nuclear plant and Sununu favors it.

McEachern, incidentally, has Jean Shaheen as his campaign manager. She headed Gary Hart's presidential campaign in New Hampshire.

If his brother wins, will Ray become his press secretary?

"I don't think so," he says. "He already has a good one."

ELEANOR REIDY, Mayor McCauley's former personal secretary, returned to City Hall the other day but just for a visit. She says she is enjoying retirement and taking a creative writing course at U. Mass-Boston.

CRAIG JAMES of the New England Patriots probably doesn't know it, but he has an ardent fan in Wendy Lovendale of Quincy.

Wendy, who is 10 and plays in the Quincy Youth Soccer League, is scheduled to undergo surgery for scoliosis Oct. 6 at Children's Hospital, Boston.

If James should be in that neighborhood, she'd love to see him.

REV. JOHN BANKS, former pastor at Bethany Congregational Church, and a former Quincy Kiwanian, is now president-elect of the Kiwanis Club in Chapel Hill, N.C.

That was the hometown of our good friend the late Kay Kyser whom Rev. Banks got to know.

BUYERS ARE NOT NAIVE

QUESTION: I consider myself a good salesman. Don't you think I could handle a buyer as well as any Realtor?

ANSWER: Put yourself in the buyer's shoes. He will want the most house he can get for the money. Frankly, the stakes are too high to play the do-it-yourself game in this monetary arena. The best advice is--let an expert sell it.

The average buyer is far from naive. Before you even start serious negotiations, he'll expect you to deduct the Broker's commission for his benefit. Then you're on your own in the critical areas of financing, mortgages, contracts, deeds, etc. It makes sense to sell it professionally.

Mayor's Commission Proposes Child Care In Schools

In 1982, the Children's Defense Fund estimated that almost half of the nation's children age 13 and under were unsupervised while their parents worked.

In an attempt to deal with that statistic locally, the Mayor's Commission on the Status of Women in Quincy is suggesting that child care be established in the schools.

"The Adventure Club: A Draft Report on School Age Child Care in the City of Quincy" prepared by the commission will be discussed at a forum Wednesday, Oct. 8.

The forum, to begin at 7:30 p.m. at the City Hall Council Chambers, will initiate a community action to implement an after school program for the children of Quincy.

State and local community leaders, including Evelyn Murphy, have been invited.

Parents, teachers and community members are invited to attend. More information is available by calling 773-1380, ext. 301.

During the spring and summer of 1986, the Mayor's Commission evaluated the issue of school age child care as a growing need for working families.

The study notes that there are attempts to provide such child care at programs such as those at the Beechwood Community Life Center and the YMCA.

"Although these programs are presently in existence, they are not geographically located to adequately serve the needs of individual neighborhoods," the study states.

"The question now arises as to how the children can remain in their own neighborhoods with a more efficient and cohesive citywide network of after school day care.

"The City of Quincy has some of the state's best educational and community facilities which include cafeterias and gymnasiums, and could provide excellent resources for the children during the school day.

"These same buildings make the concept of school age child care in the schools more viable and cost effective due to affordable building costs and the elimination of transportation costs."

According to the commission, the Adventure Club is a program in which "children anticipate challenges and recreation, not the traditional concept of a day care center that 'babysits' them."

The commission proposes that the program be enacted in three of the nine elementary schools the first year, followed by an additional three schools the second year, with the final three years the third year.

An alternative manner of implementing the concept is to utilize the existing program at the Beechwood Community Life Center and incorporate this as one of three possible "magnet" centers, according to the commission.

A three-part funding approach would include city government, for rent free use of buildings and possible custodial care; parents for hourly fees on a sliding scale; and corporations for start up and special projects.

The commission would propose a schedule of Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, 2:30 to 6 p.m., and Tuesday (early release day) 11:30 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Staffing would consist of a head teacher/administrator and assistant teachers. Senior citizen and teenage volunteers would be optional, according to the commission.

Special programs could be sponsored by local organizations ranging from the Quincy Art Association to the recreation department.

"The Adventure Club has the potential to become an innovative, challenging program to service the need for school age child care and provide enrichment the children may not get by playing alone in their neighborhoods," according to the commission.

The commission recommends formation of a task force to work on such things as analyzing the results of a needs assessment survey, recruiting staff from the community and evaluating rooms within the schools or community centers to house the program.

The task force would also prepare and submit in January of 1987 a report of findings to the Mayor's Commission, the mayor, city council, school department, school committee at an open forum for the community.

"The Adventure Club could be a prototype for the City of Quincy," states the commission.

"The Mayor's Commission on the Status of Women recognizes that to support the children now, to enrich them beyond the structure of the normal educational day is to invest in the future of the city and its adults of tomorrow."

The report was prepared by Carolann Speranzo, commission chairwoman; Linda Perry, commission co-chairwoman; and Constance Tandy, commissioner.

Shea Challenges Della Chiesa For Mayor

City Council President Charles L. Shea was preparing a November challenge for Mayor Amelio Della Chiesa after finishing second to the incumbent in the preliminary election.

Two preliminary races were almost too close to call with Leo J. Hannon Jr. finishing four votes ahead of Francis X. McCauley in the Ward 1 Council race and three within a whisker of each other in Ward 3.

John F. Koegler had 449 votes, Leo F. Burke had 439 and Fred A. Sisti 395 in the Ward 3 contest where it was believed that Sisti would ask for a recount.

Finishing fourth and out of contention in Ward 1 was young lawyer Arthur H. Tobin, who had promised in his campaign that he would lead the fight in the Council to keep the MTA out of Quincy.

DAME BELIEVED DOGNAPPED

William (Rusty) Stackman, 9, of 47 Arthur St., West Quincy, was off to Farmington, Conn., the longest trip of his life, to see if a dog found there was his missing German Shepherd.

The dog, which answered to the name of "Dame," was believed to have been dognapped by a couple who were reported to have been seen by a witness taking the dog away in a Volkswagen with Connecticut plates.

An appeal for help from the Connecticut State Police touched off a New Englandwide search for "Dame," who was thought to have been found by a Hartford Courant reporter in Farmington.

A woman in the Connecticut city said that the dog that walked up to her home "looked like a bag of bones. But he was friendly with the kids and he answers to the description."

Readers Forum Sending Out The Wrong Message

Why is there a price tag being put on our children's education.

By closing any middle school in this city we are sending out the wrong message. What we are saying is if we can get a good price for a school let's close it and sell it. This will keep our budget in the black.

Now that we have a budget in the black we won't spend a dime on school repairs, athletics or other programs we need in our schools. This means our taxes will not go up. They will stay the same or go down. That will be great but only for a while, because when the children in the overcrowded elementary schools reach middle school age we will have to build a new school, since by now some smart developer has built a beautiful condo on the site of the closed school. The cost of building a school by now shall far exceed the cost of any repair figures we have now. Quincy is being reduced to a dollar sign, with more concern being given to the developers than to the children we see getting on those yellow buses every morning. Please attend the school committee public hearing Wednesday Oct. 1 at Quincy High we need to let our tax money go for something other than just drawing interest and votes.

Questions Unclaimed Money List Article

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

As a long-time subscriber to The Quincy Sun, I was dismayed to see the proceeds from the state's Unclaimed Money List referred to as "the State Treasurer's Money List."

One could easily get the mistaken impression that these funds represent some form of personal largesse on Mr. Crane's part when in reality they belong to the companies and individuals whose names appear on the list.

I am sure the inappropriate labeling was nothing more than an unfortunate oversight. However, with the election only a little more than a month away, I would like to set the record straight so that credit will not be given where indeed none is due.

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

I would like to extend my sincere appreciation for your participation in this year's Taste of Massachusetts Tomato Contest in Quincy. The event was a great success. As a result, some 500 pounds of tomatoes were donated to the feeding programs in Quincy. Without your support, it would not have been possible.

Home Security

In some of the recent house breaks we have investigated we have found that entrance has been gained by forcing a window.

There are several ways of securing a window. Pinning the window is perhaps the easiest and most economical.

By drilling a hole through the inside frame and into, but not through, the exterior window frame and then placing an 8-penny nail in that hole you have pinned your window closed.

If the window has to be opened all you have to do is remove the nail. If you desire ventilation you can drill another hole in the interior frame, no more than six inches up, and pin the window in this position.

Diagrams of this procedure and the materials needed are available at the Quincy Police Station.

If you have any information on drug use or drug trafficking in your neighborhood please call the Quincy Police Drug Information Line.

You will not be required to identify yourself.

The information contained in this condensed version of the Quincy Police journal is intended to make citizens aware of crimes that may be happening in their neighborhoods.

Quincy City Hospital will offer a new session of the "Infant Saver Child Saver" Program Tuesday, Oct. 7, and continuing Thursday, Oct. 9.

Registrations are being accepted for this program, an educational format designed to save the lives of infants and children.

According to QCH, the response to the previous sessions, which began in October of 1985, has demonstrated the need on the South Shore for life-saving instruction. Because of this, the hospital is beginning a new session monthly.

The hospital's Infant Saver Child Saver Program is designed specifically to educate parents and person working with children in techniques of Cardio-Pulmonary Resuscitation (CPR), recognition and treatment of common childhood injuries, general first aid preventative measures, and more.

Infant Saver/Child Saver Program Oct. 7 at Hospital

The Executive Office of Human Services of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts has recognized the program, and has approved the course as a certified first aid course for Day Care Center workers, as it has met the guidelines and regulations of the state of Massachusetts.

The participants are taught CPR techniques on child-size mannequins by a certified instructor in BCLS (Basic Cardiac Life Support), accredited by the American Heart Association.

According to QCH, statistics indicate that most people, including parents, would not know how to help an infant or child who had stopped breathing, or who had a serious injury. Accidental injuries do claim the lives of four times as many infants and children as do medical illnesses, the hospital said.

Classes will be held Oct. 7 and 9, at the hospital, from 7 to 10 p.m. Class size is limited to assure individual instruction.

In response to demonstrated interest, the hospital will continue to offer this program on a monthly basis.

Contact the hospital at 773-6100, ext. 3017, for a brochure or to register for the October program.

World Wide Communion Observance At Bethany

Two services celebrating World-Wide Holy Communion will be held at Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Center, at 9 a.m. in the chapel and at 10 a.m. in the sanctuary.

The Rev. J. William Arnold, senior minister, will preach the sermon at both hours on the subject, "The Christ Principle." The associate minister, Rev. Joel F. Huntington, will serve as liturgist. Lay scripture readers will be Marion Lockwood in the chapel and Wendell C. Cosgrove in the sanctuary.

The deacons and deaconesses serving the Communion will be Robert Lockwood at the early service, and Clifford Evers, Sandra Jones, Corinne Mikami, Darryl Mikami, and Kinya Mikami, at the late service.

The chancel choir, under the direction of Peter Krasinski, organist, will sing as the offertory anthem, "Like as the Hart Desireth the Water Brooks" by Novello.

During the 10 a.m. service, Bethany's new Early Childhood Coordinator, Denise M. Fleming will be presented. She will coordinate the congregation's ministry with children, nursery through first grade, and with their parents and church school teachers.

The Sunday Church School will be in session from 10 to 11 a.m. with classes from preschool through eighth grade. Nursery care will be provided for babies and toddlers. Children may be enrolled in the church school at 10 a.m. in their classrooms.

The service will be broadcast "live" at 10 a.m. over station WJDA, 1300 kc. The radio commentary during the communion will be given by James W. Ross.

At 11 a.m., there will be a Fellowship Hour in the Allen Parlor, during which Bethany's 154th birthday will be celebrated with appropriate remarks, singing and a birthday cake.

At 12:30, a free bus will leave from Bethany for an "Apple Picking Trip" to Doe Orchards in Harvard. Children, families, individuals, members and friends are invited, and are requested to bring their own picnic lunch. The cost for picking your own apples is $6.50 per half-bushel. After a homemade ice-cream stop, the bus will return by 6 p.m.

A Bible study group, "Covenant, Part II" taught by Pastor Arnold meets Wednesday, Oct. 8, 7:30 to 9 p.m. in room 3 of the parish house. All services and events are open to the public.

GROUND BREAKING ceremonies were held recently for $1,000,000 gymnasium-auditorium addition to St. Joseph's School, Quincy Point. From left, are Sr. Anne Judge, school principal; Fr. Joseph Downey, pastor; Robert Bileaud of T.G. Driscoll Construction Co., Inc., and City Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro, in whose ward the church and school are located.

Sacred Heart School Marks 25th Anniversary

Postponed for nearly 10 years by the fire which destroyed the parish church, the long awaited opening of Sacred Heart School became a reality Sept. 6, 1961, when it opened its doors to the students of North Quincy for the first time.

That original class consisted of 120 children and enrollment peaked at nearly 1,000 just a few years later. In 1969, students with the distinction of being the first graduating class from Sacred Heart School moved on to area high schools. In a period when other schools were closing, Sacred Heart scaled its capacity down to 500 seats. Today there is a waiting list as all seats are filled.

Sept. 3, 1986 marked the 25th year that students came to the doors of the school located at the corner of Hancock St. and Glover Ave. The doors have changed, as have many other physical properties, the faces, the faculty and the curriculum. Some things never change like Sacred Heart's dedication to maintaining its fine reputation in the academic community and the spirit of cooperation among the parents, faculty and staff.

This year, under the direction of Sr. Ann Marie Ghiloni, principal, and Rev. Cornelius Heery, pastor, a full calendar of events is scheduled to celebrate this milestone. Included will be a special liturgy and reception, a school reunion and dinner dance, and in just two weeks, the 18th edition of the Parish Show sponsored by the Sacred Heart Youth Organization will be dedicated to the celebration. The curtain will go up at 8 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 11-12. A Saturday afternoon matinee will be staged at 2 p.m. This year's cast is made up of 200 parishioners and friends under the direction of Ed Rooney. Tickets are available from any cast member or at the door before each performance.

Church News

Worldwide Communion Sunday At Covenant Congregational

The 10:45 a.m. worship service Sunday began with the lighting of the altar candles by the acolyte, Harry LaCoste.

Rev. Fred Lawson's message was based on Psalm 121:1-8, with special emphasis on verse 1. This well-known psalm was one that David Livingston, missionary to Africa, cherished. It has had special meaning for pilgrims and soldiers and serves as a reminder to us of God's power and protection.

Richard Smith, Minister of Music, played "Larghetto" by Mozart for the organ prelude.

This was followed by the choral introit, "Cast Your Burden Upon the Lord" by Mendelssohn. The choir, directed and accompanied by Mr. Smith, sang "Glorious is Thy Name" by Mozart. Their second piece, "Psalm 121" was an original composition by Mr. Smith whose text was the first eight verses of the psalm. To close, Mr. Smith played "Postlude in D" by Purcell.

Greeters were Ruth Johnson and Virginia Sylvester. Ushers were Steven Copp, David Day, Bendix Lundgren and Anders Wihk. Following the service, a group of Sunday School members went apple picking. Other activities for the coming week include the Tuesday evening Bible Study and choir rehearsal at 7 p.m. on Wednesday.

On Sunday, Oct. 5, Worldwide Communion Sunday will be observed. The Deaconate will serve communion. Rev. Lawson's sermon will be "Hands at the Communion Table."

'Real Me' Sermon At Squantum First Church

"Will the Real Me Please Stand Up?" was the title of the sermon preached during the early service Sunday at the First Church of Squantum by church pastor Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin. His text was, "You are Simon, son of John. You shall be called Cephas (that is, Peter, which means 'the Rock')." (John 1:42b)

The sermon began with a play about Jesus renaming Simon Peter. The parts were played by Deborah Stohberg, Jesus; Sarah Mildram, Andrew; Bonnie MacRitchie, Andrew's friend; Mindi Hurd, Peter; and David Williams, narrator.

Guitarists for the morning were Andrew Ogilvie, David Williams and Mary Ruth Scott. Marci Hurd and Kim Olson were ushers. Bonnie MacRitchie was in charge of refreshments.

During the second service,

Dr. Langevin preached on the topic, "The Call to be a Disciple." His text for that sermon was, "And Jesus said to Simon, 'Do not be afraid; henceforth you will be catching men.'" (Luke 5:10b)

The Chancel Choir, under the direction of Mary Ruth Scott, sang an old Swedish hymn, "Children of the Heavenly Father," as the offertory anthem. The tenor solo was sung by James E. Sumner.

Edna Swanson and Sue Adams were greeters. Tom Williamson gave the call to worship and led the congregation in reciting the Hundredth Psalm. Bonnie Adams led the opening prayer and Cynthia Stanton read the Scripture which was Luke 5:1-11. Tora Wallin and Stewart Scott were ushers. After the service, Del Dougherty and Ida Von Reigers hosted the Fellowship Hour.

This Sunday, Oct. 5, will be Covenant Sunday at the church. This is a semi-annual opportunity for every active member of the church to renew his or her covenant with God and the other members of the church. Members who want to renew their covenant but who cannot be at the church that morning should give their names to the pastor to be included.

Per capita dues are also due that day. Pledges for financial support for next year will not be collected until Nov. 2.

There will be two services Sunday: the guitar service at 8:30 a.m. and the traditional service at 10:30 a.m.

United Way Sets $43.3 Million Goal

The United Way of Massachusetts Bay hopes to raise a record $43.3 million in this year's campaign; an 11 percent increase over last year's goal.

The campaign began Sept. 3 and will run until Nov. 25, 1986.

Last year, the United Way distributed $3 million to 59 agencies that help hungry and homeless people; and funding for day care is up 62 percent since 1982. Nearly $6 million was provided for youth-related services in 1985, and the United Way hosted a first-time teen conference to seek innovative solutions to teenage problems.

To deal with these and other rising needs, the United Way's 190 health and human service agencies -- including the Massachusetts Division of the American Cancer Society, the American Red Cross, and the Salvation Army -- are hard at work throughout 81 communities in eastern Massachusetts.

Obituaries

Dr. Edward Tinney, 73 Former Quincy Dentist

A funeral service was held Sept. 24 for Dr. Edward W. Tinney, 73, of Plymouth, a former Quincy dentist who died Sept. 21 at Quincy City Hospital after being stricken ill.

The Rev. David Saylor, officiated at the Faunce Memorial Church, Plymouth. Burial was in Blue Hill Cemetery, Braintree.

Born in Quincy, Dr. Tinney lived in Braintree for 31 years and summered in Plymouth before moving there eight years ago.

He was a member of the Faunce Memorial Church and former member of the First Presbyterian Church, serving as a ruling elder.

He was past president of the National Early American Glass Club, a trustee of the Jones Gallery of Glass and Ceramics in Douglas Hill, Maine, and Sandwich Glass Museum and Historical Society.

He attended Quincy schools graduating from Quincy High School in 1931. He was a 1938 Tufts Dental School graduate.

He retired in 1977.

Dr. Tinney was a World War II Coast Guard veteran. He is survived by his wife, Mary E. (Turner) Tinney; a son, Douglas H. Tinney of Greenwich, Conn.; a daughter, Margaret A. Harding of Holden; a sister, Mildred Miller of Quincy; and five grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements were by the Sweeney Brothers Home for Funerals, 1 Independence Ave.

Lester H. Glasser, 85, Active In Civic Affairs

grandchildren.

Mrs. Glasser, who died 18 years ago, had one of the first programs on Quincy radio station WJDA under her maiden name Ida Newman after it went on the air in 1947.

Mr. Glasser was a spearhead in the successful campaign to have the main road at the South Weymouth Naval Air Station named and dedicated in memory of Commander John J. Shea in 1954.

Commander Shea, who at one time was executive officer at the old Squantum Naval Air Station, lost his life in World War II when the Quincy-built USS Wasp was sunk off the Solomons in the South Pacific in September, 1942.

In June, 1942, Commander Shea had written his famous "Dear Jackie" letter to his young son, then five years old.

A memorial week was observed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Saul S. Bauman of Weymouth.

Rabbi Roland B. Gittlesohn officiated at the services.

Arrangements were by the Torf Funeral Chapel of Greater Boston.

Burial was in Sharon Memorial Park, Sharon.

Contributions may be made to the Lester H. Glasser Torah Commentary Fund, Temple Israel, Boston.

Services for Lester H. Glasser, 85, of Wollaston, long-time Quincy civic leader, former Quincy deputy taxpayer and contributing writer for The Quincy Sun, were held Sept. 26 at Temple Israel, The Riverway, Boston.

Mr. Glasser died Sept. 24 at Quincy City Hospital.

He wrote features about Jewish holidays and special events for The Sun and also wrote the column "South Shore Lines" for the weekly Jewish Advocate.

Mayor Francis McCauley eulogized Mr. Glasser as a "fine gentleman."

"He was a longtime resident of the city, and active in many affairs."

"He also served as deputy tax collector for many years, and was active until his death."

"His late wife had also been very active."

"I extend my sympathies to his son and daughter and to other members of his family."

He was past vice chairman of the Anti-Defamation League Committee of the Greater Boston and North Shore councils of B'nai B'rith.

Founder and past president of Quincy B'nai B'rith, he was also a former member of the Probus Club, Quincy Girl Scout Council, Quincy Council on Aging and former assistant librarian at Quincy Junior College.

Mr. Glasser was also an independent tax collection consultant.

He was a member of Temple Israel, Boston, and of Temple Beth Israel, Quincy, and the Beth Israel Temple Brotherhood which named him 1978 Man of the Year. He was also a member of the Jewish Chautauqua Society.

Husband of the late Ida G. (Newman) Glasser, he is survived by a son, Donald F. Glasser of Burlington; a daughter, Cynthia E. Bauman of Weymouth; a sister, Mildred Lederman of Portsmouth, N.H.; and six

Rena J. DuBois, 83

A funeral Mass for Rena J. (Montgrain) DuBois, 83, of Quincy, was celebrated Wednesday in St. John's Church, Quincy Center.

Mrs. DuBois, a member of St. John's Church Senior Citizens, died Sept. 28, after a brief illness.

Born in Canada, she lived in Lawrence before moving to Quincy 53 years ago.

Wife of the late Alfred DuBois, she is survived by two sons, Alfred E. DuBois and Edward J. DuBois, both of Quincy; two daughters, Rena F. Lundin of Manchester, N.H., and Georgette J. Elliott of Weymouth; a brother, Nelson Montgrain of Mississippi; four sisters, Yvonne Benoit of Worcester, Cecilia Crudelle of Rhode Island, Bertha Hoskins of Texas and Beatrice McKay of Lawrence; 10 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

She was the grandmother of the late Linda M. Rogers.

Burial was in Blue Hill Cemetery, Braintree.

Funeral arrangements were by the Sweeney Brothers Home for Funerals, 1 Independence Ave., Quincy.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK.

One of our readers recently sent us the following thoughts. We would like to share them with you. TAKE A MEMO TO YOURSELF The older I get I will try to keep going, instead of giving in to all the aches and pains that tempt me to say I don't feel up to doing

... Be as eager and enthusiastic a listener as a talker, since the sound of one's voice often grows sweeter the older one gets. ... Refuse to dwell on sad and tragic events, but to think and talk of happier things ... Make it as easy as possible for others to lend a helping hand, instead of insisting on having things done just as you would have them ... Do whatever you can, whenever you can, for those friends who are less fortunate or less able to do things for themselves. ... Be charitable instead of harshly critical of other's faults and shortcomings. ... Keep on making new friends to prevent your circle of friends from growing smaller year by year. ... Always have something planned for the future to look forward to ... See that the corners of your mouth turn up instead of down ... Hope you enjoy this as much as we did ...

Consultant, Committee Suggested For Landfill Problems

The City Council's Disposal and Sanitary Problems Committee listened Monday night to reports on problems with the city's landfill and options for dealing with waste disposal.

Suggestions were made that the city hire a consultant to help deal with the issue, and that it form an ad hoc committee on the matter.

But no votes were taken by the committee, which is chaired by Councillor Joseph LaRaia.

DPW Commr. Paul Anderson reviewed the factors leading up to last week's decision by the city to no longer accept commercial rubbish disposal at the West Quincy site as of Oct. 6.

The action is an effort to extend the life of the landfill until spring, 1987, and to ensure that the city has adequate space for its household refuse, he said.

It is hoped that the decision can be reversed in the spring if state permits are granted, officials have said.

Anderson said that closing off the landfill to commercial rubbish disposal was one of the more difficult decisions he's had to make.

"We didn't make the decision easily," said Anderson, "but the greater horror would have been having no space for residential rubbish."

The city has to keep the landfill going until after Secretary of Environmental Affairs James Hoyte gives his decision on a Final Environmental Impact Report due no later than March 15, 1987, Anderson said.

Quincy then hopes to extend the life of the landfill until 1993 when it has said it will close, according to Anderson.

"If you evaluate the various problems in the city, I don't think any touch as much to home as waste disposal," said LaRaia.

"The problem is not only unique to Quincy, but also throughout the state," he said.

Ward 4 Councillor James Sheets noted that a court case the City Council is limited in its authority regarding the landfill.

Sheets also said that the issue of waste disposal has to be dealt with on the state level.

Robert Daylor, president of Boston Survey Consultants, the city's consultant, said that the DEQE is holding the city to strict interpretation of the regulations.

"The city is on a wide course," said Daylor, "the landfill is well-operated."

Councillor Michael Cheney asked where the small landscapers and small contractors would bring their rubbish. He also asked if there could be recycling or composting of material at the landfill.

Anderson suggested landfills in Halifax and Cohasset. He also added that the city could also find space for its rubbish elsewhere but "would have to pay 15 or 20 times what we should."

He also said Cheney's suggestions were possible but not probable.

Cheney also suggested the city hire a consultant on waste disposal.

In response to a comment by LaRaia, Anderson said the city will try to ward off any attempts at illegal dumping by contractors.

"Before the Building Department issues a permit, it will know where the residue will go," said Anderson.

The Police Department has also been asked to maintain increased enforcement of laws in that area, he said.

Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro suggested that citizens report the license plate numbers of trucks which illegally dispose of solid waste.

Leo Kelly, chairman of the Environmental Control Commission, introduced three members of his group who discussed waste disposal alternatives.

They were Jim Kelley, Gail Kilkennons and Thomas Koch.

Kelley suggested that an ad hoc committee be formed to deal with the issue.

2 Represent Vo-Tech At State Student Advisory Council

Quincy Vocational Technical students Jennifer D'Olympio and Darrel Aiguer represented their school at the recent first meeting of the Greater Boston Student Advisory Council at the State House, Boston.

The group plans to meet monthly to discuss student issues.

"Exchanging views with other high school students throughout the state gives a new perspective to government," said D'Olympio, a senior who is majoring in culinary arts.

Morrissey is also available to see constituents at the State House, or can be reached by calling the State House at 722-2060 or at home, 328-0900.

McCauley Proclaims 4 Special Weeks

Mayor Francis McCauley has issued the following four proclamations to be observed by all city residents during October.

Oct. 6-12 has been designated Domestic Violence Awareness Week.

DOVE is a shelter in Quincy where help is available 24 hours a day.

The mayor has proclaimed Oct. 6-11 Mental Illness Awareness Week.

According to his proclamation during this period attention will be focused on combating the stigma so often associated with mental illness in the minds of the public.

Sponsors of this awareness is the Alliance for the Mentally Ill of the South Shore.

The third declaration proclaims October as Lupus Awareness Month.

Lupus Erythematosus is a disease of unknown cause which may cause inflammation and destruction of the skin, joints, lungs, kidneys, brain and virtually all other systems of the body, and which occurs primarily in women of child-bearing age.

An estimated 500,000 Americans are afflicted with this disease and 5,000 people die of this disease each year.

The mayor also noted October as Eastern Regional Library System Month.

The system, with headquarters at the Boston Public Library and sub-regional centers at the public libraries, including Quincy, is now celebrating the 20th year of its founding.

McCauley urges all citizens to give fitting recognition to this and the other proclamations.

TRY A TASTE OF GOURMET VIEWING. IT'S TV WITHOUT THE EAT.

Imagine this, you turn on your TV and whatever you're in the mood for, it's there. Well, it doesn't take imagination, all it takes is cable TV.

Cable is gourmet viewing. Not more TV, but better TV. You get the viewing you're hungry for. Hot blockbuster movies, just when you feel like one. When you want sports, cable gives you sports, not some soap opera.

Cable doesn't just give you crystal clear reception, it gives you channels you can't get on ordinary TV and fascinating viewing you can't find at any video store. Whole channels for news, weather, music, entertainment and much, much more. You can indulge your tastes exactly, no compromises here.

If you're interested in a TV diet that's rich but not filling, now's the time to try it. By calling 1-800-MY-CABLE now, you can get 50% off installation. So, enjoy a taste of gourmet viewing. We think you'll be completely satisfied.

WEEK OF: October 2

AQUARIUS — January 21-February 19
If ever you had to play the role of diplomat, this is the week. Feuding and touchy coworkers surround you. Peace returns after the weekend, and romance remains cheerful.

PISCES — February 20-March 20
Weekend finds you accepting offbeat invitations. You're unexpectedly outspoken, which can lead to rewards at home and at work. Real estate matters are favored presently.

ARIES — March 21-April 20
You enjoy hosting spontaneous gatherings, selecting your guest list proves an unexpected challenge. Week also favors laying the groundwork for a major new project.

TAURUS — April 21-May 22
A bolder Taurus delights friends and admirers - and the week finds you surrounded by both. Good time to learn a new skill or brush up on a favorite hobby.

GEMINI — May 23-June 21
Real estate transactions may prove favorable, but don't avoid asking questions. A loof relationship becomes much more agreeable. Romantic situation requires much diplomacy and some compromise.

CANCER — June 22-July 22
Month begins on a romantically upbeat note. Warm colors suit your mood. Confidence grows when your project receives approval from a respected friend. Creative writing is highlighted.

LEO — July 23-August 22
Attention to detail is important, especially in your professional dealings. Adventurous side trips are highlighted. A romantic uncertainty proves unfounded; partner is much more open.

VIRGO — August 23-September 22
Travel plans that have been blocked may be reactivated. Pet project is launched thanks to the backing of an anonymous supporter. Public speaking earns you applause.

LIBRA — September 23-October 22
Renovations and repair tasks are spotlighted, but avoid short cuts and experimentation. Young relatives seek your guidance. Romantic renewal makes you feel better about yourself.

SCORPIO — October 23-November 21
The direct approach may not add to your popularity, but it leads to answers - and subsequent solutions. Travel dream is starting to materialize. Romance trend is positive.

SAGITTARIUS — November 22-December 22
Diligence on the job brings recognition from a prestigious corner. Independent nature retreats temporarily and you become involved in various joint ventures. Earthy tones suit your mood.

CAPRICORN — December 23-January 20
Career or academic goal is inching closer, but your dedication is vital. Loved one sees your point of view more clearly. Rival at work is willing to compromise.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
Equality is your trademark - and you fight for fairness. You possess a vain streak, being ruled by Venus - planet of love and beauty. Becoming more practical can lead to key career strides by early '87. A creative streak emerges by January and extends through the year.

BORN THIS WEEK
October 2nd, critic Rex Reed; 3rd, singer Chubby Checker; 4th, actor Charlton Heston; 5th, actress Glynis Johns; 6th, actress Shirley Craig; 7th, actress June Allyson; 8th, actor Chevy Chase.

Arlington 33, North Quincy 12 Raiders Host Newton N. Friday At 2:30 P.M.

When the season started, North Quincy football coach Ken McPhee felt his offensive line was one of the Raiders' strong points.

But, for the second game in a row, that line did not do its job last Saturday and Arlington handed North its second loss in a row, 33-12, at Arlington.

The Raiders hope to get into the win column Friday when they host Newton North at 2:30 p.m. at Veterans Memorial Stadium. Newton will be trying to rebound from a 49-0 walloping at the hands of Brockton last week.

"The offensive line just isn't doing the job," McPhee said. "I can't understand it because they did just a good job in our pre-season scrimmages. I don't know, maybe we peaked in our last scrimmage with Braintree. I honestly thought the offensive line was one of our strong points. They just aren't blocking." North gained only 36 yards rushing and had just two first downs at Arlington. The longest run was one of 15 yards by Paul McCormick.

North gained 79 yards through the air on four completions, two for touchdowns. Arlington had only 72 yards rushing but had 13 passing on six completions, including a scoring bomb.

Arlington had seven first downs.

"Our defense did a good job despite the score," McPhee said. "They scored on a punt return, another on a long pass and another when we fumbled on the one-yard line."

McPhee had good words for the linebackers, Tom Dolan, Tim Kelly and Ryan Craig, also for the defensive efforts of twins Kevin and Keith Segalla, Sean Clancy, who had an excellent game; Brian Campbell, Dave Lawless, who had a fine one-handed interception, and Dan Smith.

Offensively quarterback Joe Mulvey had a good game as did McCormick and Billy McDougall.

As if things weren't bad enough, it was discovered that Matt 'Tank' McNamara, a 250-pound two-way standout, has a broken thigh and will be out for the season. "He was playing three weeks with it," McPhee said. "We will really miss him."

North was put in a hole right at the start. McCormick received the opening kickoff but fell, putting the Raiders inside their 10. North was held and Arlington's Jim Rigazio returned Tom Casey's punt 40 yards for a touchdown.

North came right back and Mulvey passed to Casey for 13 yards, and the tying touchdown. The score remained at 6-6 at the end of the quarter.

Early in the second quarter Rigazio threw a bomb to Drew Marochello, who got behind the North defender and scored, completing a 49-yard play.

A few minutes later Arlington added two points on a safety. With Casey back to punt on fourth down, the pass from center sailed over his head. Rather than fall on the ball, giving Arlington a first down inside the five, Casey smartly kicked the ball out of the end zone, giving Arlington two points instead of six.

Arlington increased its lead to 21-6 when Tim Legere scored on an eight-yard run and he also kicked the extra point.

North made it 21-12 at the half when Lawless, on an option pass, threw a scoring bomb to McDougall, the play covering 62 yards.

Arlington scored in the third quarter when the North quarterback fumbled on the one-yard line when sacked and Rigazio scored his second touchdown.

The winners completed their scoring in the final quarter when Ed Chalmers scored on a 15-yard run.

New Security Measures At Stadium

New security measures at Veterans Memorial Stadium are making night games more enjoyable to watch.

"My goal of making Friday and Saturday nights Family Nights at the stadium is reaching reality," said Athletic Coordinator Marty Finnegan. "Police are enhanced by faculty members with four faculty members in the stands at each game.

"The newest regulation is that once ticket sales are stopped at the start of the third quarter, the gates are locked and no one is admitted after that. If people really want to watch a game, they should be there early. Most of the late comers have been partying and that could mean trouble."

The first three night games under the new permanent lights at the stadium have seen only a few minor incidences.

North-Newton N. Game On WJDA

Radio Station WJDA begins a busy weekend of schoolboy football when it does the play-by-play of Friday's North Quincy-Newton North game at 2:30 at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

This will be the first of three weekend games on the station with Charlie Ross doing the play-by-play and Bill Coleman the color.

Saturday the 10 a.m. Bishop Fenwick at Abp. Williams game and the 1:30 Plymouth-Carver at Weymouth North game will be broadcast.

Originally a fourth game, Sunday's Weymouth South at Randolph game was scheduled, but this game was shifted to Sunday night due to the Jewish holy day, Rosh

Jaguars Edge Niners For Merchants Title

The Quincy Jaguars, sponsored by the Fowler House, defeated the Niners, 3-2, to win the Quincy Merchants Softball League championship.

The Niners started off with two runs in the first inning but Mike Scurti hit a three-run homer in the third to give the Jaguars the win and the title.

Jeff Murphy won his 18th game of the year for the Jaguars. Sean Murphy made an outstanding catch in right field with the bases loaded and two outs. Mike Murphy, captain and organizer of the team, made the game's final out.

Bogan Powers Manets To 12-6 Win Over Panthers

Maia Bogan ran for 101 yards, the first time a Houghs Neck Manet player has rushed 100 yards in many years, to lead the Manets to a 12-6 victory over the Quincy Point Panthers Sunday in a Quincy Youth Football League game at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

It was the Manets' first win over the Panthers in 23 years.

In the other game the Squantum Sailors topped the West Quincy Elks, 12-8, for their first victory.

Next Sunday the North Quincy Apaches will meet the Sailors and the Elks will play the Panthers. The first game is at 1 p.m.

Once again the Manets' 'Kamikazi Defense' played tough, forcing two turnovers, including a drive-ending second quarter fumble recovery by Jim Fidler, Eric Westhaver, Jeff Currie, Allen Spaur, David Mellyn and Ric Lallis also played strong defense.

Rich McDonald passed to Kevin McPartland for 43 yards and the Manets' first touchdown in the opening quarter. McDonald was two for four for 58 yards and one interception on the day.

There was no more scoring until the final quarter when the Panthers' Ken Staskyiwicz fell on a Manet fumble on the Manets' eight. Two plays later Bob Crespi scored from the three to tie the score.

With four minutes left in the game, the Manets' started from their own 43 and Bogan, with some fine running, brought the Manets to the Panther 23. Offensive coordinator Dan Morrell sent in a pass play but McDonald, finding all receivers covered, scrambled in for the winning score.

The Sailors scored early when Michael Gates returned an Elks kick 80 yards for a touchdown in the opening quarter.

The Elks went ahead in the second quarter when T.J. Duncanson scored on a 20-yard sweep and Brandon Balducci scored the two point conversion on a quarterback keeper.

The Manets scored the clincher in the fourth quarter, driving 50 yards with Rich Brooks scoring on a two-yard keeper. Junior Varsity cornerback Kenny Cunningham set up the winning drive by intercepting a pass.

Michael Picariello and Michael Lally, two Manet starters who have been out the past two weeks with injuries, will be back for Sunday's game with the Apaches.

Koch Boys, Girls Bowling Starts Saturday

The Koch Club Boys and Girls Bowling League will begin its 24th season Saturday, Oct. 4 at 9 a.m. at the Merrymount Daylight Alleys, 17 Broad St., Quincy.

Boys and girls, 7 to 14 years, throughout the city are invited to participate in the Saturday morning program. Several categories will be established according to age for individual averages as well as three string totals and single string achievements. The league season will be held from October until April when a Parents and Awards Night will close out the program.

Further information may be obtained from director Anthony T. Delmonico, 35 Gannett Rd., Adams Shore.

Marini Team Leads St. John's League

Brookline 33, Quincy 0

Presidents Face Waltham Friday At 7 P.M.

By TOM SULLIVAN
Quincy football coach Jack Raymer was hopeful that the thrilling last minute win over Cambridge Rindge and Latin and a fine week of practice would give the Presidents some momentum and a second straight win over Brookline last Saturday night at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

However, Quincy's defense and offensive line, which looked so good against Cambridge, faltered miserably and Brookline, rushing for 264 yards and adding 85 yards passing, rolled to a 33-0 victory before a disappointing and disappointed crowd.

Quincy will try to regroup this week in preparation for Friday night's 7 p.m. game with Waltham at the stadium. Waltham comes in with a 2-0 record, defeating Lexington and Revere.

"I'm terribly disappointed," said Raymer. "We had a good week of practice and I really thought we'd be ready tonight. But, the boys just didn't come to play. The offensive line didn't do its job and we missed far too many tackles. The offensive line wasn't blocking and they pretty well bottled up (Joe) Cardarelli (45 yards) and (Joe) Innello (31 yards).

"Steve Austin threw some good passes but he was under terrific pressure (sacked four times). They forced us to pass more than I wanted. They ran the option real well but many of their good gains were the result of our poor tackling. We'll have to work hard in preparation for a good Waltham team. Cardarelli will only get better (this is his first year of football) and I know Austin will have better luck passing."

Raymer had good words for wide receiver Steve Gardner and Steve Picarski and Innello for their excellent two-way performances.

Brookline, which had lost to Wellesley in its opener, had three speedy runners in quarterback Walter Norton (55 yards rushing), John Burke (71) and Dwayne Clarke (60).

Norton threw a 45-yard touchdown pass and backup quarterback Phil Polishuk threw a 34-yard scoring pass.

Quincy received the opening kickoff and a long pass from Austin barely missed connections and Gardner punted to Brookline's 43. It took the visitors only three plays to score.

After Norton and Clarke brought the ball to the Quincy's 41, Norton threw a bomb to end Brian Dockery which went all the way. Norton kicked the point.

Following the ensuing kickoff Quincy, with Cardarelli going 19 yards and adding six more yards, went to a first down on Brookline's 26. However, Austin was sacked twice and Brookline took over on its 40.

Brookline drove to Quincy's 15 with the help of a 15-yard penalty but Norton was sacked on fourth down and the Presidents took over on their own 26.

Quincy punted to Brookline's 49 and, starting the second quarter, Brookline, with Norton, Clarke and Burke sharing the ball carrying, marched to the Quincy three and Norton scored on a sneak. His kick for the point failed.

The Presidents, with Austin completing two passes to Gardner and one to Frank Calabro, staged its best drive of the game and went to Brookline's 18. With fourth and one on the nine Quincy was hit with a costly penalty. Brookline refused and took over on the nine.

Brookline took the second half kickoff and drove to its third touchdown, Norton going around left end for 16 yards and the score. A pass for two points failed.

Brookline's next touchdown was set up by Steve Fay's pass interception on his 43. Six plays later Clarke raced around right end for 22 yards and the touchdown. Norton kicked the 26th point.

On the third play of the fourth quarter, following a Quincy punt, Polishuk hit end Dave Kennedy with a pass covering 24 yards for the final touchdown and Norton again kicked the point.

Late in the game Austin hit Wes Crowley for a 29-yard pass which went to Brookline's 15 but again a penalty called the play back.

11 Shutouts, Low Scores Highlight Games

The Quincy Youth Soccer League resumed action last weekend after being rained out the previous week and low scores were again predominant with 11 shutouts and several other low scoring games.

In boys under 8 Quincy Cable defeated Conway Realty, 4-2, with Mike Johnston having a hat trick and Charlie Feeley the other goal. Jeremy Riley, Harry Spitulnik and Richard Garcia had assists and Jackie Haines played well. ## Quincy Legion Baseball Team Treated To Dinner

The Quincy Legion baseball team was recently treated to a steak dinner at Alfredo's Restaurant. The dinner was attended by 15 players and two coaches.

One player is in college and two others had previous commitments.

The Quincy team this summer was in a building year with nearly all young players and should be strong next season. They hope to fill the few openings with some of the better players coming out of the Babe Ruth League.

The team upset Braintree (second place in Zone 6) twice and gave zone champion Mass. Truck two of its toughest games, losing 5-4 and 3-0. Quincy also defeated Milton and Canton, two teams that were in the running for first or second place and spots in the state tournament until the last week of the season and also upset a strong Randolph team early in the season.

Jackets will be presented to the players soon.

North Jayvees Roll By Milton

By PETE ZOIA

The North Quincy junior varsity football team opened its season with a 28-14 victory over Milton.

Freshman Keith Gott scored the Raiders' first touchdown on a 12-yard run in the first quarter.

Steve Patch, who ran well throughout the game, brought North to the one-yard line in the second quarter and Bob Sylva scored on a quarterback sneak. Sylva skirted right end for the two-point conversion.

Later in the half Sylva passed to Patch for 43 yards to put North on the Milton 13. Sylva passed to Ted Stevenson for the score and Gott rushed for the two points.

Milton scored on a 54-yard drive and North led, 22-6, at the half.

In the third quarter Milton paraded 60 yards for a score as North coach Kevin Cobban substituted freely.

In the final quarter Patch continued his hard running and Sylva passed to Chris Mendes for 41 yards and the final touchdown.

"Considering we hadn't practiced much as a unit, we did a good job," said Cobban.

Cobban singled out Stevenson, Patch, Sylva, Mendes and center Paul Nimeskern for their work on offense and Dan Steele, Shawn Clancy, Bob Herman and Shawn Darcy for their defensive performances.

Also playing well for the Raiders were Lou Sasso, Joe D'Angelo, Chuck Peck, Mark Johnson, Paul Brown, Scott Collins, Steve Shoap, Paul Jeffers, Mike Curtin, Mike Malloy, Jack Mullen, Mike Shields and Vin Moran.

The North Quincy girls' swimming team, which got off to a good start with wins over Weymouth North, 90-40, and Stoughton, 100-72, dropped its last two meets to even its record at 2-2.

In their latest meet the Raiderettes lost to Canton, 92-79, despite double wins by Julie Killion and Kristen McCready.

Killion won the 50 freestyle and diving and McCready won the 200 freestyle and 500 freestyle.

These were North's only wins but the Raiderettes took several seconds and thirds to keep the score close.

In the victory over Stoughton Liz and Sarah Harrington led the way as Liz won the 100 breaststroke and 200 individual medley and led off the winning 200 medley relay team. Sarah won the 100 butterfly and swam with the winning relay team. Also on the team were Lisa Rodrigues and Joanna Vermette.

Kristen McCready won the 200 freestyle and the 500 freestyle, Julie Killion won the diving and Beth Hughes won the 100 backstroke.

Against Weymouth North Liz Harrington won the 200 individual medley and the 100 breaststroke and swam on the winning 200 medley relay team with Hughes, Rodriguez and Killion.

McCready won the 500 freestyle and 200 freestyle, Killion won the diving, Sarah Harrington won the 100 butterfly and Hughes won the 100 backstroke.

Bill Walker's promising squad includes seniors Debbie Briggett, Killion, McCready, Sandi Murphy, Diane Mullen,

Quincy Girls Edge Brookline For 7th Win

The Quincy girls' volleyball team, defending Suburban League champion, continues to win despite the loss of three starters, including veterans Terry Duggan (out for the season) and Pam Austin.

The First Ladies improved their record to 7-0 Monday with a 2-1 victory over Brookline.

With Quincy trailing in the opening game, Susan Parry served the last 11 winning points to give the First Ladies a 15-6 win. Brookline came back to win the second set 15-11 but Quincy won the clincher, 15-9. Co-Captain Ginny Duggan, the team's quarterback, who has been outstanding all season, had another fine day for Quincy.

Last Friday Quincy defeated Milford, 2-0 (15-6, 15-11), and earlier in the week topped Boston Latin, 2-1 (15-3, 9-15, 15-11), led by the spiking of Amy Guidice, the setting of Ginny Duggan and the defense of Sue Parry and Lauren Standing.

The Quincy girls will play at North Quincy Monday and will be at Waltham next Wednesday.

Meanwhile, the North Quincy girls improved to 6-1 and took over sole possession of second place in the Suburban League with a 2-0 (15-8, 15-9) win over Newton North Monday.

The Raiderettes, who have no seniors, who have lost a key player, Debbie Panaro, for the season, were sparked by Barbara Carroll and Christine Venezia in the opening game and in the second Holly Rendle served eight straight points and Deirdre Murphy and Jill Caldwell also stood out.

Last Friday North defeated Brookline, 2-1 (15-3, 12-15, 15-10, as Rendle scored the last five points of the final game, snapping a 10-1 tie.

Jill Caldwell served 13 straight points in the first game.

Earlier in the week North swept Newton South, 2-0 (15-2, 15-6) led by Carroll, Denise Marnell and Murphy.

The Raiderettes will host Quincy Monday and will be home to Brookline next Wednesday.

Sacred Heart Youth In Rehearsal For 'That's Show Business'

Rehearsals are under way for this year's edition of the Sacred Heart Parish Show.

This year's show, "That's Show Business," is the 18th sponsored by the Sacred Heart Youth Organization with 200 people of all ages participating.

The curtain goes up on the musical extravaganza Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 11 - 12 at 8 p.m. A Saturday afternoon matinee will be performed at 2 p.m. The show, under the direction of Ed Rooney, is one of the many events planned to celebrate the 25th anniversary of the opening of Sacred Heart School.

'Echos From Erin' Exhibit At Art Association

An art exhibit entitled "Echos from Erin" will be held at the Quincy Art Association, 26 High School Ave. Oct. 5 from 2 to 4 p.m.

The exhibit, featuring works by Judy Gaudet, Zenaida Maicus and Anet Paglierani represents a collection of impressions of an Irish holiday as seen by the three artists.

In the display, the artists have attempted to transmit an emotional response and appreciation to the viewer of the soul of Ireland, its pastoral landscapes, human characters and history. A variety of media and techniques have been employed such as oils, watercolor, pen and ink, pastel, photography celic illustrations and calligraphy.

The exhibit will continue through Oct. 31. Gallery hours are by appointment. Call 770-2482.

Ice Skating Program Starts Oct. 15

Recreation Director Barry J. Welch, announces the Quincy Recreation Department will again conduct its instructional ice skating program for boys and girls age 6-16.

The program will be at the Quincy Youth Arena Wednesday afternoons beginning Oct. 15. Instruction will be under the supervision of Mrs. Anne Eagles, a United States Figure Skating Association professional, and will utilize the basic program of instruction designed by the U.S.F.S.A.

Instruction is from beginner to advanced and there are two separate classes; one at 3:10 p.m. and one at 4:10 p.m. Each class runs for nine weeks. The cost is $30 which includes instruction and ice time.

Registration will take place at the Quincy Recreation Department, 100 Southern Artery, Monday - Friday from 9 a.m. - 4 p.m. beginning immediately. Enrollment is limited and will be taken on a first come first served basis. Additional information can be obtained by calling the Quincy Recreation Department at 773-1380, ext. 204.

Mother And Tot Group Forming

Quincy mothers with children up to five years old are invited to join a Mother and Tot group which will hold its first meeting Wednesday, Oct. 8, 9 to 11 a.m.

Meetings will be held once a week on Wednesdays in a centrally located parish center in Quincy.

Initial enrollment is limited to 10 mothers and children.

Purpose of the meetings is for discussion, friendship and playmates for the children.

For more information, call Maureen Spillane at 773-5234.

MEMBERS OF THE St. Mary's Seniors Citizens of West Quincy, recently attended the races at Rockingham Park and saw Jennifer Hayford guide Robert B.F. to victory in the second race honoring them.

Quincy Art Assn. To Host Two Programs

The public is invited to attend two unique programs scheduled by the Quincy Art Association, at 26 High School St., for next month.

Artists Judy Gaudet, Zenaida Maicus and Anet Paglierani will give their impressions of an Irish holiday trip at the association's opening reception Oct. 5, from 2 to 4 p.m. Program is titled: "Echos from Erin." On Oct. 14, Quincy sculptor Edward Monti will hold a discussion on techniques involved in processing granite for art work. Aerial views of the Quincy quarries and photographs of Monti's work will be featured. This presentation will be from 7:30 to 9 p.m.

Classes For Seniors At Town Brook House

Fall classes for senior citizens are being offered at Town Brook House, 45 Brackett St., Quincy.

Following is a list of activities:

Monday, Bowling; Tuesdays, Macramé; Wednesday, Exercise classes in the mornings; Fridays, Knitting classes. There is a minimal charge for each class. Call 479-0248.

Scuba Course To Start Oct. 7

The Quincy Recreation Department and the Quincy Underwater Recovery Dive Team will co-sponsor an introductory Scuba Course as part of its swimming programs at the Lincoln Hancock Community School Pool.

Recreation Director Barry J. Welch said: "This course has been designed to give the average family access to the sport of scuba with no cost to the participant. The dive team provides the necessary equipment and instructors for the six week course, and it enables residents of Quincy an opportunity to become knowledgeable about the sport, equipment, and safety in a controlled and orderly fashion.

"Although the course does not lead to certification, at its conclusion, participants may elect to enroll in a certification program. It is our hope that a program of this type will prevent persons from "borrowing gear to give it a try" -- a dangerous practice which often ends with injury or death."

There are three weeks of classroom programs and three weeks of pool experience. The classroom lessons are held Tuesday at 6:30 p.m. and the in-pool experience is on Mondays at 7 p.m.

The course will begin Oct. 7. The program is open to all ages from children to adults and family groups are especially encouraged to enroll.

Registration is limited and will take place during recreation swimming programs at the Lincoln Hancock Community School Pool beginning Sept. 15. Additional information can be obtained by calling the Quincy Recreation Department at 773-1380, ext. 204.

Women's Commission Chairman On Newsmakers Thursday

The chairwoman of the Mayor's Commission on the Status of Women, Carol Ann Speranzo, will appear on Newsmakers tonight (Thursday) at 8:30 p.m.

The program will air on both Quincy Channel 3 and the American Channel in Quincy, Milton and Randolph.

The Commission recently prepared a report on School Age Child Care in Quincy.

and will soon be releasing another report on the status of women in the city. Both these reports will be topics of discussion on Newsmakers, hosted by Stan Golub, the General Manager of Quincy Cablesystems. Panelists John Noonan, The Quincy Sun; Herb Fontaine, WJDA Radio, and Bill Flynn, the Patriot Ledger, will also be discussing other issues of importance to the Commission.

The Public Forum on the School Age Child Care Task Force Report, will also be covered live from the Quincy City Hall Council Chambers, Oct. 8 at 7:30 p.m. The results of the report will be presented and the forum will initiate a community action to implement an after school program for the Children of Quincy.

State and local community leaders have been invited.

Canoeing The Allagash On Cable Talk

A one-hour special: white water canoeing on the Allagash in the wilderness of northern Maine, will be featured tonight (Thursday) 7:30 p.m. on Cable Talk, Ch. 3.

Noonan will discuss with Ward 4 Councillor James Sheets and Eastern Nazarene College professor Cecil Paul, preparations for this exciting trip, their adventures and discoveries.

It will be a 25-minute slide presentation narrated by Sheets and Paul.

Accompanying them on the rugged journey were sons Tod Sheets and Jonathan Paul.

The show will be repeated Sunday, Oct. 12, at 6 p.m.

Part-Time Recreation Leaders Sought

The Quincy Park-Recreation Board announces that applications are now available for those interested in working as part-time recreation leaders in fall and winter programs sponsored and supervised by the Quincy Recreation Department.

Applicants must be at least 16 years old and residents of Quincy. College age applicants are preferred. The work is at a variety of afterschool and weekend times and is conducted at neighborhood gyms throughout the city.

Applications may be obtained at the administrative offices of the Recreation Department, 100 Southern Artery, weekdays from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., beginning immediately. Applications should be returned by Friday Oct. 10.

Those who have worked for the department in the past should send letters of reactivation to the recreation department prior to that date.

Additional information can be obtained by calling Recreation Director Barry J. Welch at 773-1380, ext. 204.

Retired Officers Meet Oct. 8

Shipyard Joint Bid Includes Power Plant

partnership with the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority on the basis that they wouldn't need the whole shipyard to do the work.

"We said fine, but if you bring in someone else, be sure nothing goes into the yard which will have an adverse impact on the neighborhood or city.

"We've had problems with emissions from Edison and Procter and Gamble.

"We're very concerned about that."

Rep. Robert Cerasoli said that he was "absolutely appalled" with the proposal, and would file a bill against it.

"I'm totally appalled at the proposal," said Cerasoli. "I can't believe that the shipyard workers and Mass. Shipbuilders allowed me as an elected official to be hoodwinked like this.

"My belief all along was that there would be a proposal for the place to remain a shipyard.

"I extended myself, as the city councillor did, to try and preserve the shipyard in the area, and to help the union.

"In the 11th hour, now we found out that there is a proposal to divide the property into three parcels which we opposed all along for fear it would end up like a Hingham Shipyard situation—unsightly and out of control.

"And we opposed any kind of development which would be adverse to Quincy Point.

"There is absolutely no reason why the people of Quincy Point have to be subjected to this, and have their property downgraded by the construction of some co-generation station to burn gases, or sludge or whatever. "I don't care what anyone saves on service. It's not a good development and I will oppose it wholeheartedly."

Ward Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro echoed Cerasoli's comments.

"I oppose anything of the sort that they are suggesting," said DeCristofaro.

"At this point, I know the people don't want it. I certainly don't want it.

"This will drag down the value of the area enough to make it offensive.

"Communication has not been good, and I will certainly oppose the proposal.

"I don't think we need it there. We worked hard for the shipyard and extended ourselves, but we never expected anything like this. "This hit us right between the eyes."

Mayor Moves To Reopen Wollaston School

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

All indications are that the Wollaston Elementary School, which was closed amidst much protest in 1982 due to declining enrollments, will reopen in the fall of 1987.

Mayor Francis McCauley announced Tuesday that he will submit to the City Council Oct. 20 an appropriation order for $250,000 to work on reopening the school.

City Councillor John J. Lydon, Jr., who with council president Stephen McGrath has pushed for reopening of the school, said that he could virtually guarantee passage of the order at the next meeting.

"We're very, very pleased," said Lydon, who along with McGrath represents the Wollaston area.

McCauley also noted that he intends to focus more money on the schools in next year's budget.

"But I still hope that the School Committee will face up to the fact that it is necessary to close a middle school, and Sterling is the proper one."

McCauley said the school is operating at 27% of capacity and would require $750,000 to keep open.

The mayor said that he decided to submit the appropriation order after he learned from the Planning Department this weekend that the money to reopen the school could come from a UDAG repayment of over $2 million which the city received from the sale of 200 Newport Ave.

"That takes the pressure off the tax rate and the fiscal '88 line expenditures," said McCauley, who is chairman of the School Committee.

He called his action a compromise.

McCauley explained that school reorganization has been before the School Committee since last spring.

School Supt. John Osterman recommended that the Wollaston School be reopened to eliminate overcrowding in the Parker and Furnace Brook Schools, and that the Sterling Middle School be closed due to lack of enrollment, he said.

The School Committee voted 5 to 2 to accept the Wollaston School recommendation, with Mary Collins and McCauley dissenting, and rejected the Sterling closing 6 to 1, with McCauley again dissenting.

according to the mayor.

In September, Osterman reaffirmed his recommendations and presented some facts and figures, McCauley said.

At a public hearing last week, parents gave impassioned pleas to reopen the Wollaston School, and to keep the Sterling open.

McCauley offered a compromise to authorize reopening of the Wollaston School if the School Committee would consider closing the Sterling.

The compromise was tabled, and was to have come up at the next meeting, Oct. 15, according to McCauley.

Also tabled was a motion by Mrs. Collins to close Central Middle School, and a motion by Mrs. Peggy Nigro to set up a task force to study the possible closing of a middle school, he said.

McCauley said he later talked informally with School Committee members and learned that his motion and that of Collins would not have enough votes to pass, but that

Charge Dismissed

New Suspect Sought In Murder Case

A murder charge against a Quincy man in the knife death of another Quincy man was dismissed in Quincy District Court Tuesday.

A spokesman said Quincy police and Norfolk County Dist. Atty. William Delahunt's office requested the dismissal because of new information.

Robert M. Scully, a 34-year-old construction worker was found stabbed repeatedly in the neck in his Faxon Commons apartment Saturday night.

The spokesman said a new prime suspect and a woman are being sought in connection with the case.

Old and new evidence will be presented to a Norfolk County grand jury in quest of indictments, said the spokesman.

Early Sunday, police arrested a 28-year-old Quincy man and charged him with first degree murder.

Police said the man was standing outside Scully's apartment building when they arrived following their receiving a call on the police emergency 911 number asking for an ambulance at that address.

Officials said an autopsy performed Sunday at Quincy City Hospital showed Scully was killed by multiple stab wounds to the neck.

Quincy District Court Judge John Concannon ordered the suspect released during his arraignment Tuesday morning.

Prosecutor in the case is Asst. Dist. Atty. Joseph Killian.

Interest Charge On Late Tax Bills

Estimated property tax bills which are unpaid after Nov. 3, are subject to interest at the rate of 14 percent from Oct. 3, according to the Board of Assessors.

Notices of estimated tax on real estate for fiscal year 1987 were mailed last Friday to the owners of record as of Jan. 1.

The bills were sent to the address of the property assessed unless the owner has provided the assessors with the valid mailing address of any new owner or the person responsible for the payment of the tax.

The mailing of the notice to the address of record constitutes proof that such taxes are due and payable on or before Nov. 3, according to the Assessors Board.

O'Donnell Resigns From QCH Board Of Managers

Atty. Lawrence O'Donnell of Quincy has submitted his resignation from the nine-member Quincy City Hospital Board of Managers, according to mayor Francis McCauley.

O'Donnell was appointed to a five year term on the board in 1980 by then Mayor Arthur Tobin, said McCauley.

He was reappointed by McCauley to another five year term in January, 1985.

McCauley said that O'Donnell was a member of Mayor Tobin's task force looked into professional management of the hospital.

O'Donnell was also involved in the decision to bring Hospital Corporation of America to the hospital, and worked with HCA on plans for the replacement of a major portion of the hospital, the mayor said.

"We thank Mr. O'Donnell for his service," said McCauley.

A replacement for O'Donnell will be named in the next few weeks, according to the mayor.

Employee Raises Due Next Week

Members of the 425-member Hospital, Library and Public Employees union who were granted upgrades should be getting their raises next week.

The City Council voted Monday night to allow the ordinance changes for the salary increases.

Robert Brennan, head of Data Processing, said that if the personnel department submits the salary changes Friday, the raises will be reflected in next week's checks.

The upgrading process was the source of some controversy when some employees complained to City Councillors they did not receive adequate notice of the upgrading process.

A public hearing was held and three city employees from among about 20 at the hearing complained about the process.

The council's Ordinance Committee requested that Mayor Francis McCauley reopen the process of upgrades, but he said he would not.

The raises will be retroactive to sept. 29, according to the mayor.

Shipyard Joint Venture Bid To Council Oct. 14

A presentation on Mass Shipbuilders and Reilly/Athy's joint venture bid for the General Dynamics Quincy Shipyard is scheduled for a meeting of the City Council's Environmental Control Commission Tuesday, Oct. 14.

The meeting will begin at 7 p.m. in the City Hall Council Chambers. All interested persons are invited.

According to Councillor Michael Cheney, Committee Chairman, members will also hear from the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority, Public Works Commissioner Paul Anderson, and George O'Kane, president of Shipbuilding Workers Union Local 5.

"The meeting will give the City Council the opportunity to review the proposal and make suggestions and comments with regard to its actual implementation," said Cheney.

"In the event that General Dynamics accepts this particular proposal, it will be necessary for the City Council and mayor to deal with the environmental issues that will be emanating from this proposal," he said.

$4,936,464 In Construction

The Building Inspection Department reports that 123 permits for construction were issued for an estimated cost of $4,936,464 during the month of September.

Building Inspector Kenneth Johnson said his department received $22,919 in permit tees and $683 for public safety inspections. One dwelling unit was added through new construction and three through alterations.

One permit was issued for a one-family home estimated to cost $75,000.

There was one issued for a mercantile construction at $3 million, one garage at $8,000, 100 residential alterations at $806,729, five other alterations at $925,400, two removals at $80,900, six signs at $11,885, and seven miscellaneous at $28,550.

Hearing Nov. 3 On PUD-Industrial B

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

A joint public hearing of the Planning Board and City Council is planned for Monday, Nov. 3, at 6:30 p.m. at City Hall to discuss the inclusion of Industrial B in Planned Unit Development areas of the city.

The inclusion was suggested in a resolve submitted Monday night by Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro.

DeCristofaro had also proposed rezoning the site of General Dynamics from Industrial B to Planned Unit Development so that the council will have control over what goes on there.

But before that rezoning takes place, DeCristofaro wanted to add Industrial B uses so that shipbuilding would be allowed.

"We want to ensure that shipbuilders will be able to go back to work," said DeCristofaro.

General Dynamics is currently evaluating bids for the 102-year-old Quincy shipyard which closed last spring.

Among them is a joint venture bid by Massachusetts Shipbuilders, Inc., and Reilly Athy Associates.

Massachusetts Shipbuilders, a corporation established by former managers and the unions representing the workers of the shipyard, would use 110 acres of the 180 acre shipyard to do ship construction and repair work.

The private energy development group directed by Reilly Athy Associates of Boston would establish a cogeneration station powered by enriched coal on 35 acres.

The reaction of officials to the cogeneration station has ranged from mild reservations to outright opposition.

Mass. Shipbuilders was scheduled to make a presentation on their proposal to officials of Quincy and Braintree and community residents last night (Wednesday) at 7:30 p.m. at Shipbuilders Union Hall, 480 Quincy Ave.

At the meeting Monday night, DeCristofaro said, "I would like to take a minute to assure the members of the shipbuilding group that neither I nor any member of this council would do anything to hurt you in your endeavors to restore shipbuilding in Quincy.

"We have worked with you in the past, and will continue to do so.

"However, we have a concern for the residents of Quincy Point, Germantown and Houghs Neck, as well as our neighbors in Braintree and Weymouth.

"We have an obligation to do all we can to see that the quality of life is not jeopardized."

Mayor Francis McCauley said, "Planned Unit Development is the proper way to go.

"But it is important to expand it to Industrial B.

"The council is on the right track.

"Under PUD, it will be incumbent upon Reilly Athy to present plans for scrutiny by the council.

"They'll have to show that the plant will not be environmentally detrimental to any part of the city."

Homeless Shelter Committee Being Formed By Mayor

Mayor Francis McCauley said Tuesday that he is forming a seven member committee to look into the possibility of a shelter for the homeless locating at the Registry of Motor Vehicles building.

The registry, a tenant at will in the city-owned building on Broad St., Quincy Center, is evaluating bids for the lease of some 7,600 square feet of office space in Quincy, according to McCauley.

Its lease with the city expired a few years ago, and it needs more office and parking space, but must remain in Quincy, according to the law, McCauley said.

However, the registry has unsuccessfully searched for a new location before.

"The Interfaith Sheltering

Coalition is very definitely interested in that location as a shelter for the homeless should the registry move," said McCauley.

McCauley said in the past that there was a very strong possibility of locating a permanent shelter for the homeless at the Broad St. site should it become available.

But he noted this week that a definite decision has not been made.

"The Homeless Shelter Committee will advise the administration," he said.

McCauley said that if the registry decides not to move, it is possible that the committee will look at other possible sites for a homeless shelter.

"There are a lot of details to be worked out," McCauley said.

"But our administration is very anxious to settle the question of a permanent location for a shelter," he said.

The shelter began in July, 1984 at the Salvation Army, expanded to St. John's Church, Quincy Center, and then moved to Faxon House at Quincy City Hospital, according to Nancy Powers, Interfaith Sheltering Coalition executive director.

It had to move from Faxon House in May because the building is being demolished as part of the hospital reconstruction, she said.

A shelter for women is currently housed at Quincy Point Congregational Church and for men at Wollaston Lutheran Church, according to Mrs. Powers.

ONE HUNDRED copies of "Quincy, A Guide For Residents," were presented by the Quincy League of Women Voters to the city of Quincy. From left, are league member Clara Yeomans, Mayor Francis McCauley, Mary Quinn and Anne Kane, also league members.

Flu Vaccine Clinic Schedule

Quincy Health Department will hold its annual flu vaccination clinic Oct. 18, 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the John F. Kennedy Health Center, 1120 Hancock St.

Flu vaccine will be given to city residents 29 years and older. Those ages 13 to 28 must have a written request from their physician. No vaccine will be given to children under the age of 13.

The Health Department urges shut-ins to call the public health nursing office as soon as possible to arrange for a house visit. The telephone is 773-1380, ext. 238.

The vaccinations will also be given at the following locations for senior citizens unable to attend the Oct. 18 clinic:

Today (Thursday): Fenno House, 540 Hancock St., 9 to 10:30 a.m.; Town Brook House, 45 Brackett St., 1:30 to 2:30 p.m.

Oct. 10: 1000 Southern Artery (North Wing), 9 to 10:30 a.m.; Pagnano Towers, 109 Curtis Ave., 1:30 to 2:30 p.m.

Oct. 15: Atlantic Neighborhood Center, 12 Hunt St., 9:30 to 10:30 a.m.; Squantum Star of the Sea Church, 1:30 to 2:30 p.m.

Oct. 16: Houghs Neck Community Center, 1193 Sea St., 9:30 to 10:30 a.m.; Drohan Apartments, 170 Copeland St., 1:30 to 2:30 p.m.

Oct. 20: Sawyer Towers, 95 Martensen St., 1:30 to 2:30 p.m.

License Board Pushes For Fence Settlement

The License Board told Burger King and the 7-Eleven convenience store they have just one more week to resolve a fencing issue to the satisfaction of the neighborhood in Lakin Sq., West Quincy.

The hearing Tuesday was continued from Sept. 30 when an angry Ward Four Councillor James Sheets said the barriers, along Adams and Robertson Sts., and pavement dividers between the two firms were removed about two months ago without notifying the abutters. This he said turned those neighboring properties into a giant parking lot where motorists peel rubber around Burger King after the fast food restaurant closed at 11 p.m.

Atty. Peter Eley of Quincy, representing Southland Corporation of Dallas, Tex., who own 7-Eleven and the neighboring property, told the board the fence on the Robertson St. side of Burger

King has been replaced. He also said railroad ties now divide the lots.

Originally, the 7-Eleven was a tenant of Burger King, but Southland purchased both lots.

Att. Henry Dane, representing Burger King, told the board he'd like to see this fencing situation resolved in an orderly way, and wants to negotiate with the 7-Eleven people to meet our needs as well as 7-Eleven.

That's when Board Chairman John Gillis interrupted and said:

"Before you go any further, you mean the needs of the neighborhood.

"You're in a privilege business there. And get this straight, you have to appease these people. You are the abutter of these people.

"When you got that license you were told to keep that gate closed. I don't care who told you to open that gate. You should have come to this board first.

"This board granted certain licenses to 7-Eleven and Burger King and I'm certain we can do things to help the neighborhood. So if you people want to get strict we'll get strict. It's up to you to come together. You, Southland, and the neighbors.

Jacqueline Quirt from Councillor Sheets office told the hearing he wants a fence dividing the property line and the Burger King be secured after it closes at 11 a.m.

As it stands now there is a joint driveway for both firms on Adams St., Quirt added.

Poker Game Over?

The Wollaston School and the Sterling Middle School issue were taking on the appearance of an old fashioned poker game.

Mayor Francis McCauley was shuffling the cards with the boldness of a Mississippi river boat gambler.

McCauley had proposed to appropriate $250,000 to re-open the Wollaston School providing the School Committee voted to close the Sterling Middle School. He wants Sterling closed because of low enrollment and its physical condition.

His offer touched off a loud ruckus with some Wollaston School area parents and others calling the proposal political blackmail.

Political observers, however, saw it as a quarter-million dollar carrot with McCauley strategically dangling it in front of the School Committee — most of whom are sure the Wollaston School should be reopened but not all that sure Sterling shouldn't be closed.

But this week, as the clamor to reopen the Wollaston School got louder, McCauley dealt a surprise card: he announced Tuesday he will submit the $250,000 appropriation order to re-open the Wollaston School next year.

There were no strings attached.

DURKIN

But he expressed hope the School Committee would change its mind and vote to close Sterling.

But School Committee Vice-Chairman Steve Durkin says the Wollaston and Sterling Schools have been separate issues in the past and should remain that way.

"They should not be tied together," he says. "Each should be decided on its own merits."

He notes that last march, the School Committee voted 6-1 to keep Sterling Middle School open for 1986-87 and 5-2 to reopen the Wollaston School.

The McCauley proposal to appropriate $250,000 to re-open Wollaston School in exchange for closing Sterling Middle is scheduled for a showdown vote at the next School Committee meeting.

"They are still separate issues as far as I am concerned," says Durkin. "And I think the majority of the other members still feel that way."

"You know," he adds, "he (McCauley) must think reopening the Wollaston School is really the right thing to do or why would he offer the $250,000 appropriation to open it?"

Durkin feels that there should not be any deal made to close Sterling Middle in exchange for the $250,000 to re-open the Wollaston School.

"If we need to close a middle school we should make a study of all the middle schools first," he says.

The latest capacity and enrollment figures (in brackets) for the five middle schools are:

Atlantic 750 (450); Broad Meadows, 775 (320);
Central, 700 (500); Point 450 (170) and Sterling 725 (230).

The actual cost of reopening the Wollaston School is pegged around $400,000 and the cost of rehabilitating Sterling is estimated around $700,000.

Durkin says that about 60 per cent of the capacity outlay cost for either would be 60 per cent reimbursable.

McCAULEY

MEANWHILE, School Committee Frank Anselmo is standing firm: he wants Wollaston School re-opened and Sterling to remain open.

And, he thinks Mayor McCauley is squeezing pennies so tightly he could strangle education in the city.

"He has a $4 million surplus and the city is in the best financial shape it has been in years," Anselmo says.

ANSELMO

"I told him he would be remembered not for how much money he left behind but what he did as mayor."

Anselmo says he wishes the School Committee had an override power so that "one man can't dictate against the wishes of the majority."

Like, he says, the School Committee vote last spring to keep Sterling open and to re-open the Wollaston School.

"Maybe," he says, "we should have a process by which if the vote is taken a second time and prevails it would be considered an override and passed."

Anselmo also fears that if Sterling is closed it will be sold for condos or something like that, and for less than it is worth.

"And then," he says, "five or 10 years from now we could be begging for space for a new school in the same area. The elementary school population is going up and middle schools are still going to be needed."

If it ever got to the point that Sterling was to be sold, Anselmo says he would be willing to pay the appraisal fee to be sure the building "is not given away" to some developer.

But he wants the school to stay open and wants Wollaston School re-opened.

"I'm 88 and I have no political or financial gain in this," he says. "All I want is good education for our children."

DUKAKIS

SHERIFF Clifford Marshall will host a reception for Governor
Michael Dukakis Saturday, Oct. 18 from 2 to 5 p.m. at the National Fire Protection Association, Battermarch person and are available from James Roche (326-1787) or at the Dukakis

Wollaston, Sterling Tradeoff Is Unfair

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

Have you heard Mayor McCauley's compromise solution to the overcrowding issue at the elementary level?

During a public hearing on Oct. 1, the mayor of Quincy told us that, yes, Wollaston school is needed. The city of Quincy has the money to provide $250,000 towards its refurbishing. But he will only appropriate these funds if the School Committee votes to close Sterling Middle School. Is this not blackmail? Mayor McCauley was elected by the people for the people to represent the views of the voters. Wednesday night we heard from many different voters from all sections of the city. The message was the same "Open Wollaston School, do not close any middle school." He claims he has listened to the people but has he? In my opinion only with deaf ears.

Mayor McCauley, you are wrong on this issue. I can not believe you had the audacity to publicly make such a so called compromise. Are we playing a game here? I'll give you Wollaston School you give me Sterling Middle School or if Mrs. Collins has her way, Central Middle school. Just because your children have already gone through the system does that mean education is no longer a priority? We are talking about the education of the children of the future. Their education is not something to compromise about.

You sit there on your high horse claiming to be the only one right. Tell me how can so many of your colleagues and people of Quincy be wrong and you be right? You have publicly admitted Wollaston School is needed. You have publicly admitted the money is there. How can you justify a trade off? This is unfair! No elected official has the right to be a dictator. This is America, a land built on democracy. Where is the democracy here? I challenge you to dare do a public opinion poll? Ask the voters if education is important, ask if Wollaston School should open, ask if a middle school should close?

Please prove to the people of Quincy you are more than a mayor trying to win a national contest for the best financial manager. Money is important yes but what ever happened to the principles & values money can't buy?

You are making the people lose faith in government. You are abusing your privilege as chairperson of the school committee and mayor of this city. The School Committee already voted to open Wollaston School and not close Sterling Middle School. Only a person who voted in the affirmative has the right to have a vote reconsidered. Since you did not, are you not have that right. Are you that arrogant to believe you are above the rules?

Maybe I should send you a copy of Robert's Rules of Order, you seem to have forgotten them. When other school committee members bring this to your attention you rule them out of order. How convenient! You have over stepped your bounds, Mayor McCauley. The Wollaston School issue needs to be settled immediately or it is too late to settle it and you know it.

The middle school issue needs to either accept the principals' recommendation to close Point Middle School or form a task force to educational evaluate any closing. Any other decision is irresponsible.

Believe it or not your opinion is not necessarily the law. Neither is mine but at least I know many voters in this city feel the same way. What's your excuse?

We will not let you pit parent against parent, school against school. Anyone who cares about education knows only one thing is important and I quote from school policy "the nation's future is dependent upon the education of the youth; that the Quincy School Committee has the legal responsibility to provide adequate school opportunity for the youth of the Quincy public schools; that the committee also has a civic, a social, an economic, and a moral and ethical responsibility to the community it represents."

You are not doing this. You are in violation of the rules that are suppose to govern your decisions. The two issues must be separated!! Wollaston School must be dealt with now.

MTA Extension Opposed Here

George A. Yarrington called on South Shore businessmen to oppose attempts to extend the Metropolitan Transit Authority lines to Braintree or Greenbush in Scituate.

Yarrington predicted a new attempt would be made after George A. Alpert, president of the New Haven Railroad, said he is considering abandoning passenger service on the Old Colony Division.

Opposing the MTA because of its large publicly funded deficit, Yarrington is the author of a bill in the legislature that would create a South Shore Transit Authority to Greenbush, Plymouth and Middleboro.

The Unclaimed Money List: Complaint No. 2

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

The Quincy Sun either missed the point or ducked the issue on last week's letter concerning the "Unclaimed Money List."

The issue is whether or not the incumbent treasurer has a right to use the taxpayers money and the "Money List" as a campaign vehicle to plaster his name in big, bold letters all over the newspapers of the Commonwealth, while the challenger has to pay for advertising out of her own campaign funds.

The offense may not be illegal, but is certainly unethical, and Mr. Crane seems very skilled at violating the spirit, if not the letter of the law.

The other issue is whether or not The Quincy Sun, or any newspaper should participate in this abuse of the public trust. The incumbent are already playing with a stacked deck, they don't need any extra help.

The voters of Massachusetts and the voters of Quincy in particular deserve better from the incumbent treasurer and the editor of The Sun.

For the Quincy Republican City Committee
Richard Lockhead,
Chairman
106 Willow St.
Wollaston

(Editor's note: We don't want to prolong a debate, but The Sun neither missed the point nor ducked the issue concerning the state's "Unclaimed Money List.")

We responded last week to a letter written by Richard Harris, vice chairman of the Quincy Republican Committee who claimed we referred to the list as the State Treasurer's Money List. We did not. Period.

Now Richard Lockhead, chairman of the Quincy Republican Committee, apparently is criticizing us and other newspapers for running the unclaimed money list because it comes under the State Treasurer's office now occupied by Robert Crane, a Democrat.

We wonder where the Republican City Committee was last year when we ran the unclaimed money list. We heard no complaints then, which coincidentally was not an election year.

We also wonder whether the Quincy Republican Committee would prefer we not inform people who have unclaimed money coming to them so that the incumbent state treasurer doesn't get his name into the newspapers.)

Close No More Schools, Enough Is Enough!

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

Quincy's greatest natural resource is its children. Providing a stable, quality education must be the first responsibility of this School System.

It is more important to consider the effects another school closing will have on the students rather than how valuable, to the City of Quincy, property will be if a school is closed.

We, as parents, are constantly encouraged to provide a stable and loving home environment for our children. Is it too much to ask that the school system put as much effort in this endeavor as we try to do at home? Let us not forget that many of the students who will be affected by a school closing have already been subjected to their elementary school being closed.

These upheavals are not healthy for them. Must they be subjected to the stress and uncertainty of another closing? How will this affect their studies? How are they to learn when their young minds are constantly flooded with worry about where they will be going to school next year?

What about the friendships they have fostered? Do we tell them just to forget their friends - they will make new ones at a new school? It is not that easy! Another far-reaching but relevant question could be - will these students, when they become adults and have children of their own, remain in Quincy and have them educated here or will they move away in search of a more stable educational system? We can not be narrow-minded in our decisions. What we decide today will have far-reaching effects years from now!

The closing of any more schools in this system is repugnant to me. My major concern and reason for appearing before the School Committee Oct. 1 was to support Central Middle School. Two of my three children have come through

Harold Announces $41,829 Aging Council Grant

Sen. Paul Harold announces that the Executive Office of Elder Affairs has awarded a $41,829 to the Quincy Council on Aging.

"The grant is to supplement the city's money in providing a variety of services to the senior citizens of Quincy," said Harold.

It is a continuance of a grant given every year, noted Harold, but represents a 26 percent increase over last year.

The money will be used to help pay for four support staff positions for outreach development, to assist with operational expenses, provide a stipend for a research intern, and help pay for membership in the Mass. Council of Older Americans, Harold said.

"The grant is maximized by the fact that the Council on Aging depends a great deal on using volunteers," said Harold.

William Geary Among Outstanding Alumnus At NU

MDC Commr. William Geary, of Elm Avenue in Wollaston, is one of six graduates of Northeastern University honored as Outstanding Alumni for 1986.

Geary was honored in the field of public service.

Geary received a master's degree in public administration and American government from Northeastern in 1972.

Geary, who also holds a bachelor's degree in political science and history from Boston State College and a juris doctor degree from Suffolk University Law School, was appointed as MDC commissioner by Governor Michael Dukakis in 1983.

Prior to his appointment, Geary served as senior advisor to Governor Dukakis. Other positions held during his career include executive director of the Advertising Club of Greater Boston, special assistant to Governor Dukakis during his first term, and first deputy secretary of state under Secretary of State Michael J. Connolly. Geary also served as a consultant to the White House during the Carter administration.

Geary teaches at the Suffolk University Graduate School of Administration and has been a visiting lecturer at several area colleges and universities. He is an active member of several professional organizations.

Northeastern University is the world leader in cooperative education. After the freshman year, Northeastern undergraduates alternate quarters of full-time study with quarters of paid work in fields relevant to their majors. Northeastern offers full- and part-time programs in arts and sciences, business, computer science, criminal justice, engineering, teaching and counseling, law, nursing, and pharmacy and allied health professions.

A Word About Locks

As I have mentioned in the past the One Inch Deadbolt Lock is the best type of lock for your home. I would like to tell you a little more about the One Inch Deadbolt Lock.

A deadbolt is a solid metal bar that spans the gap between a door and its frame. The word "dead" means that there are no springs to operate the bolt. When fully engaged, it cannot be pushed back by a "shim" such as a flexible credit card. It must be manually locked (thrown) and unlocked (retracted). With the one inch throw on the bolt, it is difficult for a thief to break through the door.

Deadbolt locks require an additional lock, latch or door closer to hold the door closed when the deadbolt is not thrown. For this reason, deadbolts are generally used with other types of locks. Deadbolts are often referred to as auxiliary locks-for added security, two lock protection.

There are three types of deadbolts on the market today.

- Double Cylinder Deadbolt: The double cylinder deadbolt operated by key inside and outside, is often used on doors with glass near the outside knob. This will prevent the thief from breaking a pane of glass, reaching in and unlocking the door.

- A Word of Caution: A double cylinder deadbolt on any exit door can be a threat to the life safety of those inside. In an emergency, the need to locate the key and unlock the door could waste precious time. When the inside is occupied always leave the key IN or NEAR the inside cylinder for a quick exit.

- Single Cylinder Deadbolt: The single cylinder deadbolt is operated by key from the outside and a thumbpiece on the inside. This type of deadbolt is ideal for doors that have no windows.

- Turn Bolt Deadbolt: This is a one sided lock. The outside of the door is blank. The inside of the door has a thumbpiece to operate the lock. This type of deadbolt lock is good for cellar doors that lead upstairs.

Deadbolt locks range in price from around $12.00 to $25.00, installation is extra. If you have any questions concerning deadbolt locks, contact a reputable locksmith. He will be able to answer all of your questions.

'A Quality Life' Sermon Title At Bethany

There will be two worship services Sunday at Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Center, at 9 a.m. in the chapel and 10 a.m. in the sanctuary.

The Rev. Joel F. Huntington, associate minister, will preach at both hours and act as liturgist. The sermon will be entitled "A Quality Life" based on the Scripture texts of the Gospel of Mark 1:32-39 and the Second Letter to Timothy 2:8-15. The sermon and service will focus on how Jesus Christ offers to us a better, richer kind of life.

Lay Scripture readers will be Helen C. Cole in the chapel and Sylvia A. Hofsepien in the sanctuary. During the sanctuary service the chancel choir, under the direction of Peter E. Krasinski, will sing "Hear My Prayer" by Will James and adapted by Carl Deis as the offertory anthem. They will also sing "Say To Them That Are Of A Fearful Heart" by Everett Titcomb as a second anthem.

The worship service is broadcast live over WJDA, 1300 kc at 10 a.m. In addition a taped copy of the worship can be purchased for $2 by contacting the church office.

The Sunday School will be in session from 10 to 11 a.m. with classes for children of pre-school through eighth grade. Nursery care for babies is also provided as well as a toddler class for young children. Our Early Childhood Coordinator, Denise Fleming, will be present to supervise the care of infants through first graders.

At 11 a.m. there will be a fellowship hour in the Allen Parlor. Individuals and families from the community are welcome to share in the worship and the fellowship. You are also invited to enroll children in the Sunday School program.

For additional information about Bethany's ministries, contact the church office at 479-7300.

Covenant Sunday Observed At Squantum Church

Members of the First Church of Squantum observed Covenant Sunday during both of the Sunday morning worship services.

It was an opportunity for members to renew their covenant with God and with each other by reading the Church Covenant together and participating in the Lord's Supper.

During the early service, church pastor Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin preached on the subject, "Covenant as Friendship."

His text was taken from the story of the paralytic who was lowered down before Jesus through an opening in the ceiling: "And when Jesus said their faith, he said to the paralytic, 'My son, your sins are forgiven.'" (Mark 2:5)

Scott Catton gave the call to worship. Deborah Stohlberg led the prayer of dedication. Guitarists Andrew Ogilvie and Mary Ruth Scott accompanied the congregational singing.

Krista Olson and Marci Hurd served as ushers.

During the later service, Dr. Langevin preached on the subject, "Why We Renew Our Covenant," taking as his texts, "Behold, the days are coming, says the Lord, when I will make a new covenant with the house of Israel and the house of Judah..." (Jeremiah 31:31) and "This cup is the new covenant in my blood." (1 Corinthians 11:25b)

Deacon emeritus Eva Martin lead the congregation in reciting Psalm 100 as the call to worship. Barbara Walter gave the opening prayer. Craig Zaehring read the scripture from Jeremiah 31. Tore Wallin and Harry Holmes served as the ushers. The deacons seated with the pastor about the Lord's Table were Gretchen Bumpus, Steve Williams, Tom Williamson, Grace Holmes and Evelyn Ahearn.

For the offertory anthem, the Chancel Choir sang W.

Glen Darst's "Stand Up and Bless the Lord." Mary Ruth Scott directed.

Greeters for the second service were Patti Hurd and her daughter Marci. The Fellowship Hour after the second service was hosted by Adelaide Nelson and Lorraine Josslyn.

A highlight of both services was the dedication of three new church doors given in memory of Robert C. Hansen, the husband of Joan and the father of Earl, Kathryn, Roy and David.

Besides their regular offering, members of the congregation paid their per capita dues for the year at each service.

On Monday, Oct. 13, members and friends of the church will gather at the church at 8:15 a.m. to leave for a day of family fun at Grotonwood, a Christian camp near Groton. Rides will be available. Persons of all ages are invited to attend.

There will be two worship services again this Sunday: the guitar service at 8:30 a.m. and the traditional service at 10:30 a.m. The Church Council will meet after the second service. This is the regular meeting of the Church Council for the fourth quarter of the year.

Church Youth Groups In Meaningful Vacation

Ecumenically speaking, it was a vacation with a purpose, was the response from those attending the 29th annual South Shore Congregational Youth Conference at Camp Kingsmont in Stockbridge.

Quincy Point and Wollaston congregational churches, together with other church youth groups from Braintree, Milton, and Weymouth, sent 280 campers (grades 7-12) and 50 adult counselors in what was a spirited and meaningful week.

Conference attendees shared active vacation activity hours with serious issues that touched on growing up in the 1980's and included such topics as drug and alcohol abuse, peer pressure, teen suicide, family and sibling, and romantic relationships, global issues and young people involved in the church.

Among the many other events scheduled by councilor planning at the encampment was a softball game (13-12, councilors won), an auction which raised $1100 for charity, an awards and graduation ceremony.

Outdoor chapel was held daily with each youth group taking turn in leading the services. Vesper was held at the end of the day around the campfire.

The vacation with a purpose closed with an emotional consecration service conducted by graduating seniors and featured gospel and popular music, prayers and remembrances of camp life.

A memento, in the form of a link from a chain, signifying that all people be united for a better world, was distributed.

Lay Ministers Program At Good Counsel

A seven week training program for Lay Ministers of Visitors to the Elderly (L.O.V.E.) will begin Wednesday, Oct. 8, at 9:45 a.m. at Our Lady of Good Counsel Church in the parish hall.

The program requires a commitment to visit a homebound member of the parish for one hour a week.

The training sessions will be conducted by Leo Donoghue.

Parish Social Ministry Director of Catholic Charities.

For registration or any additional information, contact Debora Nigro, coordinator at 471-8860.

Mass For World Peace At Star Of Sea Oct. 13

All are invited to attend a Mass for World Peace on Monday, Oct. 13, 7 p.m. at Star of the Sea Church.

BelleVue Rd., Squantum.

Following the service, an outdoor candlelight procession will be held in honor of 'Our Lady Queen of Peace.'

Coffee and refreshments will be available in Mary Hall (lower church) following the procession.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

Fate seems sometimes to delight in making strange combinations among the pieces of the game it plays through the centuries... Did you know that Queen Isabella of Spain and Christopher Columbus were born in the same year... 1451? Queen Isabella was born on April 22 at Madrigal de Las Altas Torres and Columbus in Genoa between August and October... It is also believed by some historians that Amerigo Vespucci was born in the same year.

Fate or coincidence? Who knows! But one thing we do know is that these two protagonists of the great oceanic adventure changed the face of the world... The discoverer, his noble patron and man from whom the new world was to take its name were all born in the first year of the second half of the 15th century, which was to open a new period of history...

George Bennett Honored By Lung Association

A Quincy man was honored by the Norfolk County-Newton Lung Association for his many years of service to that agency.

George S. Bennett received the agency's 1986 Distinguished Service Award, presented by Sen. Paul Harold of Quincy, at the association's recent annual meeting in Walpole.

Bennett, immediate past president of the lung association, will continue to serve on the board of directors of the agency.

Lt. Stephen Burns Receives Wings

Close No More Schools, Enough Is Enough!

its doors. The education and guidance they received and are receiving at this school is top-notch! The dedication of its staff and the spirit of the students is exemplary. Must we throw all this out the window? Must we jeopardize the jobs of the teachers? Must we disrupt or do away with ongoing and viable programs that are working so well? Do none of these things mean anything to us today? Is the all-mighty dollar more important than human life and values?

Let us not forget that to close a school, any school, will not save the city money. Central Middle School, for example, is centrally located to public transportation. This is an important fact to consider because many of its students must rely on the MBTA to get to school because their parents must work. Will the school system provide school bus service to get students to a new school not close enough to public transportation? Don't forget—this will cost money!

In closing I make this one final request:

Please, for our children, let us put this issue to rest! Let us once and for all take a stand—Close No More Schools. Enough Is Enough!

One-Trial System Receives Initial House Approval

State Rep. Thomas F. Brownell (D-Quincy) announces that the House of Representatives has initially approved legislation to implement, on a pilot basis, a one-trial system for criminal cases.

The bill, sponsored by Rep. Brownell, would abolish the current "trial de novo" system in Essex and Hampden Counties for the two years beginning Jan. 1, 1987.

Passed by the House last year and the Senate this year, the legislation needs another positive vote in the House before going to the Governor's desk.

Under the present de novo system, a defendant found guilty of a crime by a district court judge has the right to appeal his conviction to a new trial in front of a six man jury.

Under Brownell's legislation, in the pilot counties of Hampden and Essex, the defendant must choose whether he wishes to be tried by judge or jury. Unlike de novo, the trial will be final, with an appeal as to right to the Appeals Court on matters of law, he said.

"Many times, victims, witnesses, the police, and prosecutors go through a bench trial in district court and then are called back when the defendant asks for a jury trial," Brownell said. "Consequently, we are trying to redress this matter of unfairness in the criminal justice system."

"It is inconceivable to me that those charged with misdemeanors should get two trials, while those charged with felonies—serious crimes, only receive one trial.

When we passed the Victims' Bill of Rights a couple of years ago, the Legislature sought to enforce a code on court proceedings that would treat victims in a fair and dignified manner.

"This will put meaning behind victims' rights by providing assurance that victims will not be forced to endure unnecessary trauma on more than one occasion."

Brownell added, "I'm confident that the legislation will pass and that the one-trial system will work effectively in the two counties. If so, we may eventually abolish trial de novo in the Commonwealth."

The legislation is supported by Brownell, District Court Chief Justice Samuel Zoll, Essex County District Atty. Kevin Burke, Norfolk County District Atty. William Delahunt, the Massachusetts Bar Association, and the Boston Bar Association.

Kevin Cotter On Jobs Counsel Advisory

Kevin Cotter of Quincy, business agent of Local No. 12 Plumbers and Gasfitters Union, has been named a member of North Quincy - Quincy High School Jobs for Bay State Graduates Program business advisory council.

Cotter will be working with management to improve the employment opportunities of Quincy's youth.

Jobs for Bay State Graduates operates in 28 state high schools. The program utilizes a combination of employment skills classes, field trips, and participation in the Bay State Career Association to prepare approximately 1700 graduating seniors with the qualifications needed to be successful in the job market.

Jobs is a non-profit corporation funded through grants from the Department of Education, private foundations, and businesses.

REAL ESTATE UPDATE

Steve Downing, Manager

A GREAT TAX SHELTER

QUESTION: I've heard that real estate is an excellent tax shelter. Do you agree?

ANSWER: Basically, a tax shelter allows you to keep more of the money that you've earned, rather than pay it in taxes. Your own home is a great tax shelter for starters. Investment property has even more tax benefits.

Real estate investors are allowed a depreciation allowance which has the same effect on your income tax as exemptions for your dependents. It comes right off the top. You can now "depreciate" property in only 18 years. If you choose, you can use "accelerated depreciation," and deduct more during the early years and less in the later years.

WITH TODAY'S tax laws, real estate is, by far, the best tax shelter there is.

AFL-CIO Endorses Harold

Massachusetts AFL-CIO COPE Committee has endorsed Sen. Paul D. Harold (D-Quincy) for reelection.

In making the endorsement, state AFL-CIO President Arthur Osborn said Harold's "strong voice on behalf of working people in Massachusetts was the major factor in our decision to endorse."

The AFL-CIO has some 400,000 members statewide.

Sen. Harold, seeking his fifth term in the Massachusetts Senate, was previously endorsed for reelection by the Norfolk County Labor Council COPE Committee and the Building and Construction Trades Council for Brockton and vicinity.

Mayor To Welcome Southeast Asians At Oct. 19 Ceremony

Mayor Francis X. McCauley and city and state officials will welcome new arrivals among the city's rapidly growing Southeast Asian population Sunday, Oct. 19, from 2 to 4 p.m. at New City Hall.

Chinese, Vietnamese, Laotians and Cambodians have been settling in the city for the past five years, according to McCauley.

The Chinese and Vietnamese represent the largest groups, he said.

McCauley said he is eager for the new residents to feel welcome in their adopted homeland and to understand city government and the services available to them.

"We will be encouraging our new residents to join the mainstream and to begin to develop a sense of belonging in the city," stated McCauley.

Acknowledging their inability to speak English as a major barrier, McCauley is working with Dr. Carol Lee Griffin from the Quincy school system to set up English courses for adults.

Serving as greeters and interpreters will be members of the school system's bilingual staff - Chik Ching Law, Selina Chan, Alice Fung, and Jonathan Leung.

McCauley, who also serves as chairman of the School Committee, praised the school system's program for over 200 non-English speaking students.

Working with the mayor's office in planning the event are Dr. Griffin, Claire McGill of the Planning Department, and Janet Ellis, Equal Opportunity Administrator.

Invited to the event are City Councilors, and School Committee members, Sen. Paul Harold, Cong. Brian Donnelly, Rep. Thomas Brownell, Rep. Michael Morrissey and Rep. Robert Cerasoli.

Police Chief Francis X. Finn, Fire Chief Carl Valenti, Hospital Director Mark Mundy, Recreation Director Barry Welch, Public Works Commissioner Paul Anderson and Library Director Warren Watson will brief the Southeast Asians on how to use their services.

Childcare will be provided by Betty Southwick, director of the Beechwood Community Life Center.

Refreshments will be served.

New Volkswagen, Suzuki Agency On Southern Artery

By DAN CONNELLY

The License Board welcomed a new businessman to Quincy Tuesday after it approved his request to open a Volkswagen, and Suzuki dealership on the Southern Artery.

Robert M. ("Jack") Barboza, of Assonet, who operates 10 new car dealerships in the Raynham, Taunton and Fall River districts, will open Bay State Volkswagen, and a Suzuki of America dealership on two properties at 625 Southern Artery.

Barboza told the board he plans to move onto one site a modular building which is to be used as a temporary office while the current building, which once housed Nick's Foreign Car Sales, and has been vacant for one year, is refurbished. He also told the board he plans to spend some $100,000 in improving land problems.

In obtaining approval for two Class One motor vehicle licenses, Barboza now can utilize the second permit to introduce to this area the Samurai Suzuki, recently advertised nationally as the latest export from Japan.

The Suzuki is a sports utility vehicle which has been selling in Canada, Hawaii, and the Caribbean with a base list price of $6,200, and is supposed to bring basic four-wheeling back in vogue.

Councillor Theodore Cristofaro attended the hearing because part of the twin dealership is sited in Ward Two.

Building Inspector Kenneth Johnson raised a question: can land, leased by Barboza from Brian Leonard of Artery Trust, be used to store the Japanese imports when the land is now being used for customer parking by Bentley's Steak House, 579 Southern Artery, and owned by Leonard?

Thompson and Barboza agreed to meet following the hearing to resolve the matter if there is a problem relative, to that property leasing.

The successful auto dealer also presented to the board a letter of recommendation from Taunton Mayor Richard Johnson who praised Barboza's reputation in his various dealerships and added his efforts are always in the best interest of his dealership, as well as the community.

Johnson's letter pointed out that Barboza also utilizes local labor in his construction, as well as his ongoing operations.

Lt. Brian Gilfeather Naval Medical Intern At Pensacola

A Wollaston man is currently interning at the Naval Aviation Regional Medical Center's Practice Family Unit in Pensacola, Fla.

Lt. Brian M. Gilfeather, son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Gilfeather, was studying at St. George's University in Grenada in October of 1983. The school's medical students had to be evacuated by U.S. forces who intervened when that Caribbean island nation was hit by civil and governmental strife.

Lt. Gilfeather, a graduate of Harvard University, completed the last two years of his medical studies at Boston University Medical School, graduating in May of this year.

Upon completion of his first year internship at Pensacola, Lt. Gilfeather will enter the naval flight surgeon's program in Pensacola.

POW-MIA Flag At MBTA Garage

A POW MIA flag stating "You Are Not Forgotten" is now flying at the MBTA garage on Hancock St., Wollaston.

The first MBTA flag is also flying on the property.

The POW flag was the idea of two "T" employees, automotive machinist Joseph Pyno who works in Quincy and Ed Amerault of the Everett shops.

Both men are members of the Randolph Flks POW-MIA committee which paid for the flags.

"We want to keep the public awareness alive of the service men and women who are missing," said Pyno, who noted there are six such flags flying now on MBTA property.

Pyno explained that the Flks wanted to do something as veterans to show their concern over the matter.

They spoke with MBTA Chief Transportation Officer Paul Lennon who cleared the way and also provided flag poles.

"The flags will be flown every day until the matter is taken care of by the U.S. government," said Pyno.

Lion Club Sets Dates For Free Glaucoma Screening Clinics

Quincy Lions Club and the city's health department will co-sponsor two free glaucoma screening clinics at the JFK Health Center on Hancock St.

All residents are welcome to visit the clinic Wednesday, Oct. 29, and Wednesday, Nov. 5, from 2 to 4 p.m. Appointments may be made by calling 773-1380, ext. 458.

According to Quincy dentist, Dr. James Will, project chairman of the Lion Club, undetected and untreated glaucoma leads to total blindness.

"There may be no symptoms at all. Only a periodic checkup by a qualified eye specialist can detect the presence of glaucoma," said Dr. Will. Glaucoma is an eye condition in which vision is lost due to a buildup of pressure within the eye. Two vital eye components, the cornea and the lens are cleaned and nourished by fluids that circulate in the eye. If the flow of these vital fluids is blocked, or not allowed to drain off, pressure builds and eventually the eye's fragile structures are destroyed, said Will.

Mayor Moves To Reopen Wollaston School

Mrs. Nigro's motion would.

The mayor said that he decided to submit an appropriation order for the Wollaston School reopening rather than wait two to two and a half months for the results for the study.

McCauley said that there has been a minimum of vandalism to the Wollaston School.

"It has been boarded up and the building is secure," said the mayor.

"The major capital expenditure will be for windows," McCauley said.

"The Wollaston School didn't suffer extreme damage as the other (schools which were closed did)."

McCauley noted that busing of elementary children will still be necessary after the Wollaston School reopens.

He also said that next year's budget will focus more money on the schools, rather than on police, fire, cemetery, park and forestry.

QNHS Fact Finding Trip To R.I.

Quincy Neighborhood Housing Services will sponsor a visit Oct. 18, to a sister agency in East Providence, R.I.

The trip to the Riverside Neighborhood Housing Services will enable Quincy Point residents, participating in QNHS, opportunity to get a first-hand look at an active NHW program and meet the people who make it work.

According to development coordinator Nancy Salzman,

QNHS has been involved in housing rehab and community relations activities in Southwest Quincy for over five years. Since the fall of 1986 they have been gradually shifting the focus of its efforts to Quincy Point.

The program is currently providing limited services to residents there and will eventually offer a full range of services by the end of the year. QNHS also plans to move its office to the point in the near future, said Salzman.

For information and reservation for the trip call 770-1747.

Gregor Knight Completes Cargo Specialist Course

Army Pvt. Gregor Knight, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russel F.

Knight of 61 Trevor St., Quincy, has graduated from the cargo specialist course at the U.S. Army Transportation School, Fort Eustis, Va.

During the course, students received instruction in terminal operations safety, rigging and stowage of cargo, winch operations, and the loading, securing, and discharging of cargo and heavy lifts.

Arthur Wahlberg Appointed To City Cemetery Board

Mayor Francis X. McCauley has appointed Arthur Wahlberg of 264 Southern Artery to the Cemetery Board of Managers.

Wahlberg will replace Mrs. Evelyn Lindquist of 125 Granite St., Quincy.

His appointment is effective immediately and expires the first Monday in September, 1987. He is retired from General Electric Company and is a 30 year resident of the City of Quincy.

The Cemetery Board oversees the management, general supervision and expenditure of all appropriations made for cemetery purposes as well as formulates the rules and regulations governing the sale of lots and the establishment of perpetual care, McCauley said.

The board was approved by the City Council in 1958 and the members serve without compensation.

Howard Crowley Installed North Quincy Grand Knight

Howard F. Crowley was installed Grand Knight of the North Quincy Council 2259, Knights of Columbus.

District Deputy Robert Melchin conducted this installation and was assisted by council ceremonial officer Harold Esdale and the Rev. Charles Higgins of Sacred Heart Church.

Also installed were Vincent

North Quincy 12, Newton North 6 Raiders Have Work Cut Out At Weymouth S.

By TOM SULLIVAN
North Quincy football coach Ken McPhee was more than a little concerned before last Friday's game against Newton North at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

The Raiders, following two straight defeats, went into the game without several injured players, including seven starters.

Matt (Tank) McNamara, a fine 250-pound two-way player, is out for the season with a broken bone in his thigh, and Mike Ainsley and Co-Capt. Kevin Segalla were coming off surgery. Another half dozen players were sidelined and several players were forced into the breach and saw more action than they expected.

However, sophomore Ryan Craig rushed for an amazing 201 yards and the defense, which had played well despite the scores of the first two games, was spectacular and North defeated Newton

North, 12-6, making its record 1-2.

Saturday the Raiders will face unbeaten Weymouth South at the Weymouth field at 1:30. Weymouth is off to a good start with a 3-0 record. "I can't say enough for these kids," said an elated McPhee. "After losing the first two games (46-13 to Milton and 33-12 to Arlington), they could have rolled over and played dead. But not these kids, they put in a hard week of practice and really came through today."

"The defense was superb and the offensive line, which did little in the first two games, came up with a strong game with excellent blocking. This was a fine team effort all the way. Craig was just exceptional and he received some fine blocking. And Paul McCormack also ran well."

Craig had a 29-yard touchdown run, two runs of 32 yards and another off 22. In addition, he blocked well and played strong defense. McCormack ran for 63 yards and scored the second touchdown.

"You have to give the entire defense credit," McPhee said. "Brian Callow, Keith Segalla, Tommy Dolan, who had an unbelievable game; Tim Kelly, Shawn Clancy, Brian Campbell and Paul Hogan all did a fine job. And the secondary of Dave Lawless, who does everything for us; Scott Chansky and John Rodophele was excellent. (Newton failed to complete a pass in eight attempts).

"I want to make special mention of Ted Stevenson, a wide receiver and defensive back. He is a close friend of Bobby Sylva, one of our quarterbacks, and decided to come out for football. He has worked his way into a starting job and is doing fine work."

In addition to Craig and McCormack, McPhee had words of praise for the offensive efforts of Doland, who was in the game for every play; Campbell, Tom McDonald, Dave Levine, Kelly, Dan Smith, Billy McDougall and quarterbacks Sylva and Joe Mulvey.

North's defense dug in right from the start and bottled up Newton's attack. Late in the opening quarter Newton's Brian Claffin punted to his own 49. Craig went for 13 yards, Mulvey passed to McDougall for 15 and Lawless added five to Newton's 29. Craig, with Levine getting the key block, went the distance to put North ahead, 6-0.

Midway in the second quarter another Newton punt was returned by McDougall to Newton's 15. McCormack gained two and Craig went 14 to Newton's three from where McCormack scored.

North failed to gain after taking the second half kickoff and Tom Casey's punt was blocked on North's 25. On the first play Mark Adams went all the way for Newton's touchdown.

Play went back and forth and Newton's last chance went out the window when John Pacino intercepted a pass on North's 42. McCormack and Craig combined for a first down and the Raiders ran out the clock.

North had 274 yards on the ground to Newton's 119. There was little passing as North gained 50 yards on three for nine and Newton was nothing for eight. North had 13 first downs and Newton six.

The game balls were presented to McNamara and volunteer coach John Muldowney, who left Saturday for Vero Beach, Fla., where he and his wife spend the winters in their mobile home.

"John is a big help to us and we miss him every year," said McPhee. "He is a fine football man and does a lot of things for us as a volunteer."

Stadium Gets A Rest

There will be no schoolboy football at Veterans Memorial Stadium this weekend with both Quincy and North Quincy playing on the road Saturday.

Quincy will play at Newton North and North Quincy at Weymouth South. Both games are at 1:30.

In two more weeks the same situation will prevail with Quincy playing at Medford and North Quincy at Brockton at 1:30 Oct. 25.

The next game at the stadium will be North Quincy vs. Malden Friday night, Oct. 17, at 7 p.m.

North-Weymouth S. Game On WJDA

North Quincy's game at Weymouth South at 1:30 will be station WJDA's play-by-play game Saturday as it continues its weekly schoolboy football coverage.

Reports will also be brought in from Quincy at Newton North and Weymouth North at Silver Lake.

Bantam As Win, 5-1

The Quincy Sons of Italy Bantam A hockey team defeated Brookline, 5-1, for its second straight Greater Boston League victory.

Sean Capitis, Martin

Feeney, Paul McLellan, Mike Toland and Matt Collins scored the goals and Kevin Daly, Joe Fasano, Rob Carroll, Bobby Kane and Matt Buccella had assists. Joe Kegan, Mike Leonard, Brian Kelly and Ralph Richardson played outstanding defense.

Sun Sports

• Youth Football Panthers Roll By Elks

The Quincy Point Panthers evened their record at 2-2 with an impressive 22-0 victory over the West Quincy Elks in a Youth Football League game Sunday at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

Next Sunday the Panthers will meet the Squantum Sailors at 1 p.m. and the North Quincy Apaches will face the Houghs Neck Manets at 2:30.

The Panthers, who scored all their points in the first half, scored on their first possession. The Elks punted away after four downs and the snap was too high. Steve Feeley jumped on the ball on the Elks five-yard line to set up the first score. Bobby Crespi took the handoff from brother Joe and ran up the middle for the touchdown. Ken Siaskyicz added the two-point conversion taking a pass from Joe Crespi.

Mike Tempesta then kicked off and sent the ball booming to the Elks' nine. The Elks set up on a third and 10 and fumbled to end the quarter. Richie Burns recovered for the Panthers and two plays later Feeley scored and Burns rushed for the two extra points.

The Elks were stopped by the defense of Ralph Bevilacqua, Tommy Norton and Tempesta and the Panthers regained possession.

On a third and nine, Joe Crespi optioned to run the ball and set up the final score, his brother Bobby scoring the final points of the game.

The Elks mounted a drive but were intercepted by Steven Sumpter to end the half.

The Panthers' reserves and junior varsity players held the Elks scoreless in the second half, although the Elks were able to get their first first down in the third quarter. Led by the fine defensive performance of Noel DiBona the Panthers kept the pressure on as time ran out.

Quincy Youth Soccer Special Needs Division Showing Improvement

The Special Needs division of the Quincy Youth Soccer League has been in action two weeks and the boys and girls are showing considerable improvement.

Last weekend Quincy defeated Weymouth, 5-3, with Tracy Princiotto scoring twice and Kenny Duncan, Billy Skehan and Richie Vallee once each. Danielle Hutchins played a fine game.

The other results:
Boys under 8: Scarry Real Estate defeated Quincy Savings, 2-0, on goals by Jeff Verlicco and Jon Haddad. Pat Cummings and Peter Donnelly had assists and Joe Linskey and Keith Makstis played well. Donald McCarthy played a strong game for Savings.

Wood Building defeated H.F. Goodman, 4-1, as Eric Wood had two goals and John Barron and Chris Curry one each. Steve Chase had a good game. Bill Nagle scored for Goodman with Jim Cunio assisting, and Dan Beakey and Mike Keenan played well.

Reggie's Oil sneaked by Sweeney Brothers, 1-0, with Colin Kearney scoring the goal. Stephen Gildea, John McDonough and Brad Croall played well. For Sweeney James Conley, Ryan Herlihy, Justin Mann and Sean Manning had good games.

Jack Conway and the Mayor McCauley Club played to a scoreless tie. Nicholas Shea, Brian Degani, Alex Furlong and Mark Driscoll played well for Conway as did Andrew Byrne, Robbie McCauley, Mike Nutley, Brendan McNiff and Anthony Shewiri for McCauley.

Bryan Post and Quincy Cable battled to a 1-1 tie. Eric Sullivan scored for Bryan, Carmen Lorenzano assisted and Matt Crosby and Nicholas Kleimola played fine games. Charles Feeley scored for Cable, Jeremy Riley assisted and Richard Garcia, Paul Brown and Kevin Ahern played well.

Boys under 10: The Sen. Paul Harold Club and IBEW, Local 103, tied, 2-2. Carlos Suchan and Geoffrey Meade had Harold's goals and Mike Rodgers and Tom Meade assisted. Tom Gildean, Rich

Waltham 29, Quincy 0

Presidents Look For Rebound At Newton N.

After the unbeaten Waltham football team scored twice in the first six minutes of the game, Quincy, giving a much better performance than the week before, played the Veterans Memorial Stadium visitors on even terms before falling, 20-0, Saturday night.

The loss dropped the Presidents record to 1-2.

Quincy will try to get back on the win trail Saturday when it plays at Newton North at 1:30 p.m. Newton will be looking for its first win after losses to Watertown, Brockton and North Quincy.

"We played much better tonight than we did against Brookline and, despite the loss, I saw some positive things," said Quincy coach Jack Raymer. "You can't give any team, especially a team like Waltham, two early touchdowns and hope to come back. At the worst, the score should have been 14-7."

Quincy had a touchdown nullified by a back-in-motion penalty which could have changed the course of the game.

Waltham is unscored upon after defeating Lexington, Revere and Quincy.

Waltham piled up 238 yards on the ground with Jerome Fuller rushing for 149 yards and scoring twice. Quincy was held to 63 yards rushing with Joe Cardarelli gaining 49 of them.

The Presidents gained 101 yards through the air with Steve Austin hitting on eight of 23, five of them to Steve Gardner. He had one interception.

"Steve Gardner is a great pass receiver and Austin has been throwing well," said Raymer. "But we have to give some help to Gardner. Sean Munroe, one of our top receivers who has been out since breaking his foot on the first day of practice, could be back in a couple of weeks and he will certainly help. This will improve our passing game."

QUINCY quarterback Steve Austin, who passed for 101 yards in the loss to Waltham, gets set to pass.

Also, we have to improve our running game and give us more balance. For the second game in a row we had to pass more than I wanted.

"John Bogan was back tonight and will be 100 percent for our next game. We missed Jeff Sprague tonight, but Tom Bjork filled in well. Our defense played well, especially in the second half, and the kids were hitting hard."

Raymer praised the two-way performances of Cardarelli and Steve Pickarski and had good words for Rick Smith, Dave Savage, Dennis DeCoste, Gardner, Frank Calabro, Matt Healy, playing his first game at nose guard; Rob Cabezas, Chris Mackey, Todd Kimmell and Jay Dennett.

"Our secondary is very young but has been improving," Raymer said. "Man-to-man coverage is tough but we have done well against the pass in the last two games." Waltham had 37 yards on three for seven with one interception.

Waltham received to open the game and scored in six plays as Jack McCarthy, who rushed for 77 yards, sprinted 47 yards for the score. Fuller kicked the extra point.

Three plays after the ensuing kickoff, Austin fumbled as he was sacked and Waltham recovered on the Quincy 11. Four plays later Fuller scored from the two and again kicked the extra point.

Quincy played tough for the rest of the half and on the first play of the second quarter Austin scored on a sneak but a back-in-motion penalty nullified the score. Austin was again sacked and Mark Farrand failed on a 22-yard field goal attempt. Austin hit Gardner for 24 and 17 yards to spark the drive. Waltham drove to the Quincy 13, with Fuller running for 29 and 25 yards, but the Presidents dug in and took over on their 10. Quincy reached its 42 but four incomplete passes gave Waltham the ball back on Quincy's 42.

Quincy's Dennett intercepted a pass on his 14 and the half ended on a 15-yard run by Cardarelli.

Quincy received the second half kickoff and, with Austin completing passes to Gardner for 11 yards, Joe Innello for four, Gardner for 12 and Innello for 14, the Presidents had a first down on Waltham's 27, but Waltham held and took over on the 25.

The Presidents' Cabezas recovered a fumble on the Waltham 45 but Quincy couldn't move.

Waltham scored its third touchdown midway in the final quarter when Fuller went seven yards for the score.

● Girls Volleyball

First Ladies Defeat Raiderettes

The Quincy girls' volleyball team, well on its way to successfully defending its Suburban League championship, defeated North Quincy, 2-0, before a large crowd Monday night at the North Quincy High gym to improve its record to 9-0. North Quincy fell to 6-3.

Friday the Quincy girls will host Newton South and next Wednesday will be at Brockton.

The North girls will be at Cambridge Rindge and Latin Friday and will host Weymouth South next Wednesday.

The Quincy-North Quincy match was the first to be played at night and an excellent crowd saw an exciting match in which Quincy's experience paid off. Jim Rendle's North team is made up entirely of underclassmen.

Tom Henderson's Quincy girls won the first game, 16-14, sparked by the excellent play of Amy Guidice. The First Ladies won the second game, 15-10, with Lauren Standing leading the way with her spiking. Ginny Duggan's team's quarter-back was excellent in both games.

Last week Quincy defeated Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 2-1, losing the first game, 15-7, but coming back to win the next two, 15-9, 15-9.

Sue Parry, Duggan and Standing sparked the first win and sophomore Guidice led the way in the second.

North Quincy lost to Boston Latin, 2-1, losing the first game, 15-8, winning the second, 15-11, and losing an exciting third game, 18-16.

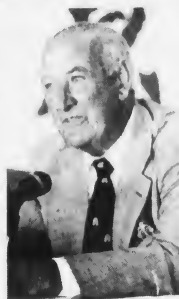

Barbara Carroll, sophomore Holly Rendle and Deirdre Murphy were outstanding for the Raiderettes.

Quincy Girls Win 2 Meets

The Quincy girls' swim team, with its most competitive team in several years, posted back-to-back victories over Weymouth North, 97-66, and Waltham, 85-82.

Freshman Cindy Galman set a school record for the 100-yard breaststroke with a time of 1:25.09 and junior Janet Morrell broke her own school record for the 100-yard backstroke with a time of 1:19.57.

Junior Renee Gaura needs only seven more points in diving to break the school record set in 1980. Diving coach Ralph Williams predicts it is only a matter of time before the record is broken.

Couch Janet Keyes' First Ladies faces a tough test next Wednesday against Brookline at 3:30 at the Lincoln-Hancock School pool but hopes are high as the team is showing steady improvement.

She's An Airplane Pilot At Age 18

KELI MAHONEY

Keli Mahoney of 71 Haviland St., begins her college education this fall at Bridgewater State where she will study aeronautical science—a subject she shouldn't have too much trouble with.

Keli, who will turn 19 next year, recently returned from eight weeks of intensive training at the American Flyers Flight School in Islip, Long Island, N.Y.

During that time she earned her instrument flight rating, commercial pilots license, aircraft flight instructor and instrument flight instructor ratings.

Last year, while a senior at Quincy Vocational Technical School, Keli was awarded her private pilot's license and ground school instructor ratings. Her goal is to become a commercial airline pilot.

Presently, she is a flight instructor for Newport Airways in Newport, R.I.

When asked if flying is frightening, Keli said, "It's fun, something like driving a boat!"

Sullivan Team Wins Broom Classic

Barry Sullivan captained his team of Charlie Bergeron, Fred Gennelly and Peter Niosi to a 6-under-par 66 to win the 3rd annual Broom Classic Florida Style Golf Tournament at Ivanough Hills Golf Course, Hyannis.

This was the first time the Broom Classic has been played out of Quincy. The past two years it was played at Presidents Golf Course.

Sullivan's team finished with four birdies out of the last six holes to nip two teams that finished at five under par. The team of Don Smith, Paul Cadigan, Bob Kilday and Steve Buckley finished second after carding out the team of Mitch McBride, Bruce Buckley, Ken Furfari and Butch St. Germaine.

Finishing at four under alone in fourth place was the team of Dr. Richard Loguerco, Dick Kelly, Bob Daves and John Kearney.

Prizes were awarded to the first four teams immediately following the tournament by tourney director Brian Buckley. Thirty-two players participated in the event.

Turkey Trot Road Race Nov. 9

October Proclaimed As Ceramic Arts Month

Mayor Francis McCauley has proclaimed October as National Ceramic Arts Month in Quincy.

"Special recognition is given to the many teachers, dealers, distributors and manufacturers who contribute many hours and effort to provide creative enjoyment and personal gratification to ceramic hobbyists," said McCauley.

"The members of this national professional association should be recognized for the satisfaction they have given to many people who have been able to achieve their goals in this profession."

Herald Photos On Exhibit At Main Crane Library

"Moments of Boston," a selection of award-winning photographs by Boston Herald photographers continues through Oct. 17 at the Thomas Crane Library in Quincy Center.

Chief photographer Kevin

Cole's aerial of Minot Light in Scituate, the day after the Blizzard of '78, and other graphic photos of that storm, which won the Herald a Pulitzer Prize, is included in the exhibit of news and feature photos.

The exhibit has appeared at the State House, Boston City Hall and the Chestnut Hill Mall.

STARSCOPE

By Clare Annsweil

WEEK OF: October 9

AQUARIUS — January 21-February 19
Important to focus on details and the broader picture. Some conflict may arise on the workplace; be watchful of your stubborn streak. Romantic questions are answered by Monday.

PISCES — February 20-March 20
You're mingling with old friends from far off places. Being more outspoken can win admiration of a coworker or supervisor. Lost item may turn up by the weekend.

ARIES — March 21-April 20
Tensions in career ease thanks to your added effort. Friend asks you to solve a dispute-be sure not to get in over your head. Week is favorable for collectors.

TAURUS — April 21-May 22
Relatives may press for a favor. Travel is highlighted and blends well with romance. Commensurate diet is highlighted. Your way with words wins admiration from higherup.

GEMINI — May 23-June 21
Week is favorable for concluding a project. Home improvement scheme may be more complicated than anticipated, but avoid short cuts. Good period to survey health needs.

CANCER — June 22-July 22
An intangible reward may arrive from an unexpected source. Reconciliations and reunions are accepted on the weekend. If traveling, be sure to confirm all details.

LEO — July 23-August 22
Community project seeks your support. Children provide encouragement and understanding; be sure to seek their advice. Messages arriving on the weekend may not be accurate.

VIRGO — August 23-September 22
Strained relationship improves thanks to an outside, objective mediator. Career path is more direct. Social circle expands as a result of your upbeat and warm approach.

LIBRA — September 23-October 22
Friends and supervisors are raising their expectations of you-and you rise to the present challenges. In finance, you're becoming less extravagant, much more practical.

SCORPIO — October 23-November 21
You become more innovative in your thinking, some offbeat ideas bring rewarding results. Don't press companion to reveal secrets. Suppress the argumentative side of your personality.
SAGITTARIUS — November 22-December 22
Delays are offset by go-aheads, expenses somewhat balanced by a minor windfall. Balance is the key through the week; avoid excesses in diet, in exercise and in general.

CAPRICORN — December 23-January 20
Week's plans undergo late changes, and supervisor changes his/her mind by the hour. But in romance, stability reigns. Pets figure positively in the week's picture.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
You're associated with qualities of balance and fairness. You love life's little-and larger-luxuries; decisiveness is not your strong suit. Year ahead finds you involved in intellectual pursuits, with material goals taking a back seat. Career status may improve late in 1987.

BORN THIS WEEK
October 9th, actor Edward Andrews; 10th, actor Ben Vereen; 11th, actor Ron Leibman; 12th, comedian Dick Gregory; 13th, singer Marie Osmond; 14th, actor Roger Moore; 15th, actress Linda Lavin.

Dr. Lawrence Kerzner Director At Jewish Memorial Hospital

Dr. Lawrence Kerzner of Squantum has been appointed medical director at Jewish Memorial Hospital, a 107-bed chronic rehabilitation hospital in Boston.

Formerly director of medical education and an attending physician at JMH, Kerzner will have an expanded role in the new position which involves improving patient care, expanding outpatient rehabilitation services, directing the hospital's teaching and research programs, planning and marketing.

Prior to the appointment, he was chief of the geriatric evaluation unit at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Bedford.

Kerzner has served on the JMH medical staff since 1979 and has dramatically expanded the chronic care rehabilitation hospital's medical education programs with Boston University Medical Center with which JMH is affiliated. He is an assistant professor of medicine at the Medical Center and a member of its section of geriatric medicine.

Kerzner was instrumental in establishing Boston University's gerontology center long-term care unit at JMH. The unit has since developed into a long-term care program throughout the hospital.

His efforts have helped to bring medical students, residents and post-graduate doctors to JMH from all over the U.S. and Canada for an exposure to geriatric medicine and the multi-dimensional aspects of treatment of the frail elderly.

TO ST. JUDE, O Holy St. Jude, Apostle and Martyr, Great in virtue and rich in miracles, near kinsmen of Jesus Christ, faithful intercessor of all who invoke your special patronage in time of need, to you I have recourse from the depths of my heart and humbly beg that you God has given such great power to come to my assistance. Help me in my present and urgent petition. In return I promise to make your name known and cause to be invoked. Say 3 Our Fathers and 3 Hail Marys and 3 Glorias. Publication must be promised. St. Jude pray for us and all who invoke your aid. AMEN. This Prayer has never been known to fail. This Prayer is to be said on 9 consecutive days.

PRAYER TO THE HOLY SPIRIT O Holy Spirit, who enlightens me, who illuminates all things so I may attain my goal. You who gives me the divine gift of forgiving and forgetting the evil done to me and who is ever with me at all moments of my life. I wish during this short dialogue with You to thank you for everything and to confirm once again my wish to never be separated from you, even and in spite of all material distractions. I desire to be with you in eternal glory. Thank You for Your mercy towards me who are dear to me. Must be said three days in succession, after the three days, day or grace will be attained, even if it appears to be of difficult nature. Then published with instructions as soon as possible, with your initials.

Hitch Arises Over Shipyard Sludge Plan

By DAN CONNELLY

An apparent hitch has arisen in connection with a firm, associated in a joint venture to buy General Dynamics Shipyard, to transport sludge to Pennsylvania for incineration during the Boston Harbor cleanup.

According to City Councillor Michael Cheney he was informed by the Pennsylvania Department of Environmental Resources they are unaware of any proposal to build a new incineration facility to handle sludge being transported from Massachusetts.

Cheney said Reilly/Athy Associates of Boston, were talking in their proposal about building barges at the Quincy shipyard and taking the sludge there.

"I've been informed by the Massachusetts Shipbuilders Inc.," said Cheney, "that the Reilly/Athy option to transport sludge to that state is not an intricate part of their proposal."

Cheney said that the Massachusetts Shipbuilders want the sludge issue dealt with separately.

"They have informed me that in the event anyone tries to bring in trash or sludge into the shipyard, they the shipbuilders would shut down the facility."

Cheney also said that in his talk with Pennsylvania he was told by two of their six regional offices their three large municipal waste incinerators are presently being used for their own water waste treatment facilities.

Reilly/Athy Associates, a private investment group formed for cogeneration energy development, made a bid with the Shipbuilders, a corporation established by former managers and the unions representing the workers of the shipyard, to purchase the GD site.

Cheney, committee chairman of the City Council's Environmental Control Commission, said he has been in touch with Michael Gritzick, an executive of the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority (MWRA) who informed him the Reilly/Athy proposal for the removal of the sludge is only one of 50 proposals and there is no commitment by his agency to enter into any agreement with this developer with regard to removing sludge from Nut Island in Quincy, or Deer Island in Winthrop.

The Massachusetts Water Resources Authority was included in an employees' buy-out bid for the shipyard.

The state wants a waterfront location as a staging area to coordinate the $2 billion cleanup of Boston Harbor.

Cheney said he wants Reilly/Athy to clarify their proposal on sludge with regard to the MWRA's involvement.

He said that according to Gritzick, the shipyard is the feasible site for his agency, and it would not include the use of the shipyard for any sludge or de-watering facilities.

"The site would only be used as a storage area for pipes, pumps, as well as a maintenance facility for MWRA vehicles," Gritzick told Cheney.

Gritzick also said it is his personal preference to locate his agency's corporate headquarters and executive offices at the Quincy shipyard.

"It makes sense for the MWRA to have all their entire organization for the project under one roof and the shipyard in Quincy is the most viable site that would achieve all our needs. This of course would mean steady jobs and a permanent use of the land now idle," Gritzick told Cheney.

In a related matter, Cheney said he and Rep. Thomas Brownell of Quincy have co-sponsored legislation that would give Quincy a substantial cut in the sewer water rates for the city in lieu of taxes.

According to Cheney, the proposed reuse development plan of the MWRA proposal is separated from the Reilly/Athy plan. However it is included in the proposal with regard to the cogenerating facility, which is a relative new process for generating power, but using very old principles.

Cheney said his committee will be reviewing environmental impact on the community of the burning of coal at the site. This is the area where residents have expressed the most concern.

He recalls that residents for years complained about soot

Urban Renewal Plan To City Council In Early November

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

The city's urban renewal plan in connection with the proposed $54 million President's Place project in downtown Quincy should be ready for the first City Council meeting in November, according to Planning Director James Lydon.

"The (architectural) plans have to undergo further refinement as they are presented to Leo Kelly's (Citizens Advisory Committee) as well as the Historic District Commission and City Council," said Lydon.

"But we expect that we have essentially a massing plan that is pleasing, that has met the criteria established for it, and we're prepared to go forward with it," said Lydon.

The presentation to the council will also include the establishment of an urban renewal area, according to Lydon. Any possible orders for land takings would come at future meetings, he said.

"It's well worth the time that we're taking," said Mayor Francis McCauley, commenting on the delay of presentation of the plan to the council. Target dates had been August and mid-September.

"It's (the buildings) going to be here for 100 years - we want to do it right," he said.

"The citizen's committee has been working closely with the developers and the revised plans are coming along well," McCauley said.

The developers, Ricciardi Co. of Quincy and Campanelli Industries of Braintree, are planning a project with 227,000 square feet of commercial space, 200 residential condominiums and 580 parking spaces at the site of the closed Bargain Center.

The architectural plans were revised after the Citizens Advisory Committee and others criticized the design which they said did not fit in with the historic district.

Included in the district are United First Parish Church, Hancock Cemetery, Old City Hall and Adams Academy.

"Through the work of Leo Kelly's committee, the developers have become very sensitized to the issues of building on the Bargain Center site and within the Quincy Historic District," said Lydon.

The main entrance of the office building will be directly

Police Study Results Due In Two Weeks

Results of a study of the Quincy Police Department are due in the next two weeks, according to Mayor Francis McCauley.

"It's (the report) being typed and prepared by the Mass. Municipal Association," said McCauley of the study which was expected in mid-September.

"There's no problem with it - there was no major rush," he said.

Last March, the City Council appropriated $19,500 for the study which was conducted under the direction of the MMA.

The study was suggested by Richard Koch, Jr., who said that he was looking forward to positive results.

MDC Creates Quincy Shore Citizens Advisory Committee

MDC Commissioner William J. Geary announces the formation of a Quincy Shore Citizens Advisory Committee for the Wollaston Beach area.

"Citizen advisory committees, (CAC's), provide important access and involvement between the MDC and the public," Geary said. "The committees are designed to serve two purposes; one is to act as the 'eyes and ears' of the agency. Committee members live near the area and use it daily. If they, or any other citizen, see something they feel should be done or upgraded, they can communicate this to the MDC with a set structure that offers direct input into the Commissioner's office, for a better, more efficient way of handling things. The second purpose is to consult with CAC's about possible policy changes for their area, before the changes are implemented, in order to gain valuable community input."

"Citizen Advisory Committees act as an early warning signal and a sounding board," Geary said. "We have seen the extent of involvement and success they have brought to areas where they are already present. We are excited about what this means for the citizens of Quincy."

The Quincy Shore Citizens Advisory Committee is a combination of private citizens and members of local organizations. Some of the groups with members on the committee are: Wollaston Park Association, Save Our Shores, Quincy Citizen's Association, Beechwood Knoll, Merrymount Association, Eastern Nazarene College, Quincy Conservation, Quincy Elderly Committee, Quincy School System and the Nut Island's Citizen Advisory Committee. The members of the Quincy Shore CAC who are from Quincy are:

Two Marshfield residents, who are science teachers in the Quincy Public School system, are also on the CAC. They are Charles McLaughlin and Mary Young.

Nominations Open For HN 'Good Neighbor' Awards

Nominations are now being accepted for "Good Neighbors," persons making civic or community contributions, and for "heroism" in Houghs Neck.

Those chosen will be honored at the annual Honor Awards Night of the Houghs Neck Community Council, Nov. 16 at 2 p.m. at St. Thomas Aquinas Hall.

Oct. 17 is the deadline for nominations, which should include a brief summary of reasons why the person should be recognized. Nominations may be given to Daniel Bythrow or David DiBona, co-chairmen, or committee members Martin Gordon, Darlene Gardner and Kathy Nugent. They may also be left in the mailbox at the Houghs Neck Community Center.

Recipients will be announced at the Oct. 21 open meeting of the Houghs Neck Community Council at 8 p.m. at the Houghs Neck Community Center.

The program that evening will be "Alaska," a talk and slide presentation by Thomas F. Hurlbaeus.

License Board Briefs

The City License Board took the following actions at Tuesday's meeting at City Hall.

- Granted a request from the North Quincy High School cheerleaders for a permit to hold canning days on Friday, Oct. 24, and Saturday, Oct. 25. Adult supervision was assured.

- Granted a permit for a one-day all alcoholic license for a 25th wedding anniversary to be held Nov. 8, 7 p.m. to 12 midnight, at the North Quincy Knights of Columbus Hall.

- Granted a permit for a one day all alcoholic license to the North Quincy High School football boosters for an event this Saturday, from 8 p.m. to 12 midnight at the Sacred Heart Church hall.

- Granted a permit for a one-day all alcoholic license for the Woodward School for Girls for Saturday, Nov. 8, 7 p.m. to 12 midnight for a Las Vegas Night. James P. Nicholson, who sought the permit, assured the board no professional dealers are involved in the program. Proceeds to benefit the school.

- Granted a permit on the request from Manet Lunch, 1099 Sea St., to install one video game. Bernie Van Tassel told the board the machine will be installed in the lounge section of the restaurant.

- Granted a request from the North Quincy High School boys soccer team to hold a canister drive Oct. 17, 18, and 19.

- Continued for one week a hearing request from the Quincy Foursquare Church, to conduct a one-a-month gathering of young adults at the Squantum Street Church in North Quincy. Rev. John J. Hatcher told the board this is a Christian out-reach program, and during the meeting, refreshments would be sold to offset expenses. The continuance was called to enable the building and health departments to conduct an examination of the church structure and facilities.

Kennedy Hopeful For Shipyard's Future

Pentagon policy was responsible for the failure of General Dynamics Quincy Shipyard to win contracts, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy (D-Mass) said Tuesday.

Speaking at a breakfast meeting of the South Shore Chamber of Commerce, in Randolph Kennedy said, "If we had what we needed in terms of national security for the rapid deployment, the shipyard would still be going and would be an important asset to our national security."

Kennedy also commented on the employee buyout proposal.

"I'm hopeful now that with the various programs which will include a shipbuilding capability and coal furnace for power and developed, that's being checked out with regard to state and environmental laws, I'm hopeful that the whole process can bring renewed life over a period of time.

"Shipbuilding, construction and rehabilitation and modernization and the rest are going to be an essential part of our defense as well as our commerce, and I think there is a place for that."

Kennedy called the recent summit between President Ronald Reagan and Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev "an opportunity lost in Iceland."

He also said that Boston's third harbor tunnel, suppression of that city's Central Artery, and the cleanup of Boston Harbor are "being kept on the front burner."

QUINCY RESIDENTS who have completed a shelter management course conducted by the American Red Cross in conjunction with the Mass. Civil Defense Agency were recently presented certificates. ## Quincy Residents Complete Shelter Management Course Quincy has started an ongoing program to train its citizens as shelter managers in the event of natural, manmade, technological disasters or emergencies.

The course is being conducted by the American Red Cross in conjunction with the Massachusetts Civil Defense Agency.

Courses are being held at the Civil Defense Emergency Operations Center located at 55 Sea St., Quincy.

All interested residents who wish to take the shelter management course can do so by contacting the Quincy Civil Defense Agency at 472-6118.

The Red Cross hopes to train 125 residents to handle the eight natural disaster shelters in the city of Quincy.

Friendly's Interested In Southern Artery Site

Friendly Ice Cream Corp. would like to construct a restaurant at the site of Radio Shack and the Leaning Tower of Pizza on Southern Artery.

But first it has to complete negotiations with Meredith & Grew which is representing the Faxon Family Trust, owner of the land.

The trust had been leasing the land to Radio Shack and Leaning Tower.

Planning Director James

Lydon said that Meredith & Grew spoke with him about the proposal about three months ago.

If negotiations with Friendly's are successful, both the Radio Shack and Leaning Tower of Pizza would be demolished, Lydon said.

A new, brick veneer Friendly restaurant would be constructed on the site, he said. It would be more of a meal-type business, and would have more tables than counter space, according to Lydon.

Construction of the restaurant could start in late fall, and be completed in early springtime, according to Lydon who explained that the building would be prefabricated.

Lydon said that Radio Shack has another location on Southern Artery, but he is not sure of the Leaning Tower's plans.

Yanking The Rug

Mayor Francis McCauley may not have pulled the rug out from under Joseph LaRaia's mayoral plans, but he gave it a pretty good yank.

That's how some political observers see McCauley's move to reopen the Wollaston School after trying to keep it closed.

LaRaia, who is seriously considering running against McCauley next year, was expected to reopen the Wollaston School after trying to keep it closed.

The councilor has been attending School Committee meetings especially when the Wollaston
School and the Sterling Middle School have come up for discussion
And he let it be known that he favored opening the Wollaston school and keeping the Sterling open.

McCauley tried to make a deal with the School Committee: he would appropriate $250,000 for the reopening of the Wollaston School if the committee would vote to close Sterling.

That was like stepping on a hornets' nest in his bare feet.

Wollaston -- and other -- residents stung him with sharp criticism.

McCauley then had a surprise change of heart: he announced he would submit the $250,000 appropriation order to the City Council to re-open the Wollaston School.

There apparently were no strings attached although he expressed hope the School Committee would change its mind and vote to close Sterling.

McCauley would still like to close Sterling because, he says, of its small enrollment and the estimated cost ($700,000) to rehabilitate it.

When LaRaia first started thinking of making a bid to return to the mayor's office early last spring he saw signs of McCauley's popularity slipping a bit over the school issues.

"I think," he said at the time, "that we have closed enough schools in the city. If we close any more we'll one day find ourselves turning around and having to build some to replace them."

He said then he was hearing from people who agreed with him -- including of course, people living in Wollaston and South Quincy.

"Some of them," he said, "are asking me to run for mayor."

The Wollaston School now will not be an issue in next year's election. The school should be open by then and McCauley, who had been pictured the villain before, may look like a hero then.

But the Sterling School is still an issue now and could be then. And, if LaRaia does go for mayor he certainly will seize it and run with it.

IT WILL HARDLY be a surprise but Ron Iacobucci will officially announce his candidacy for City Councilor at-large in January.

This will be his third shot at it.
Both prior runs were respectable with the second closer to victory -- by about 300 votes -- than the first.

This time he will have at least one open seat to his advantage instead of banging heads with three incumbents.

Richard Koch, Jr. who has moved to the Cape, will not be a candidate for re-election. He intends to fill out his current term, however.

A second at-large seat would open if LaRaia runs for mayor.

Iacobucci, incidentally, was recently appointed to the national Board of Directors of the Adam Walsh Child Resource Center. The center is a non-profit organization dedicated to positive action on the issue of missing and exploited children.

Iacobucci was also recently named to the newly formed Quincy Shore area Citizens Advisory Committee and sworn in by MDC Commr. William Geary of Quincy.

SENATOR Paul Harold was one of the main speakers at the 75th anniversary of the Independence of the Republic of China at the Sheraton, Boston. The event, with about 600 in attendance, was sponsored by the Republic of China (Taiwan) New England Office. And what was on the menu? Turkey.

IN CASE YOU haven't noticed, Quincy has a new street: Enterprise Drive.

It used to be South Rd. at State St. South. Now as Enterprise Drive, it makes a match with Heritage Drive.

OBSERVATION via the Quincy Kiwanis newsletter (and from wherever they got it): Those who know little usually know it fluently.

Unclaimed Money List: Complaint #3

Editor, The Quincy Sun:
No one wants to prolong a debate, but I believe it is necessary to get the facts straight before a discussion is ended.

Neither myself, nor anyone else in the Republican Party objected to the publication of the "Unclaimed Money List" as implied by the editor. It is obviously a useful public service. What we object to is the use of that list as a campaign vehicle.

It appears from the editorial response that perhaps "The Sun" did not read the advertisements very thoroughly, so I have enclosed copies of not one, but two different ads in two different issues of the newspaper, and I have illustrated in red ink the objections which we raised.

"The Sun" is right about one thing though, the fact that this has been going on for years, and in many newspapers, "The Globe" and "The Herald" do it as well. What I find most disturbing is that "The Sun" should be doing it in the middle of a very close election campaign. If something is wrong, it's wrong no matter how many times you do it or how many other people are doing it.

I would also like to suggest The Quincy Sun, that the editorial column is not the proper location for a plug for a Dukakis fundraiser, especially during an election year. (Last week's issue if you would like to check.)

Challengers for public office have been getting the short end of the stick for so long that some people have come to believe that's the way it's supposed to be. It's not.

The election laws of this commonwealth seem to have been made by incumbents and for incumbents. It's time to open the system up to everyone. I would like to suggest a limit to the number of terms an elected official could serve, but this type of legislation, for obvious reasons, might have some problems on Beacon Hill. (In the meantime, I believe that we must ask, if not demand, that our news media try to provide us with a non-partisan perspective, both in their editing and in their editorials.)

Richard Lockhead
Willow Street
Wollaston, MA

(Editor's note: Here we go again. Well, at last, we learn that the Republican City Committee's biggest beef is with the paid advertising in regards to the Unclaimed Money List, and not The Sun's reporting of the list.

The paid advertising that appeared in The Sun also appeared in other newspapers in Massachusetts.
The advertising this year came during an election campaign. Last year it did not.

The Sun and the other newspapers did not compose the advertising.
The advertisements were submitted that way.

As for the "plug" in the Sunbeams column for a
Gov. Dukakis fundraiser goes, we have given similar space to Republican fundraisers as long as they were held in Quincy or involved Quincy residents in coordinator or chairman roles. Ask Ray Shamie or Elliott Richardson.

We, like letter writer
Richard Lockhead, would like to see more incumbents challenged for public office.
With most offices held by Democrats, it would seem it is up to the Republican party at both the local and state level to see that they are challenged.

The last thing we want to see is a one-party state. We need a two-party system and the Republicans need new, fresh faces to assure this.

But it is going to take more than opposing advertisements in newspapers-advertisements the newspapers have no control over.)

Disney World Does It Up Big For 15th Birthday

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN
Imagine being able to go from ride to ride at Walt Disney's Magic Kingdom in Florida without standing in line.

Or to visit an authentic German biergarten in Epcot Center to enjoy a free snack of sauerbraten with Black Forest bread and wine.

Those were some of the things some 5,200 members of the press, including The Quincy Sun, and their guests were treated to during special events at a celebration of Walt Disney World's 15th Birthday and the 200th anniversary of the U.S. Constitution.

There was also a picnic supper at Lake Eola Park with singer Toni Tennille and fireworks, a press conference with Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and a surprise guest, newly freed journalist Nicholas Daniloff, visits to Sea World and to "Hospitality Southern Style" at Osceola County Stadium.

But the main attractions were Walt Disney's Magic Kingdom and Epcot Center where entertainers such as Crystal Gayle, Buddy Rich, The Four Tops, the Temptations and Dolly Parton gave special performances.

But whether or not you get to see special shows, or receive special attention, it's hard not to have a great time at Disney World.

That should be especially true this year as the 15th birthday celebration continues and a new Chevrolet Cavalier automobile or S-10 pickup truck is given away once each day - 365 cars and trucks during the year. No purchase is necessary.

There are also anniversary parades and shows, and a new 3-D musical, "Captain EO" starring Michael Jackson.

The Living Seas at Epcot has also just added footage of the Titanic wreckage taken during Dr. Robert Ballard's second journey to the ship.

Epcot Center will also stage an expanded birthday version of its air-and-sea spectacular "Skyline Scope" featuring dragon boats, rainbow-making flying machines and red-white-and-blue daytime fireworks.

Scheduled to open in 1988 are a 900-room Grand Florida Beach Resort on the monorail near the Magic Kingdom, the Disney-MGM Studio and Studio Tour near Epcot Center, a Norway pavilion in World Showcase and Pleasure Island, a colorful six-acre nighttime entertainment, recreation and shopping area being added to the Walt Disney World Shopping Village.

But many of the old favorites still remain.

Some of the not-to-be-missed attractions in the Magic Kingdom are "Pirates of the Caribbean" in Adventureland; "Country Bear Jamboree" and "Big Thunder Mountain Railroad" in Frontierland; "Hall of Presidents" in Liberty Square which includes John Adams and John Quincy Adams; "The Haunted Mansion" and "It's a Small World" in Fantasyland; and, for the brave, "Space Mountain" in Tomorrowland.

The four-year-old Epcot Center, twice the size of the Magic Kingdom, was inspired by Walt Disney's dream of an "Experimental Prototype Community of Tomorrow."

The 250-acre park has two themed areas: Future World and World Showcase. "Captain EO," a 3-D musical motion picture space adventure starring Michael Jackson is showing at Kodak's 700-seat Magic Eye Theatre.

MAIN STREET PARADE celebrates the 15th birthday of Walt Disney World with floats and costumes, song and dance numbers, roller skaters and Disney characters in their party finery.

The multi-million dollar picture seems so realistic that special effects appear to be spilling from the screen into the audience.

Future World also includes Spaceship Earth, Universe of Energy, Horizons, World of Motion, Communicore, Journey Into Imagination, The Land, and the Living Seas.

In World Showcase, young adults from Mexico, China, Germany, Italy, Japan, Morocco, France, the United Kingdom and Canada host the pavilions where you can enjoy the food, culture and gifts.

A new "Eiffel Tower" graces a tree-lined boulevard in France, and groomed lawns, gabled rooftops and quaint shops are along cobblestone stone streets in the United Kingdom.

There is also an American Adventure where Benjamin Franklin and Mark Twain head a cast of more than 30 audio-animatronics characters.

At Disneyworld, attention is paid to the smallest detail - from shrubbery in the shape of animals to make your ride more scenic on the monorail, to a place to leave your dog so you can visit the park.

Once you arrive at the Magic Kingdom, you step onto Main St. to the sound of soothing music such as "Oh, What a Beautiful Morning."

And everything is immaculate - they even vacuum the street!

Both the Magic Kingdom and Epcot Center feature baby services, strollers, banking, guided tours, lockers, and accommodations for wheelchair, sight-impaired and hearing-impaired guests.

They also have day-long "Wonders of Walt Disney World" programs for students ages 10 to 15.

For adults, there is a photography workshop at the Magic Kingdom and a "Gardens of the World" learning adventure at Epcot.

Operating hours are 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. in the Magic Kingdom, 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. in Epcot Center, with extended hours during holiday, summer and other heavy attendance periods.

People from the Boston area, which includes Quincy, are in the top 10 percent of visitors to Disney World.

But there are also many visitors from other countries. One woman sported a T-shirt from Istanbul.

It's still hot in Florida this time of year - the temperature was in the 90s during our visit - so bring your summer clothes if you're planning a visit.

It's also a good idea to bring a good supply of money. A three-day passport to the Magic Kingdom or Epcot Center is $61 for adults and $49 for children.

There are also plenty of souvenir stores with basic T-shirts about $9 and sweatshirts $16.

And don't worry. If you forget to buy a gift for someone at home, they even have a Disney gift shop at Orlando Airport.

Bellotti, Finnegan To Be Honored Oct. 29

Atty. Gen. Francis X. Bellotti of Quincy, and State Auditor John J. Finnegan of Dorchester, will be honored at a dinner Wednesday, Oct. 29, at Florian Hall, Hallett St., Dorchester.

Bellotti, who entered politics after moving to Quincy in 1958, was born and brought up in St. Brendan's Parish in Dorchester. He attended Woodrow Wilson School, English High School, Boston College, Tufts University, Boston College Law School.

He is married to the former Marguerite Wang. They have 12 children.

Both are retiring from office.

Finnegan was born and brought up on Train St. in Dorchester. He attended St. Ann's Grammar School, Cathedral High School, UMass-Amherst and the New England School of Law.

Married to the former Betty Dunn, they are parents of two children.

Finnegan followed his father, state Senator Joseph Finnegan, into politics by being elected to the House of Representatives in 1966.

According to dinner spokesman Arthur Sutliff of Sea St., Quincy, a roast beef dinner will be served at 7:30 p.m. Donation is $15. For tickets, contact Sutliff at 773-9086.

Bellotti and Finnegan will leave their state offices Jan. 2.

Urban Renewal Plan

across from McIntyre Mall and the first canopied section will be set back about 40 feet from the street," he said.

It is proposed that the pillars at that section be taken from the old Norfolk County Courthouse (which is scheduled to be included in the urban renewal plan) according to Lydon.

Peaked roofs will be repeated throughout the project, Lydon said, reflecting those of City Hall and First Parish Church.

Lydon said that one of the committee's major concerns was that the mass of the building not be right up against Hancock St.

"In response to this, what the developers have done is that they have recessed the building," said Lydon. He said they have also proposed to construct two levels of granite, then three levels on the First Parish Church side.

Then there would be six levels on the Elks Hall side, according to Lydon.

"The interior mall will occupy about 18 vertical feet of the first level and will be open to the public," Lydon said.

Lydon said there will probably be some kind of water treatment, such as a reflection pool, at the front.

"It would be much as one sees at Christian Scientist Church in Boston, on a smaller scale because of the area that we are working with," Lydon explained.

He also said that all of the windows will be surrounded with granite on the upper floors "mirroring the feeling one gets from First Parish Church as well as City Hall."

Demolition of the Bargain Center Building should be in about four to six weeks, according to Lydon, who explained that a date will hinge on approval of the design of the building.

Donald Perdios Army Lieutenant

Donald S. Perdios, son of Mr. and Mrs. James T. Perdios of 82 Arnold St., Quincy, has been promoted in the U.S. Army to the rank of first lieutenant.

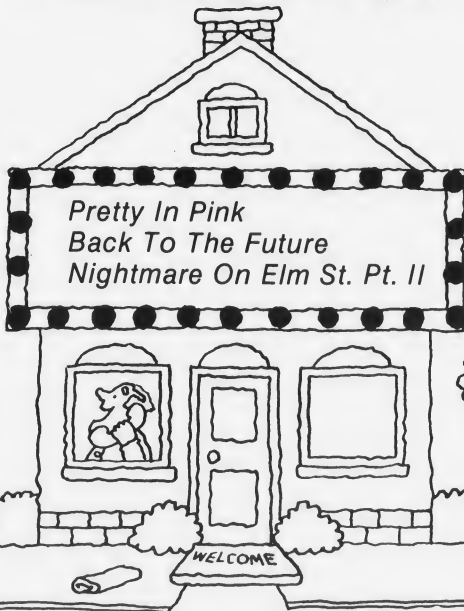

Perdios is a maintenance and assembly officer with the 1st U.S. Army Field Artillery Division in West Germany.

So now when you're in the mood for a movie, it's only a phone call away.

Ordering's easy, too. You just refer to your cable program guide. Find the movie you want to see in the time slot you want to view. Then call your local cable office and place your order.

There's no running to the store to pick up a tape, no returning it the next day, and no late charges. And you won't be disappointed because your video store is sold out of the movie you want to see. You just sit back, relax and enjoy the show.

80% Stolen Cars Left Unlocked

A million cars were stolen in the United States last year.

In Quincy 825 cars were stolen during the same period. It is surprising to find that nationally 80% of all cars stolen were unlocked at the time of the theft. Believe it or not, 40 percent actually had the keys sitting right there in the ignition.

If you lock up the car and pocket the keys most amateurs won't bother breaking in. It's easier to "shop" for another car. According to the FBI most cars are stolen by amateurs. And they're stolen because they are easy to steal.

Although you can't make your car impossible to steal (a professional thief can get it if he really wants it), you can make it tough. The following are some tips on how to prevent your car from being stolen:

- Roll the windows up tight.
- Keep your spare key in your wallet. A professional thief knows all the hiding places.
- Replace standard door lock buttons with the slim, tapered type. The slim tapered type is almost impossible to pull up with a coat hanger.
- When you park in your driveway always park with the nose of your car pointing toward the street. Anyone tampering with the car can be seen easier.

• No matter how quick the errand, NEVER leave your car running. Not even in your driveway. Some amateur thieves hang out at convenience stores just waiting for an unattended car with the engine running.

Rule of Thumb: Make it time-consuming to steal your car, and the thief will probably try his luck on someone else's.

Anti-theft devices are not infallible but will help to foil the amateur and hamper the pro.

Kill Switch: Once activated the car won't start unless this hidden switch is deactivated. Cost around $40.00.

Alarm Systems: Loud warning alarm sounds to alert you that your car is being tampered with. Depending on the type of alarm system cost could go from $150. to $400.

Armored Collar: A metal shield that locks around the steering column and covers the ignition. Cost around $40.

Crook Lock: A bar locks the steering wheel to the brake pedal. Cost around $15.

Lojack System: A transmitter is installed in your car. When your car is stolen it is activated to send out inaudible signals that many police vehicles can receive. The stolen vehicle can then be tracked by the police vehicle. Cost around $500.

Once you have bought an anti-theft device have it installed by an expert. Do it yourself jobs are easier to defeat.

If you follow some of these tips and install an anti-theft device the chances will be better that your car will be there when you return.

'Alone, Yet Not Alone' Bethany Church Sermon

There will be two worship services Sunday, Oct. 19 in Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Center, at 9 a.m. in the chapel and at 10 a.m. in the sanctuary.

The Rev. J. William Arnold, senior minister, will preach the sermon at both services entitled, "Alone, Yet Not Alone," based on scripture texts from Genesis 32:24-31 and Luke 4:1-13.

Lay scripture readers will be Robert Lockwood for the early service and Joan C. Cunningham for the late service. The associate minister, Rev. Joel F. Huntington will assist in leading the worship at both hours.

The sacrament of Christian Baptism will be given to two children during the 10 a.m. service: Nathan Earl Drelles, son of Robert J. and Joan E.

(Morse) Drelles; and Anthony Samon Molnar, son of William J. and Gaye A. (Gurney) Molnar.

At the sanctuary service, the Chancel Choir under the direction of Peter E. Krasinski, organist, will sing as the offertory anthem a special selection entitled "Hymn" composed by Mr. Krasinski. Also, contralto soloist Jean E. Bettinson will sing Mendelssohn's, "The Secret Place."

The service will be broadcast "live" over radio station WJDA, 1300 kc at 10 a.m.

Sunday School will be in session from 10 to 11 a.m. with classes for pre-school through eighth grade. Nursery care is available for babies and toddlers, under the professional direction of Denise Fleming, Bethany's early childhood coordinator.

fellowship hour in the Allen Parlor. Individuals and families are welcome to attend the worship service and share in the fellowship hour, and to enroll children in the Sunday School.

At 11:30 to 12:30 there will be an adult forum in the chapel on the "Quincy Teenage Mothers' Program" which is held at Bethany Church. The coordinator-social worker, Linda Stice, will be the guest speaker making a presentation and answering questions.

On Wednesday evening, 7:30 to 9 p.m. Pastor Arnold will lead the Bible study on "Covenant, Part II," in the parish house, and these sessions are open to people from the community.

For additional information about Bethany's ministry and programs, please contact the church office, 479-7300.

'Song Of Salvation' Topic At Covenant Congregational

The morning worship service Sunday at Covenant Congregational Church, Whitwell and Granite Sts., opened with acolyte Derek White, lighting the altar candles.

The choir's choral introit was "The Lord is in his Holy Temple" by Kirkpatrick, followed by a call to worship taken from Psalm 150. Rev. Fred Lawson's sermon was entitled, "The Song of Salvation."

His message urged the congregation to "try faith, you'll like it."

The choir, directed and accompanied on the organ by Richard Smith, sang "Bless the Lord, O my Soul," a choral offertory, "Psalm 34" from the Ainsworth Psalter, harmonized by Richard Smith, and "O Taste and See" by Vaughn-Williams. The organ prelude was "Salvation Now has come to Earth" by Bach and the postlude was "Praise to the Almighty" by Walter.

During the service, Richard Grenier, a representative for the New England Seamen's Mission, made a special appeal for support of this home mission. He read a poem that he has written entitled, "The Sum of All Others."

Greeters were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur LaBelle. Ushers were Florence Anderson, Linda Day, David Day, and Bendix Lundgren. Events for the coming week include a 1:30 p.m. meeting on Wednesday of the Ladies Aid and a Friday, 7:30 p.m. Diaconate Meeting.

The sermon topic for next week is: "Launch out into the Deep." Sunday School classes start at 9:30 a.m. and the worship service begins at 10:45.

Point Congregational Begins 'The Daily Bible'

The Revs. Fred and Carol Atwood-Lyon, co-pastors of Quincy Point Congregational Church, have begun a new telephone ministry called "The Daily Bible."

The new program started Sunday, Oct. 5, and in the week that followed, more than 75 people called 472-4434 to receive a greeting by the pastors, a reading from the Bible, a short meditation on the reading, a prayer and an invitation to leave a message.

This ministry was made possible through a special gift to the church by Mrs. Taino Ash of Quincy. All members and friends of the church and citizens of the South Shore area are cordially invited to call "The Daily Bible" each day.

Gospel Music Concert At United Presbyterian

Fort Square United

Presbyterian Church, 16 Pleasant St., South Quincy, invites the public to a sacred concert of gospel music Sunday, Oct. 19, at 7 p.m.

The concert will feature artist and vocalist Sammy Poole, bringing his gospel message.

'Basics Of Our Faith' Squantum Church Topic

"The Basics of Our Faith" was the title of the sermon preached Sunday morning during the second service at the First Church of Squantum by pastor Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin.

Allyson and Douglas Barnum were the greeters; Tore Wallin, Harry Holmes and Steve Williams the ushers; and Lorraine Josselyn and Kate MacRitchie hosted the Fellowship Hour after the service.

For the offertory anthem, the Chancel Choir sang "Alleluia" as arranged by John Coates, Jr. Mary Ruth Scott was the director.

The hymns were "Onward Christian Soldiers," "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God" and "Stand Up, Stand For Jesus."

During the first service, Dr. Langevin preached on the topic, "What We Give Up," taking his text from Exodus 3. Guitarists Andrew Ogilvie, Robert Dixey and Mary Ruth Scott accompanied the congregational singing.

Marci Hurd led the opening prayer; prayers celebrating joys and expressing concerns were given by Lori Ogilvie, Mindi Hurd, Ruth Swenson, Mary Ruth Scott, Robert Dixey, Karen Reister and Patti Hurd; Kim Olson gave the prayer of dedication. Evelyn Ahearn and Pat Olson were the ushers.

Monday members and friends of the church traveled to Grotonwood to spend the day together outdoors. Grotonwood is a Christian camp located near Groton.

Friday, Oct. 17, the Womens' Evening Friendship Group is sponsoring a pot roast dinner at 6:30 p.m. at the church. Tickets are $6 each and are available from any member of the group or by calling Barbara Anderson at 328-7053. After the dinner at 7:30 p.m., Luther Swenson and Marjorie Hanson will show slides of Peru and Ecuador. The public is invited.

This Sunday there will be two services again; the guitar service at 8:30 a.m. and the traditional service at 10:30 a.m. Visitors are welcome.

Handicapped Singer In Concert At Glad Tidings Church Sunday

Jeff Steinberg in Concert will be presented at the Glad Tidings Church Sunday, at 6:30 p.m., at the Glad Tidings Church, 158 Washington St., Quincy.

Steinberg, born with no arms and two badly deformed legs, has been traveling around the country, singing about the masterpiece in each of us and encouraging us to see what God can do through us, no matter what our limitations appear to be.

Steinberg, who has received

critic raves for his concerts, has established a handicapped ministries in Memphis, Tenn.

Joining him at the concert will be his wife Debbie, and their nine-year old son Benji. Steinberg, who has authored his story, "Masterpiece in Progress," suffers from a condition called phocomelia, thought to be the result of Thalidomide or a similar drug prescribed for his mother during pregnancy.

Open House Friday For Fr. MacNeice

An open house for Fr. Dermot MacNeice, O.S.M., director of the Benburb Youth & Resource Centre, Ireland, will be held Friday, Oct. 17, at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Gene and Kathy Creedon, 70 Viden Road, South Quincy.

Initiated by the local community of Servite Friars, the Benburb Conference Centre and Benburb Youth Centre are dedicated to the ongoing work of reconciliation and peace.

Benburb is particularly interested in facilitating groupings whether on the thought or recreational levels who are dedicated to an ecumenical approach to leadership in the Irish situation.

Quincy High To Host College Fair Oct. 28

The Guidance Staffs of the Quincy Public Schools will sponsor the 10th annual College Fair Tuesday, Oct. 28, from 6:30 to 9 p.m. for students, parents, and residents from Quincy, Milton, and Weymouth.

Admissions Directors from approximately 70 New England schools and colleges will be available to students and parents to discuss financial aid, programs, and admissions requirements at their respective schools.

The fair will be held in the MacLean gymnasium located in the Quincy Vocational Technical School.

The College Fair provides students and their parents an opportunity to explore many possible avenues of further education before the choice becomes immediate and critical. Seniors can review their current selections and finalize their plans before making formal applications in November.

The following schools have indicated they will attend the conference:

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

Someone once asked this pointed question which is nourishing food for thought. What is life all about? ... It is everything in the past that has shaped and molded us. It is every contributing factor of heredity and environment that has made us what we are. It is the successes and failures, the joys and sorrows, the hopes and frustrations. It is the dreams that have led us onward; and the fears that have held us back. It is the love that unites us and the hates that divide us. It has been our noble aspirations and our feeble realization of them. It has been the hurts we have both suffered and inflicted, and the healing we have both experienced and shared. It is the influence of friends and enemies. It has been experiences that have brought out the best in us, and the experiences which have revealed the worst side of our natures. It has been both Divine Providence and twists of fate. It has been laughter and tears, heights of triumph and depths of tragedy. It has been days when everything we touched turned to gold, and days when we couldn't do anything right. It has been victories that made us feel self-sufficient, and defeats that made us feel dependent. It has been good and it has been bad, but it has been with the assurance that "All things work together for good to them that love God." ... Isn't this what life is all about? ...

Mayor Proclaims 'Work, Inc. Week'

Mayor Francis McCauley has proclaimed the week of Oct. 19 to 25, as "Work, Inc. Week."

Work, Inc., formerly South Shore Rehabilitation Center, will celebrate its 20th anniversary this month, according to McCauley.

"It has been a leader in providing employment training and opportunities for persons with serious disabilities in greater Boston and the South Shore," McCauley said.

"Work, Inc.'s philosophy is that if given the opportunity, persons with serious disabilities can become productive and contributing members of society," he said.

"In this era of government cutbacks, Work, Inc. continues to turn tax-supported individuals into tax-paying individuals through work," McCauley said.

Dean's Video Express Has Over 2,000 Movies

Dean's Video Express is North Quincy's answer to the Hollywood film connection.

Dean Collins makes this claim because he has stocked his 419 Hancock St., store with one of the largest film libraries in the area. It's inventoried with over 2,000 titles.

The store, conveniently located in the popular North Quincy business community, also has a number of video rental features available for customer satisfaction.

They include easy selection system, multiple copies, 20 or more new movies each week, a reservation system, and free membership.

Dean's Video Express is not targeted exclusively to video rentals.

"My shelves are stocked with the newest in electronic equipment such as video cassette recorders (VCRs), video and electronic related supplies," he said.

Another store attraction is a novel candy counter (with popcorn) you'd find only in the lobby of a movie theater. Collins is no stranger to the frustrations and struggles attributed to making one's own business prosper.

"A number of years ago my dad convinced me to join in a family beverage distributorship. After our source of supply went bankrupt, we were forced out of business.

"Later I took one of our tractor-trailer units and became an independent trucker," he said.

This too was no smooth road to travel. Union and government regulations caused setbacks in that industry, said Collins, so he decided to find another way to make a living.

"In my travels, I noticed video rental stores popping up like mushrooms. It looked like the kind of business I was looking for.

"I don't like franchises (because of past experiences) so whatever I decided I'd have to develop on my own," he added.

The right moment came in April, 1984, when he opened his business in North Quincy in an area void of video stores.

But that didn't last long. By August, three rental stores sprang up within a mile of his business.

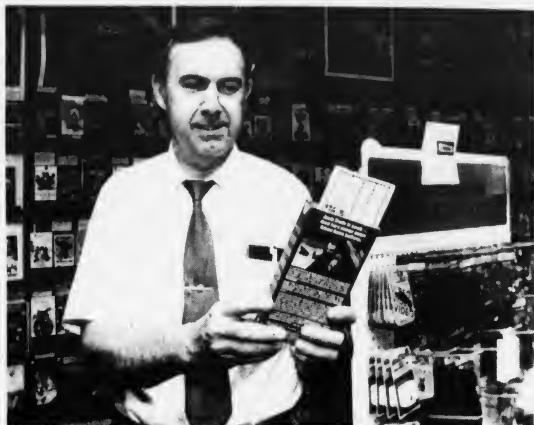

Despite this competition, Collins and his family worked hard to stay afloat. October came and the store reached a low point. "Money was real tight, someone had stolen an $800 camera and rentals were real slow.

"But I kept plugging away. A friend had reminded me: 'When the going gets tough, the tough get going.'

Suddenly the turning point came. VCRs were no longer a toy for the rich. Prices lowered and subsequently became the most convenient source of family entertainment since television itself.

"I can't tell you how thrilled I was to see customers filling the store on a Saturday. It was also nice to hear them telling me I had the best rental system and the best title selection around.

"As our store grew in customers we purchased as many new movies as possible with the aim to have the largest film library and the most extra services of any video rental in the area," he said. Today Collins continues to explore new ways to better service. One of these is developing a practical way for video home delivery.

Accent On Style Satisfaction At Shoes By Lara

By DAN CONNELLY
Make no mistake about it, the bottom line in milady fashions is still her shoes.

And leading the competition in meeting this fashionable need is Shoes by Lara, at 54 Billings Rd., North Quincy.

Owner of this fashionable establishment is Connie Chappell of Boston, who purchased the business last November from her employer, the Lara Franchise Company Inc. of Newton.

Upon taking over as owner, Connie placed the store's daily management into the capable hands of Cheryl Valencia of North Quincy.

Today, Connie (who works in the store on Saturday) and Cheryl, (who holds a degree in management) have in a remarkably short period of time developed a following of satisfied customers.

"Being franchise-oriented we are able to receive a steady flow of new styles and inventory. Not so for the traditional shoe store which has to depend on periodic delivery from the manufacturer," she said.

"This latter situation would discourage a customer," Connie went on to explain, "because upon coming into a shoe store for the second time, following her initial visit several weeks earlier, she would find the same shoe line displayed."

"In addition, because of the Lara shoe store network, we have an immediate source to draw upon should we in North Quincy run short of a particular style or size."

Connie is no novice to the world of business.

"I left teaching school for real estate, and then banking. But my secret ambition has been to follow in the footsteps of other successful businesswomen."

"But there was one drawback, I was never sure how to get started in my own business."

While her ambitions were still in the dream stage, Connie was hired by Lara Franchise Company, Inc. of Newton, a firm that had mushroomed 25 of its stores into 90 and is gaining a reputation of being one of the largest growing retail shoe chains in the country.

"Then last year, the company decided to sell their stores and concentrate on franchises."

"This was my golden opportunity. Here I was, working for a firm with a positive identity in a now stabilizing industry, and their North Quincy store, which they opened only last July, was available."

With ownership, and business expertise, she entered the firm's training program with zest, absorbing all the facts taught to run a new store successfully.

Today, Connie continues to work at the Newton-based firm. But her Saturdays are devoted to the store. Daughters Debbie and Jennifer add their support there.

"I just love the customer contact with running a store. It's wonderful meeting and helping people with their needs and it's super working in North Quincy.

She categorizes that business district as a viable one that has yet to reach its full potential.

Connie said the store is seeing more and more professional women from neighboring business complexes drop in and shop.

Store hours are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Saturday. Thursday and Friday they stay open until 9 p.m.

7—Eleven Replaces Fence

The License Board voted Tuesday to continue for two months an issue involving the dividing of the Burger King property from its neighbor, the 7-Eleven convenience store on Adams St., West Quincy.

Chairman John Gillis hoped the parties can resolve their differences at that time. The gates, along Adams St. and Robertson St. and dividers between the two firms were removed about two months ago without notifying the neighborhood. Ward 4 Councillor James A. Sheets charged at an earlier board meeting.

Since then cars have been allowed to move freely back and forth between the two business parking lots, he added.

Atty. Peter Eleece of Quincy, representing the 7-Eleven management, Southland Corporation of Dallas, Tex., told the board they are putting up a fence which will segregate the two properties.

Atty. Henry Dane, representing Burger King, took issue with the fence, contending it disrupts a cross easement right his client and property owner Southland Corporation share.

Sheets said this cross easement agreement between the two is in total disregard of the board, the city and the people who live in the immediate area.

Both have entered into an agreement without the board having knowledge, said Sheets, which has drastically affected the location and function of these two businesses. He suggested the board review their licenses.

Dukakis Dedicates Park In Quincy Man's Memory

Gov. Michael Dukakis Tuesday dedicated a newly created park on Quincy Shore Drive in memory of a 21-year-old Quincy man who was killed by an auto while crossing that street in 1982.

The park, located on the corner of Quincy Shore Drive and Bromfield St., was named the Richard M. Reilly Overlook, in memory of Reilly, who lived across from Wollaston Beach, where he walked, jogged and swam.

"We gather to dedicate a fine park in memory of a young man who lost his life on this busy thoroughfare four years ago. We also assemble to point out the positive turnaround this area has seen since that terrible tragedy. The reservation today is safer, better maintained, more utilized and full of potential," said the governor.

He noted that in the years leading up to 1983, Quincy Shore Drive was the scene of several fatalities a year; and the park was an abandoned litter strawn lot.

"Today, however, we find a very different area," he added.

The governor was joined at the dedication by MDC Commissioner William J. Geary, local officials and the mother of Reilly.

Quincy Co-Operative Shares Trading In NASDAQ National Market System

The Quincy Co-operative Bank (QCBK) common stock is included in the recent expansion of the NASDAQ National Market System (NMS). Ronald A. McKee, president and chief executive officer, announced.

McKee pointed out that Quincy Co-operative's entry into NMS provides investors with the best of both worlds—the continuous transaction data of the exchanges and the vigorous competition among multiple market makers that is the hallmark of NASDAQ.

Stockbrokers will be able to provide last-sale prices and up-to-the-second volume information on the company's common stock for their customers throughout the trading day. Quincy Co-operative Bank will be included in the NMS newspaper stock table which shows high, low and closing prices for the most active and prominent NASDAQ securities. The quotation symbol for Quincy Co-operative Bank, which at July 31, 1986 had total assets of $245,192,000, is QCBK.

McKee noted that in addition to increased market information that NMS provides, a significant advantage of being quoted on NASDAQ is the existence of multiple market makers competing with each other to execute customers orders, as opposed to a single specialist on the floor of a stock exchange. There are currently seven firms making a market in Quincy Co-operative Bank.

Quincy Co-operative Bank operates seven retail banking offices on the South Shore. The Bank is a member of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation and the Share Insurance Fund of the Co-operative Central Bank.

Morrissey Evening Office Hours

Rep. Michael W. Morrissey will hold evening office hours at the Drohan Apartments, 170 Copeland St., West Quincy, Tuesday Oct. 21 from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m.

He will also hold evening office hours at the Atlantic Neighborhood Center, Hunt St., North Quincy, Thursday

Nov. 6 from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. Anyone interested in speaking with Morrissey or would like to file legislation for the 1987 session should plan to do so at one of these times, he said. No appointment is necessary.

Morrissey has traditionally held office hours at city hall on Friday mornings, but would like to give constituents who work during the day an opportunity to speak with him.

"I have always tried to keep in contact with people of my district," he said. I hope these new office hours will allow me to meet with more.

North Quincy 8, Weymouth South 7

Raiders Host Malden Friday Night

Things didn't look promising for the North Quincy football team as it lost its first two games by scores of 33-12 and 46-13 to Arlington and Milton.

However, the defense, which had done a good job in those games despite the scores, came into its own in a 12-6 win over Newton North and last Saturday it reached its peak as the Raiders came from behind to hand Weymouth South its first loss of the season, 8-7, to even their record at 2-2.

Friday night at Veterans Memorial Stadium at 7 p.m. North will host a Malden squad which last week handed Waltham its first loss of the year to even its record at 2-2.

North Quincy was its own worst enemy in the first quarter at Weymouth as it fumbled four times, twice turning the ball over to Weymouth, the second one setting up South's touchdown.

"The defense was the story today and the kids did a fantastic job," said an elated North coach Ken McPhee. "The secondary was great as we intercepted (Greg) Ondrick three times. You don't very often intercept a great passer like that three times. (Ondrick had sparked wins over Dedham, Marshfield and Randolph with his passing, passing for all three scores in a 21-15 win over Randolph).

"The kids put a lot of pressure on Ondrick (he was only six for 17 for 53 yards) and that made the difference. Both defenses were strong and neither offense really got rolling. We earned this win as no one expected us to win. We still have a lot of players out of the lineup and lost Sean Clancy during the week. Kevin Segalla was still out as was Brian Durgin, and our big tackle, Matt McNamara is still out. But the others did their job and did it well. You know, we haven't had our full team available in any game so far."

Dave Lawless had another outstanding two-way game. He scored the game-winning two-point conversion on a fake kick, intercepted a pass in the end zone and got off a sensational 70-yard punt that went into the Weymouth end zone. Station WJDA named him the Player of the Game.

Everyone on defense did his part and the coaches had good words for Co-Capt. Tom Dolan, who set up North's touchdown with an interception. Tim Kelly, who had the other interception; Lawless, Scott Chansky, who covered well on deep passes; John Pacino, who had several good hits; John Rodophele, Billy McDougall, Keith Segalla, Brian Campbell, Paul Hogan, Dan Smith, Mark Lunnin and Ryan Craig, who had another fine two-way game.

On offense Lawless, Paul McCormack, Craig, Tom Casey and Vin Capone received plaudits.

North Quincy had 105 yards rushing and Weymouth South 141. North was four for 11 passing for 80 yards and one interception, with a fine pass from Joe Mulvey to Lawless setting up the touchdown. Ondrick was six for 17 for 53 yards and three interceptions, and North had nine first downs and Weymouth 12. Weymouth recovered a North fumble and drove to its touchdown. Joe Swartz scoring from the four and Dave Birmingham kicking the point, giving South a 7-0 lead in the opening quarter.

Dolan's interception on Weymouth's 41 set up North's score. Mulvey passed to Lawless for 37 yards to the six. Craig picked up three and, following an incomplete pass, Craig scored. On a fake kick, holder Mulvey pitched out to Lawless, who swept around right end for the winning two points.

Kevin Whittaker of Weymouth intercepted a pass and ran it back to North's 14, but Lawless' interception in the end zone got the Raiders out of trouble.

Weymouth started one last drive and reached the Raider 23 but, with five seconds left, Birmingham tried a 40-yard field goal but it fell far short.

North Jayvees Defeat Newton N. 12-6

By PETE ZOIA

The North Quincy High junior varsity football team defeated Newton North, 12-6, for its second win of the season.

Newton took the lead in the opening quarter, marching 42 yards for its only score.

The young Raiders came back to score twice in the second quarter. Steve Shoap scoring both touchdowns. He scored from the four-yard line and later scored from the one after Lou Sasso intercepted a pass on Newton's 32. Bob Sylva raced 28 yards to the four, and Shoap carried twice for the touchdown.

North had another fine scoring opportunity when Sasso raced 37 yards to the Newton 19 and a Sylva to Chris Mendes pass went to the three, where the threat died, Newton holding and taking over.

After the halftime rest, coach Kevin Cobban's Raiders mounted another threat when Sylva hit Ted Stevenson with a 22-yard pass to Newton's 32, and Mendes ran to the 25, but a Sylva pass was picked off.

With time running out Mike Shields intercepted a Newton pass on the 50, but the game ended seconds later.

Cobban, who is also the varsity offensive coordinator, was pleased with the victory and said, "The boys have confidence in themselves and the coaching staff. This is a plus toward attaining a successful program at the junior varsity level."

Cobban is a former North Quincy and Bridgewater State College quarterback.

Quincy Girls Roll By Newton South

The Quincy girls' volleyball team continues to roll along and last Thursday defeated Newton South, 2-0, to improve its record to 11-0.

The North Quincy girls, without a senior on the squad, lost to Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 2-1, last Friday, dropping their record to 7-4.

The Quincy girls will host Newton North Friday and next Wednesday will play at Boston Latin.

The North girls will be home to Waltham Friday and will play at Newton South next Wednesday.

Quincy had little trouble with Newton South, winning by 15-3 and 15-5 scores. Nancy Laitinen did some outstanding serving and Ginny Duggan's setting and Randi Gaura's defense helped the First Ladies to their victory.

Earlier in the week Quincy swept Waltham, 2-0 (15-5, 15-6) as Corrine Fichtner sparked defensively. Laitinen and Amy Guidice turned in alert net play and Diane Parry did some strong setting and spiking.

North Quincy defeated Brookline, 2-0 (15-2, 15-8) with Barbara Carroll setting and hitting well and Deirdre Murphy and Christine Venezia also playing excellent games.

Maureen Walsh Assistant Volleyball Coach At Providence

Maureen A. Walsh of Quincy has been named second assistant volleyball coach and staff volleyball fitness trainer at Providence College.

Maureen, a 1981 graduate of Quincy High, where she was a three-sport athlete (volleyball, basketball and softball), was captain of volleyball and basketball in her senior year and an All-League and All-Scholastic in her junior year, graduated from Providence College in 1985 with a bachelor's degree in psychology. She was a four-year outstanding varsity basketball player there.

At Quincy High she served as president of the sophomore, junior and senior classes and received the Outstanding Service Award in 1981.

Maureen, daughter of Bill and Betty Walsh, has a brother Bill, a student at Providence College, and a sister Kathy, men's ice hockey sports information contact and newly-appointed athletic promotions and marketing director at Providence.

Apaches Edge Manets, Panthers Top Sailors

The North Quincy Apaches remained undefeated in the Quincy Youth Football League with a hard-fought 6-0 victory over the vastly-improved Houghts Neck Manets Sunday at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

In the other game the second place Quincy Point Panthers topped the Squantum Sailors, 12-0. It was the second straight shutout for the Panthers.

The Panthers are scheduled to face the Apaches at 1 p.m. Sunday and the Manets will meet the West Quincy Elks at 2:30.

The Apaches-Manets game was an outstanding defensive battle with the North Quincy team scoring the only touchdown in the final two minutes.

A 65-yard pass play from Barry Glynn to Rob Rogers highlighted the touchdown drive and Dan Gilmartin scored from the four with the game's only points.

The Apaches' defense was led by Kevin MacDougall, Gilmartin, Mike Doherty, Barry Glynn, Gary Glynn and Matt Ryan.

On Saturday the Apaches' junior varsity edged the Manets, 8-6, with George Walsh scoring the touchdown and Tom Nutley adding the winning two points.

The Sailors received to open the game and Ralph Bevilacqua intercepted a pass on the Panther 40. The Panthers drove to their first touchdown as Steven Feeley and John Barkas led a strong ground attack. Bobby Crespi went 12 yards to the one and quarterback Joe Crespi went through the middle for the touchdown. The Sailors' Mike Flaherty halted the try for the two extra points.

The Sailors were stopped by penalties and a strong Panther defense, led by Richie Burns, and the quarter ended 6-0.

Midway in the second quarter the Panthers struck again, led by the fine running of Jason Buchanan, Feeley, Bobby Crespi and Barkas. With first down and 10 on the Sailors' 47, Ken Staskywick hauled in a Joe Crespi pass and was stopped on the Sailors' 23. The same combination teamed up on a touchdown pass on the next play. The try for points was stopped by Keith Douglas.

Mike Gates tried to get the Sailors on the board in the second half, but too many turnovers hurt the cause.

Playing strong defense for the Panthers were Mike Tempesta and Tommy Norton, while Buchanan had several key blocks.

Penniman Paces Koch Women

Presidents Face Brockton Power House

By TOM SULLIVAN
Quincy's football team faces the unenviable task of playing perennial Suburban League champion Brockton Saturday at 1:30 p.m. at Brockton's Marciano Stadium.

But, after the Presidents came from behind three times last Saturday to edge Newton North, 19-18, to improve to 2-2, Coach Jack Raymer feels his team won't be embarrassed.

With Joe Cardarelli, playing his first year of football, rushing for 128 yards and scoring twice and quarterback Steve Austin having his best day (12 for 21 for 207 yards), Quincy overcame leads of 6-0, 12-6, and 18-13, to score in the final two minutes and pull out last week's victory.

"We played outstanding defense in the first half and had our best offense of the season in the second half," Raymer said. "To give an example of how the two halves differed, Cardarelli gained 93 of his 128 yards in the second half and Austin passed for 165 of his 207 yards in the second half. I am proud of the way our kids continually battled back after Newton had taken the lead.

"I feel Austin can pass with anyone and I think, if we put it all together, we can give Brockton a game. No one gives us a chance, so we have everything to gain and nothing to lose."

Brockton, the defending Super Bowl champion, lost to St. John the Baptist of Islip, N.Y., in its opener but came back to roll over Newton North, was extremely fortunate in edging Somerville and last week easily topped Boston College High.

Quincy gained 372 yards in total offense at Newton, 207 passing and 165 rushing, and had 14 first downs.

Both of Quincy's wins (15-14 over Cambridge Rindge and Latin in its opener) came on a kicked extra point by Mark Farrand, who added the vital point after the second touchdown last week.

Joe Innello caught five passes for 105 yards and Steve Gardner, despite being double-teamed throughout the game, had three catches for 44 yards.

Raymer had high praise for the entire defense, especially in the first half when the Presidents dominated play despite trailing, 6-0, at halftime.

He hailed the performances of Mike Eastwick, Cardarelli, Frank Calabro, Gardner, Steve Picarski, Dennis DeCoste, Innello, Rob Cabezas, who was again outstanding; Todd Kimmell, Ernie Light and Chris Mackey.

On offense he had good words for Gardner, Innello, Cardarelli, Jeff Sprague, who was back after being injured; Rick Smith, Norm Hassan, Picarski, Dave Savage, John Bogdan and Calabro.

Newton took the lead in the second quarter on a 41-yard run by Mark Adams. It was the only score of the half as both defenses were outstanding.

Quincy took the second half kickoff and marched to the tying score with Cardarelli who rushed for 114 yards in his first game, racing 25 yards for the touchdown.

Newton came right back on a 20-yard run by Joe DeNucci, but again Quincy answered with Cardarelli going over from the two. Farrand then kicked what proved to be the winning point.

Late in the third quarter DeNucci galloped 68 yards to again put Newton up, 18-13.

With 2½ minutes left Quincy drove across from the one with the winning touchdown.

Glynn's Hat Trick Sparks Adams

Kevin Glynn had a hat trick and assisted on another goal to lead Adams Sports to a 7-3 victory over Grogan's Business Machines in Executive Hockey League action Monday night at the Youth Arena.

Fred Cobban added two goals and Bob O'Connell and Paul O'Brien one each. Fred Ahern had five assists, Bill Hanson three and Tom Roberts, O'Brien and Glynn one each. For Grogan's Jack Crowley, Kevin Grogan and Paul Bauserme had the goals and Gary DeCoste, Crowley, Ralph Gibbs and Marty Tolson had assists.

Beacon Sports and Bob White's Lounge played to a 3-3 tie. Joe Verlicco, Kevin Jago and Artie Boyle scored for Beacon and Pete DiBona and Art Boyle had assists. Jack Duffy, Dave Mullen and Joe Flitbott scored for White's and Jerry Innelli had two assists and Kevin Lewis one.

South Shore Bearing topped DiMattia Sailmakers, 3-1, on goals by Frankie Guest, Jack Aldred and Steve Dymont. Aldred, Chip Linscott, Guest and Don Bonito had assists. Al McKay had DiMattia's goal and Ed Linehan assisted.

Connolly three, Schatzl, Carinci and Danny Morrell two apiece and Kevin Barrett, Nolan and Jim Keegan one each. Joey MacLennan was in goal.

In a recent scrimmage, the Quincy Squirt A's, sponsored by A&T Movers, easily defeated Milton, 15-5.

Jamie Schatzl led the way with four goals, Joe Carinci

Goalies Continue To Dominate Action

Although several players are showing steady improvement on offense and there is excellent passing and teamwork, the goalies continue to dominate in the Quincy Youth Soccer League.

Last weekend, as in the past, there were numerous shutouts and other low scoring games.

Boys under 8: The Mayor McCauley Club defeated Reggie's Oil, 4-1, with John Marinilli and Brian Doyle scoring twice each. Colin Barry and Andrew Byrne had assists and Mark Bracken, Kevin Walsh and Mark Stentford played well. Colin Kearney scored for Reggie's and John Rodenhiser, Stephen Gildes and Patrick McGann played strong games.

Quincy Cable topped H.F. Goodman, 4-0, on goals by Harry Spitulnik, Mike Johnston, Joshua Straughn and Kevin Ahern. Richard Garcia and Jackie Haines played well. Jevrik Samborski scored for Goodman and Jason Crossman, Mike Demeo and Joe Cheverie turned in fine performances.

Jack Conway Really got by Sweeney Brothers, 1-0, on Kevin Moore's goal. Good games were turned in by Jonathan Fennessy, Nicholas Shea, Brian Degan, Ted McGillicuddy and Jeremiah Mulcahy. For Sweeney Jason Lamaghini, Mike Greene, Justin Graeber and Justin Mahn played well.

Scarry Real Estate squeezed by Wood Building, 1-0, with Jared Downey scoring the goal and Mark Joyce assisting. Andrew Risitano and Kevin Malvesti had good games.

Bryan Post edged Quincy Savings, 2-1, with Josh Maloney scoring both goals and Nick Klimola and Carmen Lorenzano assisting. Mike Fournier and Brad Smith played well. Mark Miller scored for Savings and Jimmy Hanson, Joey Crehan and Scott McCarthy were standouts.

Boys under 10: Pandick Press blanked Keohan's, 5-0, with Brendan O'Brien having two goals and Scott Kelly, Paul Towne and Steve Barrett one each. Towne and O'Brien had assists and Jim Crowley, Sam Corey and Brian Kinnally had good games. For Keohan's goalies John Tandy and Scott Stasiak, Bill Barron, Matt McSweeney and Eric Oliva had good games.

STARSCOPE

Clare Annswell

WEEK OF: October 16

AQUARIUS — January 21-February 19
Loved one may be more independent than usual—but if anyone can appreciate this quality, it's you. Relatives insist on having their way. Career or educational prospects brighten.

PISCES — February 20-March 20
Specialization is the key word; it's better to do one or two things well than to spread yourself too thin. Home improvement plans are spotlighted through the week.

ARIES — March 21-April 20
Imagination can be a plus and a negative this week. Romantic misunderstanding is short lived. Make an effort to share center stage with a shy but loyal and understanding person.

TAURUS — April 21-May 22
Recent disputes in community come to a harmonious conclusion, thanks to your input. Confidant may come to you with an unusual dilemma. Projects involving writing proceed smoothly.

GEMINI — May 23-June 21
A shaky relationship stabilizes thanks in part to your good sense of humor. Surprise expense may arrive by the weekend. Financial idea is bright but requires more research.

CANCER — June 22-July 22
Renewed determination helps you conclude a difficult and tedious project. Travel choices require review. Platonic relationship is highlighted—but don't take romance for granted.

LEO — July 23-August 22
Rival surprises you with a willingness to see your point of view. Delays are inevitable through Friday. Financial expectations become more realistic. Status in community improves.

VIRGO — August 23-September 22
Diverse activities keep you alert and active through this period. Family obligations are carried out more easily. Household burdens increase; at the job, help is on the way.

LIBRA — September 23-October 22
Combined efforts lead to accomplishments ahead of schedule. Shared financial arrangements require immediate review and frank discussion. Travel opportunities are highlighted after weekend.

SCORPIO — October 23-November 21
Novel ideas win you points at home or at the workplace. Academic interests are spotlighted. Unusual project may be launched before the weekend. In finance, prudence is the key.

SAGITTARIUS — November 22-December 22
Creative spirit soars; but remember, a tight touch is the key. In friendship too, a labored approach is not an effective one. Honors come your way after the weekend.

CAPRICORN — December 23-January 20
A natural approach is the key, whether decorating, writing, or speaking your mind. Shopping ventures prove successful, but be sure to compare prices. Recent enterprise starts to pay off.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
Diplomatic or merely secretive? Only those who know you well, know for sure. You love beautiful objects, you love travel, and though your circle of friends isn't large, you love your close companions intensely. New opportunities for travel evolve through the year. A career decision requires special review.

BORN THIS WEEK
October 16th, actress Angela Lansbury; 17th, actress Beverly Garland; 18th, actress Pam Dawber; 19th, actress LaWanda Page; 20th, actor Jerry Orbach; 21st, writer Preston Bennett; 22nd, actress Catherine Deneuve.

HENRY HIGGINS (Donny Woodridge), and ELIZA DOOLITTLE (Eunice Ferreira), in a scene from "My Fair Lady."

ENC Raises Curtain On 'My Fair Lady'

Three Quincy residents will have supporting roles as "My Fair Lady" opens tonight (Thursday), 7 p.m. at Eastern Nazarene College's Cove Fine Arts Center in Wollaston.

Starring are Eunice Ferreira from Cumberland, R.I., as Eliza and Donny Woodbridge of Jacksonville, Fla., in the role of Higgins. Jeff Frame, Craig Graham and Brenda Bryant, all of Quincy, will play Colonel Pickering, Mr. Doolittle and Mrs. Pearce.

This popular musical version of George Bernard Shaw's "Pygmalion" is the story of Henry Higgins, a stuffy linguistics professor, who takes on a wager to pass off a cockney flower girl, Eliza Doolittle, as a duchess at a ball. As Higgins molds Eliza, he realizes that his life is being changed as well.

The show is produced and directed by Dr. Ronda Rice Winderl, who has directed such past hits as "Oliver," "Annie," and "The Sound of Music."

The set design is by Professor Michael Ballard, whose creative designs elicited critical acclaim for last year's production of "The Tempest."

The show continues Friday, Oct. 17 at 7 p.m., and Saturday, Oct. 18 at 6 p.m. and 9 p.m. Shows on Monday, Oct. 20 and Tuesday, Oct. 21 are at 7 p.m. For tickets and information call the ENC Communication Art Department at 773-6350, ext. 262.

and air quality from Boston Edison's Edgar Station power plant before it closed in the 1970s.

Cheney said he wanted to know how much revenue the city would lose because of the tax-exempt state water agency.

"According to the assessors' office I learned that in order to change the assessments at the shipyard the city would have to go back to court and ask the judge to change the decision regarding the level of assessment at the shipyard. This could mean a considerable time delay in receiving any taxes from the proposed developer.

"In the agreement submitted by Reilly/Athy on the closing date, agreements shall have been reached with the city that the assessment on the shipyards portion shall not exceed $10 million.

"According to the assessors' office we could not enter into any such agreement unless the judge revised his decision. This is liable to open up a new can of worms regarding shipbuilding there," Cheney said.

"I think everyone in Quincy is in agreement that we favor the continued use of the shipyard for its original purpose, which is shipbuilding. But we have to look at how viable shipbuilding is in Quincy for the next 16 or 20 years, or whatever the life expectancy is of this cogeneration power plant.

"The worst thing that could happen is that we agree to this proposal for a power generation station and five years from now we have no shipbuilding contracts.

"We want to be assured that this will not happen. We want to be assured the workers at the yard will have adequate protection in a viable livelihood.

"Outside of the siting of a new sewerage facility this will probably be one of the most important decisions that we will make within the next 10 years. It is my hope that we can work something out to continue the 102 year-old tradition of building ships in Quincy and providing thousands with long term employment. I feel confident that every public official in Quincy, the state and federal governments will continue to work hard towards a resolution we can all be proud of.

"The bottom line is: are they (Reilly/Athy) going to burn coal or trash. And do they intend to expand and burn sludge," said Cheney.

MOMENT OF TRUTH

QUESTION: My husband has just been transferred. We are trying to sell our present home and buy another in the new area, but as yet, we have not received a legitimate offer. The time is getting close for him to leave and we would like to go as a family. Would you advise that we move and try to sell the house empty or stay in the house until it is sold?

ANSWER: Experience shows that an empty house is tougher to sell and often brings less money. A house devoid of furniture loses its charm and appearance livability. Maybe the house has not sold because it is overpriced. If moving is vital, consider reducing the price of your house by 5 or 10 percent in order to sell it now.

IF YOU HAVE A CHOICE - try to sell a house while it is still furnished and decorated.

Committee To Adopt Policy On Finding Osterman's Successor

Mayor Francis McCauley said that the School Committee will have to adopt a policy for replacement of School Supt. John Osterman who announced recently that he will step down next year.

During the surprise announcement at last week's School Committee meeting, Osterman said that he will not request an extension of his contract and will resign Sept. 30, 1987.

"I could stay on in some capacity to be determined by the new superintendent. I could retire, my options are many," Osterman, 57, told Sun Ch. 8.

"He has done a good job," said McCauley of Osterman who was appointed as superintendent two years ago following the resignation of Dr. Lawrence Creedon.

Creedon resigned in 1984 during an investigation of sexual misconduct allegations against him.

McCauley said that he would be sorry to see Osterman go "but we understand that he would like to spend more time with his family," McCauley said.

The mayor said that one of Osterman's strengths is his "broad knowledge of every facet of the Quincy schools."

McCauley noted that Osterman has been a teacher, assistant principal, principal, and assistant superintendent as well as superintendent.

School Committee members also praised Osterman for doing an "excellent job."

In his letter of resignation, Osterman said he was announcing his resignation now so that there will be sufficient time to advertise and screen candidates for the position.

"My thanks to the (School) committee for giving me the opportunity to serve the students of Quincy as your Superintendent of Schools," Osterman stated.

"I had set for myself what I had set for myself by September of 1987, allowing this decision for personal reasons."

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

As expected, the City Council voted unanimously Monday night to approve a $250,000 appropriation order submitted by Mayor Francis McCauley for the reopening of the Wollaston Elementary School.

The school, which was closed amidst much protest in 1982 due to declining enrollments, is scheduled to reopen in the fall of 1987.

During the meeting, a number of women representing parent teacher organizations, or the district in which the Wollaston School is located, praised the council for its efforts.

Singled out were Council president Stephen McGrath and Councillor John Lydon, in whose wards the school is located; as well as Councillors at Large Patricia Toland and Joseph LaRia.

"This has been one of the most emotional issues in my 12 years on the City Council," said Lydon.

"It means an awful lot to the parents in the area."

He thanked the mayor for submitting the appropriation order.

"I share the delight that Councillor Lydon expressed, and congratulate the parents for keeping the matter before the mayor's attention," said Councillor Toland.

"I never doubted in the end that the mayor would reopen the school."

Councillor Joseph LaRia

also congratulated the parents.

"Reopening the Wollaston School is recognition of the changing demographics of the city," noted Councillor James Sheets.

Councillor Michael Cheney said "the parents have been extremely persistent. They really have achieved something which other cities and towns are looking at."

McGrath said that the School Committee made a far-sighted decision in not selling all of the closed schools in case some had to be reopened.

He also praised the "parents working with the City Council and School Committee in a positive way."

At 5 Downtown Points

$236,000 Grant To Improve Traffic Flow

State Senator Paul D. Harold today announces the award of a $236,000 grant to the city of Quincy for engineering and design work for improvements at five major traffic congestion points in Quincy Center.

Harold said the funding is being awarded from the state Public Works Economic Development (PWED) program, which grants money for transportation improvements that will result in economic benefits to the community through "spinoff" effects.

Harold, who serves on the Joint Legislative Committee on Transportation, worked closely with state Transportation Secretary Fred Salvucci to secure the funding for Quincy.

"These monies will help provide for a coordinated plan for resolving vehicle and pedestrian traffic snarls, and further increase the visibility of Quincy Center as the business capital of the South Shore," Harold said.

"I'm particularly pleased that included in the grant award are funds for initial design work for the construction of a pedestrian walkway over Burgin Parkway to connect the Star Market parking area with the Parkway and provide safe access, especially for senior citizens in the area."

The new walkway will replace a wooden structure which was in the area prior to the construction of Burgin Parkway.

The city will match the state grant with $59,000 in city funding.

The funding will provide design work for four major intersections and the walkway, including:

- Hancock and Dimmock Sts.
- Coddington, Washington and Temple Sts. This work will coincide with the construction of the $54 million Presidents Place project at the Bargain Center site.
- Hancock, Granite, Chestnut and Maple Sts.
- Granite St. and Burgin Parkway.
- Burgin Parkway pedestrian walkway.

Council Approves $250,000 To Re-open Wollaston School

$3,230,506 Collected In First Half Taxes

A total of $3,230,506 has been collected in estimated first half tax bills which were sent out to property owners Oct. 3, according to Mayor Francis McCauley.

That compares to $2,444,553 for the same amount of time last spring, McCauley said.

"The money is coming in," said the mayor. "There have been no major lines (of residents waiting to pay)."

"This is the second time we've been collecting with the new (computerized) system, so the bugs have been worked out."

"We have had no complaints on the processing down there."

MEMBERS of the Southeast Asian Community of Quincy listened to officials who explained city government and the services available to them.

POLICE CHIEF FRANCIS FINN told Southeast Asians about the importance of dialing 911 at a reception held at new City Hall. His words were interpreted by Chik Ching Law of the school system's bilingual staff.

Mayor Pleased With Reception For Asians

Mayor Francis McCauley said Tuesday he was very pleased with a reception held at new City Hall to welcome Southeast Asians to Quincy and inform them of services available.

And he said he would evaluate the answers to a questionnaire to see what events the city might hold next.

"Everyone seemed very pleased with the seminar," said McCauley who noted that over 100 people attended.

"It was standing room only," he said.

Elected officials and department heads from the City Council, School Committee, school department, police, fire, recreation departments and civil defense explained their jobs and the services they offer.

Those attending were given flyers, in English and Chinese, on how to sign up for English tutors at the Crane Library or English classes sponsored by the Urbanistics Human Services Foundation at the Montclair School.

City Councillor Thomas

Nutley, in whose ward about half of the city's Southeast Asian population resides, welcomed the audience to City Hall in Cantonese.

Nutley also said he would hold another meeting for them in mid-November at the Atlantic Neighborhood Center.

License Board Briefs

The City License Board took the following actions at Tuesday's meeting at City Hall.

• Voted on a re-change of manager of the Town River Yacht Club from Kenneth Yeorgor to Salvatore Gallinaro. Gallinaro, a former steward at the yacht club was also house committee chairman there for several years and came "very qualified" according to City Clerk John Gillis.

• Granted a request for a wedding reception Nov. 8 at Rosie's Restaurant, the President's Golf Club.

• Granted a request from Quincy Fort Square Church, 52 East Squantum St., for a common victualer license for a once a month gathering to be held at the United Methodist Church, Beale St., subject to requirements by the health and building inspectors.

• Granted a one-day all alcoholic license for a fund raising event for State Rep. Robert Cerusoli Nov. 1 at the Fore River Clubhouse from 8 p.m. until midnight.

• Granted a request from Kemper Men's Club for a one day all alcoholic license for an annual spaghetti supper at the North Quincy Knights of Columbus Hall Oct. 28 from 5 to 11 p.m. Chief Francis Finn told representatives of the club to make sure they have their "designated drivers."

• Continued until next week a request for a Halloween Dance at Rosie's Restaurant Nov. 1 because no one attended the meeting on their behalf.

Spring Construction Start For Police Station, Animal Shelter

A spring construction start is planned for the $8 million addition and renovation of the Quincy Police Station and $400,000 construction of a new animal shelter.

"As soon as the last snow melts, we hope to get going," said David Colton, deputy commissioner of public works.

The final design for the police station should be completed by late December or January, and for the shelter by late November, he said.

Both will go out to bid in the winter, said Colton, who explained that "you get a better price bid during the off season."

It's possible that the same contractor could do both jobs because of the close proximity of the two sites, he said.

The police station is at the corner of Southern Artery and Sea St., and the animal shelter will be at the current site of the Quincy Pound on Broad St.

Colton said the council will be updated on the police station plans before the city goes to bid.

The new police station will have a more controlled lobby area which will make it clearer where residents should go for services, according to Colton.

The jail cells will be up to date and suicide-proof, he said.

"The cells will have camera and audio surveillance, and there will be no bars. There will be plexiglass instead," Colton said.

"The new station will go basic needs," he said. "We're not trying to do anything innovative. It will be very functional."

It will take 24 to 30 months for the addition and renovation of the police station, according to Colton.

The new animal shelter will be a basic, one-story brick building with about 30 cages for the animals, he said, as opposed to the 10 or 12 there now.

There will be cages for smaller puppies, as well as larger ones for grown dogs, said Colton.

Plans also call for an office, area for the public, and garage for the shelter vehicles, according to Colton.

"The shelter should be built and operational 12 months from now," he said.

Thanksgiving Completion Date For Hancock Water Main

Work on the Hancock St. water main is expected to be completed by Thanksgiving, in time for the annual Christmas parade.

Deputy Commissioner of Public Works David Colton said that the $500,000 project, which has stretched from Beale St. to West Squantum St., is in its second year. It is currently in Wollaston.

Purpose has been to replace a water main installed in 1883, he said.

Colton called the project "very difficult" because of traffic congestion above ground and the involvement of other utilities under ground.

"We hope to make application to the DEQE for more funds to continue the project southerly down Hancock St. towards Quincy Sq.," he said.

Colton said that the century-old pipe, made of kalamien steel, is rather brittle.

"Some parts weren't that bad," he said. "But you could put your finger through other parts."

Zoning Task Force To Meet

The Special Task Force on Zoning will meet in the City Hall Conference Room on the second floor of New City Hall tonight (Thursday) at 7 p.m. The task force was established by council president Stephen McGrath.

Board Tells Muffler Center To Muffle Noise

By MARIE D'OLIMPIO

The Eco Muffler Center at 191 Quincy Ave., was told by the City License Board to adhere more to the city ordinance hours of 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. and "Never on Sunday" following complaints and a signed petition from neighbors.

David Landy, an abutter, presented a signed petition to the board and told them that he and his family are awakened from loud noises from mufflers and go to bed with the same sounds sometimes as late as 1:30 a.m. Plus a bulldozer which parks there every day.

Owner James McDonough said Landy's complaints were "isolated instances" but admitted that many people do leave their cars early in the morning before he gets to work and late at night after he has gone home.

The bulldozer, he said belongs to a friend who was given permission to park there.

Police Chief Francis Finn told the owner to get rid of the bulldozer, put a chain across the property with flags, so people can't drive in any time of day or night and to limit his one night a week opening to Thursdays until 7 p.m. rather than 8:30 p.m. as was the case.

City Clerk John Gillis told Landy and McDonough to "try to work it out amongst yourselves."

A buffer zone such as a fence or shrubberies was suggested by Ward Councillor Ted DeCristofaro representing the abutters and told McDonough to "show a little more concern for your neighbors; even though he said he had a right to conduct your business."

DeCristofaro left City Hall with Landy and McDonough to look over the situation for the board and report on his findings at next week's meeting.

City To Accept Tax Prepayment

Mayor Francis N. McCauley announces that the city will accept prepayments on the May 1, 1987 payment of real and personal property taxes.

The mayor noted that tax legislation recently passed by Congress, will sharply reduce tax rates for 1987 and future years.

Deductions for property taxes will therefore be worth more on 1986 income tax returns, he said.

Mayor McCauley said that since the tax payment due Nov. 3 is an estimate, the exact amount of the May 1, 1987 bill will not be known until the tax rate is set next spring.

However, any prepayments of the May 1987 bill will be deducted from the bill mailed out next spring.

While most property taxpayers should benefit tax wise from prepayments by Dec. 31, 1986, Mayor McCauley suggested that individuals contact their tax advisors before making any prepayments.

Mayor To File Bills For 1987 Legislature

Mayor Francis X. McCauley said he will file a number of bills that will be considered by the 1987 session of the state legislature.

The proposed legislation has been forwarded to the Office of State Senator Paul Harold, who will file the bills on behalf of Mayor McCauley.

The proposed legislature package includes:

- A bill that will require the Commonwealth to assume the cost of security personnel at state-aided elderly housing developments.
- A bill requiring the Commonwealth to make annual contributions to each city and town at the rate of $100 for each senior citizens housing unit operated by the Housing Authority within that city or town.

- A bill requiring the Ethics Commission to furnish the names of people filing complaints against public officials to the officials involved.

- A bill requiring the state to assume the full cost of funding the Quinn bill.

- Two proposals from Mrs. Phyllis Berluchi, Dog Officer amending Chapter 140 of the Dog Control Law. One proposal will change the licensing date from April 1 to Jan. 1. The second change would require the payment of fines directly to the city rather than through the District Court.

Advice On Cancelling Auto Registration, Insurance

Motor Vehicles Registrar Alan Mackey advises vehicle owners about the importance of following proper guidelines when cancelling a registration and insurance coverage.

"I cannot emphasize enough how significant it is to return your number plate and registration certificate to the Registry," he said, adding, "the owners are responsible for insurance and excise tax payments until they are cancelled."

"Whenever you cancel, you should receive two copies of the plate return receipt. Send one copy to your insurance company to cancel the policy and the other copy to your city or town to abate your excise tax. It is also a good idea to make a copy for your own personal records.

"Many times a vehicle owner will receive an excise bill for a vehicle he no longer owns. Nine times out of ten, the owner forgot to return the plates and notify anyone."

For Anselmo A Decision At 89

School Committeeman Frank Anselmo will be 89 when next year's city election rolls around.

Will he seek re-election?
"I'd love to run again," he says.
"But I don't know right now."
Is he hesitating because of his age?
"No," he says. "I'm in good shape physically and mentally."

"I feel no different now than I did 20 years ago. And 20 years ago, I didn't feel any different than I did 20 years before that."

Anselmo

Anselmo, who was first elected in 1961, has been outspoken down through the years. He hasn't been one to beat around the bush. He'll tell you what he thinks if you ask him -- and sometimes if you don't ask him. And if you don't agree with him -- well -- that's your privilege. But voicing his opinion is his privilege, just like voicing yours is yours, says he.

Is he leaning toward running again?
"Well," he says, "I will if there is support for me. I won't if there isn't. I want to feel that people think I am still useful."

On Oct. 31, Anselmo will be honored by the Massachusetts School Board Association at its convention in Hyannis. He will be made a life member of the association. The nomination was unanimous.

Anselmo is one of the oldest -- if not the oldest -- elected official in the state.

But he doesn't look or act like he's ready for a rocking chair.

The other day he was off to try his luck at the race track.

"I don't go there to win," he says. "I like to watch them run."

And the feeling is that he will be running himself next year.

INCIDENTALLY, Anselmo, who was in the Army in World War I, doesn't like the word "order."

McCauley

Like the order presented by Mayor Francis McCauley that ordered School Supt. John Osterman to initiate plans to re-open Wollaston School and to initiate plans to close Sterling.

This was before McCauley announced he would submit a $250,000 appropriation order to the City Council to re-open the Wollaston School with no strings attached regarding the fate of Sterling.

But the old Army map bristles at the word order.

Anselmo wants the Wollaston School re-opened and for Sterling to remain open but he still doesn't like the word order even if a $250,000 sized one opens the Wollaston school.

The word "order" he says belongs in the military not in civilian life.

He insists he has nothing personal against McCauley but:

"We don't take orders from him. It should be a recommendation, a proposal, a request, a plan -- not an order."

"He's not the commander-in-chief. We are not a military installation. He's not the master. We're not his slave."

It almost sounds like he's got his juices flowing for re-election campaign.

FRANK BELLOTTI, who is stepping down as attorney general this year, says he plans to practice law in Boston as a private citizen.

At the fundraiser reception for Gov. Michael Dukakis hosted by Sheriff Clifford Marshall at the National Fire Protection Association headquarters in West Quincy, Saturday, Bellotti said:

"That's what I am -- a lawyer."

He says he will continue to live in Quincy.

BELLOTTI

THE BIGGEST SMILE in town has to belong to North Quincy's Joe Gildea of the Montclair Men's Club.

Gildea looked over the Red Sox in spring training in Florida and came back with this prediction: "They'll finish third -- or better."

At that time just about everyone had the Sox winding up fifth.

"There was just something different about this team," Gildea says. "The pitching looked good and they acted like a team -- not a bunch of individuals."

How does he see the World Series?

"We'll take it," he smiles.

GILDEA

EVERYBODY'S GOT Red Sox Fever: Instead of its destination, an MBTA bus in Quincy Sq. flashed on its front: "Go Red Sox - Let's Beat The Mets."

Well, that's a good destination.

Looking Back

THE 1967 WORLD SERIES between the Red Sox and St. Louis Cardinals brought Senator Edward Kennedy, former Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy and Senator Robert Kennedy to Fenway Park. The elder Kennedy was a former executive at the Bethlehem Steel Co.'s Quincy Shipyard. This ball game is believed to have been his final public appearance.

Environmental Activists Support Brownell Waste Clean-Up Question

Rep. Thomas Brownell met recently with area environmental activists who voiced their support for the Hazardous Waste Clean Up ballot question.

It will appear as Question #4 on this year's November statewide election ballot.

The ballot question will establish a comprehensive program to investigate, contain, and then clean up in a timely manner the estimated 1000-plus hazardous waste dumpsites in Massachusetts.

Chris Smith, a representative from the Massachusetts

Public Interest Research Group (MASSPIRG), one of the advocates for the Hazardous Waste Cleanup Initiative, reported that there has been a strong show of citizen and organizational support for the Initiative.

"To date, hundreds of citizens in the region have signed petitions and written to their legislators in support of the hazardous waste cleanup initiative."

In fact, Rep. Brownell and organizations such as the Massachusetts Association of Conservation Commissions, the Clean Water Action Project, and Greenpeace have all endorsed this ballot question, joining the over 150 state and local organizations and prominent individuals who have joined the Massachusetts Campaign to Clean Up Hazardous Waste."

Quincy's Yesterdays

10 Cents An Hour Pay Hike For E. Mass. Drivers

After five months of negotiating, William McNeill, president of the Quincy local of the Eastern Mass Street Railways Union, announced that a new 18-month contract had been accepted.

Under the new contract, employees would receive a basic monthly wage of $1.75 an hour, an increase of 10 cents. Originally, employees had asked for a 30 cent boost.

MERCHANTS OPPOSE SOUTHERN ARTERY MEDIAN STRIP

Merchants along the Southern Artery voiced opposition this week to plans which called for the building of a center strip median down the roadway.

Reconstruction of the artery by the state was scheduled to begin next spring, but merchants wanted the median strip taken out of the plans. They said it would seriously cut down on their volume of trade, since motorists would be prevented from cutting across the road to reach businesses on the opposite side.

RED FEATHER CAMPAIGN GOES DOOR-TO-DOOR

More than 1,500 volunteer workers were busy this week ringing door bells as the final phase of the Quincy Red Feather Drive got underway. William Harris, chairman of the residential division said his unit's quota was $26,940. The annual open house was scheduled on Sunday night at Chest Headquarters at the Adams Academy. At that time, initial results of the weekend drive would be reported. Mr. and Mrs. Alf Swensen were in charge of preparing refreshments for the volunteers making reports.

CHURCH MEMBERS PAINT HOUSE

Twenty-five men from First Presbyterian Church of Quincy went to Weymouth this week to paint the house of fellow parishioner John Young, a recent polio victim.

Mr. Young had made an excellent recovery since being stricken and had since returned to his teaching position at North Quincy High School.

Serving refreshments to the workers were Mrs. John Young, Mrs. Wallace Pearson, Mrs. John Smith, Mrs. Alton Horte, Mrs. Marshall Miller, Mrs. Alexander Warrington, Mrs. Henry Bishop and Mrs. William Souden.

NORTH QUINCY WATER BREAK

A water main burst in North Quincy early Saturday night, causing several thousands of dollars damage to furnaces and clothes and furniture stored in cellars.

At noon Saturday, emergency workers from the fire, highway and water departments were still pumping out cellars on Faxon Rd., Gordon St., and French St. The yard of White Brothers Milk Co. was covered by several feet of water and it was necessary to tow out a dozen trucks so that the company would deliver its milk.

NEW BACKFIELD FOR QHS

Injury-riddled Quincy High School prepared to meet Malden with an entirely new backfield unit. Coach William Sullivan said, "We are no longer a passing team. I don't know if we're even a running one, either."

Sullivan was expected to start Sophomore Tom Connors at quarterback to replace the injured Ronnie Leone. Missing from the once powerful backfield was Dick Pakalmis, Dick Derbes and Dick Brown.

QUINCY-ISMS

A new steeple was erected at the Most Blessed Sacrament Church, Houghs Neck, replacing the one damaged in the church's $500,000 fire ... U.N. Day was celebrated at Woodward School with a tree planting ... Bryant Carter was installed as the new Commander of the Wollaston American Legion Post ... Quincy's three K of C councils jointly sponsored a parade and Family Holy Hour for Peace at St. John's. Msgr. Arthur Riley of Merrymount was guest speaker ... City Manager Donald Blatt named Joseph Lemieux of North Quincy to the fire department (from the civil service list) ... Cranch School PTA heard six candidates for School Committee; incumbents Mrs. Alice Mitchell, Miss Ethel Wiley and Paul Duffey and challengers Charles Sweeney, Henry Gosmer and Nicholas Barbadoro ... Rev. Lex King Souter, wrestler-turned-clergyman was guest speaker at the Victor Sawyer Men's Club of Wollaston Methodist Church ... The Adams Theatre featured Marilyn Monroe and Tom Ewell in "Seven Year Itch" ... N.Q.H.S. Raiders were scheduled to meet Hingham at Veteran's Stadium. The Raiders were attempting to make it two in a row, after their victory over New Bedford at the beginning of the week.

Early Pregnancy Program To Start At QCH Nov. 6

Quincy City Hospital will sponsor a two-session program, "Early Pregnancy - For Healthy Mom and Healthy Baby," for expectant women in their early stages of pregnancy, beginning Thursday, Nov. 6.

The program, for women only, will cover the emotional and physical changes of pregnancy, fetal development, nutrition, exercises and other information that will guide mothers-to-be in making important decisions for themselves and their baby.

Classes will be held from 7 to 9 p.m. on consecutive Thursdays, in the Childbirth Education Classroom in the Family-Centered Maternity Unit. Expectant women, regardless of their hospital affiliation, may call 773-6100, ext. 3017, to register or to receive a brochure. The program is free to all participants.

In addition, Quincy City Hospital offers classes in Sibling Orientation and Breastfeeding. The Family-Centered Maternity Unit also has available for low-cost rental car seats for infants.

Cerasoli Announces $41,829 Grant For Aging Council

Rep. Robert A. Cerasoli announces that the Massachusetts Executive Office of Elder Affairs has awarded $41,829 in local aid to Quincy.

The award is under the expanded Executive Office of Elder Affairs FY 1987 Formula Grant Program.

According to Rep. Cerasoli, this year's awards represent a 26 per cent increase over last year's and are allocated to each municipality based on their population of elders, age 60-plus according to 1980 U.S. census figures, at a rate of $2.15 per elder. The minimum grant awarded was $700, regardless of community size.

"Services provided by and through local Councils on Aging and Senior Centers reach an estimated 360,000 elders around the Commonwealth," said Elder Affairs Secretary Richard Rowland. "Increases in the awards for local councils reflect the key role they play in the efforts of the Executive Office of Elder Affairs to serve Massachusetts elders," he said.

"These local agencies maximize the effect of every dollar they receive from the Commonwealth; using volunteers among elders; they demonstrate that elders truly are a resource, and not a burden in their communities."

Koch Club To Sponsor Christmas Charity Program

The Koch Club of Quincy this year will sponsor its 31st annual Christmas Charity Program for the needy and homeless.

The committee is formulating plans for its 31st season in the Quincy area.

The Koch Club initiated its project in 1956 with two food baskets in the North Quincy area. Since that time, the club has distributed hundreds of food baskets, thousands of toys, both new and used, and thousands of new and used articles of clothing to those in need of assistance.

Members and friends of the organization have been responsible for the success of the program for the past three decades by donating funds, food, clothing and toys toward the many endeavors on behalf of those less fortunate at the holiday season.

Donations of money or non-perishable items may be forwarded to Chairman Thomas P. Nestor, 69 Welland Road, Weymouth, or Richard J. Koch, Sr. Checks should be made payable to the Koch Club Christmas Program.

The Dress-A-Doll Program will be conducted again this season. Anyone wishing to donate used dolls in good condition may contact Mrs. Simone Koch at 241 Newbury Ave., North Quincy, or Mrs. Rita Kelleher, 19 Brae Road, North Weymouth.

Used dolls will be available Dec. 1, for women or girls to clean, groom and dress for presentation at Christmas.

Elderly Housing Alternatives City Hall Meeting Topic

"Elderly Housing Alternatives" was scheduled to be the topic last night (Wednesday) 5 to 7 p.m. at Seminar IV in the Affordable Housing Seminar Series.

The City of Quincy and the Quincy Fair Housing Committee are presenting the series in the Quincy City Hall Conference Room.

The seminar was to feature

Barbara Ryther, Massachusetts Housing Finance Agency, and Virginia Robinson, Action for Boston Community Development.

Speakers were to discuss different housing options for the elderly who either want to remain in their homes or wish to move.

Options such as congregating housing, life care facilities, reverse mortgages will be discussed.

Objective of the seminars is to educate participants on issues of affordable housing in an informal setting that will encourage questions and discussion.

For more information on the seminar, call Janet Flitav at 773-1380, ext. 486, or Alison Feighan at 479-8181.

Houghs Neck Saugus Trip

The Houghs Neck Community Center will sponsor a bus trip to Augustine's Restaurant in Saugus Oct. 28 at 10 a.m.

A bus will leave the center at 10 a.m., pick up passengers at O'Brien Towers in Germantown at 10:15 a.m. and across from Granite Place at 10:30 a.m. The return trip will be about 2 p.m.

Call Pat Riden at 471-8251 to sign up. The cost for both the bus and a smorgasbord luncheon is $11.

Winter Squash

The Cooperative Extension, Nutrition Education Program and Germantown Neighborhood Center will have a food demonstration on various types of winter squash, their selection, storage and preparation Oct. 30 from 10 to 11:30 a.m. at Snug Harbor School, Palmer St.

Halloween Safety

In order to make this Halloween a safe one, Quincy Police offer the following advice to parents:

- Make sure your children can see and be seen. Visibility is very important. If your children will be out after dark, they should wear light colored costumes and carry a flashlight.
- Make sure that an older responsible person accompanies the children.
- If no one is available to accompany the children, encourage them to go in a group. (There is safety in numbers).
- Plan the route the children will take. Make sure the route is well lighted.
- Go over safety rules with your children before they leave the house:
  - a. Cross only at corners.
  - b. Never cross between parked cars.
  - c. If there is no sidewalk, walk facing traffic.
  - d. If the child is wearing a mask, have him/her remove it before crossing the street.
- Tell your children to save all of their "TREATS" until they get home. Once at home, you can check the candy for anything that looks as if it may have been tampered with. If you find any candy that you suspect has been tampered with bring it to your local police department.

The motorist must also be more alert on Halloween evening. Some children will have other things on their mind instead of safety. Motorists should be especially careful when driving in residential areas.

Residents can also help keep our little ghosts and goblins safe by turning on a porch light. This will help prevent our youngsters from falling and injuring themselves.

Adolescent Crisis Team To Address N.E. Conference

Church News

Squantum Pastor Urges 'No' Vote On Ballot Questions 1,2,3

Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, pastor, urged the congregation of First Church of Squantum Sunday to vote "No, No and No" on Referendum Propositions 1, 2 and 3.

Rev. Dr. Langevin made his suggestions in a sermon entitled "On the Ballot" in which he discussed the issues involved in the first three referendum questions which will appear on Massachusetts ballot this fall.

His advice was in line with the recommendations of the Massachusetts Council of Churches regarding the ballot questions involving abortion, public aid for non-public schools and the proposed state tax revenue cap.

Mildred Cunningham and Drucilla Warnes were the greeters; Harry Holmes and Lore Wallin, the ushers. Pat Sorensen and Barbara Walter hosted the Fellowship Hour after the service.

The Chancel Choir was directed by Mary Ruth Scott.

During the early service, Dr. Langevin had spoken on the subject, "Reading the Bible by Yourself." Guitarists Steve Williams, Robert Dixey, Mary Ruth Scott and Andy Ogilvie accompanied the congregational singing.

That service began with a new Psalm written by the members of one of the church youth groups, Orange Crush. They also demonstrated it since it involved actions on the part of the congregation.

Susan Scott and Scott Catton were the ushers. Lori Ogilvie was in charge of the refreshments.

It was announced at both services that volunteers are being invited to help make pies for the Church Fair to be held at the church Saturday, Nov. 1, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. The pie-makers will work Wednesday night, Oct. 29, from 7 to 9 p.m.; Thursday, Oct. 30, and Friday, Oct. 31, from 10 a.m. on.

This Sunday, Oct. 26, is Reformation Sunday. There will be two worship services at the church that morning: the guitar service at 8:30 a.m. and the traditional service at 10:30 a.m. The public is welcome.

United First Parish Children To Raise Funds For UNICEF

The children of United First Parish Unitarian Church, Quincy Center, will hold a bake sale-plant sale for UNICEF Sunday, Nov. 2, at 11:30 a.m., after the 10:30 a.m. service.

The plant sale will be run by the kindergarteners and first graders, with help from their teachers Cindy Adams and Joyce Sullivan. There will be houseplants, dried corn, and gourds for sale.

The baked goods table will be run by the second-fourth graders, and will feature a variety of homemade cookies, brownies, and cakes.

The children decided to have the fund raiser "to help other kids who need it" after a series of activities designed to make them aware of UNICEF's programs and how they help children in many countries.

Various classes participated in the "46 Cookies" project to illustrate the effect of overpopulation. "A Handful of Raisins" to illustrate the unbalanced distribution of the world's food supply, and

"Too Many Buckets of Water" to give the children some idea of a child's life in areas where adult roles must be assumed at a very early age.

The children also learned the "U.N. Declaration of the Rights of the Child" and will be distributing copies to the congregation.

UNICEF Christmas cards will be on sale in the Parish Hall every Sunday during Social Hour, from 11:30 a.m. - noon, throughout October and early November.

'Unbound And Alive' Sermon At Bethany

There will be two worship services Sunday in Bethany Congregational Church, Coddingdon and Spear Sts., Quincy Center, at 9 a.m. in the chapel and at 10 a.m. in the sanctuary.

The Rev. J. William Arnold, senior minister, will preach the sermon at both services entitled "Unbound and Alive," based on the scriptural text in the Gospel of John 11:1-44.

Lay scripture readers will be Jean C. Smart for the early service and Corrine M. Mikami for the late service. The associate minister, Rev. Joel F. Huntington, will serve as liturgist for both services.

At the sanctuary service the Chancel Choir under the direction of Peter E. Krasinski, organist, will sing as the offertory anthem, "How Lovely Is Thy Dwelling Place" from "A German Requiem" by Johannes Brahms.

Bethany's baritone soloist, Paul David Johnson, will sing a composition by William H. Doane, "To God be the Glory."

The service will be broadcast "live" over station WJDA, 1300 kc, at 10 a.m.

Sunday School will be in session from 10 to 11 a.m., with classes for pre-school through eighth grade. Nursery care is provided for babies and toddlers, under the professional direction of Denise Fleming, Bethany's early childhood coordinator.

At 11 a.m. there will be a fellowship hour in the Allen Parlor. Individuals and families from the community are most welcome to attend worship and share in the fellowship, and to enroll children in the Sunday School.

A Confirmation Class will begin Mon., Oct. 27, from 7 to 8 p.m. for young people in ninth and 10th grades or older, in preparation for church membership. The class will meet at the church and be taught by Rev. Huntington.

The Bible study course, "Covenant, 11" taught by Pastor Arnold will be held Wed., Oct. 29, 7:30 to 9 p.m. at the church, and is open to the public.

For additional information about Bethany's ministry and programs, please contact the church office at 479-7300.

'Christian Freedom' Theme At Wollaston Congregational

At the Wollaston Congregational Church 10 a.m. worship, Sunday, the congregation will be asked to explore today's implications of the Protestant Reformation in the 16th century.

The sermon, "Christian Freedom" by Rev. Elden D.J. Zuern, will be based on the New Testament lesson from the gospel of John 8:31-36. The scripture lesson will be read by Fran Martin. Robert B. Olson will be the acolyte.

The senior high school class will meet at 10 a.m. under the guidance of Dick Kelsay and Stephen Gutro. Their course of study will focus on the application of Biblical teachings to the experiences of youth today. Any senior high young people are welcome to attend. All church school classes from the primary through senior high attend the early part of the worship service in the sanctuary before going to their classes during the remainder of the service.

Nursery care is also provided.

The senior choir will be directed by Donald Reade.

The church is located on Winthrop and Lincoln Aves. For further information call the church office, 773-7432.

'Alcoholism And Family' St. John's Center Topic

The Rev. Robert Beale, director of the priest recovery program for the Archdiocese of Boston will speak about "Alcoholism and the Family" tonight (Thursday) at 7:30 p.m. at the Adult Center of St. John's School, 30 Phillips St. There will be a $2 charge.

Fr. Beale is a certified alcoholism counsellor in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

St. Chrysostom's Day Care Center Has Openings

There are still a few openings for the fall session at St. Chrysostom's Day Care Center. The center operates from October to June from 9 to 11:30 a.m. on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. The program includes free play, working with children with basic skills, experimentation with arts, crafts, cooking and music, with special emphasis on working with children in small groups with a caring context.

For more information, call the church office at 472-0737. Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Fridays from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Chamberlayne At QHS College Fair

An admissions counsellor from Chamberlayne Junior College in Boston will be available at a college fair to be held at Quincy High School on Tuesday, Oct. 28, from 6:30 to 9 p.m.

Chamberlayne, located in Boston's Back Bay, offers associate degrees in a number of programs including business.

In an effort to eliminate drug and alcohol abuse, the DayOne day treatment program is offering free consultations and evaluation to anyone having a problem with drugs or alcohol.

Those taking advantage of the free offer will be carefully evaluated and a variety of suggested treatment options will then be presented for consideration by the patient. The program, a two week ongoing one, begins on any given Monday at 8:30 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. at the DayOne office, One Monarch Drive, Quincy in the State Street South office complex.

It requires no hospitalization. Patients attend group and individual counseling sessions, lectures, and discussions; view videos and films; and attend meetings of Alcoholics Anonymous and Narcotics Anonymous.

Donald Mordecai, DayOne president, said anyone contacting the DayOne office will be given an immediate confidential appointment for consultation and evaluation by experts in drug and alcohol rehabilitation at no cost or obligation.

For more information, call 786-8269 or visit the DayOne office.

Squantum Fire Station Work Almost Completed

About $220,000 worth of work has just about been completed at the Squantum Fire Station, according to Deputy Commissioner of Public Works David Colton.

"The station was built in the early 1940s and really hadn't been touched since, so it really needed the work," said Colton.

An addition was put on the building to accommodate larger, more modern apparatus, according to Colton.

"The city also replaced the heating system, roof and plumbing, and did some cosmetic work to brighten the place," he said.

"The upstairs should be completed by the end of the week, and all that remains is the community room downstairs for the Squantum Community Center," Colton said.

Colton praised the contractor and the fire fighters who lived at the station during the 30 week construction period.

"They should be congratulated for working so well together," he said.

Mayor To Sign Sheets Sewer Fund Legislation

Mayor Francis McCauley expects to sign in the near future legislation approved by the City Council Monday night establishing a special account for rehabilitation of the sewer system with money contributed by developers.

"This will go a long way towards helping out," said McCauley of the home rule petition which was introduced in March by Councillor James Sheets and taken out of committee this week.

It must now be approved by the Legislature.

The legislation would have developers seeking building permits contribute up to one percent of the estimated construction cost of the project.

It would not apply to single family residences if the owner occupies the home as his or her primary residence for at least one year.

The money would go into the City of Quincy Sewerage Rehabilitation Fund for the funding of engineering, testing, construction, and rehabilitation of the sewage pipes, lines, facilities and systems located in the city.

The fund would also provide revenues to do all things necessary to correct, remedy, repair, prevent and prohibit any and all forms of infiltration or inflow from ground water and other sources of water into pipes, lines, facilities and systems.

"It seems to me that we have to take some sort of strong action to deal with the whole issue of the sewer system," said Sheets, who has said that his ward in West Quincy is particularly hard hit with such problems.

"The system was built to deal with sewage issues of 30 years ago," he said.

Sheets, who said he began working on the legislation over a year ago, said that in seven to 10 years, $8 to $10 million could be raised to "totally renovate the sewer system in the city."

He likened the current "two for one plan," whereby developers are asked to take two gallons of sewage out of the system for every one it puts in, to a "hand-aid on a major wound."

Public Works Commr. Paul Anderson said he favored the new legislation.

Committee For Homeless To Hold First Meeting

Mayor Francis McCauley has appointed a nine-member Committee for Permanent Location for the Homeless which will hold its first meeting today (Thursday) at 9 a.m.

The meeting, which is open to the public, will be held in the second floor conference room in new City Hall.

"The committee will focus on the Registry of Motor Vehicles building as a permanent site," stated McCauley.

"The registry building is owned by the city, and the registry is looking for a new site in the City of Quincy."

McCauley said that if the registry decides not to move, the committee will talk about other possible locations.

He noted that it would take the registry four months to a year to move to a new location because of renovations that would probably have to be done to a new site to make it suitable for the state agency.

The Interfaith Sheltering Coalition, which began in July, 1984, has expressed interest in the registry building on Broad St.

The coalition's shelter has been housed in Faxon House at Quincy City Hospital, but it had to move in May because the building is being demolished as part of the reconstruction of the hospital.

Since then, a shelter for women has been housed at Quincy Point Congregational Church, and for men at Wellston Lutheran Church.

according to Nancy Powers, executive director of the coalition.

Named to the mayor's committee were City Personnel Director David Smith, chairman; Paul Barbadoro, law office; Maureen Bisagnano, Quincy City Hospital; Lawrence Cretian, Rep. Thomas Brownell's office; Francis Moran, the Rev. William McCarthy, Interfaith Sheltering Coalition; Rosemary Wahlberg, Quincy Housing Authority; Dr. Harry Shulman, South Shore Mental Health Center; and Charles Sullivan, Quincy Community Action Organization.

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE awards were presented by the South Shore Mental Health Center to Mrs. Ruth Walsh of Randolph; State Democratic Committee women; Mayor Francis McCauley; Atty. Gen. Francis X. Bellotti of Quincy; and Ronald E. Zooleck, executive vice president of the South Shore Chamber of Commerce, Andrew Card, who was to accept an award on behalf of Mrs. Nancy Reagan was unable to attend the ceremonies at the Quincy Neighborhood Club.

MMA Presents Joint Awards To Quincy

services to represent its interests.

The Consumer Group's efforts were rewarded through the results of the Massachusetts Electric Company rate case, decided by the Department of Public Utilities in January, 1986, McCauley stated.

He noted that it is estimated that communities will save in excess of $3 million annually.

A more equitable method of determining the utility's cost of providing street lighting services, was negotiated with the utility, by the Consumer Group, and accepted by the DPU, McCauley explained.

This has had a dramatic effect in maintaining the Massachusetts Electric's street lighting rates at about the 1982 level. It is expected that these rates will stay in effect through June of 1988.

In addition, McCauley noted, an innovative provision negotiated with the utility allows for municipal or third party ownership of street lighting fixtures, to encourage communities to convert to more energy efficient street lighting.

The Massachusetts Municipal Association will present the award at its annual banquet being held at Dunfee's in Hyannis Oct. 25. Council President Stephen J. McGrath will accept the award on behalf of the City.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

The Roman scholar Cicero called gratitude the mother of all virtues. Disraeli, the English statesman, called it the rarest of all virtues.

We're sure that there are times when each of us become so involved in our busy activities, trials, concerns and frustrations that we expect more than we give. We take our many blessings for granted. Yet we all know of those rare people who seem to be continually thankful for what they have... be it much or little. Conversely, we all know people who never seem to be content. They bewail their 'bad luck' and complain bitterly about anything and everything.

There is an old hymn: "Count Your Many Blessings - Name Them One By One." Wouldn't today be just the day to enumerate your blessings, count them one by one? You just might be surprised how blessed you really are!

Raiders Need A Miracle At Brockton

After losing its first two games by big scores, the North Quincy football team turned in two fine defensive efforts to top Newton North and Weymouth South.

But last Saturday the Raiders' defense faltered badly and Malden raced to a 33-0 victory at Veterans Memorial Stadium, improving its record to 3-2 and dropping North's mark to 2-3. All the scoring came in the first half.

The Raiders are jumping from the frying pan into the fire Saturday when they meet Brockton (4-1) in a 1:30 p.m. Suburban League game at Brockton's Marciano Stadium. Brockton, defending Super Bowl champion, has won four in a row after losing its opener.

"We just played a horrible game," said disappointed North Quincy coach Ken McPhee. "Our tackling was just awful, especially in the first half, and our secondary was beaten badly on several passes."

"The kids played hard, but we just have so many out with injuries. We work on tackling in practice, but we don't have the men to put in there. And we have some key secondary men out."

Malden, led by speedy Larry Hicks' 98 yards, rolled up 231 net yards on the ground to 90 for North Quincy. On several long runs, especially a 46-yard touchdown run by Hicks, the Raiders had the ball carrier hemmed in behind the line of scrimmage but let him get away.

Malden's Chuck Borstel was nine for 14 for 192 yards passing and three touchdowns, while North's Bobby Sylva was five of 7 for 66 yards and had one pass intercepted in the end zone. Joe Mulvey also had one intercepted.

The Golden Tornadoes had 20 first downs to just eight for the Raiders.

Malden's Carmine Cappuccio had five receptions, including one for a touchdown. The big end had a huge height advantage over North's defenders and was able to reach over them for the catches.

"John Pacino hit hard again today and John Rodophe played well on defense," said McPhee. "Also looking good on defense were Tim Kelly and Tom Dolan, while Billy McDougall also had a good game."

"Our offensive line still isn't doing the job and our ball carriers are having their troubles finding any holes. We definitely have to improve in that department."

The Raiders had two good scoring chances but fumbled on the Malden three-yard line and had a pass intercepted in the end zone.

The Raider fans had little to cheer. Mark Lunnin returned a Malden kickoff 43 yards to Malden's 32. Sylva completed a pass to McDougall for 26 yards to the Tornado 16 and Sylva ran for 18 and 14 yards late in the third quarter. One of the highlights for North was the punting of Dave Lawless, who got off three fine kicks, one going 57 yards to the Malden three.

Malden took the opening kickoff and drove downfield to North's 17, but the Raiders held and took over. A Tom Casey punt went to Malden's 40 and Hicks returned it all the way to the Raiders' 19, thanks to some poor tackling. Two plays later Borstel passed to Cappuccio for 16 yards and the score. Steve Simpson's conversion kick was no good.

Following a Lawless punt to Malden's 41, the Tornadoes drove to their second score. Tim Ford scoring from the 10. Borstel passed to Cappuccio for the two-point conversion.

A few minutes later Lawless kicked to his 46 and on the first play Hicks, hemmed in behind the line, broke loose and went the distance to make the score 20-0.

Late in the second quarter Cappuccio made a great catch of a pass for 31 yards to North's 18 and two plays later Borstel hit Paul Miller in the end zone for 13 yards and another TD.

Malden wasn't satisfied and, with time running out, called a time out and Borstel hit Cappuccio for 19 yards and, on the final play of the half, hit Miller for 13 yards and the day's final score. Simpson kicked the point.

Late in the third quarter North, sparked by Sylva's 26-yard pass to McDougall and one to Paul McCormack for eight, drove to Malden's six, but on the first play of the final quarter, Malden intercepted a pass in the end zone.

A few plays later, after a Malden punt, Sylva hit

North Jayvees Edge Weymouth South, 8-7

By PETE ZOIA

The North Quincy junior varsity football team improved its record to 3-1 with an 8-7 win over Weymouth South, the same score by which the varsity defeated Weymouth South earlier.

The game was similar to the varsity contest with Weymouth scoring first and kicking the extra point and North later scoring and adding the winning two-point conversion.

North quarterback Bob Sylva continued to display excellent ball handling and, on a 46-yard pass play, he found Steve Shoap in the open and Shoap hauled in the pass and scored. Sylva passed to Mike Shields for the winning two points.

"This is a coachable group of kids who react well to situations," said a pleased

North coach Kevin Cobban. "It is a pleasure to work with them."

Cobban singled out Sylva and Shoap for their work on offense and also had good words for Shaun Darcy, Mike Curtin, Shields and Jack Mullen. Also playing well were Chuck Peck, Steve Patch, Chris Mendes, Paul Jeffers, Dan Steele, Paul Nimeskern, Bob Herman and Vin Moran.

No High School Games At Stadium

For the second time in three weeks, there will be no schoolboy football at Veterans Memorial Stadium, this weekend.

Quincy, following a fine showing at Brockton, will play at Medford and North Quincy will be at Brockton, Saturday. Both games start at 1:30.

The following weekend

McDougall for 15 yards, Lawless gained 10, then eight, and Ryan Craig went to the three. But North fumbled and the visitors recovered on the three.

Apaches Blank Panthers To Clinch Championship

The undefeated North Quincy Apaches (6-0) clinched first place in the Quincy Youth Football League and a spot in the championship game by defeating the Quincy Point Panthers, 14-0, last Sunday at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

The shutout was the fourth in a row for the Apaches.

In the other game the Houghs Neck Manets defeated the West Quincy Elks, 14-0.

Next Sunday the Apaches will face the Elks at 1 p.m. and the Manets will face the Squantum Sailors at 2:30 at the stadium.

The Panthers will be idle and the winner of the Panthers-Manets game the following week will clinch second place and face the Apaches in the championship game.

Dan Gilmartin did it all for the Apaches last Sunday and Joe Crespi played a fine two-way game for the Panthers.

The game was scoreless for the first half but the Apaches scored twice in the third quarter.

Gilmartin, who rushed for 175 yards, scored on a 30-yard run to finish off a 65-yard march. The try for the extra points failed.

The Panthers fumbled following the kickoff and Barry Glynn recovered for the Apaches to set up the second score.

Gilmartin did the ground work, bringing the ball into Panther territory and Glynn ran straight up the middle for 23 yards and the touchdown. Gilmartin added the two extra points.

The Apache defense, which has five shutouts, was led by Steve Lombardi, Kevin MacDougall, Joel Campbell, Barry and Gary Glynn and Mike Doherty. The offense was led by Gilmartin, Brian Halpin, Mark Kelleher, Matt Ryan, Kevin Mullay and Rob Rogers.

Saturday the Apaches and Panthers junior varsity teams tied, 6-6. Tom Nutley passed to Jay Shaw for the Apaches' score.

Kevin (Vinny) McPartland scored the first touchdown for the Manets on a 35-yard sweep.

Manets quarterback Rich McDonald, with a fine passing display, moved the team downfield to set up Mark Bogan's 22-yard run for the second touchdown and McDonald passed to McPartland for the two-point conversion.

The Manets' defense again played tough, stopping the Elks on the five-yard line with Jim Fidler recovering a fumble. In the last quarter Sal Buonopane intercepted a pass to halt the Elks' last threat.

Offensive coordinator Dan Morrell had good words for the performances of Eric Westhaver, Chris Nichol and David Melly.

Quincy, North Closer To Leaving Suburban League

For some time the majority of Quincy and North Quincy coaches and school administrators have been wanting to leave the Suburban League and move into another league with schools having enrollments nearer those of Quincy and North.

Quincy and North are the smallest schools in the Suburban League and in most sports have difficulty playing against much larger schools, especially Brockton, as well as Waltham, Newton and others.

Last week the School Committee finally gave the go-ahead to the athletic department to ask the Massachusetts Interscholastic Athletic Association (MIAA) if Quincy and North can drop out of the Suburban League.

Brockton has nearly as many students in the freshman class as Quincy and North have in the entire school. Waltham, Newton and others also have larger enrollments.

The two Quincy schools would like to get into the old Colony League, where they still would be among the smaller schools. Weymouth North and Weymouth South left the Suburban League for the Old Colony League where they now get their share of wins.

Athletic Coordinator Marty Finnegan explained that it would take up to two years before the change could take effect.

At last week's school committee meeting, committee member Frank Santoro made the motion that for any sport Quincy teams have lost for the last seven consecutive years, Finnegan will petition the league not to play that school in that particular sport. In the event the league refuses the request, both Quincy schools will give notice that they are withdrawing from the Suburban League in two years. The motion also stated that if Brockton does not leave the league in this two-year period, Quincy and North Quincy will leave regardless.

The committee passed Santoro's motion as well as giving its blessing to formally applying for admittance into the Old Colony League.

"Because of recent enrollments it is hard being competitive in this league in many of our sports," said Santoro. "Year after year our teams are faced with losses before the season even begins. Students are being hurt physically and emotionally during competition with teams like Brockton."

"The concerns of parents and coaches compelled me to do something for the best interests of the students. For many years Quincy has talked about doing something about the league situation but was not able to gain admittance into other leagues. The schools should leave the league even if it means going independent."

• Girls Volleyball

First Ladies Win 13th

The Quincy girls' volleyball team, well on its way to successfully defending its Suburban League championship, improved to 13-0 last Friday with a 2-0 victory over Newton North.

The North Quincy girls upped their record to 9-4 with a 2-0 decision over Waltham.

The Quincy girls are idle Friday, will host Brookline Monday and will be at Cambridge Rindge and Latin next Wednesday.

The North girls will be home to Brockton Friday, will be at Newton North Monday and will host Boston Latin next Wednesday.

The First Ladies defeated Newton North, 15-5 and 15-7, as Amy Guidice did some fine spiking and blocking. Ginny Duggan continued her excellent floor leadership and Susan Parry and Corinne Fichtner turned in strong defense.

Earlier in the week Quincy swept Brockton, 2-0, (15-9, 15-0), led by Parry Duggan and Lauren Standing, the team's tri-captains. Parry led the first game win with eight straight service winners, while Duggan and Standing reeled off 15 straight service winners in the second game.

North Quincy defeated Waltham, 15-1, 15-9, sparked by Jill Caldwell's outstanding passing and serving and fine setting by Barbara Carroll.

Earlier in the week the Raiderettes completely dominated Weymouth South as they won, 2-0 (15-0, 15-0). Kerry Gearin and Kristin Venezia combined to serve 15 straight winning points in the first game and Robin Guilfoyle's strong defense helped shut out the Wildcats in the second.

Koch Youth Basketball Season Opens Nov. 6

The Koch Club Youth basketball program will open its 38th season on Thursday, Nov. 6, starting at 6:30 p.m. at the Atlantic Middle School Gym, Hollis Ave., North Quincy.

The program will be conducted each Thursday evening with the exception of holidays until March 26. The season will conclude with an Awards Night for all participants.

Youths, 7 to 12 years of age, are invited to register and participate. The 7 through 9 year olds will play Thursday between 6:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. and the 10 to 12 year old group weekly between 7:30 p.m. and 8:30 p.m.

A league will be formed in each age category and all those joining will be assigned to a team. Everyone registering in the program will participate and play. Competition is secondary although the teams will be evenly matched according to height and ability. The prime concern of the Koch Club is the enjoyment of all participants.

A $2 registration fee is required of each participant and a $1 weekly cost to assist in defraying the custodial charges of the gym.

The Koch Club basketball program was initiated in 1949 at the original North Quincy High School gymnasium and during the past 37 years has conducted neighborhood programs in Houghs Neck, Broad Meadows and Montclair districts. However, the reduction in the school age children has resulted in a return to the regional program at the Atlantic Middle School gymnasium where all sections of the city are welcome to participate.

Football Hall Of Fame

The Quincy and North Quincy High Football Hall-of-Fame Committee is seeking nominations for the third annual Hall induction.

Brockton 27, Quincy 7

Inspired Presidents At Medford Saturday

By TOM SULLIVAN

Quincy's football team, which hasn't beaten Brockton in several years, was given no chance last Saturday when it visited Brockton's Marciano Stadium for a Suburban League game.

Although Brockton won its fourth in a row, 27-7, the Presidents turned in an inspired performance and the defense was outstanding. Quincy handed the Boxers two touchdowns and, except for a couple of long gainers and a touchdown set up when Quincy blocked its own punt, the Presidents gave Brockton one of its toughest games of the season.

Quincy (2-3) hopes to rebound Saturday when it goes to Medford for a 1:30 p.m. game against the Mustangs' Greater Boston League entry, also 2-3 on the season.

"Our kids never hit harder and our defense really stuffed them for most of the game," said Coach Jack Raymer. "Toni Pileski, their defensive coach, said we were the hardest hitting team they have played this year and, if we continue to hit like we did today, we can turn things around the second half of the season."

"We could easily have won this game, 7-6, but we made a few mistakes and they took advantage of them. You can't make mistakes against a team like that. All in all, I'm very pleased with the way we played and we had Armand (Colombo, Brockton coach) plenty worried."

Joe Cardarelli, playing his first year of football, gained 111 yards in 22 carries, his third 100-yard-plus game of the year. He also caught two passes for 25 yards.

"This kid is just great and it is too bad he is a senior," Raymer said. "He has to be the toughest runner I've ever had. In five games he has over 500 yards and he is getting better all the time."

Quincy-Medford Game On WJDA

For the first time this fall, station WJDA will do a play-by-play broadcast of a Quincy football game, because of all the Presidents' night games.

Charlie Ross and Bill Coleman will do the play-by-play of Quincy's game at Medford. "Steve Austin had another outstanding game, completing 15 of 30 passes for 175 yards. He can throw with anyone and he has fine receivers in Joe Innello (five receptions for 64 yards) and Steve Gardner (four for 60 yards despite being double-teamed as usual). Innello also intercepted two passes. Sean Munroe was back in uniform for the first time after breaking his foot on the first day of practice. He will be ready for full-time action at coach John Taglieri had good words for Gardner, Frank Calabro, Rick Smith, Cardarelli, Mike Eastwick.

Quincy Season Scoring

|            | TD | PAT | Pts. |
|------------|----|-----|------|
| Cardarelli | 2  | 0   | 12   |
| Gardner    | 1  | 2   | 8    |
| Innello    | 1  | 0   | 6    |
| Austin     | 1  | 0   | 6    |
| Bogan      | 1  | 0   | 6    |
| Farrand    | 0  | 3   | 3    |

Medford and, teaming with Gardner and Innello, will further enhance our passing game."

Quincy's offensive line did well and the Presidents had 13 first downs, an unusual amount for Brockton to give up.

The entire defense did an outstanding job and defensive who had eight solo tackles and two assists; Matt Healy, Dennis DeCoste, Steve Picarski, Todd Kimmell, Chris Mackey and Rob Cabezas, who recovered a fumble to set up Quincy's score.

Standouts offensively were Tom Bjork, Smith, Picarski, Dave Savage, Jeff Sprague, Cabezas and Billy Ryan.

Quincy received a tough break when Mark Farrand broke his arm late in the game. He is expected to be able to continue kicking extra points, however.

Cabezas fell on a Brockton fumble on Quincy's 37 and the Presidents, sparked by Cardarelli's running and Austin's passing (three for 38 yards), drove 63 yards for a touchdown. John Bogan scored from the one. Farrand kicked the point and Quincy had an early 7-0 lead.

Quincy held the Boxers until early in the second quarter when they went 79 yards for a touchdown. With Quincy keying on Brian Campbell, who had 115 yards and three touchdowns, and Rudy Harris, brilliant sophomore, Tom Colombo threw a bomb to Mark Flanders for a touchdown covering 63 yards. A pass for the two-point conversion failed and Quincy still led, 7-6.

The Presidents held the lead until the final 1:28 of the half when Brockton scored twice. Flanders punted 55 yards to Quincy's one-yard line. Quincy was held and Aaron Gambos returned a short Quincy punt to the Presidents' 24. Campbell scored from the five to give Brockton a 20-7 halftime lead.

Following the ensuing kickoff the Boxers' defense held again and Gardner went back to punt. His blocker backed into the kick and Brockton had the ball on Quincy's seven. Campbell scored from the five to give Brockton a 20-7 halftime lead.

Quincy moved inside the Brockton 30 twice in the second half but was held. A couple of key penalties hurt the Presidents. A big defensive play by Brockton set up its final touchdown in the final quarter. Quincy drove to Brockton's 21 but Cardarelli was stopped on a pass play on fourth down and three. On the first play Campbell went around right end and raced 79 yards for the touchdown. Colombo kicked the game's final point.

"Our defense forced five Brockton turnovers, something few teams have done this year," Raymer said.

The Quincy Christmas Festival Committee will conduct its Annual Poster Contest for elementary school children in the City of Quincy.

The formal invitation and information have been provided to the public, private and parochial schools.

"Christmas Fantasy," the theme of the 1986 Christmas Parade is also the theme of the poster contest. Any poster larger than 22 inches by 28 inches will be disqualified. The name, address, telephone number, grade and school must be included on the back of the poster.

Grades one through three and four through six are eligible. Two sets of winners will be chosen, one in the Grades one through three category and a second in the Grades four through six group. First prize will be a $100 United States Savings Bond. Second prize will be a $50 United States Savings Bond.

The final date for receiving posters from the schools involved is Friday, Nov. 14. It is suggested that the teachers in the classrooms participating choose the winning poster of the class or allow the children to vote for the outstanding entry from the classroom. The poster nominated from each classroom will be submitted for final judging by a special committee.

Winners will be announced at the Christmas Lighting Ceremony Friday, Nov. 28, at 7 p.m. at Quincy Center. The winners will be part of the Christmas Parade Sunday, Nov. 30.

Posters may be submitted for final judging at the Park Department Office, Park and Recreation Complex, 100 Southern Artery, Merrymount Park. All posters submitted become the property of the Christmas Festival Committee.

Squantum Church Plans Seaside Christmas Fair

The First Church of Squantum, Bellevue Rd., will have a Seaside Christmas Fair Nov. 1 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the church.

Youngsters Invited To Haunt Library

Fearless young ghosts and goblins, ages eight through 12, are invited to haunt the hallway at the Thomas Crane Public Library, Quincy Sq., Wednesday, Oct. 29, between 2:45 and 4:15.

Entry is at the rear of the library from the parking lot on Spear St. Youngsters will be welcomed—or warned—by the ghoul at the creaking door on the library's lower level. Then into the hallway itself, the dark, dark hallway, where the library haunts are waiting!

There are many books in the central children's room to help eight through 12 year olds get ready for this frightful experience.

PSSB Benefit

Concert at ENC Sunday

A fall concert to benefit the Protestant Social Service Bureau (PSSB) will be held Sunday at 3 p.m. at the Edith F. Cove Fine Arts Center, Wendall Ave., Wollaston.

The concert will feature the Eastern Nazarene College Brass Ensemble and solos by Soprano Susan Welsh, pianist Brady Milican, and trombonist Robert Howard.

Ticket donations are $5 for regular admission and $4 for students and seniors. Tickets will also be available at the door on the afternoon of the concert. For more information, call PSSB 773-6203.

Robert Gohl Appointed QJC Television Coordinator

The Quincy School Committee has unanimously voted to appoint Robert Gohl of Quincy as coordinator of television services for Quincy Junior College, effective immediately.

Gohl will be responsible for producing and directing a monthly TV magazine program which will feature programs, courses, students and staff at Quincy Junior College.

The program will be distributed to local cable companies on the South Shore.

In addition, Gohl will distribute written information to the cable TV organizations for display on their community billboard channels.

Gohl is also employed by the Quincy Sun as producer-director of the Sun Ch. 8 Video News Report, a daily video report of Quincy news and features.

He will continue to serve in that position.

Gohl is also producer-director of Quincy Community Television's "Cable Talk" program. During the past four years, 175 programs have been produced by an all-volunteer production crew.

He was nominated by Sen. Paul Harold and selected nationally as "Outstanding Young Man of America" in 1985.

Gohl is also a member of the Board of Trustees of Quincy Point Congregational Church where he serves as head usher and a leader in the church's youth organizations.

THAT BEAUTIFUL LEVERAGE

QUESTION: What is meant by the word "leverage" when used in conjunction with investing in real estate?

ANSWER: In its simplest terms, leverage means using someone else's money to vastly increase your profit potential. Leverage arises because ALL of the income and ALL of the appreciation in property value belongs to the property-holder regardless of the amount of the loan.

Assume a $100,000 property was purchased for only $10,000 down. Five years later, it is sold for $150,000 (a 50% gain in value). After paying off the $90,000 mortgage, the investor would realize, not a 50% gain, but a 500% gain on his actual cash investment. That's leverage.

LEVERAGE, simply means using someone else's money to vastly increase your profit potential.

No Council Consensus On Employee Shipyard Buyout

City Councillors said Monday night that there was no consensus reached during last week's Environmental Control Commission meeting on the employee buyout proposal for the General Dynamics Quincy Shipyard. The proposal also includes participation by Reilly Athy Associates of Boston, which would establish a cogeneration station powered by enriched coal on 35 acres.

The Mass. Water Resources Authority would also like to use a portion of the shipyard primarily as a staging area for the construction of new wastewater treatment facilities on Deer Island. "There was no consensus at the meeting as to what action should be taken," said committee chairman Michael Cheney.

"We'll have to wait and see," said Cheney. "The ball is in General Dynamics' court." General Dynamics said that it would make a decision on selling the 102-year shipyard about 30 to 45 days after the Sept. 30, deadline for bids.

"Every one of the (17) bids is being evaluated on its own merit," said spokesperson Evelyn Murphy.

Shelter Plans At Registry Hit Snag

Plans to locate a permanent shelter for the homeless at the city-owned Registry of Motor Vehicles building on Broad St. have apparently hit a road block.

Mayor Francis McCauley said Tuesday that he has learned from John Bradshaw of the state's Capital Planning Department that the registry is talking about readvertising for a new location in Quincy.

That would mean another delay in the building becoming available, in addition to the four months to a year it would take for renovations to a new registry location.

The registry, which rents its building from the city, had had three locations under consideration after an earlier advertisement, according to McCauley, but apparently was not able to reach agreement with any of them.

"That takes the registry building off the market for a while," said McCauley. "I don't know if it might be resurrected."

"The question now is whether the Interfaith Sheltering Coalition wants to go on with its temporary shelters, or is interested in any other location.

"I can't think of any other city buildings that would be available, but they could see what might be out there in the private sector."

The coalition has been running a temporary shelter for women at Quincy Point Congregational Church and for men at Wollaston Lutheran Church.

McCauley recently appointed a nine-member Committee for Permanent Location for the Homeless which held its first meeting last week.

During the meeting, plans were made for committee members to visit the registry building.

Members also agreed to visit the Detoxification Center at the Gordon House to consider whether it should be combined with the shelter.

In addition to the tours, the committee said it would meet soon with Rep. Thomas Brownell to see what funding might be available for the shelter.

"I don't think the temporary shelter situation should go on much longer," McCauley told the group.

"I'd like to see if we can settle the matter of a permanent location."

The next meeting of the committee will be held Monday, Nov. 10, at 9 a.m.

Attending the meeting were City Personnel Director David Smith, chairman; Paul Barabadoro, law office; Maureen Bisagnano, Quincy City Hospital; Lawrence Cretian, Rep. Thomas Brownell's office; the Rev. William McCarthy, Interfaith Sheltering Coalition; Dr. Harry Shulman, South Shore Mental Health Center; and Charles Sullivan, Quincy Community Action Organization.

Not present were Francis Moran, Interfaith Sheltering Coalition; and Rosemary Wahlberg, Quincy Housing Authority.

Kennedy feels a lot of the problems that resulted in the yards closing down this past summer stemmed from the Navy's turning toward faster aircraft and submarines.

"But all of those issues are behind us," he said. "Today we must concentrate our attention on the imaginable worker buyout proposal. Sure there are problems relative to a cogenerating plan there, but I am satisfied we can deal with this and other issues that are bound to come up and reach a satisfactory solution. I want the Quincy shipyard to stay a shipyard."

Kennedy, who was quite negative in his assessment of the recent Iceland summit arms control talks between President Reagan and Russia's Gorbachev, took issue with the President's 'Star Wars' stand.

"We have no nuclear shield to put back on the shelf as the president suggested when those talks ended without results. It will take years of testing this programs development and cost us a trillion dollars.

"There are arms control agreements that can be made.

"Six years ago we had one ton of TNT for every man, woman and child in Russia. Now we have nine tons. So are we going to be more secure with 20 tons of TNT that will cost more?"

No Local Contests

Under 70% Turnout Seen For Election

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

Less than 70 percent of the city's 45,432 registered voters are expected to turn out for next Tuesday's state election which features few contests of interest but a larger number than usual of ballot questions.

"Usually the turnout for state election is in the high 70s," said City Clerk John Gillis, who is also election commissioner.

"But there are no real contests in the election.

"The city is heavily registered as Democratic, and there are no real Democratic contests," he said.

The turnout for the primary election in September was only 22 percent, according to Gillis.

The first two ballot questions, regarding the prohibition or regulation of abortions and the expenditure of public funds for private schools and private school students, are the most controversial, said Gillis.

He recommends that residents read the questions carefully at home from a voter's guide mailed to every voter recently from the Secretary of State's office.

"If they read the questions at the polling places, it will take quite a while for people to vote and there may be lines," Gillis said.

"If they read them before they go, it will be easy."

In an effort to lessen voter confusion, the location of changed polling places will again be advertised and signs will be placed at the old voting sites, according to Gillis.

Some 20 of the city's 39 polling places were changed to provide access for the handicapped as mandated by federal law.

The changes will be in effect until 1987 or 1988, according to Gillis, when the city's 39 precincts are reduced to 30.

Before the primary election, a card was sent to each Quincy voter whose polling place was changed, but there was still some confusion.

Polling places will open at 7 a.m. and close at 8 p.m., according to Gillis, who estimated that the results will be in by 11 p.m.

Democratic Gov. Michael Dukakis and candidate for lieutenant governor Evelyn F. Murphy will square off against Republican challengers George Kariotis and Nicholas M. Nikitas.

Candidates for attorney general are Republican Edward F. Harrington and Democrat James M. Shannon. Incumbent Francis X. Bellotti of Quincy is retiring.

Democratic incumbent Michael J. Connolly is seeking reelection as secretary of state against Republican Deborah R. Cochran.

In one of the more publicized races, long time incumbent treasurer Robert Q. Crane, a Democrat, is running against L. Joyce Hampers, a Republican.

The auditor's race has Democrat A. Joseph DeNucci running against Republican William "Bill" Robinson.

Democratic Cong. Brian J. Donnelly is unopposed in his bid for reelection.

Also unopposed are the following Democratic incumbents, Governor's Councillor Peter L. Eley, Sen. Paul D. Harold, Rep. Thomas F. Brownell, Rep. Michael W. Morrissey, Rep.

Monday Deadline For Property Tax Bills

Monday is the deadline for Quincy residents to pay their estimated first half property tax bills, according to Mayor Francis McCauley.

Those who don't pay by the deadline will be charged a 14 percent annual interest charge retroactive 30 days to when the bills were mailed out, he said.

A total of $6,161,338 has been collected by the city in the first 15 business days since the bills were mailed, according to McCauley.

That compares to $4,447,682 during the first 15 business days after the spring property tax bills were mailed, he said.

"We urge everyone to pay their tax bills before the deadline," said McCauley.

Kennedy Praises Shipyard, Criticizes 'Star Wars'

By DAN CONNELLY

Senator Edward M. Kennedy says Quincy's General Dynamics shipyard was the best in the country, and labeled President Reagan's 'Star War' policy a drain on the U.S. economy.

Kennedy's remarks came during an interview Tuesday afternoon at The Quincy Sun. The senator, chairman of the Armed Services Committee said as far as he was concerned the Quincy yard "ought to stay a shipyard."

They have been competitive and have produced quality in their workmanship." But he added, "General Dynamics just wasn't fast enough in sharpening their pencils in making proposals."

Kennedy feels a lot of the problems that resulted in the yards closing down this past summer stemmed from the Navy's turning toward faster aircraft and submarines.

"But all of those issues are behind us," he said. "Today we must concentrate our attention on the imaginable worker buyout proposal. Sure there are problems relative to a cogenerating plan there, but I am satisfied we can deal with this and other issues that are bound to come up and reach a satisfactory solution. I want the Quincy shipyard to stay a shipyard."

Kennedy, who was quite negative in his assessment of the recent Iceland summit arms control talks between President Reagan and Russia's Gorbachev, took issue with the President's 'Star Wars' stand.

"We have no nuclear shield to put back on the shelf as the president suggested when those talks ended without results. It will take years of testing this programs development and cost us a trillion dollars.

"There are arms control agreements that can be made.

"Six years ago we had one ton of TNT for every man, woman and child in Russia. Now we have nine tons. So are we going to be more secure with 20 tons of TNT that will cost more?"

"Instead we should be investing in schools. Investing in scholarship assistance for sons and daughters of middle income and working class families.

"We should focus our attention on decent housing. It's prohibitive today for any young family to own a home.

"And we should focus an assurance on our senior citizens. Give them a chance to live in peace and dignity.

"Yes, we can afford national security second to none, but I also feel we have other important problems to deal with not only here on the South Shore but all over Massachusetts and the nation.

On highway funding,

Kennedy believes Boston will get the suppressed central artery and third harbor tunnel project in the next congress.

"I'm strongly committed to this program. There will not be any problem with the funding, it comes out of a highway trust fund of which there currently is a $7 billion in surplus monies. Also, this program has been approved. Has met with an environmental impact study and is ready to go because the resources are there.

Kennedy is elated that thanks to the Clean Water Act we are moving to clean up all of Boston Harbor, which he says will have an impact on Quincy and the whole South Shore.

Chinese Restaurant Planned At Quincy Fair

Quincy will have another Chinese restaurant, but not before the License Board is satisfied that an industrial rubbish and garbage disposal compactors are included in the proposed restaurant plans.

The request for a common victualer license for the Tian Gourmet Restaurant, requested by Sing Yin Ho of West Squantum St., was continued for one week.

Atty. Richard Barry, representing Ho, said his client's new 20-seat establishment will occupy street level space in Quincy Fair at 1591 Hancock St. in Quincy Center.

This commercial complex was built by the F.X. Messina Enterprises of Braintree, on the site of the former Sears Roebuck department store.

Health and fire departments also submitted a list of conditions to be addressed by Ho prior to the opening. These include a fryalator with a washing system, a industrial garbage disposal, and a industrial rubbish disposal unit to replace a proposed outside dumpster.

Barry told the board he and his client will discuss with the Messina people about the installation of the outside compactor.

North K. of C. Seeks All-Alcoholic License

The License Board delayed action for one week on a proposal from the North Quincy Knights of Columbus.

The board was informed the Sacred Heart Church parish council is meeting to discuss this request for a new license.

Club, owned by the 59ers Corporation of North Quincy, currently holds a permit designed to cover special functions involving interclub activities and commercial reservations.

According to manager

Albert W. DiFazio, the new license will enable the club to serve alcoholic beverages to members, and also guests of members, without any set dates or time periods.

Ward Councillor John Lydon, a K. of C. member, told the board he was in favor of the request being granted.

One of the issues expected to come up at the parish council meeting this week is the close proximity of the club to church and school.

Ron Reynolds, seated right, and Robert DeMarco, managing trustee of Campanelli Quincy Trust, sign copies of the lease committing the State Department of Education and its 443 employees to its 1385 Hancock St. location for another five years. Standing are Mayor Francis McCauley, left, and State Sen. Paul D. Harold.

McCauley Happy Over State Education Renewal

Mayor Francis McCauley said that he is "very pleased" that the state Department of Education will remain at 1385 Hancock St. in Quincy Sq. for the next five years.

"There was talk that they would go back to Boston," said McCauley, who attended lease signing ceremonies held by the education department last week.

"But they have a good location in downtown Quincy. The MBTA is practically at their back door. It made sense for them to stay."

During the ceremonies, Harold Reynolds, Jr., Commissioner of Education, noted Quincy's history.

"We have enjoyed it, living and working here. Our experiences have been positive, rewarding," said Reynolds.

"... Comparing value for value, this location beats anything in our proud capital. We estimated... that this location, this tenancy, represents a 40 percent savings to the Commonwealth over anything in Boston."

Muffler Center Muffles Muffler Noise

Ward Councillor Ted DeCristofaro assured the License Board Tuesday the Eco Muffler Center at 191 Quincy Ave., is adhering to their orders and is establishing a shield, or buffer, to muffle noise.

Last week David Tandy, an abutter, presented a signed petition to the board and told them that he and his family are awakened from loud noises from mufflers and go to bed with the same sounds sometimes as late as 1:30 a.m.

According to DeCristofaro, owner James McDonough is now refurbishing the lot line with a fence and trees which will muffle the loud noises. He has also removed a heavy piece of construction equipment which had been parked there every day.

DeCristofaro had urged McDonough to show a little more concern for his neighbors; even though he had a right to conduct his business.

President's Place Project To City Council Nov. 3

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN
The $55 million President's Place project proposed for downtown Quincy will take another step forward when plans are presented to the City Council Monday night, Nov. 3.

Planning director James Lydon will make a presentation to the council which is expected to send the matter to the Downtown and Economic Development Committee, chaired by Councillor Patricia Toland.

Orders will also be presented dealing with urban renewal, abandonment of Faxon Ave., a land disposition agreement and authorization to purchase the old Norfolk County Courthouse.

"We feel that the Council will eventually give this favorable consideration," said Mayor Francis McCauley at a press conference Monday to discuss President's Place.

"The City Council will look at it very closely," said Council president Stephen McGrath.

The developers, Ricciardi Co. of Quincy and Campanelli Industries of Braintree, are planning a project with 227,000 square feet of commercial space, 200 residential condominiums and 580 parking spaces at the site of the closed Bargain Center.

The original design for the project was met by criticism from a citizens advisory committee and others who said it did not fit in with the historic district.

During the press conference, revised architectural plans, including reduction of the office building from 10 to eight stories, demolition of the Bargain Center, and the possibility of a four to six screen cinema were among the topics discussed.

"In my seven years as Planning Director, this is the moment in which I take the most pride," said James Lydon.

"The citizens of Quincy will for many years look with pride on this project which will breathe new life into downtown Quincy."

Lydon said about 1,000 jobs will be added to the area, and parking and retail space will be increased.

He also noted that residential space will be added to downtown Quincy for the first time in "hundreds of years."

Architects Richard Rock of Edgar Wood Associates and John Sheskey of Sheskey Associates showed a study model of the project.

Lydon explained that the project buildings will not block the view of the First Parish Church steeple from Hancock St. and will be integrated with the downtown area.

Granite and brick will be used in the buildings, and the peaked roof of the entrance will mirror that of First Parish Church, City Hall and Thomas Crane Library, he said.

Demolition of the Bargain Center building will take place in two to four weeks, he said. A spring construction start is planned, and work should take 12 to 18 months.

Lydon also said that a Boston area cinema operator is "very definitely" interested in locating a four to six screen movie theatre at the project.

Leo Kelly, chairman of citizen's advisory committee for the project, said that President's Place "has moved from a big, massive hulk, to something extremely complementary to the whole historic area."

Kelly said that a lot of the committee's suggestions were used by the architects.

His committee was to review the plans yesterday (Wednesday).

"This project, when it's completed, will be around for quite a while," said McCauley.

"The additional time that we spend on it will be well worth it."

One Quincy Bar Settles Satellite Dish Case

Dee Dee's Lounge, one of four Quincy bars sued July 24, by American Cablesystems and the New England Sports Network, has agreed to stop using its satellite dish to receive pay channel programming.

The lounge will subscribe to Cable TV instead.

As part of the out of court settlement, the bar has agreed to contract with American Cablesystems of Quincy for Cable TV service including a pay sports channel, NESN.

Dee Dee's and the three other bars had been sued in Boston's federal court for intercepting any NESN programming, such as Red Sox baseball games, intended for cable paying customers.

Phil Murray, attorney for American Cablesystems and NESN, said, "Estimates of the loss of revenue to the cable industry from satellite interception runs to almost a billion dollars nationwide.

"This results in higher rates to subscribers and affects the stability of the industry as a whole.

"Control of the product is necessary even if, as in this case, litigation is required."

The federal court order barring the use of satellite dishes remains in effect against the three remaining taverns in the suit, Darcy's Village Pub, Sully's Bar and Kane's Place.

U.S. District Court Judge Andrew Caffrey issued a temporary restraining order in the case saying American Cablesystems and NESN were likely to win their civil suit based on the law and court precedent.

her primary residence for at least one year.

Mayor Signs Sheets Sewer Fund Bill

Mayor Francis McCauley has signed legislation approved by the City Council establishing a special account for rehabilitation of the sewer system with money contributed by developers.

The home rule petition, introduced by Councillor James Sheets, must now be approved by the Legislature and signed by the governor.

The legislation would have developers seeking building permits contribute up to one percent of the estimated construction cost of the project.

It would not apply to single family residences if the owner occupies the home as his or

Tips For A Safe Halloween

The night children have been waiting for all year is almost here.

Halloween means costumes, trick'n treating, and bags of goodies to youngsters. The Massachusetts Safety Council reminds parents that a few extra safety precautions can help insure that children have a fun-filled and safe outing.

When designing costumes for children parents should follow these safety guidelines:

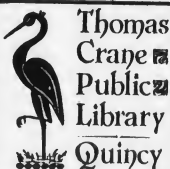

- Only fire-resistant material should be used.
- Costumes should be large enough so warm clothes can be worn underneath and to allow freedom of movement. They should not be so long as to cause a tripping hazard.
- Outfits should be made of light colors, and reflective tape can make children even more visible.
- Consider using makeup rather than a mask so children's vision will not be obstructed.

- For youngsters under age 12, attach their name, address and telephone number to their clothes, but not in an easily visible place.

Before children start out for the evening, parents should make sure that:

- An adult will be supervising the trick'n treating.
- Children travel only in familiar areas and along an established route.
- Pedestrian safety rules have been reviewed, such as crossing only at corners and obeying traffic signs and signals.
- Children know to stop only at houses or apartment buildings that are well lit and never to enter a stranger's home.
- Each child has change for a phone call in case they have a problem while away from home.
- A return time has been set.
- Youngsters understand that they may not eat any treat until you have inspected it.

It's A 'Go' For LaRaia

There's some speculation around City Hall that Joseph LaRaia has thought it over and decided not to run for mayor next year.

Forget it. He's running.

LaRaia

"I think I would have more input into Quincy's future as mayor than as a city councillor at-large.

"And, I think I can win. If I didn't think I could win I wouldn't run."

LaRaia has been getting around politically and socially like Marco Polo.

What has been the reaction to him as a potential mayoral candidate?

"It's been good," he says. "I find support out there. If it wasn't out there, I wouldn't run."

McCauley

He acknowledges that some people think he should wait another two years instead of taking on a strong incumbent like Francis McCauley next year.

But LaRaia feels it is better to go next year rather than wait two more years.

"In two years some of that support could wane. People are two years older. Some of them move out of the city. Some, in two years, are no longer with us."

He says he thinks McCauley's popularity is slipping and that his image is becoming that of a mayor who is in a hurry to resolve problems to get rid of them and is not that accessible to the public.

The $28 million General Dynamics settlement should have been delayed instead of the city moving quickly "to get it over with," he says.

Shortly after it was settled, General Dynamics was wracked with corruption charges.

"We could have used that for some leverage," LaRaia says, "but it was too late. The thing had been settled and settled too hastily."

LaRaia still thinks the Wollaston School is an issue despite the fact that McCauley has done a turnaround and submitted the $250,000 needed appropriation order to reopen the school.

"I'm sure most people are going to remember that Frank really didn't want to open the school and was pretty much forced into it by public opinion. Next September isn't that long a way for them to forget."

LaRaia, after one of the stormiest administrations in the city's history, lost the mayor's office to Arthur Tobin in a bitter campaign in 1977.

LaRaia, just about everyone figured, was done politically.

But two years later he returned to the City Council, winning the third at-large seat over political newcomer Richard Koch, Jr. by a scant 97 votes.

But it was good enough to put LaRaia back in the ballgame. Something like Dave Henderson with two strikes on him and two outs in the ninth parking a homerun in California, to put the Red Sox into the World Series.

There was speculation in 1979 that LaRaia had come back to the City Council to use it as a springboard back to the mayor's office.

"That's not so," he says. "I had no thoughts of ever running for mayor again. It was a low time in my life. I came back to the City Council to remain active and because there were still issues hanging over from my administration as mayor that I still wanted to have input on."

"Back then I never went to sleep at night dreaming of being mayor again."

LaRaia says he realizes that some of his former supporters are now McCauley supporters.

"Those things happen in politics," he says.

Have any supporters of the late Mayor-Senator James McIntyre indicated they might give him a hand against McCauley?

"Well, a few have said they might and others have not shown any hostility."

"But I don't expect any official McIntyre support or endorsement."

But he's definitely running he says. And running to win.

Urges Yes Vote On Question No. 1

Editor, The Quincy Sun:
There is nothing confusing about referendum No. 1 which will appear on the Nov. 4 ballot. Simply put, your yes vote on this referendum will put an end to the unjustified expenditure of public tax money to fund abortions on demand.

Even though the 1973 decision of the U.S. Supreme Court permitted abortion, a 1977 clarifying decision of the same court stated that no public funding of abortion was mandated.

Most other states in the union do not pay for abortions. A yes vote on referendum No. 1 will prevent tax money in this state from being used for this purpose.

Question 8, also non-binding, is about enactment of a national acid rain control program.

Quincy's Yesterdays

Ross Elected To 5th Term, Plan E Charter Adopted

Mayor Charles Ross was re-elected to his fifth term, beating challenger Councillor Russell Bates. Plan E form of city government was adopted overwhelmingly by Quincy voters.

Other highlights of the city election was the return to the council by Mrs. Edna Austin and the election to the School Committee of Alexander Smith, in his first attempt at public office.

Oct. 30-Nov. 6

39 Years Ago

Frank Orcutt was re-elected councillor-at-large while Councillor Carl Anderson made the jump from Ward 2 to an at-large seat. Carter Lee was re-elected to the School Committee.

Ward 1 Councillor David Crowley was re-elected as were Ward 3 Councillor Amelio Della Chiesa, Ward 4 Councillor John O'Connor, Ward 5 Councillor Clifton Baker and Ward 6 Councillor Thomas Gilmartin. The new member on the council would be William Papile from Ward 2.

The voters also voted a 48-hour work plan for firemen, and equal pay for women teachers. Approval was voted for a pay raise for the Mayor, to $6,000 and for Councillors, to $1,000.

EQUAL PAY TO COST $37,500

School Supt. Dr. Paul Gossard estimated the equal pay requirement adopted this week by Quincy voters would cost the city $37,500.

He noted that 125 women, all at the secondary level, would be given raises as a result of the change. The 175 women teachers at the elementary level would not be affected since they already receive equal pay under the Simpson salary schedule.

ATLANTIC METHODIST CELEBRATES 20TH ANNIVERSARY

The Atlantic Methodist Church celebrated its 20th anniversary with sermons and mortgage burning.

Bishop Lewis Hartman was guest speaker, with Rev. Willard Arnold, superintendent of the Boston district, and Rev. Thomas Bridges, president of the Quincy Council of Churches, giving sermons. The second mortgage was burned at ceremonies following the evening service.

WOLLASTON BUSINESS ASSOCIATION MEETS

Parking and traffic problems, Christmas lighting and widening of streets in the area were discussed at a meeting of the Wollaston Business Association at Glenwood Hall.

Milton Sobol and Elliot Mathews were named to the committee to study the traffic and parking problems. Association president Edward Urquhart named Robert Ridder and Mrs. John Clinton co-chairmen of the Christmas lighting committee.

NAVY DAY OBSERVED AT SQUANTUM

Navy Day was observed with an open house at the Squantum Naval Air Station. Twenty-four Navy planes soared in formation to set off the Navy Day celebration at Squantum, the largest open-house in the history of the base. On display of particular interest was a Japanese seaplane captured in the Pacific.

Brownell Co-sponsors Bill To Freeze Audit Insurance Rate Requests

Rep. Thomas F. Brownell (D-Quincy) has co-sponsored legislation that would set a six-month freeze on auto insurance premiums and require an independent audit of the insurance industry.

The bill was filed in response to the industry's request to the State Commissioner of Insurance for a 33.7 percent increase in premiums for 1987.

Brownell said, "There is absolutely no justification whatsoever for a rate hike of 33.7 percent. I believe that the Attorney General was in the right ballpark when he recommended an increase of just 2.6 percent.

"Under present law, the Insurance Commissioner sets auto insurance rates based on data supplied to him by the insurance industry. But how can he make the right decision with biased information? Freezing the premiums for six months gives us the time for a fair, independent audit. Then we will all know what level of premiums are most appropriate."

The recommendation filed by Atty. Gen. Francis Bellotti represents a $450 million dollar savings for Massachusetts' consumers compared with the rate requested by the industry. Bellotti attributed the differences between his recommendations and those of the industry to disputes over the number of claims arising from accidents expected, inflation rates for auto repair costs and medical expenses, and the profit margin to be earned by the industry.

"We have seen outrageous rate hikes requested by the insurance industry in a number of areas - medical malpractice, municipal liability, child care, product liability, and now - auto insurance," Brownell said. "It's time we did something about it."

The legislation is now before the Committee on Insurance.

QCH To Present Stop Smoking Program

Free introductory meetings on Smokeless, a five-day stop smoking program, will be held Monday, Nov. 3, and Thursday, Nov. 6, at 7:30 p.m. at Quincy City Hospital.

Those interested can attend either one of the meetings to be held on Hunting-1, in Room 121.

The first class will be held Monday, Nov. 10, at 7:30 p.m.

Jeon Hodgkins, R.N.C., health educator at the hospital, will present the program. She is an instructor certified by the American Institute of Preventative Medicine.

More information is available by calling 773-6100, ext. 3054.

The 1983 Surgeon General's Report on Smoking and Health called it "a particularly successful" stop smoking program because quitting rates are two to three times the national average.

Dr. Don R. Powell, the program's founder, has presented SMOKELESS at the national meetings of various organizations including the American Medical Association, American Public Health Association, and the American Heart Association.

In addition, the program has been featured on numerous television and radio talk shows including "Good Morning America" and has been written about in a variety of publications.

After a free introductory meeting, participants in the smoking cessation system enter into four consecutive one and one-half hour skill development sessions where they are taught how to prevent cigarette urges from occurring and how to immediately eliminate an urge if one should present itself.

The smoking habit is viewed from psychological, physiological, behavioral and sociological viewpoints.

In addition, a proven maintenance program to keep people off cigarettes permanently is included.

Research has also shown that the occupying problems of weight gain and irritability are prevented or reduced through the Smoking Cessation Program.

Cites Information Regarding Ballot Question 2

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

I have read and heard a great deal lately about the proposed amendment to the State Constitution, Question 2, concerning private school children which will be on the ballot Nov. 4th.

Much of the information has been incorrect, much of it has been misleading.

For example, it has been stated that the public school will suffer the loss of funds because these monies will be diverted to private schools. This is incorrect since the U.S. Constitution has already allocated funds for both school systems, public and private. The Massachusetts Constitution, however, is now unfairly depriving the students in private schools of those benefits which the U.S. Constitution allows them.

It has been said that two school systems will be created, one for the rich and one for the poor. Untrue. The most likely beneficiaries of a yes vote would be those children who attend the parochial schools in the state. The federal government prohibits any substantial aid in such a case and will continue to do so.

It has been erroneously stated that public school programs will be jeopardized to divert more money to programs for non-public school students. Actually, many of the programs which are presently allowed in other states and which were formerly allowed in Massachusetts for non-public school students have been stopped. A yes vote for Question 2 would put our Massachusetts Constitution on a par with the U.S. Constitution and allow our State legislature to consider programs of limited assistance to our non-public school students.

Is it so difficult to admit that the all students in Massachusetts are entitled to benefit from the freedom of the U.S. Constitution in the same way as the students of other states.

Fatal Squantum Fire Still Under Investigation

Officials are still investigating the cause of a two-alarm fire in Squantum which claimed the life of a 15-and-a-half month old baby boy.

The fire, which caused an estimated $30,000 damage, broke out Thursday night at the home of Patrick and Kelley Weinrauch of 16A Naval Terrace, according to Acting Chief Carl Valenti.

The Weinrauchs and their daughter, Sarah, two and a half, were able to flee the fire, he said.

Fire fighters entered the building and knocked the fire down in the bedroom, Valenti said.

Due to the heavy smoke conditions, a search for occupants was made of the building. The body of the baby boy was found in the bedroom, he said.

The parents and their daughter had escaped the building and were found outside, he said.

Mrs. Weinrauch, 24, and her daughter seemed alright, he said, but Mr. Weinrauch, 26, was burned on the upper part of his body.

That was probably due to the attempt to save his son, according to Valenti.

All were taken to Quincy City Hospital but only Mr. Weinrauch was hospitalized. He has since been released.

Cause of the fire was undetermined. It was not listed as suspicious, according to Valenti.

It is being investigated by the State Fire Marshal's office, Quincy Police and Quincy Fire Department.

Fr. McCarthy To Receive JWV Award Sunday

Fr. William McCarthy, pastor of St. John's Church, Quincy Center, will be honored as the 36th annual "Citizen of the Year" of the Quincy Jewish War Veterans Post Sunday, Nov. 2.

The awards breakfast will start at 9:30 a.m. at Beth Israel Synagogue, 33 Grafton St., Quincy Point.

Fr. McCarthy will be recognized for his "devoted service and untiring efforts in providing the homeless with shelter, clothing, food and social services."

Among the invited guests are Mayor Francis McCauley, Sen. Paul Harold, past award recipients and friends of the Quincy Jewish War Veterans.

Procter & Gamble To Stage Mock Emergency Chemical Release Drill

An emergency response drill, reflecting actual conditions during a simulated generic chemical release at Procter & Gamble Manufacturing Company in Quincy Point, will be held sometime during the first week of November.

Mayor Francis McCauley, said three months of effort went into the drill, which will integrate the company's emergency response program in such a situation with the city's community emergency response plans.

"The chemical industry is one of the safest industries in the United States," said McCauley. "This is the result of the excellent job that is done in preventing accidents. However, accidents can occur."

The City of Quincy Comprehensive Emergency Management plan was enacted last February by Mayor McCauley.

Playground Dedicated

Thanks to the combined efforts of an architectural student, a helpful maintenance man, an understanding contractor, a parent, a local veterans' organization, and a foundation, the young children at the Hilda Mahoney Learning Center in Squantum have a new playground.

The dedication, marking the completion of the Step 1 playground, was held recently. An open house was held at the Moon Island Rd. facility.

Step 1, the South Shore Mental Health Center's early intervention program, serves children from zero to age three.

Awards were presented to architectural student Ricky Marshall, the designer of the playground, contractor Liam Deeney, parent James Joy, and maintenance man Paul Smith.

The Brooks Foundation of Quincy was recognized, along with the George F. Bryan VFW Post, also of Quincy, for their financial support of the project.

The event is open to the public.

Annoying Phone Calls

Annoying phone calls are a big problem in today's day and age.

If you look at today's condensed journal, you will see that on Friday Oct. 17, we had two calls about obscene phone calls. This is not unusual as we generally receive about eight to 10 complaints a week about annoying or obscene phone calls. I'm sure that many more go unreported.

Here are some tips on how to stop those annoying or obscene phone calls.

- If a caller won't identify himself or herself, hang up. You only encourage the caller when you talk with him or her. Remember these callers have no right to invade your privacy without courteously identifying themselves.

- Never give out personal information on the phone. You really never know for sure whom you are talking with.

- Never let small children answer the phone. They are very susceptible to obscene phone calls. Children may also give out information to the caller that you may not want known, such things as when your home is unoccupied or when you will be on vacation.

- Keep a whistle by the phone and if you receive an annoying call, first put some cotton in your own ears to protect them and, then blow the whistle as loudly as you can into the voice portion of the receiver. This will hurt the caller's ears. You can get a free whistle at the Quincy Police Station. Mon-Fri 9 am - 4 pm.

- To avoid becoming the victim of an obscene phone call, single women should use initials instead of first names in the telephone book listings.

If you follow these tips, you will reduce your chances of receiving annoying or obscene phone calls.

While we are talking about the phone, I would like to remind parents that it is important to instruct your children not to play with the phone. Every so often we receive calls on the 911 emergency line from youngsters who are playing with the phone. This not only ties up an emergency line but also ties up personnel at our communications center.

When a call comes in on 911 we can lock it in to trace it back to the original phone. Some parents are very surprised when a police officer shows up at the door. Remember: it is important that children know how to use a phone in an emergency, but it is also important for them to know that the phone is not a toy.

'Joy In Believing' Sermon At Bethany

Holy Communion will be celebrated Sunday, Nov. 2, at Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sls., Quincy Center, at both the 9 a.m. chapel and 10 a.m. sanctuary services.

The Rev. J. William Arnold, senior minister, will preach the sermon at both hours on the theme, "Joy in Believing" based on scriptural texts found in 1 Peter 1:3-9 and the Gospel of John 2:1-11.

Reading the scriptures at the early service will be William F. Greene and at the late service, Richard W. Pinel. The associate minister, Rev. Joel F. Huntington, will serve as liturgist at both services.

The Chancel Choir, under the direction of Peter E. Krasinski, organist, will sing as the introit, Stainer's "The Saints of God" and for the offertory anthem, "Holy, Holy, Holy" by Schubert.

The worship service will be broadcast "live" over station WJDA, 1300 kc on Sunday at 10 a.m. Reading the communion commentary during the broadcast will be Russell D. Hodgkins.

The Sunday Church School with classes from pre-school through eighth grades will also be in session from 10 to 11 a.m. Nursery care for babies and a group of toddlers will also be provided, under the supervision of Bethany's professional Early Childhood Coordinator, Denise Fleming.

A fellowship hour will be held in the Allen Parlor at 11 a.m., following the sanctuary service. Individuals and families from the community are invited to both the worship services and fellowship activities as well as to enroll children in the Sunday School.

The Youth Fellowship will meet Sunday at 7 p.m. with Rev. Huntington. The confirmation class for young people in preparation for church membership meets Monday evenings, 7 to 8.

The Bethany Churchwomen will have their monthly meeting Wednesday, Nov. 5, beginning with dessert at noon, followed by a program with Goodwife, Constance Snow from the Plimoth Plantation.

The Bible study course on the "Covenant, Part II," taught by Pastor Arnold will meet Wednesday, Nov. 5, 7:30 to 9 p.m.

For information about any of Bethany's ministries or programs, contact the church office at 479-7300.

Sacred Music Program At United First Parish

A performer's view of American sacred music will be shared Sunday, Nov. 2, at 10:30 a.m. at United First Parish Church, Unitarian, Quincy Center.

Musician Lyn Burnstine of Hyde Park, N.Y., will use Appalachian dulcimer, autoharp and psaltery to share the spiritual communion of religious traditions from midwest to southern spiritual and shape note singing.

Being transported into history on notes of song will prove a musical opening for the First Parish observances of the 350th anniversary of the first sermon given in these precincts by Rev. John Wheelwright in 1636.

The following week church historian William Flavin will deliver a sermon on Wheelwright and the Bay Colony times.

Caleb And The Mountain Covenant Congregational Topic

The lighting of the altar candles by the acolyte, Mason LaCoste, opened the 10:45 a.m. worship service Sunday at Covenant Congregational Church, Whitwell and Granite Sls.

The call to worship was taken from Psalm 34:3 and 36:9, and the choral introit was "The Lord is in his Holy Temple" by Kirkpatrick.

Rev. Fred Lawson's sermon text was Joshua 14:6-13, the story of Caleb, who had been sent with Joshua by Moses to spy. As his reward for this feat, he was promised the mountain of Hebron. Caleb waited 45 years for his inheritance and this serves as an example of the kind of unspooled faith, unrelenting determination, and companionship that we should have as Christians.

Richard Smith, organist and choir director, played

"Alleluia from Reformation" by Mendelssohn as the organ prelude and led the choir in "Lift Thine Eyes" by Mendelssohn. Smith accompanied Kenneth Nelson, who sang "For the Mountains Shall Depart" by Mendelssohn. The organ offertory was "When in the Hour of Utmost Need" by Bach and the postlude was "A Mighty Fortress is our God" by Weiden Hagen.

Chairman of the Missionary Committee, David Day, presented the missionary moment. He informed the congregation that the campaign for Covenant World Relief has begun and the denomination's goal is to raise one million dollars. Labels and covers for soup cans to be placed on the dinner tables are available and will be collected the Sunday after Thanksgiving.

The ushers were Florence Anderson, Linda Day, David Day and Bendix Lundgren and the greeters were Donald and Nancy Johnson and their children, Erica and Gregory. A nursery with an attendant is available every Sunday for children age five and under.

Following the service, there was a sandwich luncheon, after which the quarterly business meeting of the church was held. This week, Evening Bible Study meets at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, choir rehearsal at 7 p.m. Wednesday, a work day, starting at 9 a.m. Saturday, and an all-church Halloween Party at 5 p.m.

On Saturday, Nov. 15, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. the Naomi Society will sponsor a flea market featuring new and used items and home baked goods.

Reformation Sunday Observed At First Squantum Church

Reformation Sunday was celebrated Sunday at the First Church of Squantum with sermons on Martin Luther at both morning services.

At the early service, church pastor Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin preached on the topic, "By Faith Alone." During the second service, his subject was "When the Truth Found Luther." The pastor's text at both services was "He who through faith is righteous shall live." (Romans 1:17c) Guitarists Andy Ogilvie, Steve Williams, Robert Dixey and Mary Ruth Scott played at the early service. Evelyn Ahearn and Doris Sinckler served as the ushers.

Carl and Barbara Anderson were the greeters for the second service. Tore Wallin and Stewart Scott, the ushers; and Allyson Barnum and Ellen Ogilvie, in charge of the Fellowship Hour.

The Crusader Choir sang "Twelve Apostles" by Murry McNair at both services. Playing instruments were: Kristen Reister, xylophone; Marci Hurd, glockenspiel; Kristen Fluhr, maracas; Mark Olson, bongo drums; Lori Ogilvie, woodblock; and Krista Olson, tambourine.

The Chancel Choir sang Martin Luther's hymn, "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God," at the second service. Mary Ruth Scott directed both choirs.

Hymns sung by the congregation included "Now

Thank We All Our God," "Faith of Our Fathers" and "Amazing Grace."

The Seaside Fair, an annual event at the church, will be held on Saturday, Nov. 1, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. The public is invited.

This Sunday, Nov. 2, will be Pledge Sunday at the church. Members are asked to bring their pledges of financial support for next year to the service with them or to return them by mail before Sunday morning.

There will be two services Sunday: the guitar service at 8:30 a.m. and the traditional service at 10:30 a.m.

'Mission In Tea-cup' Topic At Faith Lutheran

911 Call Becomes Lesson For Boy

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

It's not unusual for the Quincy Police Department to get five or six crank calls a day on its 911 emergency number. But it is unusual for a youngster who made such a call to come in and apologize the next day.

However, that's just what happened according to Denise Cronin, a civilian telephone operator at the police station.

"We got a call on 911, a bunch of kids screamed, and then hung up," she said.

"About five minutes later, a little boy called and said that he was responsible for the earlier call but didn't mean to hurt anyone.

"Then someone yelled 'help' in the background, so I thought we better trace the call," said Miss Cronin.

The call was traced to a pay phone at a local school, the assistant principal was notified, and the person responsible determined.

His mother called to apologize, and the next day, she brought her son, an elementary school student, to the station with a note of apology, Miss Cronin said.

The note read, "I am sorry for calling 911. I know now that it was wrong, and I will never call that number again unless there is a real emergency. I am very sorry."

"He looked sincere and scared," said Miss Cronin. "I explained that I didn't want to get him in trouble," she said.

"He had learned his lesson," she said.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

Staying away from the polls because you don't like the way the politicians run things is like taking a walk because your feet hurt. Do you know that two out of every five eligible citizens fail to cast their ballots?

Because of the failure of these citizens to vote, the users of the bribe, the wielders of bloc groups of pressure-lie voters, exercise national power out of all proportion to their percentage of the population. Special pleaders for special interest, rousers of racial, religious, social or economic class warfare, have a field day when the millions of people "go fishing" on Election Day.

Remember that the mandate of this and every election must be by the vote of the people, not the default of the people. Familiarize yourself with the convictions of the candidates... the issues at hand, then let your decision be guided by your common sense and patriotic interest in the future of your country... And then VOTE...

Wollaston Park Assn. Marks 30th Year

An election of new officers, and the presentation of a city award, highlighted the 30th anniversary of the Wollaston Park Association's dinner-meeting last week in the Hollow Restaurant.

Mayor Frank McCauley presented a City of President "Certificate of Recognition" in special honor of the 30th anniversary of the association. Elected were: Richard Lockhead, president; Dominic Falchetta, vice president; Dorothy C. Kelly, secretary-treasurer; Vito A. Barresi, Alice J. Delaney, Madeline Falchetta, William M. MacDonald, Benjamin Rudner, Eleanor Sharkey, Ruth Baker Porter, directors.

The association was established in 1956, and was a leader in the establishment of the Quincy Conservation Commission.

Higher Education Week

Mayor Francis McCauley has proclaimed the week of Oct. 25 to 31 as Higher Education Week in Quincy. "This national observance is to broaden public understanding of, and appreciation for, higher education's value to society and to the contributions of college educated citizens to all aspects of American life."

"The vital role that our colleges and universities play in educating and preparing students to meet the challenges of our ever-changing nation cannot be overemphasized."

"It is recognized that in this era of rapidly changing industrial techniques and new approaches to many aspects of our economic life, the development of new skills, and the exploration of new fields of endeavor is of most importance to the continued security and economic growth of our nation."

Houghs Neck Council To Honor 5 Nov. 16

Four long-time residents and a 33-year old fishing club will be honored at the annual awards dinner of the Houghs Neck Community Council Sunday, Nov. 16 at St. Thomas Aquinas Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Price of 52 Newton St., "Good Neighbors," residents at their present address since 1944, will be recognized for their help to neighbors in need of home, car and boat repairs; for transporting neighbors who are ill to doctors or hospitals; shopping trips for those without cars, and "helping wherever needed."

The Community Service award will go to Patricia Shea Ridlen of 91 Rock Island Rd. Married to James R. Ridlen, they have been Houghs Neck residents since 1959, and have four children. A Navy WAVE from 1951-54, she has been a Cub Scout den mother, Catechism teacher, organizer of the Variateens, a Quincy Sun columnist, and is now director of the Houghs Neck Community Center.

Receiving the Senior Citizen award will be Eleanor Burke, married to Frank Burke of 186 Rhoda St., a 38-year resident. They have three children. A graduate nurse, she has been a Girl Scout leader and attended the International Girl Scout Roundup in Pontiac, Mich. as a camp nurse. She assisted at the Martensen St. meal site as program director, and is now manager of the Houghs Neck Site.

Harvey's Salt Water Fishing Club, Inc., represented by Daniel Boyd, president, will receive the Civic Award. Organized in 1953, it has become well known because of its annual "Vets' Day," started in 1963. The club arranges for a day of fishing for disabled veterans from Chelsea, Roxbury and Brockton VA Hospitals, with boats provided by lobster fishermen and private boat owners. They return to a full-course roast beef dinner.

The committee selecting the award winners included Daniel Bythrow and David DiBona, past council presidents; Kathy Nugent, Darlene Gardner and Martin Gordon.

The dinner will be at 3 p.m., preceded by hors d'oeuvres at 2 p.m. Tickets may be obtained in advance from the committee or at the Houghs Neck Community Center.

QCH Distributing Trick Or Treat Bags

Quincy City Hospital is distributing white Trick or Treat bags which are visible in the dark to Quincy Public School students in kindergarten through grade 3.

On one side, the safety bags have a graphic design of a pumpkin and a cat with bold letters stating "Trick or Treat" and a slogan from the hospital, "Have a safe and happy Halloween."

On the other side of the bag is a list of six safety tips to be followed on Halloween. The tips are:

- Wear light colored clothing so you can be easily seen.
- Call on people you know.
- Don't eat treats that are not wrapped.
- Bring treats home so your parents can see them.
- Carry a flashlight in the bag for added visibility.
- Use sidewalks-have fun safely.

The hospital also reminds motorists to drive carefully and watch out for Trick or Treaters on Halloween, Oct. 31.

St. Ann's Marianns Plan Flea Market

In Sun Spotlight Village Nook Features Creations From 300 Talented Crafters

By DAN CONNELLY

If you're looking for a handcrafted gift for Christmas, or for that matter, any occasion, then drop in to the Village Nook at 676 Hancock St., in Wollaston Center, and be a contented customer.

Proprietresses Sally Erickson and Betty Ellis, both of Squantum, have every right to be proud of their fine selection of quality items. Supplied on consignment by some 300 talented crafters of all ages, the pieces will catch your eye while being easy on your pocketbook.

Experienced handcrafters Sally and Betty are no novices to the world of business.

During a tenure at local fairs selling Sally's needlework and Betty's macrame items; they decided to open a shop, using the principle: two pairs of hands are better than one.

Their first store was in Milton Village. But success was cut short when their building was sold and they had to search for greener pastures.

They focused on Wollaston Center and that has been the shop's home for seven years.

"A lot of our products at the shop are on consignment," said Sally. "We have handcrafted works from all over the country. In fact, everything in our shop is made-in-America."

"And it's a good thing too. Our customers are turning their backs on the imports; blaming inferior workmanship and high costs, and are directing their buying attention to USA-made items.

"We have a man who provides us with small, oval braided scatter rugs. His workmanship, color coordination, and the superior material can compete with any oriental rug."

Just browsing about Village Nook gives one the realization that there are an awful lot of talented people

Quincy Hospital Honors Volunteers

The Quincy City Hospital Board of Managers recently hosted an evening of appreciation for its volunteers who have donated a total of 22,000 hours of service this year from January to September.

Mayor Francis McCauley was among those who praised the volunteers.

"I want to commend all the dedicated volunteers who make up the hospital auxiliary and the volunteer service department at Quincy City Hospital," he said.

"Quincy City Hospital is most grateful for the auxiliary's generous contribution of $100,000 to the hospital's capital campaign for the new building project," McCauley noted.

Hospital director Mark Mundy said, "Through the many thousands of hours of service of the volunteers and auxiliary, and through their generosity and benevolence, the hospital is better able to meet the medical needs of our community."

"The efforts of each volunteer serve to reaffirm the bond to Quincy City Hospital's legacy of service, and caring for its citizens," stated Gerald Marquis, chairman, board of managers.

"Never has an organization voluntarily contributed more to the medical, social, psychological, spiritual and physical needs of their fellow men than the auxiliary and volunteers here at Quincy City Hospital," said Peter J. Barrett, M.D., president of the medical staff.

"No matter where you serve, what functions you perform, you are a necessary and integral part of Quincy City Hospital," Margaret E. Chrehan, director of volunteer services, said.

Also participating in the program were City Councillor James Sheets, Sen. Paul Harold and Hazel Genereau, hospital auxiliary president.

Entertainment was provided by the New Pro-Dixie

Band which included Dr. Gerald Rosenblatt, Dr. Sumner Hirschberg and Dr. Vincent Hennessy.

Volunteers and their hours of service are:

Medford 27, Quincy 13

Presidents Home To Weymouth N. Friday

If the first quarter and a half could have been taken away, it would have been a good day for Quincy's football team last Saturday at Medford.

However, the Mustangs, scoring the first three times they had the ball, roared to a 21-0 lead early in the second quarter and that was the ball game as Medford's Greater Boston League entry posted a 27-13 victory. The loss dropped Quincy to 2-4 on the season.

Friday night the Presidents will be home to Weymouth North at 7 p.m. at Veterans Memorial Stadium. Weymouth brings a 2-3-1 record into the game.

"That first quarter really killed us," said Quincy coach Jack Raymer. "After that the defense dug in and played great ball, but it was too late. We had four turnovers and had a fumble and a pass interception inside their 20. We are just too inconsistent and haven't been able to put together a full 40 minutes of good football. We moved the ball well and had 265 yards in total offense, but the fumble inside their 20 and three interceptions hurt us.

Joe Cardarelli, who could be a 1000-yard rusher this year, ran for 96 yards, giving him 618 yards on the season with four games remaining. Steve Austin hit on 10 of 16 passes for 158 yards and both touchdowns, but he had three intercepted.

Defensively Steve Picarski had another fine day with nine tackles and two assists, while Joe Innello, who had another excellent two-way game, had five tackles and two assists and Bob Cabezas had four tackles and an assist.

"We drove downfield 90 yards only to have a pass intercepted and, after regaining possession on the 16, we fumbled the ball away," said Raymer. "We missed Steve Gardner, who has been an outstanding receiver and who is injured, but Bill Ryan filled in well and had four receptions and a touchdown."

Excelling on defense after the first quarter were Picarski, Rick Smith, Innello, Cabezas, Mike Eastwick and Matt Healy, while Cardarelli, Austin, Innello and Ryan had good games offensively.

The first time Medford had possession it scored with Sean Connor capping a drive by scoring from the one. Drew Murphy kicked the extra point.

The next time it had the ball Medford scored on a 32-yard run by Dave Martarano and Connor passed to Mark Bradanese for the two-point conversion.

Martarano passed to Murphy for 52 yards and a score. Murphy's kick failed and the Mustangs had a 21-0 lead.

Late in the second quarter Austin passed to Ryan for 57 yards and Quincy's first touchdown and Mark Farrand kicked the extra point.

In the final quarter Rob Ferrante added Medford's final touchdown on a 31-yard run.

Quincy came back and Austin hit Innello with a 36-

Squantum Sailors Sink Manets, 6-2

The Squantum Sailors are out of the playoff picture, but surprised the Houghs Neck Manets, 6-2, in Quincy Youth Football League action Sunday at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

The North Quincy Apaches have already clinched first place and a spot in the championship game. The winner of next Sunday's game between the Manets and Quincy Point Panthers will clinch second place and meet the Apaches for the league title.

Sunday's game was scoreless until the final play of the first half when Sailor quarterback Michael DeVoe threw a bomb to Keith Douglas, covering 81 yards, for the only touchdown of the game.

The game up to then was a bitter defensive battle with Michael Picciarello, Aiman Janineh, Brian Horrigan, John McAdams, Michael Gates and Dan Savage leading the Sailor defense, while Kevin McPartland, Eric Westhaver, Chris Nichol and Jim Fidler stood out for the Manets.

The Manets, with three minutes left in the game, drove all the way to the Sailor one-yard line. However, the Sailors held and, with 58 seconds left, took over. The Manets sacked DeVoe in the end zone for a safety.

Also playing well for the Sailors were Paul Harrington, Michael Lally, Rich Brooks, Chris McCallum, Matt Walsh and Scott MacDonald.

Presidents Youth Basketball

The Presidents Youth Basketball Program will begin its second season early in November.

The program is open to boys in grades 5 to 8 and the registration fee is $20.

The boys will be instructed in all phases of the game and take part in games against other community youth programs.

Registration will be held Saturday from 10 a.m. to noon at the Quincy Vo-Tech gym.

First Ladies, Raiderettes In State Volleyball Tourney

The Quincy girls' volleyball team clinched its fifth straight Suburban League championship Monday with a 2-0 win over Brookline and once again will be among the favorites to win the state championship.

The First Ladies are 15-0-0 the season.

Meanwhile, the North Quincy girls, with only two seniors on the squad, qualified for the state tournament for the first time in history last Friday with a 2-0 win over Brockton, but lost to Newton North Monday, 2-0, to make its record 12-4.

Tonight (Thursday) the Quincy and North girls will play at 7 p.m. at the Quincy gym in the final regular season match.

The Quincy girls now have won 61 of their last 62 matches, the loss being to Chelmsford in the state championship match last season. Quincy won the state crown in 1982 and 1984, lost to Chelmsford in the finals a year ago and lost to Stoneham in the state semifinals in 1983.

The First Ladies defeated Brookline, 15-12, 15-9, Monday with Ginny Duggan continuing her excellent playmaking and Susan Parry and Lauren Standing again standing out. In the second game Amy Guidice sparked the team with her play at the net.

The North Quincy girls bowed to Newton North, 15-9, 15-9, which clinched the Raiderettes' first tournament berth, Eileen Campbell served 10 points, including six aces, in the first game and Barbara Carroll sparked the second game win.

Earlier last week Quincy swept Boston Latin, 2-0 (15-13, 16-14), with Parry scoring four straight service winners in the first game and combining with Duggan for 11 winning serves in the second. Stranding and Guidice provided excellent defense.

North topped Newton South, 2-0 (15-1, 15-10) with Campbell drilling nine straight service winners in the first game and Carroll and sophomore Deirdre Murphy leading the way in the second.

North coach Jim Rendle is extremely pleased with his young team's performance. "We have improved steadily all season," he said. "Our young players are maturing and I feel now that we have the capability of playing with any team in the state."

Junior co-captain Carroll has been doing a fine job of setting up North's offense. Her partners in setting the offense have been Murphy and another sophomore, Holly Rendle.

Defensively North has been led by junior co-captain Christine Venezia and junior Jill Caldwell. Junior Campbell has improved steadily as a starter while filling in for injured sophomore Debbie Panaro.

Junior Denise Marnell and sophomores Robin Guilfooy and Julie Detwiler have seen considerable action and have done well when called upon. Junior Angela Vanezia and seniors Kerry Gearin and Brenda Campbell have also contributed to North's success.

The future is bright as North's junior varsity team is undefeated, led by juniors Rita Rooney and Teresa Gray and sophomores Kara Fletcher, Karen Reister, Sharon Stark and Janelle Nielson.

Whitelaw Inducted Into Springfield Of Fame

Bob ("Scotty") Whitelaw, an outstanding all-around athlete at North Quincy High in the mid-1940s, was recently inducted into the Springfield College Athletic Hall of Fame.

Scotty starred for Jack Donahue's football teams in 1943 and 1944 and was also outstanding in baseball, basketball and track. He was inducted into the North Quincy Football Hall of Fame two years ago in the first annual ceremonies.

Whitelaw, commissioner of the Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference (ECAC) since 1972, is a former assistant football coach at North Quincy and graduated from Springfield College in 1950 after starring as a defensive back in football, a center fielder in baseball and a middle distance runner in track. While there he won the AAU 600 championship.

He later became a basketball and baseball coach at MIT and joined the ECAC staff in 1960 as an assistant to the commissioner.

Brockton 34, North Quincy 6

Raiders Host Tough Waltham Saturday P.M.

By TOM SULLIVAN

North Quincy's football team went into Brockton last Saturday given no chance against the powerful Boxers.

But, like Quincy the week before, the Raiders played the home team tough most of the way and, despite the final 34-6 score (Brockton's fifth win in a row), North coach Ken McPhee was pleased with the way his team played.

The loss dropped North's record to 2-4.

North faces another tough assignment Saturday night when it hosts Waltham in a 7 p.m. game at Veterans Memorial Stadium, Waltham, an easy winner over Quincy earlier, comes in with a 5-1 record.

"We played a whole lot better than we did the previous week against Malden," said McPhee. "We played them real tough most of the way. But, they have a good team which takes advantage of every opportunity. They have the players who come up with the big plays and it was the big plays that beat us today."

"We moved the ball well and our statistics are those you find usually with a winning team. Defensively we came up with a lot of big plays, but their special teams did a fine job and they just had too much manpower for us."

North rushed for 154 yards, 105 of them by sophomore fullback Ryan Craig. Bob Sylva, who started for the first time at quarterback and went all the way, was eight for 13 for 100 yards, including a 35-yard pass for North's touchdown. The Raiders had 14 first downs against a tough exceptional game; Tom Dolan, Tom McDonald, Tim Kelly, Dan Smith, Billy McDougall and Steve Haggas. The Raider coach also praised Dave Lawless, who did some more outstanding punting as well as having a fine defensive game.

Defensive coach Jamie Walsh singled out Scott Chansky, John Pacino, Lawless, John Rodophele, McDougall, who had a pass interception; Ainsley, Dolan, Kelly, Paul Hogan, who had an outstanding game; Kevin Segalla, Campbell, Smith, Sean Clancy and Brian Callow.

North won the opening toss but elected to kick off, hoping to stop the Boxers on their first possession.

The move backfired, however, as Brockton drove 65 yards on nine plays and sophomore Rudy Harris scored from the one. The kick for extra point failed.

The Boxers held North and Aaron Gambos returned a Lawless punt 45 yards into North territory and quarterback Tom Colombo, who had one of his best days, hit sophomore Darnell Campbell with an 11-yard touchdown pass to cap the drive. A rush for the two extra points was stopped and Brockton had a 12-0 lead after one quarter.

Late in the second quarter Colombo, who passed for 166 yards on nine of 19 and three touchdowns as well as rushing for 68 yards, hooked up with Harris for a 60-yard scoring pass, Harris breaking half a dozen tacklers on his way. Mark Flanders then passed to Colombo for the two-point conversion.

In the third quarter Colombo passed to Harris for four yards and a score, Colombo kicking the extra point, and in the final quarter he passed to Flanders for eight yards and again kicked the point.

North Quincy averted a shutout late in the game when Sylva connected with McDougall on a 35-yard touchdown pass. A rush for the extra points fell short.

North Jayvees Romp Over Malden, 22-16

By PETE ZOIA

The North Quincy junior varsity football team improved its record to 4-1 with a 22-16 victory over Malden.

Malden scored first on a 47-yard run in the first quarter and added the two-point conversion.

North Quincy came right back to score 16 points with a Joey Mulvey to Ted Stevenson pass good for 38 yards putting the ball on Malden's eight-yard line and Chris Mendes going to the one from where Mulvey scored. He also added the tying two-point conversion.

Malden fumbled the kickoff and Dave Joyce recovered for North on the Tornado 21. Wasting no time, Mulvey hit Stevenson for the score. Steve Shoap added the two-point conversion.

Early in the fourth quarter Malden drove 34 yards and scored, adding the two points to tie the score at 16.

Jack Mullen hauled in a 28-yard pass to put North on the Malden 15 and Mulvey passed to Shoap in the end zone for the winning score.

Malden didn't quit and drove from its 31 to North's 16 but a spectacular play by Mullen saved the day. The Malden quarterback spotted a receiver in the end zone and threw a perfect pass which apparently was caught for a touchdown, only to have Mullen pull the ball away for an interception.

Mullen, who was outstanding throughout the game, was named the Most Valuable Player.

Mulvey, who threw two touchdown passes, scored a touchdown and a conversion himself, was outstanding along with Stevenson and Shoap.

"The defense wants to be called the Pretzel Defense as the boys claim they may bend but don't break," said Coach Kevin Cobban, who is extremely pleased with the play of his squad. "I have to be happy for the team. We have the ability to bounce back after the other club scores first. This is very important to a team."

Also playing well for the Raiders were Chris Mendes, Scott Collins, Lou Sasso, Shawn Clancy, Paul Nimorsken, Mike Curtin, Mike Shields, Bob Herman, Vin Moran, Chuck Peck, Dan Steele, Joe D'Angelo, Paul Jeffers and Steve Patch.

Montclair Men's Club Wednesday night at the clubhouse, 93 Holbrook Rd. The club is honoring Patriots president Billy Sullivan, who will receive the annual John B. Gillooly Memorial Award.

Pee Wee Bs Get Ready For Season Opener

Coach Jim Gilmore has selected the Quincy Pee Wee B hockey team, sponsored by A&T Movers, and the team has been busy working out in preparation for the coming season.

"The team is comprised mostly of last year's Squirt A and B players, plus two veteran Pee Wees, all seasoned skaters with great skill and tournament experience," Gilmore said.

When asked about a possible repeat of the Division 2 state championship, Gilmore said, "I'm very confident due to the strength and depth of the team. We expect to do very well in the states."

Team members include returning Pee Wees Mike O'Brien and Eddie Gafanhao. Moving up from the Squirt A team are Shane Abboud, Mike Christopherson, Bobby Fitzpatrick, Sean McArdle, Karen McCabe, Sean McCarthy, Scott McClory, Sean Vermette and Joe Zora.

Coming up from the Squirt B's are goalie Sean Connelly, defensemen Mark Gilmore and John Gladu, and forwards Steve O'Brien, Matt O'Toole and Jim Smith.

Former Quincy Youth Association star Mark Cincotta has been named assistant coach.

In its first pre-season scrimmage the team showed how it earned the "Killer B's" nickname by stinging the Seahawks, 8-0, scoring five goals in the first period.

Fitzpatrick had a hat trick and three assists, Zora two goals and two assists, Vermette two goals, McCarthy a goal and three assists, O'Toole three assists and McClory and McArdle an assist each. Gafanhao stood out in goal.

The Greater Boston League season opens Oct. 26 and due to the team's strength, it has been put in the open division that includes both A and B teams.

Among the highlights this season will be the K. of C. tournament during Christmas vacation, a goodly exchange with Troy, N.Y., in March, and the state tournament.

Bantam Bs Bow

Quincy's Bantam B team, sponsored by the Quincy Rotary Club and coached by Bill Connelly and Bill Connelly Jr., lost to Medfield, 5-3, making the record 3-1 in the Greater Boston League.

Terry Hack, Sal Manganaro and Jeff Freeman scored the Quincy goals and Bob Miller, Steve Connelly, Armando Mancini and Greg Hohmann had assists.

Goalies Scott Cunningham and Fred Regan made several excellent saves. Playing well up front were Rich McDonald, Mike Baylis, Brian Taylor and Scott Raptelis, while defensive standouts were Brian Zimmerman, Jim McCarthy, Duane Keegan and Jeff Hemphill.

Quincy Nursing Home Residents Enjoy Halloween Program

Residents of Quincy Nursing Home, McGrath Highway, recently received a Halloween visit from the Telephone Pioneers, a volunteer group from the Braintree Telephone Co.

The volunteers assembled for their business meeting, and then transformed the living room of the nursing home into a festive hall, haunted by costumed volunteers and residents with colorful make-up.

Amy R. Lassman, MA DTR, director of therapeutic activities for the nursing home, said she was happy to include the program in the line-up of Halloween festivities.

The south council president of the program, Natalie Donovan, said "We enjoy providing charitable activities for the community."

"The reputation of the Telephone Pioneers preceded them, and the program exceeded our expectation," said William Silk, nursing home administrator.

"The residents thoroughly enjoyed their visit. We would like to thank them, and look forward to a continuing relationship with them."

HAPPY HALLOWEEN

STARSCOPE

By Clare Annsweil

WEEK OF: October 30

AQUARIUS — January 21-February 19
Self-indulgent streak surfaces; diets require extra measure of discipline. Friend or spouse may be unexpectedly coy. Awards or other recognition arrives by Tuesday-Wednesday.

PISCES — February 20-March 20
Concentrated effort can lead to accomplishment of task ahead of schedule. Annual meetings or reunions may be on tap. Interesting people work their way into your life.

ARIES — March 21-April 20
Week features travel and new educational activities. Information from faraway is reassuring. Involvement in a new club may take more time than expected. Shared financial arrangement needs review.

TAURUS — April 21-May 22
Before tackling household chores, be sure you're on familiar ground. Compliments coming your way are genuine. Business ideas may be more fanciful than realistic. Educational horizons broaden.

GEMINI — May 23-June 21
Building upon your own ideas can lead to significant accomplishment at home or in workplace. Bargain hunting proves favorable... common sense is a must. Watch tendency to divulge secrets.

CANCER — June 22-July 22
Be unusually careful in selecting a confidant; your judgment may be clouded briefly. Outlining goals proves a favorable activity. An old debt may be repaid by Monday.

LEO — July 23-August 22
Good week for taking your peevish to people in high places. Intuition is stronger than it has been; especially potent is your perception of the motives of others.

VIRGO — August 23-September 22
Carrying a grudge is counterproductive; this is a splendid week for making amends. Variety is the theme of a week that may include travel, surprise visitors, glamorous occasions.

LIBRA — September 23-October 22
Reading the daily papers - and reading between the lines - may prove beneficial, leading to important discoveries. Fringe benefits come your way by Tuesday. New study area is rewarding.

SCORPIO — October 23-November 21
Be sure to inform partner of dealings, he/she may be in a less than trusting mood. Involvement in volunteer assignment brings unexpected benefit. Mechanical checks are important.

SAGITTARIUS — November 22-December 22
Confirming plans can save you from an embarrassing situation. Visitors are eager to help it's up to you to provide opportunities. Avoid bursts of temper; patience is a must.

CAPRICORN — December 23-January 20
Possible romantic misunderstanding starts the period on a shaky note; key is to keep your sense of humor and sense of perspective. Be careful to read letters carefully.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
You're introspective - looking inside yourself before making a move or speaking from the heart. Secretive and passionate, you present an aura of mystery. One important relationship is highlighted this year. A more open approach can lead to deeper understanding.

BORN THIS WEEK
October 30th, actor Henry Winkler; 31st, actress Barbara Bel Geddes; November 1st, actress Betsy Palmer; 2nd, actor David Hemmings; 3rd, composer Ernst Stuhling; 4th, actress Kate Reid; 5th, actress Tatum O'Neal.

out there.

"The sheer volume we have on display in the shop sometimes creates problems. Our customers find it hard in making a choice," she added.

This coming Christmas season will be something extra-special for Village Nook and Wollaston Center.

The area's business association have grouped together to provide a colorful and festive atmosphere with a scenario that will add to the holiday cheer not only for the stores but their customers.

Village Nook's share in this business community holiday spirit will begin the Sunday before Thanksgiving when they hold an open house.

Sally and Betty will serve their customers a toast from a wassail; an ancient custom of salutation to one's health, and provide a gift for every $5 or more purchase.

Current business hours at Village Nook are 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday. They've extended the Thursday closing around 8 p.m. to accommodate homework bound workers. After Thanksgiving, the shop will be open on Sundays through Christmas.

So for those of you who have your Christmas list ready why not drop by Village Nook. You might just complete your holiday shopping earlier than you expected.

John Fancullo Elected Executive V.P. At Quincy Savings Bank

John A. Fancullo has been elected executive vice president of the Quincy Savings Bank at a meeting of the bank's board of directors.

Fancullo, of Arlington, joined the bank in 1976 from Holdsworth, Parent & Company where he was staff accountant. He began his career at Quincy Savings Bank as an auditor, and was elected treasurer in 1980. His most recent position was senior vice president and treasurer. He will continue to serve as treasurer for the bank.

Fancullo is a graduate of Suffolk University and has a degree from the graduate school of banking. He is vice president of the Massachusetts Association of Auditors and Comptrollers, and belongs to both the Savings Bank Association of Massachusetts and the National Council of Savings Institutions.

"This promotion is the result of John's excellent performance during our recent conversion to a publicly-held company and is an indication of the even greater role we expect him to play in the future," said Charles A. Pearce, chairman of the board.

Multibank Financial Corp. Reports Third Quarter Earnings

Multibank Financial Corp. (NASDAQ-MULTF), a statewide bank holding company, reports earnings for the first nine months of 1986.

Net income was $11,478,000, or $56 per share for the quarter ended Sept. 30, 1986. At Sept. 30, 1986, total deposits were $1,932,579,000, a 15 percent increase over a year ago; total assets were $2,230,928,000, also a 15 percent increase over a year ago.

The prior year's first nine months and third quarter earnings contained a $753,000 non-recurring gain from the sale of a building and an option to purchase real estate. Excluding that, 1985 nine-month earnings would have been $10,588,000, or $141 per share and 1985 third quarter earnings would have been $3,822,000, or $47 per share.

All per share figures have been adjusted to reflect a 50 percent stock dividend paid Jan. 3, 1986.

COSMETIC SURGERY

QUESTION: My home needs quite a bit of repair before I put it up for sale. How far should I go financially in order to make it "saleable"?

ANSWER: If it's a relatively small amount for improving appearance, fine—but think twice before investing large sums into making EXTENSIVE improvements prior to selling. You'll be lucky to get back 50¢ on every dollar spent. The exception to the rule is what we call "cosmetic treatment." A paint and paper job once over lightly may be prudent.

You may find that you can sell the house faster, with more profit by dropping the price the same amount you expect to spend on repairs.

A LITTLE COSMETIC treatment can improve the salability of a home immensely.

T Red Line To Receive 58 Cars

James O'Leary, General Manager of the MBTA, presented the fiscal year 1988 budget to the Executive Committee of the MBTA Advisory Board at a meeting held Tuesday at the Department of Transportation Building.

The proposed budget in the amount of $548,295,190 reflects an increase of $49,461,748 or 9.9 percent over fiscal 1987's expenditure of $498,833,442.

Mayor Francis X. McCauley, chairman of the executive Committee, noted that $14,700,000 of the increase will go for new operations.

The Red Line, which provides service to Quincy and Braintree, will receive 58 new cars, as well as rebuilding of cars presently serving the Red Line, according to McCauley. He also noted that eight of the Red Line stations in Cambridge and Boston will be rehabilitated, including longer platforms.

The rebuilding of the platforms will provide for the use of 50 additional rush hour cars (an increase of 40 percent), said McCauley. Peak service trains will then have six cars instead of the usual four cars.

The MBTA also plans to extend "The Ride" to 14 additional communities including Quincy in 1987 and 21 communities in 1988, McCauley said.

"The Ride" is a service for disabled people of all ages in a community and is furnished on a need basis. Information on "The Ride" in Quincy will be furnished when received.

The Budget was referred to the Advisory Board Finance Committee. Final action is scheduled at a meeting to be held Nov. 19.

Bottom Line: Reorganize Police Dept.

Finn To Rebut Stinging Report

FRANCIS FINN

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN
Police Chief Francis Finn said Tuesday that he will rebut a 208-page report which criticized the Quincy Police Department for such things as lack of strong leadership and use of favoritism in assignments.

"We are going to analyze the report and we will rebut it," Finn told The Quincy Sun.

"We will rebut it with our own written report."

"The report was given to us yesterday (Monday) after just about everyone else got it."

"I haven't had time to read it so I am not commenting now."

"It is a negative report and as such it will be rebutted."

"I am not going to get in a daily exchange over it."

"We will reply in our written report."

The report was conducted under the direction of the Massachusetts Municipal Association at a cost of $19,500 to the city.

It was presented to the City Council Monday night.

The study had been suggested by Councillor Richard Koch, Jr., who referred the study to the Public Safety Committee.

"I hope this will be a constructive positive step in improving the Quincy Police Department," said Koch.

Mayor Francis McCauley said, "I hope the chief looks at it not as something overly critical of him."

"We've always had a good working relationship with the chief, and we'd like to work with him in implementing some of the ideas in the study."

The report also criticized the Police Department for:

- Lacking "a cohesive, coordinated management team."

- "An organizational structure which is clumsy and outmoded."

- "Poor utilization of resources."

- "No ongoing program of internal control."

- "Field operations conducted in a routine, traditional and reactive

Council Raises President's Place Questions

The City Council got its first official look at the proposed $55 million President's Place project Monday night, but the reaction wasn't entirely favorable.

While councillors generally favored the project, questions were raised about the building design, the future of Quincy Junior College, parking, land takings and the power of the council in regard to the project planned for downtown Quincy.

The urban renewal plan and land disposition agreement were sent to the council's Downtown and Economic Development committee, chaired by Councillor Patricia Toland.

"I share the excitement of everyone in the city over the project," said Councillor Toland.

"But I'm disappointed that the concept has not been properly executed."

Councillor Toland said the design of the buildings looks too modern, and the project is too dense.

The future of Quincy Junior College which conducts classes in the old Norfolk County Courthouse was questioned by Council president Stephen McGrath and Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro since the courthouse is to be included in the project.

Principal Planner Kevin Shea said the developers have agreed to provide space for QJC.

Councillor John Lydon asked that the City Council have final approval in the design stage.

Concern over possible takings of private property was expressed by Councillor Michael Cheney who said he would not vote for such action, a sentiment seconded by McGrath.

Cheney also suggested that when the Bargain Center site is demolished to make way for the project, the site is secured to eliminate any possibility of "street people" being harmed.

Councillor Joseph LaRaia discussed the impact on parking the project will have on the surrounding community.

That discussion will continue tonight (Thursday) at 7 p.m. at City Hall at a meeting scheduled by LaRaia for community members.

Ordinance Committee Favors Taxi Rate Hike

The City Council's Ordinance Committee voted Monday night to recommend a rate increase for the city's taxis, the first since 1980.

The rate increase must now be advertised, and then sent back to the City Council.

George J. Parker, president of Yellow Cab of Quincy, asked for the increases because of "the rising costs of vehicles, gasoline and the everyday maintenance of the taxis."

"Also included in our increased expenses are auto insurance, workman's compensation and social security," he said.

The proposed rate increases are from the current $1.60 to $2 for one mile, $2.80 to $3.40 for two miles, $4 to $5 for three miles, and $10 to $14 for one hour of use time.

After reviewing the rates for Quincy, which are set by city ordinance, and those of other cities and towns, Council president Stephen

McGrath said that the new rates are "still extremely competitive."

Councillor Michael Cheney suggested a discount for senior citizens who use taxis.

Sewer Ban Lifted In South Quincy

The Division of Water Pollution Control has removed the sewer ban in South Quincy which was enacted in 1981.

In its place, a revised administrative order has been issued.

The order has been revised "in light of the improvements to the city's wastewater collection facilities accomplished in the last several months," according to the Water Pollution Control Division.

The division also noted the city's progress in constructing the Fort Square pump station/force main/interceptor, the Town Brook relief interceptor and ongoing sewer system rehabilitation work.

The order also removes the ban which prohibited further connections to, and extensions of the Quincy Sewer system in the South Quincy and the Faxon Park areas of the city.

Developer Wants To Build 1,100 Condos On Quincy Ave.

An East Weymouth developing firm will be making a formal presentation soon to Quincy officials on its plan to build 1,100 residential condominiums on 48 acres off

Quincy Ave., near the Braintree line.

Fox Properties, headquartered at 47 Winter St., plans to build the $130 million condo community over a 10-year period on land now zoned for industry which, they say, allows for multi-family housing.

Although he has not filed formal plans with the city, developer Robert Fox has already filed an environmental notification form with the state. He said he will wait until he has a response from the state before making a formal presentation to the city.

The project calls for some 19 buildings, eight of which would be 10 stories. The rest would vary from two to five stories. Parking is planned for almost 2,000 cars.

Fox said a new road would have to be built at the intersection of Route 53 and Southern Artery in order to reach the condominiums.

Fox Properties has built several other residential projects in Weymouth.

NQ K of C Gets Club AA License

The License Board issued a club all-alcoholic license to the North Quincy Knights of Columbus.

This action was taken Tuesday following a favorable report from the Sacred Heart parish council.

The board wanted to hear from the council before action was taken on the request.

Michelle Glennon, representing the council, told the board the council was not opposed to the license. She added that the Rev. Cornelius Heery, pastor, hoped that by granting this club license it wasn't going to be open all day.

Board Chairman John Gillis and board member Police Chief Francis Finn told Glennon it would. They added there are no restrictions attached to this type of license, requested by C.C.'s Club, Inc. Alcohol may be served to members and their guests all day and evening and also during commercial functions, they said.

The club, owned by the 59ers Corporation of North Quincy, could only serve alcohol to its members and to organizations and groups that have obtained one-day, all-alcoholic licenses.

Richard W. Barry, representing the North Quincy Knights, said Charles McDermott would be club manager and not Albert W. DiFazio, who was earlier identified in that position.

Lydon To Step Down, Meade New Director

James Lydon, Quincy's Planning Director for the past seven years, will step down from that position Dec. 5, to work for a local developer at double his current salary of $38,726.

And Richard Meade, a 17-year employee of the Planning Department, will become the city's Planning Director on Dec. 8.

That was the announcement made Tuesday by Mayor Francis McCauley during a morning press conference.

Lydon had said last week that he was considering an offer from Ricciardi Co. of Quincy.

He requested that the mayor remove him from work on any Ricciardi projects, including the $55 million President's Place project proposed for downtown Quincy, because the state Conflict of Interest Law precludes negotiating on projects with a potential employer.

"When Jim told me he was accepting the job, Richard Meade was the only person I thought of for the job," said McCauley.

"A life-long Quincy resident, he is a career employee in the department." Lydon applauded McCauley's choice of Meade, who has been principal planner since 1983.

"I don't think there is a finer person who could be appointed to the position," he said.

"The Planning Director's job is the best job in the world," added Lydon.

"There are very few jobs with the same amount of job satisfaction."

Lydon, 36, who said he has worked for the city for 10 years under former Mayors Walter Hannon, Joseph LaRaia, and Arthur Tobin, also praised McCauley.

"He has been the finest person I've ever served under ... he is a fair boss and an exceptional mayor."

When news of Ricciardi's offer to Lydon was made public last week, some questions of conflict of interest were raised.

However, McCauley defended Lydon's actions.

"Jim was upfront about things and handled them correctly," said McCauley.

City Solicitor Joseph (Jay) MacRitchie agreed. "It's better that it comes up now when there really haven't been any approvals given by the city."

He noted that the city has no restrictions in such cases beyond the state's Conflict of Interest law.

"Planning directors in the past have gone to work for private developers, as have former mayors," said MacRitchie.

"I think people take city jobs for the experience. You don't make a career out of being a city solicitor or planning director."

"You have to look at it as a stepping stone. People do, and they move on."

"It's partially the structure of city government. There's no job security."

Stephen Ricciardi of Ricciardi Co. explained how the job offer to Lydon occurred.

"Some time ago, Jim Lydon told us he was entertaining offers from other developers."

"We asked whether he would entertain one from us."

"Jim is very talented, intelligent, and a class individual. He would be a terrific asset to any company."

"We gave him a proposition about six weeks ago, he thought it over and was more inclined to it than to the others.

"He talked to the mayor directly about it, and sought the opinion of the City Solicitor."

"We knew there would be some people who would have a negative reaction to this, but we thought, as a company, we were being up front."

"We're at a point where this is the time to do it. What if it were five months or a year from now?"

Ricciardi said the company, which has about 160 employees, is creating the position of project manager for Lydon.

Ricciardi emphasized that Lydon would not be working on any Quincy projects for at least a year.

He conceded that a heavy percentage of the company's work is in Quincy, but that there are also projects in Brockton, Bridgewater and Rhode Island.

"Good employees are hard to find. Jim's got the experience, the background, he's perfect at what he's doing, and we wanted to have him with our company."

Lydon, who will be 37 in the next few weeks, said that it is time for him to make a change.

"I've accomplished all the goals I've set out to accomplish."

"The city has gone through some dramatic changes since 1979."

"It's an appropriate time in my life to make a move."

Downtown Chinese Restaurant Gets License, With Conditions

The License Board Tuesday granted the Tian Gourmet Restaurant a common victualer license to open at the Quincy Fair complex, in downtown pending approval by the building inspector.

Atty. Richard Barry, representing Sing Yin Ho of West Squantum St., said his client is meeting with five conditions set by the board which includes a fryalator with a washing system to erase cooking odors, an industrial garbage disposal, to be funded by Ho, a trash compactor to be installed by the property owner, proper fire extinguishers and outside sign.

Building Inspector Kenneth

Johnson will conduct a final inspection of the restaurant and then notify the board all the conditions insisted upon have been met.

Quincy Fair complex, at 1591 Hancock St., was built by the F.X. Messina Enterprises of Braintree, on the site of the former Sears Roebuck department store.

Gillis: 'Thanks, But No'

One of the hardest things for City Clerk John Gillis to do is to say "no."

His door is always open to those seeking help - some in the mission impossible area. And, he is one of the softest touches for a handout.

If anyone around City Hall has the so-called common touch, he does.

And if a group was looking for a mayoral contender to run as "The Candidate With Heart," he would be the one.

For the past few years various people have urged him to run for mayor.

One year he thought it over for awhile before finally declining.

Two years ago he didn't have to think as long. Now, they're after him again.

There's no doubt he would give incumbent Mayor Francis McCauley a good run. And with all those Democrats -- and little people out there -- he might very well win it.

Gillis would have nothing to lose if he wanted to run. He could take a leave of absence from his clerk's job. If he won he would be the next mayor. If he lost, he could return to the clerk's office.

But at this stage in life he really doesn't need the headaches of being a mayor. Some of his closest friends agree and have told him so.

Gillis, despite the urging of others, is not thinking it over. He has quickly made up his mind.

"No. Thank you for asking. But no." It may have been one of his easiest "no's."

COUNTY COMM. George McDonald, you might say, probably got more political mileage out of a dump than anyone else in QuinCY's history.

McDonald ran for the Ward 4 City Council seat in 1959 and won on a platform to keep the city dump under control and re-elected several times on the same issue.

He wanted it covered over to keep rodents and roaches in check.

And, he later wanted the dumping restricted to QuinCY residents and businesses.

He said that Pike's Peak, the current landfill area could last another 100 years if it were restricted.

But, he recalls, the city opted to open it to outsiders to make money. And it did bring in about $2 million, he says.

But, he says, it filled up too fast bringing on the present crisis banning commercial dumping.

"I feel sorry for the businesses," he says. "Especially the little guy -- the paperhanger, carpenter who will have to take rubbish out of the city while paying more taxes."

McDonald, incidentally, hints he may not seek reelection to the County Commission two years from now.

"I may retire," he says.

But don't go rushing for early nomination papers. He said "may" and not "will."

COUNCILLOR Joseph LaRaia who wants to be mayor again got the "feet" for it last week when the Montclair Men's Club honored the Patriots' Billy Sullivan.

Mayor Francis McCauley made Sullivan an honorary citizen of QuinCY but couldn't be there to do the honors himself because he was attending a testimonial for Atty. Gen. Frank Bellotti and State Auditor John Finnegan, both of whom are retiring.

McCauley thought Senator Paul Harold would make the presentation. But Harold had a Senate citation to give Sullivan. So, LaRaia made the presentation to Sullivan.

SCHOOL COMMITTEEMAN Christopher Kennedy was elected president-elect of the Massachusetts Association of School Committees (MASC) at the recent 40th annual meeting in Hyannis.

Kennedy, an 11-year member of the QuinCY School Committee is vice-president of administration at Northeastern University.

KENNEDY

PERSONAL to whoever-you-are: Thanks for your letter. Sorry we aren't going to print it. Not because it is so one-sided, so angry and dripping with hate but because you neglected -- or didn't have the courage -- to identify yourself.

S.O.S. Prints Revised Edition Of Pamphlets

Save Our Shores, Inc. a 17-year-old statewide organization based in North QuinCY, recently printed 1,000 copies of a revised edition of its informational pamphlet.

The pamphlets, which are free, are available from Save Our Shores and some are on display at City Hall.

According to the organization, the brochures are to seek help to "preserve this notable historic natural resource which includes the foreshores of 30 islands as they are rich in history and solidly bound to the ecological balance of the Massachusetts Bay coastline."

In the revised brochure,

SOS emphasizes that the area lies at the edge of the sea, where the sea meets the land "which is more than 20 times more valuable than inland farmland."

It is the beginning of the food chain. Spanned in the salt marshes, the fish go to sea on flood tides and eventually are served on your table.

"Killing the creeks, marshes and estuaries diminishes the fish supply depriving future generations of protein rich food."

In an Oct. 14 letter to Maureen Mazzimas, SOS board chairman, Gov. Michael Dukakis stated, "Boston Harbor is one of our most precious assets; restoring its beauty and cleanliness and preserving it for those to come are among the highest priorities of this administration."

"It's an enormous undertaking, but working together I'm sure we'll succeed."

For more information on the organization or the pamphlets, contact Clara M. Yeomans, SOS president, at P.O. Box 103, North QuinCY, 02171.

Head Start Program Taking Applications

The First Chance Head Start Program is still taking applications for the 1986-87 school year for children who live in QuinCY, Braintree, Weymouth and Hull.

The federally funded preschool program is for children who must be 4 years old by Dec. 31, 1986 and meet federal guidelines.

Children with special needs may enter the program at the age of 3.

The program provides transportation, snacks, and hot lunches to children who are enrolled. There is no cost to the family as it is a federally funded program.

Keegan Recreation Area Keeping His Memory Alive

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

The Francis W. Keegan Recreational Area was officially dedicated recently to the memory of the popular Pollard School principal.

But it's the youngsters who are using the renovated area each day who are really keeping his memory alive.

"Youngsters play ball there every afternoon," said Ward Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro. "They seem to be using it more since work was done on the area."

"Lots of people say what a fine job the Park Department has done fixing it up."

The playground was renovated and painted with $23,000 from the Burkhardt Corp., developers of the Pollard Condominiums on the site of the former Pollard School, and from the city, according to DeCristofaro.

"Frank Keegan was one of the most well-liked people in the whole school system," said DeCristofaro of the Pollard principal for 13 years who died several years ago.

"Over 100 people - including teachers, students, parents and city officials - attended the dedication," he said.

During the ceremonies, Pollard School graduate Theresa Lomanno said, FRANCIS W. KEEGAN Recreational Area was recently dedicated in memory of the late Pollard School principal. From left, are Peter Kenney, the mayor's executive secretary; Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro, Laura DiTullio, former assistant principal at Pollard and now Broad Meadows assistant principal; Mayor Francis McCauley, and Barbara Foley, former Pollard PTO president.

"What better place to dedicate to the honor of Mr. Keegan than a place where children learn team spirit and acceptance."

Barbara Foley, former Pollard PTO president, noted, "His greatest legacies are the community spirit and life long friendships that flourished while he was with us."

"In the years ahead, we will best remember Frank as the friend who taught us."

Also participating in the ceremonies were Laura DiTullio, former assistant principal at the Pollard School; the Rev. Joseph Downey, pastor, St. Joseph's Church, Mayor Francis X. McCauley, Richard J. Koch, director, Quincy Park, Forestry and Cemetery Dept.; School

Supt. John A. Osterman; Wilfred A. Nolan, director, Elementary Education; Stephen Cantelli, elementary educator; Michelle Dunn, Pollard School graduate; the Rev. Donald Keegan, S.J., representing the Keegan family.

Robert Sontag, vocalist, and Paul Erbe, guitarist, provided music.

Over 100,000 Calls Handled A Day At Quincy Telephone Office

Over 100,000 calls are handled by New England Telephone's operators during the course of an average business day at the company's Quincy office, 1070 Hancock St.

NET opened a new call completion services office at that location in April and since that time, 150 operators have been handling operator-assisted calls at a rate of 75,000 calls per average business day.

In addition, the 40 directory assistance operators here service about 25,000 calls per business day.

"Overall, on an average business day," said Patricia Keene, NET general manager of operator services, "operators in New England handle more than 1.4 million calls."

Since Jan. 1, 1984, NET has been a subsidiary of NYNEX Corporation, a communications enterprise serving five New England states and New York.

Under the direction of President and Chief Operating Officer Gerry Freche, the company serves more than four million customers in Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont. It employs about 27,000 people.

The Quincy exchange totals more than 35,500 residential lines, over 8,000 business lines and nearly 850 public telephones.

Quincy first received telephone service in 1882.

Since that time, the city has shared in and benefited from NET's technological growth and innovations.

Within the past 30 years, for example, Quincy has seen much change. Metropolitan service became available to Quincy customers in 1960. In July of 1965, Touch Tone service was implemented for Quincy customers.

In 1972, a computerized electronic switching system, which processed calls faster and used less electricity than other call switching systems, was activated in Quincy. Its activation was the technological advance which allowed NET to provide its customers with optional services like Call Waiting, Call Forwarding and Three-Way Calling in 1974.

This system, and a subsequent additional electronic switching system which was activated in 1982, currently processes all calls for central office codes 328, 471, 472, 479, 770, 773, 786 and 847.

And, these technological advances have not halted in Quincy. NET technicians are constantly upgrading the telephone system to meet the demands of its customers and keep Quincy in the forefront of advances in the telecommunications industry.

NET is in the midst of a $429 million construction program in Massachusetts to continue expanding and improving its telecommunications network serving the company's 2.8 million residential and business customers in the Bay State.

Planning Board Backs Proposed PUD Amendment

The City Council and Planning Board held a joint public hearing Monday night on a proposed amendment to allow industrial B uses in Planned Unit Development areas.

And despite the fact that 73 shipyard workers recorded themselves against the change, the Planning Board later voted unanimously to recommend it.

The matter now goes back to the City Council.

The topic at the public hearing apparently generated some confusion.

Council President Stephen McGrath explained that the hearing was not on rezoning the General Dynamics Quincy Shipyard to Planned Unit Development, but on altering Planned Unit Development areas to include Industrial B.

Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro had earlier proposed rezoning the shipyard from Industrial B to Planned Unit Development so that the council would have control over what goes on there.

But before that rezoning takes place, DeCristofaro wanted to add Industrial B to PUD, so that shipbuilding would be allowed.

However, several shipyard union officials, were apparently concerned that the zoning amendment would harm their chances of buying the shipyard.

The employee buyout committee has made a joint bid with a company which would build a $100 million power plant.

It is among 17 bids made for the shipyard. General Dynamics is expected to make a decision shortly.

Tony Svizzero, who represented the shipyard unions, asked that the council put off any action until after General Dynamics announces whose bid for the shipyard will be accepted.

"I don't see why you're talking about rezoning until you see who gets the bid," said George O'Kane, president of Shipyard Workers Local 5.

"Why not wait until we see who gets the bid?" he asked.

James K. Brownies, attorney for General Dynamics, and several long-time shipyard workers also spoke in opposition.

No one spoke, or was recorded, in favor.

"It's for you that we're doing it," said Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro, in whose ward the shipyard is located.

"So if you do get the bid, you'll be able to go back to work."

"I'm very upset with the union people," said DeCristofaro after the meeting.

"Tonight was just an amendment to PUD.

"They think we're trying to hurt them, but we're trying to help them."

Procter & Gamble Chemical Drill Spill Proves Point

A real-live chemical spill drill was simulated Tuesday at the Procter & Gamble plant in Quincy Point, and proved that public safety, working with industry, can respond effectively to a hazardous material incident.

Plant project manager Paul J. Angelico says the simulated chemical spill and drill, which got underway at 10:30 a.m., was planned by the company and the city to evaluate their response by integrating Procter & Gamble's emergency programs with the Community Awareness Response Emergency (CARE) plan for Quincy.

According to Anthony Siciliano, acting director of the city's Public Safety and Civil Defense agencies, smoke bombs were ignited in the vicinity of two chemical tanks. This smoke simulated escaping vapors from the giant containers.

This huge vapor cloud grew and "poisoned" the atmosphere and workers began to feel over; some cried for help, others simulated blood flow and unconsciousness.

As the spill claimed more victims, the company's drill plan was triggered and an evacuation alarm was sounded.

The fire department received the alarm and a follow-up phone call stated a chemical release drill was underway. The fire department were the first responders to the main gate.

Close on their heels were Bay State Ambulance with their teams of EMTs.

As the plant was being evacuated a main command post was already established at the main gate and manned by fire, police and plant personnel. Civil Defense simulated a communication center adjacent to the command post. Meanwhile a forward command post had been established in the east yard with representatives from fire, and plant officials. Bay State Ambulance EMTs were in communication with Quincy City Hospital where "victims" were taken.

"It was an excellent way for the city to exercise the CARE plan that was signed last February by Mayor Francis McCauley," said Siciliano.

"We were able to see our public safety departments in operation and the effectiveness of working together in responding to a hazardous material situation.

"The testing of community resources in the event of a disaster of this nature that involves chemicals is very important with a city the size of Quincy."

"Procter & Gamble, working with our CARE plan proved this type of drill can work with other industrial plants. It was also a good step forward to see how the business sector and public officials in all branches of public safety, responding to an emergency," said Siciliano.

Squantum Community Assn. To Hear Planning Director

Seniors Should Beware Of Bunco

There are many types of fraudulent activity in the marketplace, but bunco is a specialized type of swindle. The con men/women who practice bunco often seek out older persons as victims, so every senior citizen should be especially aware of these schemes and how to avoid them.

Two of the most obvious, yet frequent, bunco schemes are:

Pigeon Drop: This one accounts for about half of the con games reported to the police! The swindlers claim to have found a large sum of money and offer to "share" it with you, but request you to withdraw "good faith" money from the bank. The swindlers take your good faith money, then make phony arrangements for you to collect your share of the found money.

Bank Examiner: This is another con game, most often directed against older persons. A phony bank examiner contacts you and asks for your help in catching a dishonest bank employee. He/she asks you to withdraw a specified amount of cash from your account and turn it over to him so he can check the serial numbers. After turning your money over to the "examiner," you never hear about it again. Banks NEVER use this procedure, only con men do.

If you are contacted by someone using one of these schemes, or something similar involving any amount of money, DON'T get or turn over any money. If possible, call the police promptly, so that they can try to stop the bunco artists from swindling the next person they contact.

Swindlers often will be well dressed, talkative and intelligent. They don't deal in force; they try to win your confidence. They will play to your natural inclination to be helpful, or to take advantage of a windfall... to get something for nothing.

REMEMBER: Be highly suspicious. Never give money to a stranger.

'Where Does Faith Lead?' Sermon Topic At Bethany

There will be two worship services this coming Sunday at Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Center, at 9 a.m. in the chapel and 10 a.m. in the sanctuary.

The Rev. Joel F. Huntington, associate minister, will preach at both hours on the topic of: "Where Does Faith Lead?" The sermon will focus on how Christians too often turn faith into a very private and passive affair. The Rev. J. William Arnold will act as liturgist for both services. The lay scripture readers will be Marion Lockwood in the chapel and George F. Nicholson in the sanctuary.

During the sanctuary service, the chancel choir under the direction of Peter E. Krasinski will sing, "O How Amiable."

The worship service is broadcast live over WJDA, 130KHz, at 10 a.m. In addition a cassette tape of the service can be obtained for $2 by contacting the church office.

Sunday School will be in session from 10 to 11 a.m. with classes for children of pre-school through eighth grade. Nursery care for babies is also provided as well as a toddler class for young children. Our Early Childhood Coordinator, Denise Fleming, will be present to supervise the care of infants through first graders.

At 11 a.m. there will be a fellowship hour in the Allen Parlor. Individuals and families from the community are welcome to share in the worship and the fellowship. You are also invited to enroll children in the Sunday School program.

For additional information about Bethany's ministries, contact the church office at 479-7300.

All Saints Sunday Observed At Covenant Congregational

Lighting of the altar candles by two acolytes, Sarah Nelson and Mason LaCoste, opened the 10:45 a.m. worship service last Sunday at Covenant Congregational Church, Whitwell and Granite Sts.

Richard Smith, Minister of Music, played "In Bless Paradise" by Dubois as the prelude.

Rev. Fred Lawson's sermon, entitled "Our List of Heroes" pointed out that parents who set the right example and Sunday School teachers who care about their students should be considered christian heroes. Members and friends who have died since last All Saints Day were mentioned and a prayer of remembrance was offered on their behalf.

New members were received into the congregation. They were: Lori-Anne Facella, Lynne Facella, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur LaBelle. Communion was served by Virginia Anderson, Ida Taylor, David Day, and Don Johnson.

The choir, directed and accompanied by organist Richard Smith, sang as introtit an original composition by Mr. Smith, "What Are These Arranged in White." "The Souls of the Righteous" by Noble, and "O What Their Joy and Glory" by Harris. An offertory solo, "Litany" by Schubert was sung by Luisa Dano, soprano soloist.

Ushers were Ruth Johnson, Virginia Sylvester, Carl Sylvester, and Charles Sylvester. Lori-Anne and Lynne Facella were the greeters and Mrs. Florence Anderson was this week's attendant in the nursery, which is available every week for children aged five and under.

Following the church service, a coffee hour was served by the Diaconate in honor of the new members received. Activities for the coming week include: the 7:30 p.m. evening bible study on Tuesday, choir rehearsal at 7 p.m. on Wednesday, 7:30 p.m. meetings of the Christian Education and Trustee Boards on Friday.

Next Sunday, Stewardship Sunday, Sunday School begins at 9:30 a.m. with classes for all ages and the worship service starts at 10:45 a.m. At 3:30 p.m. that Sunday there will be a choir festival at Trinity Church in Boston. The following Saturday, Nov. 15, the Naomi Society will hold a flea market from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

L.O.V.E. Training Program At Good Counsel Church

Twelve members of Our Lady of Good Counsel Parish are enrolled in a Lay Ministry of Visitors to the Elderly (L.O.V.E.) training program.

Purpose of the program is to build a core group of trained ministers in the parish to provide companionship and support to elderly homebound parishioners.

The training sessions are being led by Leo Donoghue, Parish Social Ministry Director of Catholic Charities.

Debora Nigro, coordinator of the program, recently completed a certificate course in gerontology at the University of Massachusetts-Boston for those involved with the field of aging.

'What Treasurers Eternal?' Squantum Church Sermon

"What Kind of Treasures Are Eternal?" was the sermon preached Sunday morning at the First Church of Squantum at both morning services by church pastor Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin.

His text was "...lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust consumes and where thieves do not break in and steal." (Matthew 6:20)

It was Pledge Sunday. During the early service, a member of the Stewardship Committee, Andy Ogilvie, spoke to the congregation on the importance of pledging.

During the later service, the offerings and pledges were collected and brought forward by ushers Tore Wallin and Harry Holmes and members of the Stewardship Committee which includes Richard Hendry, May Lewis, Helen Miller, Si Porter, Andy Ogilvie, Stewart Scott, Luther Swenson, Tom Williamson and Barbara Anderson, Chairperson.

Joining the church in the second service was Peter Williamson.

He was welcomed as a church member with the right hand of fellowship from Dr. Langevin and various other leaders of the church including Stewart Scott, Board of Deacons; Luther Swenson, Board of Trustees; Tom Williamson, Board of Benevolences; and Sally Stark Johnson, Board of Christian Education.

Guitarists Mary Ruth Scott and Andy Ogilvie accompanied the singing of the congregation in the early service. Chris Dixey and Kim Olson were ushers.

In the second service, greeters were Ruth and Wallace Danforth. The Lord's Supper was observed with deacons Evelyn Ahern, Stewart Scott, Gretchen Bumpus, Dana Olson and Tom Williamson assisting the pastor.

The offertory anthem by the Chancel Choir during the second service was "In Thee Is Gladness" to a 191 melody by Giovanni Gastoldi. Mary Ruth Scott directed.

The Fellowship Hour after the second service was hosted by Barbara Chapman and Pat Olson.

This Sunday there will be two services; the guitar service at 8:30 a.m. and the traditional service at 10:30 a.m.

EVEN IF YOU GO SOUTH FOR THE WINTER YOU CAN MAKE YOUR FUNERAL PLANS HERE

Going away for an extended period of time does not end your ties with those you love. If you plan to live away contact your local funeral director and make your plans known. In fact, whenever a death occurs away from home it is best to contact your hometown funeral director first.

When making funeral plans investigate the financial benefit of placing monies in the interest gaining NEW ENGLAND FUNERAL TRUST.

If you would like more information about pre-planning a funeral please call or write for the free brochure No Greater Kindness For Those You Love.

Study Report Bottom Line: Reorganize Police Dept.

fashion."

- "An unusually high per capita cost of policing."

It offered recommendations to achieve improvements.

"There is every indication that the department has suffered a decline from the position of prominence that it once held a decade ago," stated the study.

"This report sets forth a number of recommendations which are intended to assist the Quincy Police Department in regaining a leadership position in the field of municipal policing."

The report also noted, "As in any report of this type, the emphasis is on problem identification and resolution. "Thus, this report tends to be primarily critical rather than positive, but this should not be taken as evidence that there are not many good features of the Quincy Police Department, for certainly there are."

McCauley noted that the report praised the department's juvenile division and detective bureau.

He said he is considering "bringing people on board" to implement some of the recommendations.

McCauley noted that the recommendations "are not written in stone. They are just recommendations."

Some of them, such as reducing the manpower, may not be "do-able" he said.

The primary recommendations were:

- Establish a viable management team which involves members of the command staff in formulating budget programs, planning and goal setting.

- Reorganize the department to clarify the chain of command, responsibilities and accountability.

- Utilize personnel more effectively by basing deployment of personnel on a carefully designed methodology, discontinuing assignments to nonessential tasks, and making more effective use of civilian personnel.

- Strengthen internal controls to ensure the highest standards of conduct by creating an internal affairs unit, adopting a written procedure for handling complaints, and documenting all aspects of internal investigations.

- Strengthen the departmental training efforts by initiating a formalized training program, assessing training needs, and maintaining accurate records of all training.

- Revise rules and regulations and the written directives system.

- Improve management and planning practices by effective use of computer technology and management systems.

Kennedy Studios To Open Store

Kennedy Studios, Inc., an art gallery and picture framing store chain, is scheduled to open in downtown Quincy in time for the holiday shopping season.

The store, to be located at 1563 Hancock St. at the site of the former Touraine's, is expected to open in the next two weeks, according to Michael Kenealy of Key Realty.

It will occupy about 5,000 square feet of space on the first floor where the retail section will be located, and about 5,000 square feet on the lower level which will be a workshop, Kenealy said.

Kennedy Studios has signed a five year lease for the location which has been vacant for about a year, he said.

It was last occupied by a health spa.

Kenneth P. Fallon, Jr., executive director of the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association, announced the news of the store opening at a QCBPA membership meeting Tuesday morning.

"We're delighted with the fact that they are coming to the city," said Fallon.

"They are a first class outfit and will add a great deal to the area."

"Every occupant or retail establishment creates more foot traffic and that is good for everyone," he said.

Opening of the store in Quincy by the Boston-based chain represents a homecoming for the president of the company, Robert E. Kennedy.

"My family was born and brought up in Quincy," said Kennedy. "We moved from Quincy to Walpole in 1955."

Kennedy started his business on Boston's Beacon Hill in 1968 and it now includes 24 art gallery and picture framing stores from Massachusetts to Florida.

The stores offer a selection of Robert E. Kennedy sketches, reproduced photographs, posters, and gallery posters, at medium prices, according to Kennedy.

It also offers moldings and matts for custom framing, he said.

"The Hancock St. gallery will be the largest in our chain," Kennedy said.

7 Retired Firefighters Honored For 153 Total Years Service

Some 153 years of active service by seven Quincy firefighters was recognized at the department's recent 29th annual retirement banquet.

Acting Fire Chief Carl Valenti was the emcee at the ceremony held at the American Legion Cyril Morrisette post in West Quincy.

Lt. Paul Cuddy presented commemorative plaques to each of the recent retirees whose active service with the department totaled 153 years.

Plaques went to:

Capt. John Murphy, and firefighters George King, Charles Lund, Leo Bongiorno, Edward Nardone, William Morrill and James Padula. The latter two were unable to attend the banquet.

Over 200 active and retired firemen attended the event.

License Board Briefs

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK.

The funeral of every person, no matter how humble was his state of life, is just as meaningful and necessary to his survivors as the funeral of a well-known personage is to his bereaved. Every man is equally important in the eyes of God. And who, but God, is to say which ones loved him more or served him better. The minister or priest reminds us in the funeral service of this equality of man as he offers spiritual comfort, hope and encouragement to the living.

We at the Deware Funeral Home believe that the professional services we render are in direct response to the innate desire in all of us to care for and honor our beloved dead as individuals of worth. Thus, it follows that our philosophy of funeral service and our primary concern must be - Giving Dignity to Man...

Seniors To Register For 'T' Reduced Fare

An MBTA registration team will be at the Quincy Drop-In Center, High School Ave., Tuesday, Nov. 18, to issue identification cards permitting senior citizens to ride MBTA rapid transit lines and local buses for reduced fares.

With the cards, they may ride rapid transit lines and local buses for 10 cents at all times.

Citizens who have special needs certification forms completed by their physician can also obtain a special needs LD card. They are valid at all times and allows the bearer to ride a 60-cent subway route or 50-cent bus route for 10 cents. If the fare exceeds that amount, the cardholders pay half-fare.

Eligible citizens from Quincy and surrounding towns will be able to register between 9:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m.

To be eligible for a senior citizen reduced fare card, which contains the name and address of the holder and a color photograph for positive identification, you must bring proof of age -- 65 years or older -- such as a birth certificate, baptismal record, or driver's license; proof of residency such as a driver's license, utility bill, library card, or charge plate; and a 50 cents cash fee.

Medicare cards will not be accepted as proof of age.

The MBTA stressed that seniors who already have a reduced fare ID card do not need to register again.

Eligibility for a handicapped citizen reduced fare identification card requires completion of the MBTA Special Needs Certification Form by a physician, with the exception of the category of eligibility for mental retardation. Applications for retarded citizens may be completed by a licensed psychologist or licensed social worker.

Certification forms can be obtained by calling 722-5438 or writing the Certification Program, c/o MBTA Sales & Marketing, 10 Park Plaza, Room 5610, Boston, MA 02116.

Veterans with 70 percent or more disability can receive a special needs photo identification card with documentation from the U.S. Veterans Administration.

Citizens with eligibility for The Ride can receive a special needs card using The Ride eligibility certification as proof.

2 QHS Seniors Win Leadership Test

Two Quincy High School seniors have won the Century III Leaders Scholarship competition at their respective schools.

According to Quincy High School principal Lloyd Hill, Patricia Malvestuto is now eligible to compete with other state high school seniors for two $1,500 scholarships, two $500 ones, and also a chance to compete for a $10,000 national award. This will be presented in a conference of state winners to be held later in Williamsburg, VA.

Jonathan C. Stein was the winner from North Quincy High School said principal Peter Chrisom.

Second place winner at North was Elizabeth Ryan. Cynthia S.Y. Lee and Maura A. Feerick were commended for their projects.

Malvestuto and Stein's triumphed in the local phase of the program, which is a competition emphasizing the future concerns of America. Students were judged on the basis of leadership abilities, community involvement, and were also scored on a current events examination.

The scholarship program is administered by the National Association of Secondary School Principals, and funded by the Shell Oil Company.

Forrest Cook, Jr. New President South Shore Bank

Forrest R. Cook Jr. will take over the position of president and chief executive officer of South Shore Bank on Nov. 17.

Cook succeeds William B. Austin Jr., who this past August announced his intention to retire.

Since March of 1982, Cook has been president and chief executive officer of Duffee Attleboro Bank, Multibank's affiliate in Bristol County. From 1974 to 1981, he held a similar position at the Bank of New Hampshire. Between 1958 and 1974 he was with State Street Bank and Trust Co. in Boston where he progressed through positions of increasing responsibility in

FORREST R. COOK JR. correspondent and retail banking to senior vice president and division head of the Depositors' Service Division.
"South Shore Bank has demonstrated considerable growth in recent years as a result of its ability to tailor its retail, trust and commercial banking services to the very diversified Norfolk County economy," Cook said. "It is important to note that Norfolk County is one of the fastest growing in New England, and I look forward to maintaining and even accelerating the bank's growth record."

As of September 30, 1986, South Shore Bank, with 33 offices in Norfolk County, has assets of $878 million, and thus ranked as the 14th largest commercial bank in Massachusetts and in the top 3% of the 14,000 commercial banks in the United States.

Excel Reports Earnings Up

Excel Bancorp and its subsidiary, Quincy Savings Bank, reported net income of $2,662,239 for the third quarter ended Sept. 30, 1986, an increase of 153 percent over $1,051,940 net income for the third quarter of 1985. Nine month net income was $6,977,877 for 1986, 81 percent higher than net income of $3,854,858 for the first nine months of 1985.

Charles A. Pearce, chairman and chief executive officer, said among the factors contributing to the increase were net gains on sales of investments, net gains on loans sold in the secondary market, and fees charged in connection with the origination of mortgage loans.

At Sept. 30, 1986, assets of $539,799,640 included net proceeds to date of $65,893,111 from the public stock offering. Assets increased 22 percent over 1985 year-end results. Stockholders equity at Sept. 30, 1986 was $106,229,321.

Fitcorp HealthCare Expands Hours

Fitcorp's North Quincy Health Care Center has expanded its operating hours to seven days a week to accommodate people with tight schedules who want to stop off on their way to and from work to workout and relax. The center, which celebrated its first anniversary this fall, is now open Monday through Thursday, 6 a.m. to 8 p.m.; Friday, 6 a.m. to 9 p.m.; Saturday, 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.; Sunday, 12 noon to 5 p.m.

Fitcorp features a full spectrum of workout facilities to its members and includes a complete Nautilus line, aerobic exercise equipment, free weights and the largest state-of-the-art aerobic dance studio in the area.

Located on the ground floor of the One Monarch Drive building in the State Street South Office Park in North Quincy, the center offers plenty of free parking.

Conway To Market Condos

Ocean Cove, condominium complex overlooking Quincy Bay, has named the Jack Conway Company as its exclusive realty marketing agent.

Located on Quincy Shore Drive, the 56 one, and two-bedroom luxury residences, ranging in price from $124,900 to $185,000, have been designed to capture views of the bay and the Boston skyline.

The development was constructed by South Bay Corporation whose principals are Stephen and Anthony Losardo, Jr., of Quincy.

The condominiums have a pool and off street parking. Wollaston Beach and the Squamut Yacht Club are across the street.

"The four story building blends into the residential neighborhood," said John Nettles, manager of Conway's Wollaston office.

AlphaGraphics Print Shop Opens In Quincy

Quincy's first AlphaGraphics Printshop of the Future is opened for business at 74 Washington St. next door to the Thomas Crane Public Library.

David S. O'Dwyer says his firm introduces the latest breakthrough in electronic graphic technology called Laser Graphics.

"According to industry sources and our own competitive pricing, we are the first company to offer this service on a retail level in the entire world," said Roger Ford, president of the franchise store chain.

"Laser Graphics enables customers to enhance the appearance of their printed communications by changed typed material into attractive laser typeset characters at a fraction of the cost of traditional typesetting," he said. In addition, borders, clip art, and multiple columns of text may be easily added to professionalize the piece. It is designed to let customers easily enhance their materials themselves, in minutes, on our user-friendly terminals. For people who can't spare the time, we enhance their work for them," he added.

"Owners of Macintosh computers can also take advantage of LaserGraphics by bringing their work stored on a disk to my store," explained O'Dwyer. "The input stored on a floppy disk is then displayed on one of our LaserGraphics terminals so that the customer can add charts, graphs, artwork, and laser typesetting."

Other services include high speed duplicating of multiple copies of multiple pages with free collating, one and two color printing and hard and soft cover binding. An introductory offer of $.04 per copy will be available through December 12, 1986. Quincy's first Printshop Of The Future specializes in stationary, envelopes, business cards, note pads, newsletters, flyers, post cards, carbonless forms, invitations, programs, and resumes. The store is open from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m., Monday through Friday, and 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday. The telephone number is 773-4688.

THE OFFER TO BUY

QUESTION: I have listed my home with a Realtor and am waiting for the first prospect. What is the procedure if I get an offer lower than the asking price?

ANSWER: You can depend on human nature. Your prospect WILL probably make an offer lower than your asking price. If you are going to even consider the offer, it must be in writing and signed. It must have a definite time limit, and it should be accompanied by a respectable amount of the buyer's money as an indication of sincerity.

Once these elements are fulfilled, it's up to you to either accept the lower offer, reject it outright, or make a counter offer to sell somewhere between the two.

DON'T BE SURPRISED if you get an offer lower than your asking price. It's human nature.

Presidents Face Tough Arlington Friday

After Quincy's football team had lost for the fourth time in six games, coach Jack Raymer bemoaned the lack of consistency, saying the Presidents hadn't put a solid two-way game together.

But last Friday night at Veterans Memorial Stadium Quincy finally put together two solid halves of football with both the offense and defense shining as it handed Weymouth North a 33-14 setback to improve to 3-4 and raise hopes for a winning season with three games left.

The Presidents, however, face a real threat Friday night at the stadium when they host Arlington's Greater Boston League entry (5-1-1) in a 7 p.m. game.

Quincy was led by fullback Joe Cardarelli and quarterback Steve Austin, who had outstanding games, and the offensive line, which opened up gaping holes for the ball carriers.

Cardarelli, a senior playing his first year of football, had a great night as he carried 25 times for 173 yards, in addition to catching a screen pass and racing 60 yards for a score. He had three touchdowns and appears well on his way to a 1000-yard season with 791 yards rushing with three games remaining.

John Bogan had a good night with over 70 yards rushing and Austin had still another excellent game completing eight of 11 passes for 199 yards and three touchdowns as Quincy had almost 500 yards in total offense.

Wide receiver Bill Ryan, filling in for the injured Steve Gardner, had four receptions for 84 yards and two touchdowns.

Quincy Season Scoring

|            | TD | PAT | Pts. |
|------------|----|-----|------|
| Cardarelli | 5  | 0   | 30   |
| Ryan       | 2  | 0   | 12   |
| Gardner    | 1  | 2   | 8    |
| Innello    | 1  | 0   | 6    |
| Austin     | 1  | 0   | 6    |
| Bogan      | 1  | 0   | 6    |
| Farrand    | 0  | 6   | 6    |

"Cardarelli really is something and I only wish I had him for more than one season," Raymer said. "He's had five games rushing for over 100 yards and he is the hardest runner I've had. He just puts his head down and goes at them. We gave him the game ball tonight. Austin keeps improving and did another fine job. I've said all along he can throw with the best of them and in recent games the receivers had been doing their job. Ryan has come into his own and has done a fine job filling in for Steve Gardner."

"I dedicated the game to the seniors and I told them before the game that they hadn't been playing up to their potential. I told them we had a chance to finish strong and have a winning season and they really came together tonight."

Raymer lauded the offensive line and had good words for Norm Hassan, Steve Picarski, Rick Smith, Frank Calabro, Dave Savage and Jeff Sprague, who returned from an injury to play a stellar game.

Defensive coach John Taglieri praised Picarski, Rob Cabezas, Joe Innello, Chris Mackey, Ernie Light, Jay Dennett, Matt Healy and Mike Eastwick.

Quincy marched 62 yards with the opening kickoff, mainly on two passes to Ryan, the second being a 26-yarder for the game's first touchdown.

Weymouth tied it up on the first play of the second quarter when Mike Mathison scored from the one, capping a 68-yard drive.

The Presidents came right back following a short Weymouth punt with Cardarelli carrying on five of the six plays and scoring from the two. Mark Farrand kicked the extra point.

A trick play, labeled the Mother Goose play by Weymouth coach Joe Kelly, caught Quincy by surprise as guard Ed Steele ran 23 yards for a touchdown and Shawn Brennan passed to Sean McBirney for two points and Weymouth led, 14-13.

Quarterback Brennan took the snap, left the ball on the ground and pulled out. Steele came around from his guard position and scooped up the ball.

"We put the play in to give the kids a little lift," said Kelly.

Quincy regained the lead when Ryan hauled in an Austin pass for 19 yards to put the Presidents up, 19-14.

On the final play of the third quarter Cardarelli took a screen pass off his shoetops and raced 60 yards for a score and Farrand kicked his second point.

Quincy finished off the scoring in the final quarter when Cardarelli, starting on his own 46 and carrying on six of seven plays, scored from the three and Farrand again kicked the point.

Panthers Defeat Manets, Clinch Second Place

The Quincy Point Panthers defeated the Houghton Neck Manets, 8-0, Sunday at Veterans Memorial Stadium to clinch second place in the Youth Football League and will meet the first place North Quincy Apaches in the championship game in two weeks.

In the final regular season games next Sunday the Panthers will meet the West Quincy Elks, who picked up their first win against the Squantum Sailors, at 1 p.m. and the unbeaten Apaches will meet the Sailors at 2:30.

The Manets finished their season in third place, their strongest season of the 1980s.

The Panthers and Manets played superb defense in the rain-soaked game.

The Manets took the opening kickoff to the 43 but were halted by a strong Panther defense led by Rich Burns and Ken Staskyicz.

The Panthers set up and on a first and 10 attempt, Joe Crespi completed a 52-yard pass to Staskyicz for an apparent touchdown but a clipping penalty nullified it and two plays later the Panthers fumbled.

The Manets took over but their leading ground gainer, Mark Bogan, was stopped in four plays.

Crespi intercepted a pass and later was sacked by the Manets' Allen Spaur. Other threats by the Manets' Rich McDonald, Bogan, Kevin McPartland and Eric Westhaver were stopped by John Barkas, Ralph Bevilacqua and Staskyicz.

The Panthers took the second half kickoff and Burns batted straight up the middle but fumbled at the 40.

In the third quarter the Manets got the ball on the Panthers' 30 due to a face mask penalty, but Joe Crespi recovered a fumble.

The Panthers drove to the Manet 16 in the final quarter led by Steve Feeley, Bobby Crespi and John Barkas. Joe Crespi passed to Staskyicz for the only touchdown and the same pair teamed up for the two-point conversion.

Evan Kiley played well in the second half for the Panthers as coaches Tom Donovan and Mike Dunlea also praised Tom Norton and Mike Bamber for fine two-way games.

North Quincy Swimmers Continue To Dominate Quincy

Quincy has never defeated North Quincy in girls' or boys' swimming since the sport was started 12 years ago, and the record is unchanged following last week's annual girls' meet.

The North girls defeated Quincy, 108-64, led by the outstanding performances of Maureen Furey, Lisa Rodriguez and Kristin McCready.

The First Ladies lost despite the victory by Cindy Galman, who broke the school record in the 100-yard breaststroke.

North Quincy's winners were the 200 medley relay team of Liz Harrington, Rodriguez, Furey and Renee Robichaud (2:20.5); McCready, 200 freestyle (2:24.9); Liz Harrington, 200 individual medley (2:53.3); Julie Killion, diving (218.85 points); Furey, 100 butterfly (1:25.1); Killion, 100 freestyle (1:06.4); McCready, 500 freestyle (6:30.5); Beth Hughes, 100 backstroke (1:20.2), and the 400 freestyle relay team of Diane Mullin, McCready, Killion and Hughes (4:34.9).

Quincy's lone winners were Kerri Mortimer, 50 freestyle (30.1) and Galman, 100 breaststroke (1:23.59).

Placing second for North were Hughes, 200 freestyle; Rodriguez, 200 individual medley; Mullin, 500 freestyle, and Liz Harrington, 100 breaststroke.

Taking seconds for Quincy were Galman, 50 freestyle; Laura Gaura, diving; Patti Morrell, 100 butterfly; Mortimer, 100 freestyle, and Morrell, 100 backstroke.

Finishing third for North were Mullin, 200 freestyle; Furey, 50 freestyle; Robichaud, diving; Sarah Harrington, 100 butterfly; Sherrin Quintiliani, 500 freestyle; Rodriguez, 100 breaststroke, and Joanna Vermette, 100 backstroke.

Placing third for Quincy were Morrell, 200 individual medley, and Lisa Olsen, 100 freestyle.

Quincy Girls Win 5th Straight Volleyball Title

The Quincy Girls' volleyball team, the perennial Suburban League champion, has added its fifth straight league title but missed another undefeated season when it lost to Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 2-1, last week. The First Ladies, who again will be one of the favorites to win their third state crown, finished with a 16-1 record.

The North Quincy girls, who had a makeup game with Cambridge Rindge and Latin Tuesday, have made the tournament for the first time and took a 12-5 record into Tuesday's game.

The Quincy-North Quincy match last Thursday night was the best ever between the cross-town rivals as the North girls forced Quincy into overtime in both games won by the First Ladies, 17-15, 17-15.

The spiking of Lauren Standing and the setting of Ginny Duggan made the difference in the first game while Susan Perry turned in a fine defensive effort.

The young North girls, with only two seniors, led 14-6, in the second game but Quincy's Nancy Laitinen scored the last seven points of the game to clinch the victory.

Earlier in the week, while Quincy suffered its lone loss of the year, the North girls defeated Boston Latin, 2-0 (15-7, 15-12) as junior hitter Jill Caldwell and sophomore setter Holly Rendle turned in excellent performances.

Also qualifying for the state tournament was the Norfolk Aggies' girls' team, of which Quincy junior Denise Attardo is a member.

The Aggies finished as co-champions of the Mayflower League.

YMCA Strypers Defeat Dedham

The South Shore YMCA includes several Quincy Strypers swim team, which meet season with a 282-181 victory over Dedham Recreation.

With 34 new members this year, the Strypers look forward to another successful season. Coach Janet Keyes feels the team is even stronger than last year when three age group teams went undefeated.

Anyone interested in trying out for the team is asked to call Coach Keyes at the South Shore Y.

Honored By Montclair Men's Club Sullivan: 'The Lord Directed Us To Berry'

By PETE ZOIA

New England Patriots president Billy Sullivan received the 33rd John B. Gillooly Memorial Award last week at the annual dinner of the Montclair Men's Club.

Sullivan also received a Senate citation from Sen. Paul Harold for his many charitable works including the Jimmy Fund and was presented an honorary citizen of Quincy citation by Councillor Joseph LaRaia, representing Mayor Frank McCauley. He was also presented a caricature of himself from cartoonist Eddie Germano, a former Gillooly award recipient himself now employed at the Brockton Enterprise.

Sullivan thanked the club for the award as he was a longtime friend of Gillooly, the late columnist for the Boston Record.

"To receive this award and be linked to John Gillooly is indeed an honor," he said. "John was someone really special. He was a tremendous credit to Boston College and the sportswriting world. He helped me many times and supplied me with many anecdotes that I used in speaking engagements. He was a total success and a real human being."

Sullivan also had kind words for Patriot coach Raymond Berry. "The good Lord directed us to Raymond Berry," he said.

"He emphasized that football is a family game as well as being a team game. He took pictures of the ball boys and other hard working behind the scenes personnel and showed them to the football players, telling them that they were part of the family and everyone was important in relation to one another.

Mike Ruth, former Boston College All-American, winner last year of the Outlander Award and a promising rookie for the Patriots, was well-received and autographed several copies of the Patriot yearbook.

Stan Kovalski, club president, was toastmaster and also at the head table was dinner chairman Joe Gildea.

After School Recreation Program Starts

floor hockey, basketball, and games and contests.

Weather permitting, out of doors activities such as touch football, slug, and soccer are also played. The program is open free to all Quincy residents who may attend the location of their choice - registration is done at the program. The specific schedule varies at each site and will be posted in each school gym or can be obtained by calling the Quincy Recreation Department at 773-1380, ext. 204.

The locations are: Atherton Hough School gym, Beechwood Community Life Center gym, Merrymount School gym, Montclair School, Parker School all purpose room, Lincoln Hancock School gym, Squantum School gym, Snug Harbor School gym, Quincy Point Middle School gym, Atlantic Middle School gym, Sterling Middle School gym, and Central Middle School gym.

Participants are requested to wear sneakers at all times.

3-Way Tie For Top Spot In Koch Women League

Pat Lawlor, Carol Carchedi and Linda Carpenter have their teams deadlocked for first place in the Koch Club Women's Bowling League with 30 wins and 18 losses each.

Linda Barba and Rose McDonald are tied with 26-22 marks, Debra Koch is 24-24, Dolores Connors and Barbara Matthes with identical 22-26 records, Linda McLaren is next with 16-32 while Edie Maher is 14-34.

Nelda Penniman and Dolores Connors are deadlocked for top average in the Class A Division with 97.3 marks. Nelda Penniman also holds the high individual three string total of 333 and top single string of 134.

Linda Barba is top average in the Class B Division with 91.2 while Claire Fitch has the top three string total of 314 and Barbara Matthes has the best single string of 120.

In the Class C Division Josephine Timilty dominates the top scoring with best average of 84.7, high three string total of 311 and top solo string of 116.

Guerriero Paces St. John's

Dick Guerriero continues to lead St. John's Holy Name Bowling League with an 111.9 average, followed by Joe Marini at 110.2.

The rest of the Top Ten: Bob Saluti, 107.4; Mike Panarelli, 102.1; Lou Faiella, 100.6; Frank Guerriero, 94.9; John O'Donnell, 94.0; Rich Comeau, 93.8; Art DiTullio, 93.0; Tom Darcy, 92.9.

Dick Guerriero rolled the weekly high single of 137 and Saluti and Marini had 127.

Guerriero also had the high single of 489 and also had 485, while Dan Marini's team had 477. Guerriero's team also had the high three of 1393 and Saluti and Marini had 1378.

The standings: Dan Marini, 30-6; Saluti, 18-18; Dick Guerriero, 16-20; Joe Marini, 16-20; Faiella, 16-20; Panarelli, 14-22.

Raiders At Cambridge Rindge Saturday

By TOM SULLIVAN

An 83-yard return of the game's opening kickoff and a 60-yard run minutes later, both by Jerome Fuller, made the difference between Waltham's Suburban League leaders (6-1 overall, 4-0 in the league) and North Quincy last Saturday night as the Hawks defeated the Raiders (2-5), 12-0, at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

North Quincy, whose defense was outstanding but whose offense hit a new low, will travel to Russell Field in Cambridge Saturday for a 1:30 p.m. game with Cambridge Rindge and Latin, also 2-5 on the season.

"Our defense played a fine game but our offense was awful," said North coach Ken McPhee. "Our offensive line again didn't do its job and our backs couldn't do a thing. We just have to improve our offense."

North was held to a season's low 19 yards on the ground, while Bob Sylva completed one pass and Joe Mulvey three for a total of only 34 yards. North's two quarterbacks were sacked four times.

Defensively, it was a different story as North held Waltham to 153 yards on the ground, including Fuller's 60-yard run, and 20 yards through the air on one controversial completion in five tries. The pass from Rich LeBlanc to Billy Burgess appeared to be intercepted by Bill McDougall, but the official ruled Burgess had it. Aside from his 60-yard run, Fuller, averaging better than 160 yards a game, was held to just 51 yards. Waltham had 10 first downs and North had just four, three coming at the start of the second half.

Defensive coach Jamie Walsh had good words for John Pacino, who had an outstanding game; Scott Chansky, McDougall, Tom Dolan, Tim Kelly, Mike Ainsley, Ryan Craig, Kevin and Keith Segalla, Dan Smith, Paul Hogan and Shawn Clancy.

Clancy, called upon to punt for the first time, punted five times for good yardage.

"We are still hurting and tonight had seven starters sidelined," McPhee said. "You can't go against a team like Waltham with so many regulars out and hope to win."

Fuller took the game's opening kickoff, veered to the left and went unmoled down the sidelines for 83 yards and the touchdown, a tough way for North to start the game.

Clancy got off a good punt to Waltham's five, LeBlanc returning to the 11. The Hawks started upfield and, helped by the controversial pass reception, reached Waltham's 40. Fuller then went around left end, broke away from several defenders and went the 60 yards for the touchdown.

North Quincy, devastated by penalties (105 yards, including 75 in the first half), was completely bottled up in the first half but came out strong to start the second half.

Steve Shoap took the kickoff and almost duplicated Fuller's feat as he went from North's 11 to Waltham's 44 before being brought down from behind. The Raiders picked up three of their four first downs and reached the Hawks' 10 but stalled as Waltham dug in and took over.

North's only other scoring chance came late in the third quarter when Mulvey found Steve Happas in the clear and threw a strike which Happas was unable to hold on to at the goal line.

Pee Wee Bs 2-1-0 In Boston League

Quincy's Pee Wee Hockey team, sponsored by A&T Movers, is 2-1-0 in Greater Boston League play after a highly successful series of pre-season scrimmages in which it outscored the opponents, 41-0.

The powerful Quincy team is entered in the GBL's open division, which includes both A and B teams.

Quincy's "Killer Bs" lost their league opener to Medfield's A team, 9-5, despite a strong first period. Quincy scored three quick goals and took a 3-1 lead into the second period. After two periods it was 4-4, but the last period was all Medfield.

Bobby Fitzpatrick had a hat trick and an assist, Sean McCarthy and Joe Zona a goal each and Scott McClory, Mike O'Brien, Mike Christopherson and Steve O'Brien an assist each.

Quincy bounced back in the next game and defeated Wellesley, the only other B team in the league, 7-1.

After a scoreless first period Zona, Matt O'Toole and Jim Smith scored in the second with McCarthy, Christopherson and Mark Gilmore assisting and Quincy led, 3-1, after two.

Fitzpatrick scored twice in the third period and added an assist. Zona and Mike O'Brien had the last two goals and Zona, Christopherson and McCarthy had assists.

"Great goaltending by Sean Connelly and Ed Gafanhao kept us in the game," said coach Jim Gilmore. "Karen McCabe and John Gladu were outstanding on defense."

Quincy next defeated Charlestown's A team, 6-3, in a hard-hitting game.

Christopherson had the only goal in the first period with O'Toole assisting. Fitzpatrick had two goals and Steve O'Brien one in the second period and O'Toole, Zona and McCarthy had assists.

Charlestown got chippy in the third period and took three penalties as each team scored twice. Smith and Zona had Quincy's goals and Mike O'Brien and McCarthy assisted.

Following an 8-0 win over the Seahawks in their first pre-season scrimmage, the Pee Wee Bs skated all over Milton, scoring 20 unanswered goals and, in the final game, blanked Canton 13-0, scoring seven goals in the first period.

Fitzpatrick, Zona and Smith had hat tricks and accounted for seven of the team's 15 assists. Sean Vermette had two goals and Steve O'Brien and McCarthy one each. McCarthy had four assists, Sean McArdle three and Shane Abboud one.

Next on tap is a scrimmage with Edgewood, R.I., on Tuesday, Nov. 11, at 9:20 a.m. at the Quincy Youth Arena.

Bantam As Breeze By Canton, 8-1

Quincy's Bantam A team, sponsored by the Sons of Italy, rolled to an 8-1 victory over Canton in a Greater Boston League game, led by Martin Feeney with a hat trick and an assist and Brian Kelly with two goals and two assists.

Joe Fasano had two goals and Mike Toland one. Paul McLellan had two assists and Mike Leonard and Jon Brosnan one each.

Kevin Daly had a goal and an assist and Brosnan, Fasano and Kelly a goal each as Quincy topped Randolph, 4-1, in a non-league game. Bob Kane, Toland, McLellan and Feeney had assists.

Woodward School Weekend Of Dinner Theatre Nov. 13-15

DONNA STEPHANSKY
major Broadway composers.
The Provincetown Repertory

An alumna of the Woodward School will be a featured vocalist in the school's presentation of a weekend of dinner theatre there Nov. 14-15, performed by the Provincetown Repertory Theatre of Boston's Musical Theatre Workshop.

Donna Stephansky, a Quincy native and a 1964 graduate, is featured along with Carol Clark and Annette Cramer in a musical revue "We're Still Here," highlighting the music of George Gershwin, Jerry Herman, Steven Sondheim and other theatre's needs. Featured also are Frank Spitznagel, talented musical director and accompanist, along with Edward R. Sorrell, resident actor with the company, serving as host and narrator, complete the cast.

The program, an annual fundraising event, will begin with cocktails at 6:30, dinner at 7 and curtain time at 8 p.m. Tickets are $15 for dinner and show, $10 for the show only and may be obtained by calling the school, 773-5610. All proceeds will benefit The Woodward School.

Theatre of Boston is under the directorship of Marshall Oglesby, a nationally known and respected director and founder of the company. The Musical Theatre Workshop is designed to develop young artists and to give experienced artists a place to perform and teach. The workshop is also a place for composers and lyricists to develop new work and eventually see them staged. "We're Still Here" was originally presented as a benefit performance in September and is now being refined to suit the dinner

Quincy Actors In Curtain Call's Company

Glenn Spencer of Quincy has the lead role in the Curtain Call Theatre of Braintree season opener "Company," to be staged at Thayer Academy's Frothingham Hall Nov. 20-22.

Others in the cast include Claire Rodriguez, Debi

Habib, Judy Quinn, Miki Joseph, Tim Grant, and Tom Maloney, all of Quincy.

"Company" is the story of Robert and his circle of friends and lovers on the occasion of his 35th birthday. Through a series of vignettes the audience will see Robert the bachelor in search of fulfillment which he tries to find among his married (and sometimes unmarried) friends.

"Company" is the first production in Curtain Call Theatre's 25th anniversary season.

Martha Sawyer directs this production with the talents of Derelyn Kahler, musical director, and Diane Flanagan, choreographer.

Humane Society To Hold Fair Nov. 15

A Craft Fair and Flea Market, sponsored by the South Shore Humane Society, Inc., will be held Saturday, Nov. 15, 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. at the Msgr. Hackett Parish Hall, Immaculate Conception Church, Broad St., East Weymouth.

A coffee shop and snack bar will open at 10 a.m.

Tables will feature an array of crafted items in time for the holidays, white elephant tables, and a bakesale table of home-made breads, cakes and cookies.

There will also be hourly prizes.

"Help the all-volunteer, non-profit South Shore Humane Society, Inc. help our animal friends," said Althea Griffin, society president. "They need every friend they can get."

International Food Fair At Islamic Center

The Islamic Center of New England, 470 South St., Quincy, will hold an international food fair and bazaar from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., Sunday, Nov. 9.

The bazaar will feature foods from countries like the West Indies, Africa, India, Pakistan, and the Middle East. Exotic handicrafts and merchandise will also be available at factory prices.

There will be face painting for youngsters.

Admission is free and all are welcome.

For further information, contact: 479-8341.

Christmas Festival Committee Meeting

The final meeting of the Quincy Christmas Festival Committee was scheduled to meet last night (Wednesday) at the Patriot Ledger, 13 Temple St.

George White, general chairman of the 30 member committee, said preparations are continuing for the Sunday, Nov. 30 parade which is expected to draw some 300,000 spectators.

The parade will start at School and Hancock Sts., Quincy Center, at 12:30 p.m.

Fair Drawing Table At Granite Place

Granite Place Senior Citizen Housing Complex, 125 Granite St., Quincy, and Hancock Court Seniors are sponsoring a Fair Drawing

Table to be held Saturday, Nov. 8.

Hours will be 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the main function room of Granite Place.

Among the many items on display for the drawing are large and small electrical appliances, hand made knitted goods, giftware, children's items, gift certificates and the top prize, a microwave oven.

All drawings will be held at 2 p.m. The public is invited.

STARSCOPE

Clare Annswell

WEEK OF: NOVEMBER 6

AQUARIUS — January 21-February 19
 Humor helps you out of a sticky situation, and resourcefulness is at an all-time high. Good period for updating your image and mastering new skills.

PISCES — February 20-March 20
 Domestic tensions start to ease thanks to a new spirit of cooperation. A new acquaintance may be asking too many questions. Avoid confrontation on the job.

ARIES — March 21-April 20
 You understand the motives of loved ones and find it easier to deal with a difficult relationship. Financial news brightener may arrive after the weekend. Communications improve.

TAURUS — April 21-May 22
 Idealistic streak surfaces; you're ready to come to the aid of a favorite cause. Travel is spotlighted, but surprise expenses may crop up in this and other areas.

GEMINI — May 23-June 21
 Money-making opportunity opens up after the weekend. Shopping trips prove favorable provided you do careful comparisons. Romance news is surprisingly bright thanks to your initiative.

CANCER — June 22-July 22
 Good week for partnership arrangements, provided both parties put all cards on the table. Volunteer project may lead to new friendship. Collect IOUs by the end of the period.

LEO — July 23-August 22
 Simplicity is the keyword, especially if you're decorating your home or expanding your wardrobe. Delays come to an end and you're able to get a key project off the ground.

VIRGO — August 23-September 22
 In matters of the heart, learn from the recent experiences of a good friend. In financial matters, the accent is on logic. News from faraway brings an important answer.

LIBRA — September 23-October 22
 Communication lines are disrupted for a while. Health and diet require careful review. In financial matters as well, a sound approach is all important now.

SCORPIO — October 23-November 21
 Watch leaning toward extravagance, and keep a self-indulgent streak in check. Ingenuity is a current strength and can lead to added prestige on the job.

SAGITTARIUS — November 22-December 22
 Financial goals become clearer; this is a good period for long-term planning. Partner may be traveling. Academic interests expand through the week; the sciences are highlighted.

CAPRICORN — December 23-January 20
 Relative's plans may benefit from your suggestions—whether or not they're solicited. Quick wit may be too quick for your own good. Relationships thrive on an intellectual level.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
 You're romantic, mysterious, secretive and stubborn. This stubbornness has a positive side too, and you're highly regarded for your "stick-to-itiveness." A major career goal may be reached by spring of 1987. Romance demands a lighter touch.

BORN THIS WEEK
 November 6th, director Mike Nichols; 7th, singer Joan Sutherland; 8th, director Gene Saks; 9th, singer Mary Travers; 10th, actor Roy Scheider; 11th, actor Jonathan Winters; 12th, actress Stefanie Powers.

Home For Deaf To Locate Here

Because of its demonstrated commitment to the needs of the deaf population, Quincy has been targeted as the location for a residence program center for deaf adults.

This was the message brought to residents and families of the South Shore Rehabilitation Center recently by Steve Novar, executive director of the Mass. State Association for the Deaf (MSAD), and other advocates for the deaf.

Current plans call for the purchase of a four-family home to house trained live-in staff and clients. Quincy was chosen, Nancy Beaman explained, because of its active Deaf Club, its proximity to South Shore Rehab, where many potential residents of such a center are now employed, and good public transportation.

Goals of the residential program include teaching residents independent living skills, such as sign language and the use of telecommunication devices for the deaf; communication with hearing people; how to use public transportation; how to handle finances; and socialization skills.

Beaman, an advocate for the deaf who has a sister attending South Shore Rehab, informed the group of plans to establish a nonprofit organization called "On Our Way" to raise funds for the residence. Currently only two residential programs for the deaf exist in Massachusetts, Beaman said, one in Lynn and another in Framingham. Both have long waiting lists.

Beaman also reported that she had received a promise of support from the deputy commissioner of policies and programs in the Massachusetts Commission for the Deaf and Hard of Hearing.

Morrissey Office Hours Thursday Night

Rep. Michael W. Morrissey announces office hours will be held from 6 to 8 p.m. tonight (Thursday), Nov. 6, at the Atlantic Neighborhood Association, Hunt St., North Quincy.

All residents of the First Norfolk District are encouraged to attend, and take the opportunity to speak with Morrissey without an appointment, in an informal meeting.

For those unable to attend, Morrissey can be reached by calling the State House, 722-2060, or by calling his home, 328-0900.

Nominations Open For Sun Citizen Of Year

Nominations are now open for The Quincy Sun second annual "Citizen of the Year Award."

The award was established last year to recognize an individual for outstanding community service.

Winner of last year's first award was Tony Siciliano, Deputy Director of Civil Defense and Auxiliary Police Chief. He was selected from among 31 nominees.

Although other organizations have similar awards, The Sun award is unique in that the public has input into it.

Sun readers have the opportunity to nominate the person they feel is the most deserving.

A judging panel is then named to make the final selection from the nominations submitted.

The man or woman who wins must have contributed outstanding service in the community.

It could be someone in elective office, a member of an appointed board, a member of the clergy, a teacher or principal, a police officer or firefighter, a businessman or woman, a sports figure, or someone who has given freely of his or her time to a worthy project.

The person we are looking for is one, who through her or his dedication and service, has made Quincy a better community for it.

The honor may be for a single achievement or for service over a period of time.

The 30 who were nominated last year but did not win are eligible to be nominated again this year.

A nomination ballot to help the selection process is on Page 7.

If you know someone you would like to see recognized with this award, please fill out the form and mail it to:

Citizen of The Year Award.

The Quincy Sun
1372 Hancock St.

Quincy, Mass. 02169

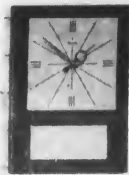

Nominations may also be dropped off at The Sun office.

A reasonable facsimile of the nomination ballot may also be used.

Those submitting nominations may also attach to the ballot a sheet of paper describing in more detail the reason for the nomination.

Deadline for nominations is Wednesday, Dec. 31.

The name of the winner will be announced in January.

Here is the opportunity for you to voice your opinion as to who is Quincy's "Citizen Of The Year."

Finn Begins Department Study

Council To Discuss Police Study Report

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

The City Council's Public Safety Committee will meet Monday night at City Hall to discuss the recently released study which criticized the Quincy Police Department for such things as lack of leadership and use of favoritism.

Committee chairman Michael Cheney said that councilors will have the opportunity to question officials of the Massachusetts Municipal Association, under whose direction the study was conducted.

Cheney said that Police Chief Francis Finn has also been invited to attend.

Finn said last week that the Police Department will rebut the study with its own written report.

He has since formed a 16-member committee from within the department to study the report. The committee has begun meeting daily and will continue to do so for the next several weeks.

One of the committee's first actions was to formally reaffirm the Police Department's intention to seek national accreditation, according to Finn.

Cheney noted that the report was intended to show ways to improve police services in Quincy.

"The report was not designed to go in and compliment the department, but to look at areas where we can improve upon police services and perhaps save money, improve on the efficiency,

"Unfortunately, the press has portrayed it as critical to the police chief. That's not what it was designed to do.

"It was designed to show us ways to better manage the Police Department.

"We intend to look at the report and along with the mayor, decide which areas we prefer to pursue in the area of improving the Police Department.

"We hope that the chief will cooperate 100 percent.

"This is really for his benefit, and the benefit of his men and department."

In a letter to the mayor, Finn stated, "We will select from the report any suggestions that can be implemented and we will put aside suggestions that require collective bargaining."

"For those suggestions that we deem not appropriate or unworkable, we will state our reasons for same."

Finn said the committee has decided that the department should seek formal accreditation from the Commission on Accreditation for Law Enforcement Agencies.

"With the new facility, now we can go for accreditation," said Finn, "and we'll never again have to worry about getting bad publicity

Registry Still Possible As Homeless Shelter

A shelter for the homeless at the site of the Registry of Motor Vehicles in Quincy could become a reality after all.

City Personnel Director David Smith, chairman of the nine-member Committee for Permanent Location for the Homeless, said the registry could be out of its Broad St. location by next June or July.

Smith said he learned the news during a meeting in Rep. Thomas Brownell's office last week which included representatives of the registry.

He told other members of the homeless committee during its meeting Monday morning at City Hall.

The committee was formed by Mayor Francis McCauley to look into the possibility of a shelter for the homeless at the Registry building which is rented from the city.

Hopes for such a move had dimmed last week when it was learned the registry would have to readvertise for a new location in Quincy because the site it was investigating did not prove appropriate, resulting in another delay.

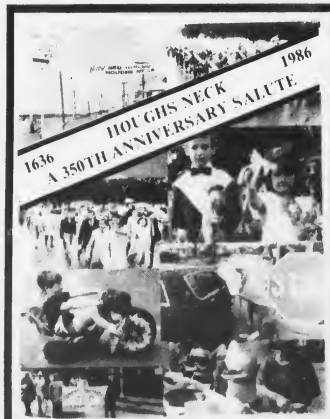

However, Smith said it looks "very promising" this time that the registry will be able to find a new location.

License Board To Meet Nov. 18

The next scheduled hearing of the City License Board will be held Nov. 18, at 10 a.m. in the council chamber.

Last Tuesday's meeting (Nov. 11) was not held because of the Veterans Day holiday.

A Little Early For That Stuff

Quincy got its first taste of winter Tuesday with an unexpected light snow fall that forced cancellation of the annual Veterans Day parade.

The veterans' observance ceremonies were held in the Quincy Vocational Technical gym.

Because of the holiday, snow had little effect on commuter traffic, but it did catch shoppers by surprise.

The holiday kept children home from school but didn't keep them from bundling up and enjoying the unexpected snowfall.

It was one of the earliest arrivals of snow in Quincy in recent years.

McCauley Issues Proclamations On Drugs Fight, Adoptions

Mayor Francis McCauley this week signed two proclamations that focus attention on the war on drugs-alcohol and child adoption. McCauley said that Quincy is joining Governor Michael Dukakis and the Massachusetts Municipal Association in declaring Tuesday, Nov. 18, as Drug-Alcohol Abuse Awareness Day and has called on all community leaders to join in a statewide effort that will call upon residents to participate toward a goal of a strong and healthy community.

In proclaiming the week of Nov. 23-29, National Adoption Week, McCauley urged citizens to be aware of the outstanding efforts of the Protestant Social Service Bureau has made toward placing children into adoptive homes.

"We should recognize the essential value of belonging to a secure, loving permanent family as every child's basic right," he said.

McGrath Wants Council's Input In Land Taking For Presidents Place

By DAN CONNELLY

City Council President Stephen McGrath feels the council should have more input in negotiations in commercial land takings for the $55-million Presidents' Place project in Quincy Sq.

McGrath, speaking on the Quincy Community Television Ch. 3 show, "For The Record," hosted by Paula Golden, said that the actual authority to be given to the mayor to negotiate in land taking there is of some concern to the council.

"The council should also be part of this approval process. We do not want to give away to the city's chief executive the authority of negotiation for prices or values of the land," he said.

McGrath added that an amendment could be made that at some point in time the council would be involved.

He stressed that this suggestion should not be confused with the proposed taking of private property like the Saville Avenue home of Nell Slawson.

The city's planning department informed the council that the developers are still negotiating with Slawson whose century-old house is in the complex site.

McGrath said the downtown project, billed as one of the largest in the city's history, and to be erected on the former Bargain Center site, contains three elements: an office building (with a four-story section and eight-story section), condominiums with 209 one and two bedroom units, and a 750-800-space, five-level parking garage.

There was some concern in the council with the artistic design. Councilors felt it should be more compatible with other buildings in the square. But McGrath feels that when the design changes are revealed "we'll be able to see something everyone will be happy with."

Completion of the entire project is expected by the spring or summer of 1988.

Arraignment Date Awaited In Creedon Case

An arraignment date has not yet been set for former Quincy School Supt. Lawrence P. Creedon and a Boston man indicted last week on charges of rape and conspiracy to rape.

Creedon, 54, and Dennis M. Anderson, 31, will be arraigned in Superior Court in connection with the alleged incident which allegedly took place March 21, in Creedon's South Quincy home.

The grand jury did not return indictments on counts of rape of a feeble minded person and indecent assault and battery.

The alleged victim in the case is a homeless woman from Boston.

She testified last week before the grand jury in Dedham.

Creedon and Anderson have been free on personal recognizance since May when a Quincy District Court judge found probable cause to bind the case over to Superior Court.

Creedon was Quincy school superintendent from 1968 to 1984. He resigned during the school committee's investigation into complaints by three women, never proved, that he made advances to them in Quincy schools.

Quincy Voters Favor Limiting Public Funds For Abortions

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

Quincy residents went against statewide trends in only one of the ballot questions in last week's election which drew a local turnout of 58 per cent, or 26,591 of the city's 45,432 registered voters.

By a narrow margin of 12,796 to 12,004, local residents voted in favor of limiting public funding of abortions.

The rest of the state voted to reject the proposed constitutional amendment.

Quincy went along with the state on the other ballot questions.

On aid to private schools, Quincy voted 15,185 to 9,771 to reject the question.

There were 13,540 votes cast in favor of the third ballot question on creation of a tax cap for state government, and 10,297 in opposition.

Quincy said yes on the complicated hazardous waste question with a vote of 18,863 to 5,037.

On the seat belt issue, there were 15,097 votes cast in opposition, and 10,144 in favor.

Quincy voted almost two to one against voter registration by mail with a tally of 15,629 to 8,234.

On the question of asking Congress to adopt a national health program, there were 15,690 in favor and 7,739 against.

There were 18,591 votes cast in favor of asking Congress to take action on acid rain, and 3,887 in opposition.

Gov. Michael Dukakis and running mate Evelyn Murphy drew almost twice as many votes as George Kariotis and Nicholas Nikitas, with a tally of 16,297 to 8,568.

Republican Edward Harrington was defeated by former Congressman James Shannon by a vote of 11,423 to 13,297 for attorney general. Secretary of State Michael J. Connolly easily turned back opponent Deborah Cochran by a vote of 16,999 to 7,218.

Treasurer Robert Crane defeated Joyce Hampers by 13,848 votes to 10,451.

A. Joseph DeNucci was elected state auditor over William Robinson by a vote of 16,150 to 8,000.

Cong. Brian Donnelly, with no opposition, was reelected with 20,832 votes.

Also reelected with no opposition were Governor's Councillor Peter Eley, 18,561 votes; Sen. Paul Harold, 20,691; District Atty. William Delahunt, 19,505; Sheriff Clifford Marshall, 19,283; County Commissioner David Ahearn, 17,553; Rep. Michael Morrissey, 8,446; Rep. Thomas Brownell, 8,112; and Rep. Robert Cerasoli, 4,980.

HITS MEGABUCKS JACKPOT — Louis Coulaos of Quincy holds the Megabucks ticket that won this laid-off General Dynamics shipyard carpenter $2,692,400 in the Oct. 29 drawing. His lottery win means he'll receive an annual check for $130,000, before taxes, for the next 20 years. The combinations of 1-6-14-15-17-18 turned Coulaos into a millionaire.
